DICTIONARY OF STATISTICS

A

ACCIDENTS

THE average annual numbers of accidents to railway employees in various countries in recent years are given as follows [1]:—

Country	Period to which Figures Relate	Average Annual Number of Accidents to Employees
		Fatal	Non-fatal	Total
United Kingdom [2 ¹]	1903-7	460	16,200	16,660
France	1903-6	250	540	790
Germany	1902/3-6/7	570	1,390	1,960

Egypt	1902-4 & 1906	16	158	174
United States of America [3]	1902-6	3,500	64,320	67,820
Japan [4]	1902/3-6/7	100	617	717
India [5]	1903-7	342	559	901

The figures in this table are obviously not comparable with one another. The numbers of accidents are largely dependent on the amount of traffic and number of employees. The methods of ascertaining and recording the accidents also vary, and so vitiate comparisons.

For further statistics of accidents on railways, see article RAILWAYS (infra).

The numbers of deaths and the death-rates from accidents at mines, quarries, and other mineral workings in various countries in 1906 and 1907 are given as follows [281]:—

(a) Including accidents at smelting works.

(b) Principal coal-producing States only.

(c) These death-rates represent the deaths of persons insured in the mining and smelting branch of the German Official Insurance Association. The true death-rate in Prussia only was 1.84 per 1000 in 1906 and 2.25 per 1000 in 1907 [281].

UNITED KINGDOM

The total numbers of deaths from industrial accidents in 1903 and subsequent years are given as follows [6] [7] :—

Class of Worker	Total Number of Deaths from Industrial Accidents in 1903	1904	1905	1906	1907	1908
Seamen—
On account of wrecks and other casualties to vessels	622	361	810	459	633	625

Total	4,172	3,775	4,384	4,118	4,477	4,224

The mean number of deaths from industrial accidents during the quinquennium 1904–1908, and the approximate death-rate per 10,000 persons engaged in the several industries, are given as follows [7] :—

Class of Worker	Mean Number of Deaths, 1904–8	Mean Annual Death-rate per 10,000 Employed
Seamen	1,284	50.4
Miners	1,219	13.2
Quarrymen	98	10.6
Railway servants	462	7.5
Non-textile factory and workshop operatives	707	2.2
Textile factory operatives	79	0.8
Total	3,849	6.3

The numbers of non-fatal accidents are given as follows [2]:—

Class of Workers	Non-fatal Accidents reported in
	1903	1904	1905	1906	1907
Workers in factories, workshops, docks, wharves, quays, &c.	91,550	91,950	99,550	110,790	123,150
Miners	4,090	4,000	3,910	4,060	6,200
Quarrymen	1,430	1,310	1,230	1,380	1,450
Seamen	2,580	2,600	2,400	2,430	2,740
Railway servants	14,360	14,560	14,330	16,260	21,510
Others	1,560	1,100	970	720	1,180
Total reported	115,570	115,520	122,390	135,700	156,270

The numbers given in this table for one class of workers are not comparable with the numbers for other classes, owing to differences in the requirements of the statutes respecting the notification of accidents in the various industries affected.

It should be also noted that the marked increase in the recorded numbers of non-fatal accidents in factories, workshops, docks, &c., is mainly due to increased knowledge of the Factory and Workshops Acts and the more effective enforcement of their provisions. Further, the recorded increase in non-fatal railway accidents in 1907 is largely due to the operation of new orders issued by the Board of Trade.

The numbers of accidents in factories, workshops, docks, and other premises, reported to the Factory Department of the Home Office, in recent years, are given in the following table [8]:—

Period	Annual Number of Reported Accidents			Period	Annual Number of Reported Accidents
	Fatal	Non-fatal (a)	Total		Fatal	Non-fatal (a)	Total
Average of 1896-1898	660	43,204	43,864	Average of 1905-1907	1,119	111,160	112,279
.. 1899-1901	984	76,863	77,847	1896 only	596	32,961	33,557
.. 1902-1904	1,058	90,916	91,974	1907 only	1,179	123,146	124,325

(a) See remarks above as to causes of recorded increase of non-fatal accidents.

The numbers of accidents and accident rates in factories only, in the years 1898, 1901, and 1904, are given as follows [8]:—

(a) Lignes d'intérêt général only.

(b) Including 1,099 killed in the catastrophe of Courrières.

The average annual number of accidents during 1902-6 per 10,000 persons in the various classes was as follows [9]:—

Class of Workers	Accidents per 10,000 Workers
	Fatal	Non-fatal	Total
Seamen, &c.	45
Coal miners	23 (a)	1,460	1,483
Other miners, and quarrymen	12	480	492

(a) The average death-rate of coal miners during the quinquennial period 1901-5 was 11 per 10,000 employed.

GERMANY

The number of accidents which occurred among persons insured under the Accident Insurance Scheme of Germany in certain years was as follows [10], [11], [12], [13]:—

Year	Approximate Number of Persons Insured	Number of Persons sustaining Accidents
		Which were		Total
		Fatal	Non-Fatal
1890	13,620,000	6,050	35,990	42,040
1895	18,390,000	6,450	69,080	75,530

1907	21,170,000	9,820	134,880	144,700

The number of accidents in particular industries in 1906, and the proportion per 1000 workers, reckoning each worker does 300 days' work per year (i.e. the proportion of accidents to every 300,000 days' work) are given as follows [12]:—

Industry	Number of Accidents, 1906	Number per 1000 Full Workers (or 300,000 days' work)
Mining	10,800	15.7
Quarrying	2,550	15.0

The numbers of persons killed or seriously injured in accidents at coal mines in certain years are given as follows [14]:—

Year	Number of Persons
	Killed	Seriously Injured	Total
1880	275	90	365
1890	182	49	231
1900	123	175	298
1906	132	188	320

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA

The number of fatal industrial accidents among occupied males in the United States in 1908 has been estimated by Mr. Frederick L. Hoffman at between 30,000 and 35,000. On the basis of 26,000,000 occupied males aged fifteen and over, this number gives an accident mortality rate of about 1.2 per 1000 occupied males [34].

The number of deaths from accidents in the registration area of the United States averaged during 1900 to 1906 about 18,000 per year, or 9 per cent. of the deaths from all causes [34].

The annual number of reported accidents in textile industries in New York State during the five years 1901-5 averaged as follows [34]:—

Result of Accident	Accidents Reported
	Average Number	Per Cent. of Total
Temporary disablement	519	83
Permanent disablement	101	16
Fatal	7	1
Total	627	100

Accidents in coal mining in Pennsylvania are given as follows [34]:—

The fatal accident rate in the gold mines of New South Wales in 1906 was 0.45 per 1000 employes, in those of Queensland 1.52, in those of Western Australia 2.35, and of the Transvaal 5.4 [34].

Accidents among different groups of railway men in the United States are given as follows [34]:—

	Annual Averages, 1897-1906
	Trainmen	Switch and Crossing Tenders and Watchmen	Railway Mail Clerks
Number of employes	219,500	47,980	9,810

Non-fatal accidents	101.0	41.9	7.1

On the basis of the industrial insurance experience of the American Prudential Insurance Company during the period 1897 to 1902, Mr. F. L. Hoffman gives the following figures as the percentages of total deaths among certain classes of workers, which are caused by accidents [117]:—

Of total deaths the percentage caused by accidents was—

Railwaymen	35 to 68
Quarrymen	24.3
Miners	21.9
Sailors	20.4
Soldiers	18.7
Boatmen	18.4

AUSTRALASIA

The average annual numbers of accidents in coal mining in Australia and New Zealand during six years ended about 1906 are given as follows [15]:—

State	Average Annual Number of Persons		Proportion per 1000 Employed
	Killed	Injured	Killed	Injured
New South Wales	21	90	1.3	5.4
Victoria	2	12	2.2	13.4

(a) Area for which returns were obtained. The actual area is over 700 million acres.

(b) Excludes calves, which are not distinguished from buffalo calves. There were in India, in addition to the live stock given above, 13 million buffaloes and 25 million goats.

The average annual acreage, production, net imports or exports, and consumption of grain by European countries during the periods 1896-1900 and 1901-5 are given as follows. The quantities are here expressed in millions of imperial bushels, but owing to the unit of measurement not being the same in all countries (American units particularly differing in many cases from English, this table being based on a United States publication), the reduction to imperial bushels is approximate only [16]:—

In the following table are given the ratios of the domestic production of wheat, rye, and barley to the total consumption in European countries. In the grain-importing countries, the total consumption is taken as home production plus net imports. In the grain-exporting countries, the total consumption is taken as the home production less net exports [16] :—

(a) In these cases the home production exceeded the requirement, the surplus being exported.

In the above table the total consumption in each country is represented by 100. It is seen that most of the European countries are not self-sufficing in the matter of wheat, rye, and barley, and that the tendency from the first quinquennial period to the next has been generally towards an increasing dependence on external supplies. The United Kingdom stands out as much more dependent on imported grains than France or Germany. It will be noticed that the exporting countries are in the east of Europe, and that the Latin nations of France, Italy, and Spain are less dependent on imports than the Teutonic nations of North-western Europe.

Europe as a whole produced in the period 1901-5, 88 per cent. of its total requirement of wheat ; practically all its requirement of rye ; and 98 per cent. of its requirement of barley.

If the total supply of grain consumed in each country for all purposes be divided by the total population of the respective countries, the following amounts per head are obtained. The quantities are here stated in imperial bushels, and are approximate only [16]:—

The acreage of vineyards (bearing), and the production of grape juice, in 1905, 1906, and 1907, were as follows [17]:—

Year	Acres	Gallons of Grape Juice
1905	296,640	84,831,500
1906	296,910	35,986,000
1907	292,900	54,821,700

In 1900 there were enumerated 52,300,000 apple trees, 25,100,000 pear trees, 69,400,000 plum trees, and 21,500,000 cherry trees [12].

The number of bee-stocks or bee-hives in the empire increased from 2,030,000 in 1892 to 2,590,000 in 1907 [185].

The numbers of poultry in 1900 and 1907 are given as follows [185]:—

Live Stock	1900	1907
Fowls	55,400,000	66,900,000
Geese	6,200,000	6,900,000
Ducks	2,500,000	2,800,000
Turkeys	350,000	480,000

The wool clip of Germany in recent years has been estimated to be [18]:—

	lbs.
1902	32,000,000
1903	30,400,000
1904	28,800,000
1905	27,200,000
1906	25,600,000

Production in 1905 or 1906 in certain cantons, where statistics were collected, was as follows [23]:—

Crop	Zurich (1906)		Bern (1905)		Vaud (1906)

Vineyards covered, in 1906, some 70,000 acres, while the quantity of wine produced amounted to 28,300,000 gallons. The total value was £1,900,000. Vaud Canton produced nearly one-third of the whole quantity; Valais Canton nearly one-sixth; Zürich Canton one-eighth; and Geneva Canton about one-twelfth [23].

The numbers of live stock in Switzerland in 1896, 1901, and 1906, were as follows [17]:—

Live Stock	Numbers of Live Stock
	1896	1901	1906
Cattle	1,306,700	1,340,400	1,497,900
Including cows	688,100	739,900	785,600
Sheep	271,900	219,400	209,200
Goats	415,800	354,600	359,900

SWITZERLAND

The total area of Switzerland is about 10,200,000 acres, including the area of the lakes (300,000 acres). Of this area, in 1906, woods and forests covered some 2,200,000 acres; vineyards, some 70,000 acres; while the area otherwise cultivated was some 5,400,000 acres. The total productive area is estimated to be 75 per cent. of the area of the whole country [23].

Accurate statistics of the acreage and production of crops over the whole country are not yet available, but the following estimates for the years 1904 and 1905 are given by Mr. Frank R. Rutter, U.S.A. [16]:—

Crop	Acreage (Average of 1904 & 1905)	Estimated Produce
		1904	1905
	Acres	Bushels	Bushels
Wheat	157,000	3,900,000	3,500,000
Spelt	128,000	6,600,000	5,900,000
Rye	92,000	2,500,000	2,300,000
Barley	20,000	560,000	520,000
Oats	137,000	6,600,000	6,200,000

Another authority estimates the acreage and production for 1906 as follows [12]:—

Crop	Acreage	Production in Winchester Bushels
Wheat	240,000	5,700,000
Rye	180,000	5,000,000
Barley	35,000	1,000,000
Oats	220,000	11,000,000

Since this estimate is from 150 to 200 per cent. more than the previous one (the fact that it refers to one year later can matter very little), it is doubtful how far either can be accepted as descriptive of the real facts.

ITALY

The total area of Italy is about 70,800,000 acres, inclusive of the lakes. Of this area some 11,000,000 acres are covered by woods and forests [12].

The production of the chief crops in 1903, 1904, and 1905, and the acreage in 1903, were approximately as follows [17]:—

Crop	Acreage 1903	Estimated Produce
		1903	1904	1905
	Acres	Quarters	Quarters	Quarters
Wheat	11,979,500	22,343,750	20,306,690	19,442,840

Tobacco	12,070	108,790	120,180	139,290

Production in-1906 and 1907, given in Winchester bushels, has been estimated as follows [18] :—

Crop	Winchester Bushels
	1906	1907
Maize	93,007,000	...
Wheat	176,464,000	177,543,000

Barley	8,000,000	8,000,000
Rye	4,000,000	4,000,000

Vineyards covered some 9,680,000 acres in 1901, as against 8,550,000 acres in 1895. The production of wine has been [17] :—

	Gallons of Wine
1895	533,412,000
1903	772,200,000
1904	899,316,000
1905	644,358,000

The area covered by olive yards increased from 2,554,000 acres in 1895 to only 2,591,000 acres in 1901. The production of olive oil was as follows [17] :—

	Gallons of Olive Oil
1895	63,668,000
1903	71,720,000
1904	37,202,000
1905	75,064,000

The numbers of live stock in 1905 were estimated as follows [17] :—

Cattle	5,672,000
Sheep and goats	10,877,000
Pigs	2,224,000
Horses (a)	804,900 (a)
Mules (a)	341,900 (a)

(a) Excluding army horses and mules, and also horses for the royal household.

The average wool clip of Italy in recent years has been estimated to be 21,500,000 lbs. per annum [18].

SPAIN

The total area of Spain is about 124,600,000 acres, of which some 53,600,000 acres were cultivated in 1906 [17].

The acreage and production of the principal crops in the years 1905 to 1907 were as follows [17] :—

Crop	Acreage			Estimated Produce
	1905	1906	1907	1905	1906	1907
	Acres	Acres	Acres	Tons	Tons	Tons

Kidney beans	693,500	701,500	626,800	133,000	96,800	116,000

There were in 1905 about 3,609,000 acres of vineyards, and in 1906 about 3,455,000 acres. Their yield was as follows [17] :—

Year	Tons of Grapes	Gallons of Wine Juice
1905	3,079,900	389,483,000
1906	2,441,200	298,644,000

There were also 3,445,000 acres in 1905 covered by olives, and 3,324,000 acres in 1906. The production of olives was 814,000 tons in the former year, and 702,000 tons in the latter, while the quantity of oil produced was 35,690,000 gallons in 1905, and 31,963,000 gallons in 1906 [17].

The numbers of live stock in 1891, and in the years 1906, 1907, and 1908, were as follows [17] :—

Live Stock	Numbers of Live Stock
	1891	1906	1907	1908
Cattle	2,217,700	2,497,100	2,212,000	2,452,200

Mules	767,900	801,600	810,000	832,300

In 1905 there were also 1800 camels in Spain [18].

The wool clip of Spain in recent years has been estimated to be as follows [18] :—

1902	53,100,000 lbs.
1903	52,800,000 "
1904	52,400,000 "
1905	52,000,000 "
1906	52,000,000 "

PORTUGAL

The total land area of Portugal is about 22,000,000 acres, of which about 3,000,000 acres were estimated to be under grain in 1905 [16].

No reliable statistics of agricultural production are available, but the following figures are given by Mr. F. R. Rutter, U.S.A., as rough estimates of the acreage and production of crops in 1903 [16] :—

Crop	Acreage	Production	Yield per Acre
	Acres	Bushels	Bushels
Wheat	740,000	8,800,000	12
Maize	620,000	9,800,000	16

Barley	450,000	7,300,000	16
Oats	350,000	6,800,000	20

The numbers of live stock in Portugal are estimated to be [18] :—

Cattle	820,000
Horses	90,000
Mules	60,000
Sheep	3,060,000
Pigs	1,200,000
Asses	150,000
Goats	1,000,000

The average wool clip of Portugal in recent years has been estimated to be 10,000,000 lbs. per annum [18].

AUSTRIA

The total area of Austria is about 74,102,000 acres. Of this area, some 24,000,000 acres are covered by woods and forests, and 45,000,000 are under crops and grass [17].

The acreage and production of the principal crops, &c., in 1905, 1906, and 1907, are given as follows [17]:—

Crop	Acreage			Estimated Produce
	1905	1906	1907	1905	1906	1907

Austria also produces olive oil, the quantities in 1905 to 1907 being [17]:—

Year	Cwts.
1905	88,800
1906	15,150
1907	18,290

The wool clip of Austria in recent years has been estimated to have been as follows [18]:—

HUNGARY (including Croatia and Slavonia)

The total area of Hungary is about 81,000,000 acres. Of this area, some 22,000,000 acres are covered by woods and forests, while about 35,000,000 acres are arable land [17].

The acreage and production of the principal crops in 1905 and 1906 are given as follows [17]:—

Crop	Acreage		Estimated Produce
	1905	1906	1905	1906

The area under vineyards, and the production of wine, were [17]:—

Year	Acres	Gallons of Wine
1905	742,400	84,412,100
1906	773,800	80,267,400

It is computed that in 1900, more than 6,000,000 persons were engaged in agriculture. Adding another 7,000,000 as dependents, there were altogether some 13,000,000 persons living by the pursuit of agriculture, that is, over 68 per cent. of the total population of Hungary. In 1890, the corresponding proportion was 72.5 per cent. [26].

The wool clip in Hungary in recent years has been estimated to have been as follows [18]:—

1902	26,800,000 lbs.
1903	26,000,000 "
1904	25,500,000 "
1905	25,000,000 "

BOSNIA AND HERZEGOVINA

The total land area of Bosnia and Herzegovina is about 12,600,000 acres, of which in 1905 some 2,700,000 acres were arable land, 1,700,000 acres being under grain [16].

The estimated acreage of the principal crops in 1906, and the production in the years 1904 to 1907, are given as follows [16], [18]:—

Crop	Estimated Acreage 1906	Estimated Production
		1904	1905	1906	1907
	Acres	Bushels	Bushels	Bushels	Bushels
Maize	711,300	6,460,000	9,580,000	8,940,000	...

Rye	41,900	360,000	370,000	390,000	340,000

The production of potatoes averaged 26,000,000 bushels per annum during the three years 1904-6.

Tobacco is also produced in these two States, the quantity in 1905 being given as about 8,750,000 lbs. [18].

The numbers of live stock in 1895 were [18]:—

Cattle and buffaloes	1,417,000
Horses, mules, and asses	240,000
Sheep	3,230,000
Pigs	662,000
Goats	1,447,000

The average wool clip in Bosnia and Herzegovina in recent years has been estimated to be 10,000,000 lbs. per annum [18].

FINLAND

The total land area of Finland is about 82,000,000 acres, of which some 1,600,000 acres were estimated to be under grain in 1905 [16].

From statistics collected in 1895, the distribution of landed properties in Hungary was found to be as follows [17]:—

Description of Farm	Number of Farms		Total Area of Farms
	Number	Per Cent. of Total	Acres	Per Cent. of Total
Not more than 7 acres	1,459,890	52.2	3,625,000	6
7 to 142 acres	1,311,220	46.9	28,890,000	49
142 to 1422 acres	20,800	0.8	8,396,000	14
Over 1422 acres	3,980	0.1	18,306,000	31
Total	2,795,890	100	59,217,000	100

Of the total forest land of Hungary (22,000,000 acres), 3,700,000 acres belong to the State. The State also maintains 146 nurseries for planting barren areas with trees and for other purposes. In 1906, these nurseries produced over 67,000,000 young trees suitable for planting [26].

The numbers of live stock in Hungary, exclusive of Croatia and Slavonia, were estimated in 1907 to be as follows [12]:—

Horses	1,797,670
Cattle	5,952,930
Pigs	4,868,930
Sheep	7,549,340
Goats	275,430

The production of corn in recent years is given as follows [18]:—

Crop	Estimated Production (in Winchester Bushels)
	1904	1905	1906
	Bushels	Bushels	Bushels
Wheat	133,000	129,000	100,000

Rye	10,362,000	11,552,000	11,000,000

Potatoes are produced in considerable quantities, the crop in 1904 yielding some 15,500,000 bushels, and in 1905 some 20,720,000 bushels [18].

The numbers of live stock in 1905 are given as follows [18]:—

Cattle	1,480,000
Including cows	1,100,000
Horses	324,000
Sheep	938,000
Pigs	220,000
Goats	6,300
Reindeer	142,000

RUSSIAN EMPIRE

The total area of European Russia, exclusive of Poland and the lakes, is about 1,244,370,000 acres. In 1881, some 426,000,000 acres were wood and forest land. In 1901, the total area under crops was 310,800,000 acres [17].

The area of Poland is about 31,500,000 acres, of which, in 1902, some 17,700,000 acres were under crops [17].

The acreage under the principal crops in 1906, in the great divisions of the empire, was as follows [17]:—

Crop	Acreage in 1906
	Russia in Europe (except Poland)	Poland	Caucasia (a)	Siberia and the Steppes	Total

In European Russia, in 1905, there were estimated to be also 225,000 camels and 347,000 reindeer [18].

In Asiatic Russia, in 1903, there were estimated to be about 680,000 camels and 60,000 reindeer. In Trans-Caucasia, 338,000 buffaloes were estimated to exist in 1902 [18].

The wool clip in European Russia in recent years has been estimated to have been as follows [18]:—

1902	380,000,000 lbs.	1905	325,000,000 lbs.
1903	375,000,000 "	1906	320,000,000 "
1904	340,000,000 "

The average wool clip in Asiatic Russia has been estimated at 60,000,000 lbs. per annum [18].

BULGARIA

The acreage and production of certain crops in recent years have been as follows [18], [16]:—

Crop	Acreage			Estimated Production

The total land area of Bulgaria is about 23,600,000 acres. The total area under grain in 1905 was some 5,590,000 acres, or 24 per cent. of the whole area. The total area of arable land, including that under grain, was about 7,350,000 acres [16].

Bulgaria also produces cotton, the quantity in 1905 being given as about 270,000 lbs. [18].

Rice is also cultivated, the production in 1905 being about 11,000,000 lbs. [18].

The numbers of live stock in Bulgaria are given as follows [18]:—

Cattle (year 1900)	1,596,000
Horses (year 1905)	537,000
Mules "	12,000
Sheep "	8,080,000
Pigs "	463,000
Asses "	124,000

Buffaloes (year 1900)	431,000

The average wool clip in recent years has been estimated at 23,000,000 lbs. per annum [18].

GREECE

The total land area of Greece is about 15,600,000 acres, of which some 1,400,000 acres were estimated to be under corn in 1905 [16].

The acreage and production of crops in Greece in 1904 have been estimated as follows [16]:—

Crop	Estimated Acreage 1904	Estimated Produce	Bushels per Acre
	Acres	Bushels
Wheat	690,000	8,000,000	12
Maslin	170,000	1,600,000	9

Greece also grows cotton and tobacco, the production of the former in recent years being estimated at about 4,000,000 lbs. per annum, and of the latter at 20,000,000 lbs. in 1905 and 11,000,000 lbs. in 1906, the average production immediately before 1905 being about 14,000,000 lbs. per annum [18].

The numbers of live stock in Greece in 1902 are given as follows [18]:—

Cattle	407,000
Horses	159,000
Mules	89,000
Sheep	4,568,000
Pigs	80,000
Asses	141,000
Goats	3,339,000

The average wool clip in recent years has been estimated at 14,000,000 lbs. per annum [18].

ROUMANIA

The total area of Roumania is about 32,400,000 acres, of which some 14,000,000 acres, excluding meadows not for hay, were under cultivation in 1907 [17].

The acreage and production of the principal crops in the years 1905 to 1907 were as follows [17]:—

The number of buffaloes in 1900 is given as 43,475 [18].

The average wool clip in recent years has been estimated at 27,500,000 lbs. per annum [18].

SERVIA

The total area of Servia is about 11,900,000 acres, of which some 2,000,000 acres are covered by woods and forests, and some 4,400,000 acres are under crops and grass [17].

The acreage and production in 1904, 1905, and 1906 of the principal crops were as follows [17], [16], [18]:—

Crop	Acreage			Estimated Produce
	1904	1905	1906	1904	1905	1906

The acreage under potatoes was 26,300 acres in 1904, and 27,600 in 1905, and the production was 19,220 tons and 32,990 tons respectively. Hemp is also grown, the acreage in 1904 being 33,200, and in 1905, 28,900. In the former year 5850 tons of fibre and in the latter 5230 tons were produced. Small quantities of tobacco are produced, the acreage in 1904 being 6200, and in 1905, 6500, and the production 1060 tons and 930 tons respectively. In 1906, 1060 tons of tobacco were produced. Clover and meadows covered 778,600 acres in 1904 and 821,300 in 1905, while 281,530 tons and 533,370 tons respectively of hay were produced [16], [17], [18].

The acreage of vineyards and production of wine in the years 1903 to 1905 were as follows [17]:—

Year	Acres	Gallons of Wine
1903	86,200	4,988,000
1904	83,700	8,067,000
1905	80,000	8,717,000

Orchards covered 360,000 acres in 1903, 374,000 acres in 1904, and 401,000 acres in 1905. The production of fruit was [17]:—

Fruit	1903	1904	1905
Plums . Tons	221,000	458,000	525,000
Other fruits "	73,000	105,000	100,000

The numbers of live stock in Servia in 1900 and 1905 were as follows [17]:—

Live Stock	1900	1905
Cattle	956,700	943,900
Buffaloes	6,900	7,700
Sheep and lambs	3,061,800	3,066,200

Mules and asses	1,940	1,400

The average wool clip in recent years has been estimated at 9,000,000 lbs. per annum [18].

MONTENEGRO

The production of wheat in Montenegro in recent years is estimated to be only some 200,000 bushels per annum [18].

The numbers of live stock in Montenegro are estimated as follows [18]:—

Cattle	60,000
Horses	3,000
Sheep	400,000
Pigs	8,000
Goats	100,000

TURKEY

The total land area of Turkey is given as about 42,000,000 acres for European Turkey, and 436,000,000 acres for Asiatic Turkey, or a total for the empire of about 478,000,000 acres. Of this area some 4,000,000 acres in Europe and 5,000,000 acres in Asia were estimated to be under grain in 1903 [16].

No reliable statistics of agricultural production are available, and the following figures are given by Mr. F. R. Rutter, U.S.A., merely as more or less rough estimates of production in 1905 [16]:—

Crop	Estimated Production in 1905
	European Turkey	Asiatic Turkey	Total
	Bushels	Bushels	Bushels
Wheat	29,000,000	37,000,000	66,000,000

Oats	17,000,000	41,000,000	58,000,000

The estimated production of cotton in 1905 was about 3,400,000 lbs. in European Turkey, while the average production in Asiatic Turkey is given as about 28,700,000 lbs. per annum [18].

The production of tobacco in the whole empire is estimated to have been about 100,000,000 lbs. in 1905, and the same quantity in 1906 [18].

The average wool clip in recent years has been estimated at 30,000,000 lbs. per annum in European Turkey and 45,000,000 lbs. in Asiatic Turkey [18].

The numbers of live stock in Turkey have been estimated to be as follows [18]:—

Live Stock	European Turkey	Asiatic Turkey
Cattle	1,000,000	3,000,000
Horses	600,000	800,000
Sheep	10,000,000	45,000,000
Asses	2,500,000
Goats	9,000,000

ALGERIA

The total area of Algeria is about 118,300,000 acres. Of this area, 6,560,000 acres are occupied by woods and forests, while only some 8,000,000 acres are cultivated (1905), [17].

The acreage and production of the principal crops, &c., in 1904 to 1906 were as follows [17]:—

EGYPT

The average annual production of certain crops in recent years has been estimated as follows [18]:—

	Average of 1902-6 or 1903-7
Maize	30,000,000 bushels
Wheat	12,000,000 "
Cotton	630,000,000 lbs.
Rice	20,000,000 "
Sugar	60,000 tons

The numbers of live stock in Egypt in 1900 are given as follows [18]:—

Cattle	350,000
Horses	80,000
Mules	10,000
Asses	120,000
Buffaloes	300,000
Camels	40,000

SOUDAN (Anglo-Egyptian)

The average annual production of certain crops in the Sudan (Anglo-Egyptian) during the period 1902-6 or 1903-7 has been estimated as follows [18]:—

Maize	240,000 bushels
Wheat	460,000 "
Barley	290,000 "
Cotton	7,000,000 lbs.

The numbers of animals assessed for tribute and tax in the Egyptian Sudan in 1905 are given as follows [18]:—

Cattle	315,000
Horses	9,310
Sheep	1,421,720
Mules and asses	92,270
Camels	132,120
Goats	1,329,710

TUNIS

The numbers of live stock in Tunis at the end of 1904 are given as follows [18]:—

The average annual production of crops in recent years (1902-6 or 1903-7) has been estimated as follows [18]:—

Wheat	6,800,000 bushels
Oats	2,500,000 "
Barley	9,800,000 "

Cattle	183,700
Horses	35,600

(a) 8,465,300 of these were woolled sheep.

(b) 2,775,900 of these were angora goats.

The number of sheep at the end of 1907 was returned as 14,600,000 in the Colony Proper, 2,200,000 in the Native Territories, and 380,000 in Bechuanaland, giving a total in the Colony of nearly 17,200,000 sheep. Of these, 10,800,000 were woolled sheep, and 6,400,000 cross-bred. The number of goats at the end of 1907 was 7,200,000 in the Colony Proper, 1,140,000 in the Native Territories, and 370,000 in Bechuanaland. The total number of goats was accordingly about 8,700,000, of which 3,500,000 were angora goats [29].

The numbers of fowls, &c., in the Colony, as enumerated at the Census of April 1904, are given as follows [27]:—

Territory	Numbers at Census of April 1904
	Fowls and Ducks	Geese	Turkeys
Colony Proper	2,738,200	73,900	60,000

Total	3,723,100	86,000	73,400

NATAL

The area of Natal is about 22,600,000 acres, of which, in 1905, some 916,000 acres were cultivated [17].

The acreage and production of the principal crops in the years 1903 to 1905 were as follows [17]:—

Crop	Acreage			Estimated Produce
	1903	1904	1905	1903 (a)	1904	1905
	Acres	Acres	Acres	Quarters	Quarters	Quarters
Maize	383,980	387,350	395,180	242,060	640,030	584,370
Kafir corn and millet	206,460	139,570	176,300	61,490	179,380	206,810
Potatoes	6,290	5,980	6,390	41,780	54,710	56,520
Sweet potatoes	17,450	10,530	22,980	47,780	46,440	167,430

(a) The production of crops in 1903 was seriously affected by a drought. In some cases, the crops completely failed, while in certain districts the aphid destroyed the Kafir corn crop.

The production of maize amounted to 466,000 quarters in 1906 and 362,000 quarters in 1907 [28].

Orchards covered 37,590 acres in 1905, yielding produce valued at £55,500 [17].

The sugar cane and tea plant are also cultivated to some extent, the acreage under the former in 1905 being 14,700 acres, and under the latter 4100 acres. Production in 1905 amounted to 532,000 cwts. of raw sugar and 14,600 cwts. of tea. In 1907 the production of tea was 26,480 cwts., and of raw sugar 484,000 cwts. [28].

The numbers of live stock in 1905 were [17]:—

Cattle	783,900
Sheep	769,600
Goats	908,800
Pigs	66,900
Horses	54,600
Mules and asses	4,400
Ostriches	560

The production of wool in 1905 amounted to 1,790,000 lbs. In 1907 it was 1,980,000 lbs. [28].

ORANGE RIVER COLONY

The acreage and production of the principal crops in 1904 and 1905 were as follows [17]:—

Crop	Acreage		Estimated Produce
	1904	1905	1904	1905
	Acres	Acres	Quarters	Quarters
Wheat	140,500	93,700	26,490	58,530

Oats	56,100	37,370	14,050	23,360
Maize	281,540	230,730	161,480	107,880

The numbers of live stock in the Orange River Colony, according to the Census figures of 1904, and in 1907, were as follows [17], [28]:—

Live Stock	1904	1907
Cattle	363,200	585,100
Sheep	2,999,500	8,020,300
Pigs	61,400	62,400
Horses	76,300	127,600

The production of wool in 1904 is given as 12,870,000 lbs. The exports of domestic wool in 1907 amounted to 30,900,000 lbs. [28].

TRANSVAAL

Production of crops in the Transvaal, according to the Census of 1904, was as follows [17]:—

Wheat	32,000 quarters
Barley	2,500 "
Oats	12,200 "
Maize	592,400 "
Potatoes	617,500 bushels

The exports of domestic wool were [28]:—

1904	3,310,000 lbs.
1905	2,760,000 "

The numbers of live stock in the Transvaal, according to the Census of 1904, and in 1907, were as follows [27], [28]:

Live Stock	1904	1907
Cattle	516,000	513,500
Horses	51,700	104,100
Mules and asses	76,400
Sheep	846,500	2,008,300
Pigs	160,200	111,500

1906	5,850,000 lbs.
1907	7,950,000 "

INDIA

The total area of the Indian Empire is over 700 million acres, but returns dealing with agriculture covered in 1906-7 only some 584 million acres. The distribution of land in 1906-7 was [17], [5]:—

Area under forest	81,800,000 acres	Fallow land	39,500,000 acres
Net area sown with crops	214,000,000 "	Cultivable waste other than fallow	106,700,000 "

About 36,700,000 acres were irrigated [5].

The area not available for cultivation in 1906-7 was returned as 137,200,000 acres [5].

Statistics of acreage and production are incomplete, and the following figures should not therefore be regarded as representing the whole acreage and production of India. Generally speaking, the acreage given is for British India only, while the estimated produce includes the crops in certain of the Native States [5].

(a) About 450,000,000 lbs. of tobacco are estimated to be produced annually [18].

(b) Production of linseed only. The production of rape and mustard seed was estimated at—

876,000 tons in 1904-5
962,000 " 1905-6
1,061,000 " 1906-7

(c) Tons of raw sugar [17].

The cultivated and uncultivated area, &c., in certain of the administrations in 1906-7 are given as follows [5]:—

Administration	Acreage in 1906-7
	Net Area according to Survey (a)	Cultivated (including Fallows)	Uncultivated	Forests

(a) Areas for which more than one crop was taken are counted more than once.
(b) Includes 3,300,000 acres in Berar.

The numbers of live stock in British India in 1905-6, excluding Bengal, for which statistics are not available, were as follows [17]:—

Cattle—
Bulls and bullocks	30,030,000
Cows	22,050,000
Buffaloes—
Bulls	3,460,000
Cows	9,670,000
Calves and buffalo calves	25,920,000
Sheep	18,030,000
Goats	25,170,000
Horses and ponies	1,300,000
Mules and asses	1,250,000
Camels	390,000

The average wool clip of British India in recent years has been estimated at 50,000,000 lbs. per annum [18].

CEYLON

The numbers of live stock in Ceylon in recent years were as follows [28]:—

Live Stock	1904	1905	1906	1907
Cattle	1,534,400	1,489,900	1,542,900	1,559,300

Pigs	93,600	98,100	99,500	96,300
Horses	3,690	3,550	3,740	3,990

The production of rice in Ceylon has been estimated to have been [18]:—

1902	550,100,000 lbs.
1903	558,800,000 „
1904	558,500,000 „
1905	547,700,000 „
1906	498,100,000 „

The production of tea has been [28]:—

1902	149,000,000 lbs.
1903	151,000,000 „
1904	159,000,000 „
1905	175,000,000 „
1906	171,000,000 „
1907	180,000,000 „

A certain amount of coffee is also produced in Ceylon, the amounts in recent years having been [28]:—

1902	1,280,000 lbs.
1903	1,100,000 „
1904	940,000 „
1905	1,010,000 „
1906	750,000 „
1907	420,000 „

CYPRUS

The production of wheat, barley, and oats in Cyprus in recent years was as follows [28]:—

Crop	Production in Year ended March 31
	1904-5	1905-6	1906-7	1907-8
Wheat	Quarters 263,800	Quarters 295,800	Quarters 292,100	Quarters 319,400
Barley	378,400	361,100	336,600	359,000
Oats	50,600	48,700	43,500	40,100

The exports of domestic wine from Cyprus in these years were 1,320,000 gallons in 1904, 1,020,000 in 1905, 910,000 in 1906, and 960,000 in 1907 [28].

Cotton is also produced in Cyprus. The production in 1904-5 was 534,000 lbs.; in 1905-6, 783,000 lbs.; and in 1906-7, 1,607,000 lbs. [28].

The numbers of live stock in Cyprus in the year ended March 31, 1907, were as follows [18]:—

Cattle	55,280
Horses, mules, and asses	59,650
Sheep	259,000 (a)
Pigs	45,700
Goats (year 1906)	250,000 (a)
Camels	1,170

(a) Numbers of animals not less than one year old. Those under one year are estimated at about 30 per cent. of the numbers given above.

JAPAN (exclusive of Formosa)

The area of Japan is about 94,500,000 acres, of which 54,200,000 acres were estimated in March 1907 to be covered with forests [17].

The acreage and production of the principal crops in 1904, 1905, and 1906 are given as follows [17]:—

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA

The total area of the United States is about 2,283,000,000 acres [1].

The area under irrigation at the end of 1907 was 11,000,000 acres, while another 5,000,000 acres were to be irrigated in 1908 [18].

The number of farms and value of products, &c., as recorded at the last two Censuses, were as follows [3]:—

	1890	1900
Number of farms (a)	4,564,641 (a)	5,739,657 (a)
Total acreage	623,218,600 acres	841,201,500 acres

(a) The number of farms in 1890 excludes farms of less than 3 acres which reported a sale of less than £104 worth of products in the Census year. The number and value in 1900 include farms in Alaska and Hawaii. Excluding these territories, the number of farms in the United States proper was 5,737,372 in 1900, comprising a total acreage of 838,591,800 acres, and a total value of £4,255,000,000.

(b) The value of products in 1900 excludes the value of products consumed by live stock.

The total wealth production on farms in 1907 is given as £1,540,000,000. Farm dairy products in 1907 were valued at £167,000,000; poultry and eggs at more than £125,000,000; and animals sold from, or slaughtered on, farms, at £265,000,000 [18].

The average wool clip has been estimated at 7,000,000 lbs. per annum [18].

ARGENTINA

The total area of Argentina is about 714,920,000 acres. The acreage under crops was 22,513,000 acres in the year 1902-3, and increased to 36,091,000 acres in 1906-7 [17].

The acreage and production of the principal crops in 1902-3 and 1906-7 were as follows [17]:—

Crop	Acreage		Estimated Produce
	1902-3	1906-7	1902-3	1906-7
	Acres	Acres	Cwts.	Cwts.
Wheat	9,127,500	14,059,900	53,896,700	83,544,100
Maize	4,450,100	7,042,700	74,452,900	35,874,000
Linseed	3,228,800	2,940,900	15,034,000	16,246,300

4,800,000 lbs. of cotton were estimated to have been produced in 1906. Tobacco is also grown, over 30,000,000 lbs. being the estimated average produce per annum [18].

The production of wheat, and the exports of wheat and wheat flour combined (196 lbs. of flour being taken as equivalent to 4½ bushels of wheat), in each year from 1900, have been as follows [30]:—

Year	Production (Crop Years)	Exports (Calendar Years)
	Bushels	Bushels
1900	101,650,000	73,490,000
1901	74,750,000	36,860,000
1902	56,380,000	25,670,000
1903	103,760,000	65,420,000
1904	129,670,000	90,110,000
1905	150,740,000	112,720,000
1906	134,930,000	89,130,000

The production of wheat in 1907 was 155,990,000 bushels [18].

Vines covered 127,500 acres in the year 1902-3. The production of wine in 1901 was 40,572,300 gallons [17].

The numbers of live stock in 1907 were approximately as follows [18]:—

Cattle	25,845,000
Sheep	77,580,000
Pigs	2,840,000
Horses	5,370,000
Mules	540,000
Goats	1,570,000

CHILE

The production of certain crops in recent years is given as follows [18]:—

Crop	Estimated Production (in Winchester Bushels)
	1904	1905	1906
Maize	Bushels 1,477,000	Bushels 1,244,000	Bushels 846,000
Wheat	17,948,000	12,089,000	12,157,000
Potatoes	6,131,000	6,532,000	...
Tobacco (a)	lbs. 6,000,000	lbs. 6,000,000	lbs. 6,000,000

(a) Figures given are recorded as the average production.

The production of wheat in 1907 is given as 15,776,000 bushels [18].

The numbers of live stock in or about the year 1906 are given as follows [18]:—

Cattle	2,477,000
Horses	699,000
Mules (year 1902)	28,000
Sheep	2,406,000
Pigs	288,000
Asses (year 1902)	18,000
Goats	462,000

URUGUAY

The total area of Uruguay is about 46,200,000 acres. The acreage and production of the principal crops in recent years were as follows [17]:—

Crop	Acreage			Estimated Produce
	1902-3	1904-5	1905-6	1902-3	1904-5	1905-6
	Acres	Acres	Acres	Tons	Tons	Tons
Wheat	656,130	644,100	712,520	140,300	202,600	123,300
Barley	2,540	1,860	2,880	650	660	770
Oats	460	1,380	2,070	150	520	530

Flax	83,810	47,130	45,660	20,400	13,800	10,700

The acreage of vineyards and the production of wine were as follows [17]:—

Year	Acres	Gallons of Wine
1902	10,250	1,548,700
1905	10,520	2,308,700
1906	10,910	1,871,000

The numbers of live stock in 1900 and 1905 were as follows [17]:—

Live Stock	1900	1905
	Cattle	6,827,400
Sheep	18,608,700	13,915,800
Goats	20,400	10,300
Pigs	93,900	35,500
Horses	561,400	450,200
Mules	23,000	19,400

The year 1900 was Census year, and there is reason for supposing that the numbers of live stock given in that year are much more complete than in other years. The numbers of goats and pigs especially appear to be understated in 1905.

CANADA

The area of farm land occupied and numbers of occupiers of not less than 5 acres, as given in the Census years from 1871 to 1901, are stated as follows [31]:—

Occupiers and Areas Occupied	Numbers in Census Years
	1871	1881	1891	1901 (a)
Owners	326,160	403,491	524,806	474,441

Total Acres occupied	36,046,400	45,358,100	60,287,700	63,334,800

(a) The numbers in 1901 exclude persons holding less than 5 acres, while the land occupied is farm land only.
 (b) Employees in charge of farms are included with tenants in years prior to 1901.

The numbers of occupiers and total acres occupied in the Census years 1881, 1891, and 1901, are given in the following table for the several provinces of the Dominion [31]:—

Provinces and Territories	Total Occupiers			Total Acres Occupied (000 omitted)
	1881	1891	1901	1881	1891	1901
British Columbia	2,743	7,451	6,739	441	3,330	1,496

Of the production of wheat, Manitoba furnished 18,353,000 bushels; Ontario, 28,419,000 bushels; and The Territories, 5,104,000 bushels, the production per acre being 9, 19, and 10 respectively. Ontario supplied 88,139,000 bushels of the oats, and Quebec 33,537,000 bushels (33 and 25 bushels per acre respectively). Quebec produced 17,136,000 bushels of potatoes (135 bushels per acre), and Ontario 20,042,000 bushels (114 bushels per acre). 7,656,000 lbs. of tobacco were produced in Quebec, and 3,504,000 lbs. in Ontario (884 lbs. and 1130 lbs. per acre respectively).

The average annual acreage and production of the principal crops in certain provinces in the period 1905-7 were as follows [17]:—

Province	Annual Average of Period 1905 to 1907
	Wheat	Barley	Oats	Buckwheat	Potatoes

The wool clip of Canada in recent years is estimated to have been as follows [18]:—

1902	11,330,000 lbs.
1903	11,060,000 ..
1904	10,610,000 ..
1905	10,280,000 ..
1906	11,210,000 ..

Production of wool in Ontario only was 5,690,000 lbs. in 1902, 5,420,000 in 1903, 4,970,000 in 1904, 4,630,000 in 1905, 4,540,000 in 1906, and 4,150,000 in 1907 [28].

The exports of domestic wool from Canada averaged only 1,900,000 lbs. per annum during 1903-7 [28].

JAMAICA

Considerable quantities of coffee are produced in Jamaica. Statistics of production are not available, but the exports of domestic coffee in recent years were [28]:—

1902-3	12,080,000 lbs.
1903-4	8,970,000 "

In 1901 Victoria had 3,620,000 fowls, 257,200 ducks, 76,900 geese, and 209,800 turkeys [148].

The value of the production of poultry and eggs in 1903 is estimated to have been [71]:—

New South Wales	£820,700	Western Australia	£199,800
Victoria	719,900	Tasmania	108,900
Queensland	316,800
South Australia	319,800	Commonwealth	£2,485,900

There were, in 1908, 5 agricultural colleges and 32 experimental farms in the Commonwealth. The number of students was 620, and the hands employed 300. The value of plant and machinery was £28,600, and the value of the produce during 1907-8, £32,600 [190].

NEW ZEALAND

The area of the Dominion of New Zealand is about 67,000,000 acres, of which some 14,900,000 acres were under cultivation in 1908. The cultivated area was split up as follows [33]:—

The acreage and production of the principal crops in 1907-8 were as follows [33]:—

	Numbers of Acres in 1906	1907	1908
	In grass or clover	12,525,000	12,719,000

Pigs	209,830	224,020	242,270	241,130

The number of poultry in 1906 is given as 3,191,600, comprising 2,784,300 fowls, 282,000 ducks, 77,100 turkeys, 44,300 geese, and 3900 other poultry. In 1891 there were 1,590,100 poultry [148]. The value of the production of poultry and eggs in 1903 is estimated to have been £500,200 [71].

The wool clip of New Zealand in recent years is estimated to have been as follows [18]:—

1902	167,450,000 lbs.
1903	177,580,000 "
1904	179,430,000 "
1905	172,980,000 "
1906	143,310,000 "

The numbers of flocks of sheep, according to size of flock, are given as follows [33]:—

Size of Flocks	Numbers of Flocks
	1896	1901	1906	1907
Under 500	12,028	11,700	11,793	12,014
500 and under 1,000	2,605	3,059	3,431	3,661
1,000 "	2,500	1,460(a)	2,558	2,733
2,500 "	5,000	892(b)	688	811
5,000 "	10,000	340	397	441
10,000 "	20,000	231	189	230
20,000 and upwards	147	138	94	87
Total flocks	17,703	18,360	19,265	19,977

(a) 1460 flocks containing 1000 to 2000 sheep.
 (b) 892 " " 2000 to 5000 "

The general tendency, as shown by the above table, is to the increase of the smaller flocks rather than of the larger. The owners of the former, it is stated, are better able than the large runholders to deal with the rabbit difficulty.

ALCOHOL

The per capita consumption of spirits, wine, and beer in several countries during the period 1901-5 is given as follows [15]:—

UNITED KINGDOM

The quantities of beer and spirits retained for consumption in the United Kingdom in the years stated are given approximately as follows [37]:—

Year ended March 31	Quantities Retained for Home Consumption
	Beer (a)		Spirits (b)
	Total Quantity	Per Head of Population	Total Quantity	Per Head of Population
	Million Gallons	Gallons	Million Gallons	Gallons
1897-8	1,260	31.6	41	1.03
1902-3	1,280	30.4	43	1.03
1907-8	1,220	27.7	40	0.90

(a) Quantities are stated in gallons of standard gravity of 1055°. The average specific gravity of the beer produced in the United Kingdom has varied during the period 1901-2 to 1907-8 between 1053.24° and 1053.47°. Quantities stated in standard gallons are 2 to 3 per cent. less than the actual bulk gallons, irrespective of gravity.

(b) Quantities of spirits are stated in proof gallons.

Most of the beer and spirits consumed in the United Kingdom is manufactured within that kingdom, the imports being approximately as follows [37]:—

Year	Beer	Spirits
	Gallons	Proof Gallons
1897-8	1,680,000	9,340,000
1902-3	2,110,000	13,130,000
1907-8	1,940,000	8,510,000

Practically the whole of the imported beer was retained for home consumption; but of the imported spirits, there were re-exported 1,160,000 proof gallons in 1897-8, 1,190,000 in 1902-3, and 1,350,000 in 1907-8.

The quantities of domestic beer and spirits exported were approximately as follows [37]:—

Year	Beer	Spirits
	Gallons	Proof Gallons
1897-8	16,600,000	4,600,000
1902-3	18,700,000	6,400,000
1907-8	22,000,000	7,900,000

The per capita consumption of beer and spirits over a series of years is given in the following table [38]:—

Year ended March 31	Estimated Consumption per Head of Population in the U. K.
	Beer	Spirits
	Gals. at Standard Gravity (1055°)	Proof Gallons
1899-1900	32.29	1.18

1906-7	27.81	0.91
1907-8	27.63	0.90
1908-9	26.47	0.87

The quantities of wine retained for consumption in the United Kingdom have been [22]:—

1897	15,780,000 imp. gals.
1902	15,280,000 "
1907	12,280,000 "
1908	11,290,000 "

The estimated consumption of wine per head of population is given as follows [22]:—

	Imp. Gals.		Imp. Gals.

Home consumption	202,000,000	314,900,000	312,900,000
Consumption per capita	5.3	8.1	7.9

The production and consumption of wine in 1897, 1902, and 1908 are given as follows [9]:—

	Imperial Gallons
	1897	1902	1908
Production	712,000,000	876,000,000	1,331,000,000
Imports	165,000,000	97,000,000	152,000,000
Exports	877,000,000	973,000,000	1,483,000,000
Home consumption	38,000,000	44,000,000	49,000,000
Consumption per capita	21.6	23.8	36.5

Production and consumption of wine vary considerably from year to year, as the following table shows [9]:—

Year	Production of Wine	Total Consumption	Consumption per capita
	Gallons	Gallons	Gallons
1900	1,480,000,000	1,550,000,000	39.6

1905	57,200,000 "
1906	59,400,000 "
1907	55,200,000 "

GERMANY

The production of wine (unfermented grape juice) in Germany in recent years is given as follows [12]:—

Year	Production	Value
	Gallons	£
1902	54,500,000	4,000,000
1903	83,300,000	5,100,000
1904	93,400,000	7,000,000
1905	84,800,000	5,400,000
1906	36,000,000	3,500,000
1907	54,800,000	5,700,000

The production and consumption of alcohol have been as follows [12]:—

Year	Production	Consumption
	Gallons	Gallons
1902-3	74,300,000	79,800,000
1903-4	84,700,000	82,200,000

1906	1,610,000,000	1,600,000,000

It has been estimated that the average expenditure in Germany on beer, spirits, and wine, for every male over 15 years of age, is about £7 yearly, while the average for the whole population is £2, 4s. per head per year [39].

The quantity of beer consumed has fallen from 27.3 gallons per head of the population in 1899 to 26 gallons in 1905. The consumption per head in England in 1905 was 33.3 gallons [39].

UNITED STATES

The consumption of spirits, wine, and malt liquors in the United States has varied as follows [3]:—

Year ended June 30	Consumption of Domestic and Imported
	Disilled Spirits	Wines	Malt Liquors

ALIENS

UNITED KINGDOM

Under the Aliens Act of 1905, 802 aliens were refused leave to land in the United Kingdom in 1907, and 493 in the preceding year. 172,500 alien transmigrants passed through the United Kingdom during 1907. Of these, 856 did not proceed to their ultimate destination, 791 returning to the Continent of Europe (including 732 rejected as undesirable by the shipping companies at ports of departure in the United Kingdom), 19 dying in the United Kingdom, 13 of the remainder being still in the Kingdom on April 1, 1908, and 33 lost sight of. Of the transmigrants who left the United Kingdom to proceed to their destinations, 1139 were rejected as undesirable by the immigration authorities of the countries they sought to enter, and were brought back to the United Kingdom. Of these, 1106 are known to have left the United Kingdom [40].

710 of the rejections in the United Kingdom were on medical grounds (trachoma in 674 cases). Of the 802 refusals to land in 1907, 404 were on account of want of means, &c., and 398 on medical grounds [40].

The total number of alien passengers landed in the United Kingdom in 1907 was 609,930, and of alien passengers embarked, was 574,970, leaving a balance of arrivals over departures of 34,960 [40].

The percentage of reported aliens (persons reported born in foreign countries) among the total number of convicted persons received into prisons during the last few years has tended to diminish since the Aliens Act came into force, as the following table shows [40]:—

Year	Percentage of Aliens to Total Number of Convicted Prisoners
	England and Wales	Scotland	Ireland
1902	2.25	0.54	0.34
1903	2.17	0.59	0.35
1904	2.22	0.63	0.34
1905	2.08	0.63	0.20
1906	1.85	0.68	0.18
1907	1.50	0.41	0.17

The Secretary of State made orders for the expulsion of convicted (criminal) aliens from the Kingdom in 306 cases in 1907 [40].

ALUMINIUM

The estimated annual production and average price per ton of aluminium in recent years are given by a writer in the Times as follows [41]:—

Year	Estimated Production	Average Price per Ton
	Tons	£
1897	3,327	155
1898	3,953	} 148

ANTHROPOMETRY

During 1905-6 an examination was undertaken of the height and weight of more than 72,000 school children (just over half being boys) in Glasgow, and the results were tabulated in conjunction with the number of rooms occupied by the families to which the children belonged. 45 per cent. of the children in families occupying one room were between 5 and 9 years of age; 35 per cent. were between 9 and 12 years; and 20 per cent. 12 years and upwards. Of the children belonging to families living in two rooms, 39 per cent. were aged 5 to 9; 35 per cent. 9 to 12; and 26 per cent. 12 and upwards. 31 per cent. of the children in homes with three rooms were aged 5 to 9; 36 per cent. aged 9 to 12; and 33 per cent. aged 12 and upwards. Finally, only 26 per cent. of the children belonging to families living in more than three rooms were aged from 5 to 9; while 40 per cent. were aged 12 and upwards.

The average weight and height of the children for each class of home were found to be as follows [42]:—

No. of Rooms in Home	Average Weight in lbs. at Age			Average Height in Inches at Age
	5	9	13	5	9	13
Boys
One	37.2	51.4	69.9	39.0	46.5	53.4
Two	38.6	53.1	72.3	39.9	47.6	54.1
Three	39.5	54.8	75.3	40.7	48.2	55.1
More than three	40.1	56.3	76.8	41.4	48.9	55.8
Girls
One	36.6	49.6	71.9	38.9	46.2	53.9
Two	37.8	51.4	73.9	39.8	46.9	54.8
Three	38.0	52.8	76.3	40.2	47.7	55.5
More than three	39.2	54.7	79.3	41.0	48.6	56.4

If the number of rooms occupied can be accepted as any criterion of the material condition of the parents, then the above table shows clearly that poor material conditions, as represented, for example, by the occupation of only one room, affect very considerably the physical development of children. 8 per cent. of the children dealt with above lived in homes of one room; 58 per cent. in homes of two rooms; and 24 per cent. in homes of three rooms.

The height and weight of 9483 juvenile-adult prisoners (aged from 16 to 21) in England and Wales in 1907-8, compare with the height and weight of the general population, and of town artisans and country labourers, as ascertained by the Anthropometry Committee of the British Association and published in 1883, as follows [43]:—

Age	Prisoners received into Local Prisons during 1906-7	General Population (c. 1883)	Town Artisans (c. 1883)	Country Labouring Classes (c. 1883)
Average Height
	Inches	Inches	Inches	Inches
16	62.26	64.31	62.85	63.62
17	63.25	66.24	64.70	65.87
18	64.08	66.96	65.60	66.53
19	64.18	67.29	66.17	66.87
20	64.94	67.52	66.50	66.93
Average Weight
	lbs.	lbs.	lbs.	lbs.
16	111.1	119.0	112.2	117.2
17	117.0	130.9	121.5	131.5
18	122.3	137.4	129.3	138.7
19	127.6	139.6	131.1	140.2
20	130.6	143.3	136.4	144.3

The numbers of observations on which the above figures were based were 9483 prisoners; 10,144 of the general population for height, and 9170 for weight; 2926 town artisans for height, and 2650 for weight; and 726 country labourers for height, and 690 for weight.

The table is intended to indicate the physical inferiority of the criminal population of the country.

ARMY

A return issued by the British War Office in 1908 gave the following numbers as the strength of some of the principal armies of the world in 1900 and 1906 [45]:—

State	Numbers of Officers and Men in Army
	1900			1906
	Active List	Reserves	Total	Active List	Reserves	Total
British Empire	513,860	461,410	975,270	445,730	547,700	993,430
France	672,560	2,501,780	3,174,340	677,580 (a)	2,952,780 (a)	3,630,360 (a)
German Empire	495,000	3,305,000	3,800,000	610,000	3,400,000	4,010,000
Austria	375,290	1,800,000	2,175,290	409,640	1,800,000	2,209,640
Russia	1,119,000	1,768,000	2,887,000	1,225,000	2,024,000	3,249,000

(a) 1905.

The strength of other important armies is given as follows [177]:—

State	Active List	Reserves, &c.	Total
Italy	230,000	2,080,000	2,310,000
Spain	80,000	400,000	480,000
Japan	210,000	830,000	1,040,000
United States	70,000	100,000	170,000

The average annual army expenditure of several powers is given as follows [177]:—

State	Total	Per Head of Population
		Shillings
United Kingdom	£ 28,000,000	12.8
France	28,000,000	14.2
Germany	38,000,000	12.6
Russia	41,000,000	5.6
Austria-Hungary	17,000,000	7.1
Italy	11,000,000	6.5
Spain	6,000,000	6.1
United States	21,000,000	5.0
Japan	11,000,000	4.5

Sundbärg gives the armed strength of Europe on a peace basis as about 4,000,000 men, of whom 2,600,000 are infantry, nearly 500,000 cavalry, and 600,000 artillery. The number of horses is given as over 700,000, and the number of cannon as nearly 19,000 [44].

BRITISH ARMY

The number of officers and men in the land forces of the British Army in 1906 was 993,400, made up as follows [45]:—

Active List	Number in 1906	Reserves	Number in 1906
British Troops—
At Home	129,400	Reserves	105,300
In Colonies	48,100	Militia	94,000
In India	78,400	Yeomanry	25,600

UNITED KINGDOM

The regular army of the United Kingdom consisted on October 1, 1908, of 10,700 officers, 1300 warrant officers, and 239,300 non-commissioned officers and men, or a total of all ranks of 251,300 men [46].

The numbers of the regular army and other military forces of the Kingdom, classified by arms, were as follows on October 1, 1908 [46]:—

Arm	Numbers on October 1, 1908
	Regular Army	Army Reserve	Special Reserve and Militia	Territorial Force	Total
Infantry, including Foot Guards	150,000	91,000	58,100	122,300	421,400
Cavalry and Yeomanry	20,800	8,800	500	22,200	52,300
Artillery	48,200	21,700	11,000	28,900	109,800
Engineers	9,300	4,700	1,400	10,300	25,700
Others	23,000	7,700	600	13,500	44,800
Total Officers (a)	12,000	...	1,900	8,400	...
Total Men	239,300	...	69,700	188,800	...
Grand Total	251,300 (b)	133,900	71,600	197,200	654,000 (c)

(a) Including warrant officers, but excluding non-commissioned officers, who are included with the men.

(b) Excluding 3300 on staff and miscellaneous establishments.

(c) In addition to this number, there were about 3300 men on the staff and miscellaneous establishments of the regular army; 2000 on the permanent staff of the territorial force; 1800 militia reserve; and about 5600 militia and volunteers in the Channel Islands, Malta, and Bermuda.

The territorial force is a new force which in 1908 replaced the yeomanry and volunteers previously in existence. In 1907 the strength of the yeomanry was 25,500, and that of the remaining volunteers 252,800, or a total strength of 278,300 men of all ranks, including the permanent staff. The new territorial force numbered in 1908, 199,200 men of all ranks, including the permanent staff. In April 1909, the total strength of the territorial force had reached about 260,000 men (Daily News, June 30, 1909). The actual change from the yeomanry and volunteers to the territorial force was carried out between April 1 and July 1, 1908. On the former date, the yeomanry numbered 25,000 non-commissioned officers and men, and the volunteers 216,100 non-commissioned officers and men, making a total of 241,100. By July 1 these two arms had ceased to exist, while during the preceding three months some 140,000 to 150,000 of their number enlisted for the new territorial force, and nearly 90,000 quitted the service altogether [46].

The regular army of 251,300 men was distributed as follows [46]:—

England and Wales	92,800	China	6,500
Ireland	26,100	Egypt	5,900
Scotland	4,500	Gibraltar	4,200
Channel Islands	1,900	Elsewhere	11,900
East Indies	75,900
South Africa	14,200	Total	251,300
Malta	7,400

The age distribution of the regular army on October 1, 1903 and 1908, was as follows [46]:—

Age-Group	Proportion per 1000 Non-Commissioned Officers and Men
	1903	1908
Under 18 years	21	20
18 to 19 years	50	50

Further details for England and Wales, Scotland, and Ireland, separately, are given in the following tables:—

ENGLAND AND WALES

The average annual numbers of receiving orders and administration orders under the Bankruptcy Acts, 1883 to 1890, reported by the Board of Trade, together with the estimated amount of liabilities and assets, and loss to creditors, are given as follows for the periods stated [48]:—

Period	Average Annual Number	Estimated Liabilities	Estimated Assets	Estimated Loss to Creditors (a)
Average of 1896-9	4,172	£ 6,110,000	£ 2,430,000	£ 5,300,000
" 1900-3	4,285	6,040,000	2,790,000	5,110,000
" 1904-7	4,464	6,080,000	2,240,000	5,330,000
1908 [22]	4,306	5,510,000	2,100,000	4,810,000

(a) The loss to creditors is estimated by deducting from the liabilities, not the total amount of assets as given above, but those assets less two-thirds of their amount for the cost of, and loss on, their realisation. Thus the deduction from assets on this account, in 1908, amounted to £1,400,000, leaving only £700,000 of assets available to meet the total liabilities of £5,510,000.

The average annual amount of insolvency under deeds of arrangement is given as follows [48]:—

Period	Average Annual Number of Deeds	Estimated Liabilities	Estimated Assets	Estimated Loss to Creditors (a)
Average of 1896-9	3,175	£ 3,920,000	£ 2,000,000	£ 2,720,000
" 1900-3	3,412	4,280,000	2,500,000	2,780,000
" 1904-7	3,763	4,620,000	2,680,000	3,010,000
1908 [22]	3,822	5,860,000	3,550,000	3,730,000

(a) The assets as given in this table are subject to a deduction of 40 per cent. of their amount for costs of, and loss on, their realisation, before they are set against the liabilities.

The total number of women who failed in 1907 was 439, involving liabilities of £317,100, and assets of £156,500 [48].

The average annual number of failures and amount of total liabilities under Bankruptcy and Deeds of Arrangement Acts, in certain trades in England and Wales, during the period 1903-7, are given as follows [48]:—

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA

The number of commercial failures in the United States, and the amount of liabilities over a series of years, have averaged as follows [3]:—

(Dollar taken as 4s. 1½d.)

Period	Average Annual Number	Average Annual Amount of Liabilities	Average Liabilities per Failure
Average of 1888-92	11,020	£32,000,000	£2,900
" 1893-7	14,150	43,400,000	3,100
" 1898-1902	10,980	24,000,000	2,200
" 1902-7	11,640	29,000,000	2,500
1908 [177]	15,690	46,000,000	2,900

Details for 1907 are shown as follows [3]:—

Group of States	Number of Failures	Liabilities	Assets
Eastern . . .	1,318	£ 3,420,000	£ 2,880,000
Middle . . .	3,184	22,180,000	13,670,000

Western . . .	3,506	7,500,000	5,770,000
Pacific and Ter-ritorial . . .	1,250	2,280,000	1,310,000
Total . . .	11,725	40,700,000	28,560,000

Of the failures in 1907, 2913 were failures in manufacturing establishments, with liabilities amounting to £22,000,000; 8419 were in trading establishments, with liabilities of £12,100,000; and 393 were other failures, with liabilities of £6,600,000 [3].

AUSTRALASIA

The bankruptcy returns in the Australasian colonies averaged as follows during 1901-5 [15]:—

State	Annual Average 1901-5
	Number	Liabilities	Assets
New South Wales	448	£ 290,000	£ 153,000
Victoria . . .	454	283,000	131,000
Queensland . . .	350	83,000	21,000
South Australia . . .	34	28,000	16,000
Western Australia . . .	86	47,000	17,000

Commonwealth . . .	1,378	734,500	339,600
New Zealand . . .	238	123,000	71,000

Similar statistics for 1906 are given as follows [15]:—

State	Return of Bankruptcies in 1906
	Number	Liabilities	Assets
New South Wales	406	£ 180,000	£ 93,000
Victoria . . .	517	232,000	81,000
Queensland . . .	307	46,000	7,000
South Australia . . .	93	59,000	45,000
Western Australia . . .	126	59,000	22,000
Tasmania . . .	5	2,300	1,400
Commonwealth . . .	1,454	578,300	249,400
New Zealand . . .	305	219,000	106,000

It should be remarked that no safe comparisons can be drawn from these tables between one state and another, since there are wide differences between the bankruptcy laws and procedure in the various states. Further, the statements of assets and liabilities are unsatisfactory, while private arrangements between persons in a bankrupt condition and their creditors cannot be accounted for.

CAPE COLONY

The average numbers of estates compulsorily sequestrated, and of voluntary surrenders, with the average values of assets and liabilities, during the years 1905-7, were as follows [29]:—

	Average of Years 1905-7

The agricultural and industrial banks are local banks established in every prefecture, chiefly for the purpose of making long-term loans at low rates of interest. Each of these banks must have a capital of not less than £20,500. They are connected with a central bank, the Hypothec Bank of Japan, "created for the purpose of making long-term loans at a low rate of interest on mortgages of immovable property with a view to the improvement and development of agriculture and industry."

The total in the above table includes a number of savings banks (not Post-office), which must be joint-stock companies with a capital of at least £3070. They take deposits from the public at compound interest. In 1898 there were 260 savings banks proper and 158 other banks engaged in the business of savings banks in addition to their principal business.

Most European countries have to import barley to make up their total requirements. During 1901 to 1905 the following countries produced for themselves the given percentages of their total consumption [16]:—

United Kingdom	Per Cent.	55	Switzerland	Per Cent.	18
Germany	69	Denmark	91
Belgium	26	Portugal	98
Netherlands	29	Spain	98
Norway	36	Italy	97
Sweden	98	Greece	94
France	90

During the same period, Russia exported on the average 29 per cent. of its total production; Roumania, 61 per cent.; Hungary, 27 per cent.; Austria, 15 per cent.; Bulgaria, 27 per cent.; and Servia, 16 per cent. [16].

BEES

IRELAND

The number of stocks of bees in Ireland, so far as ascertained, was 27,850 on April 1, 1906, and 27,642 on April 1, 1907 [19].

The annual production of honey in recent years was as follows [19]:—

1896	274,810 lbs.
1900	623,560 "
1904	308,870 "
1905	467,910 "
1906	470,850 "
Average 1896 to 1905	493,130 "

3266 lbs. of wax were manufactured in 1906 [19].

GERMANY

The number of bee-hives in Germany has varied as follows [12], [185]:—

1873 (January)	2,333,480
1883 "	1,911,800
1892 (December)	2,034,480
1900 "	2,605,350
1907 "	2,594,690

The number in 1907 was distributed as follows [12]:—

Prussia	1,530,000
Bavaria	400,000
Württemberg	140,000
Baden	110,000
Saxony	80,000
Other states	330,000
Total	2,590,000

AUSTRALIA

Statistics of hives and honey and wax production are available for three of the Australian states, and were as follows for the years stated [15]:—

NEW ZEALAND

At the Census of April 1906, 15,396 persons were reported as keeping bees. The number of hives was 74,341. During the year preceding the Census 1,003,940 lbs. of honey valued at £20,915, and 31,680 lbs. of wax valued at £1320, were produced [148].

(a) Mean of 1886-90. (b) Mean of 1888-90.
 (c) Mean of 1892-1900. (d) Mean of 1895-1900.

The above rates are not strictly comparable with one another, since the treatment of still-births varies considerably in the different countries. The number of still-births is usually great enough to affect to the extent of a unit the second figure (or units' figure) in the birth-rates.

It will be seen from the table that the birth-rate has almost universally fallen during the period 1871-1900. The principal exception is Japan, whose birth-rate has increased throughout this period. So far as statistics are available, France alone appears to show a decline throughout the whole of the nineteenth century. In most other cases, the decline dates from the seventh or eighth decade of last century.

The lowest rates are seen to have been in France, Ireland, and some of the states in America. The highest were in Russia, Hungary, Servia, and Roumania.

The mean annual numbers of live-births in certain European countries, per 1000 married women aged 15 to 49, per 1000 of all women aged 15 to 49, and per 1000 of the population in successive decennial periods, were as follows [58]:—

(a) Third period is 1896-1904. (b) Third period is 1896-1903.

The above table is constructed by taking the mean number of births occurring during the respective periods and collating this number with the number of women aged 15 to 49, and with the total population, as given by the census which took place in the middle of the several periods. For example, the mean annual number of births in England and Wales during the period 1896-1905 was ascertained, also the number of married women aged 15 to 49, according to the census of 1901. The number of births per 1000 such women was then found. This method does not furnish perfectly accurate results. But the error in the results is not likely to be considerable, and they may therefore be used for all practical purposes. In the first three columns only legitimate live-births are taken into account. In the other columns all live-births enter into the calculations. Still-births are ignored because of the diversity of practice in regard to them.

The table shows clearly that whether the total population or married women of child-bearing ages are considered, the birth-rate has almost universally declined during the last thirty years, Ireland being, perhaps, the chief exception.

France, too, exhibits the lowest rate per 1000 married women as well as per 1000 of the total population. Ireland, on the other hand, though almost as low as France as regards the general population, has, in the last period, a high rate in relation to the number of married women.

A diminishing birth-rate does not mean a diminution in the growth of the total population, if the death-rate diminishes to the same extent as, or greater extent than, the birth-rate. The following table exhibits the mean annual numbers of births and deaths per 1000 inhabitants in the different countries, and the excess of the former over the latter, during the quinquennial periods 1896-1900 and 1901-5. It will be seen that, despite the fall in the birth-rates, the excess of births over deaths, or the natural increase in population, was not materially altered [58], [59]:—

(b) Mean of 1901-3.

(c) First period is 1897-1900.

Great divergencies exist between the various states in the rates of "natural increase," which range from a mean of 1.8 in France in the period 1901-5 to 18.2 in Bulgaria and Tasmania. It is seen, too, that high birth-rates do not necessarily imply a high rate of "natural increase" of population. On the other hand, this latter rate is low where the birth-rate is very low, since the lower the birth-rate the more it tends to approach the death-rate, which cannot be indefinitely diminished.

The following table exhibits the fecundity or fertility of married women according to age, in those countries where such statistics are published. The numbers are, in the case of Norway, Austria, Hungary, and France, the mean annual births, and, in the other cases, the mean annual accouchements per 1000 married women within the several age-groups [58]:—

(a) Estimated.

The fact that some of the ratios in the above table refer to infants actually born, while others are based on accouchements, does not materially affect the comparability of the numbers with one another, since the proportion of multiple births to single births is not large.

A more important defect for purposes of comparison is that still-births are included in some cases and excluded in others. No remedy for this is possible so long as different countries give various definitions to the term "still-birth," and follow diverse practices in regard to the treatment of the still-born.

Where the means of two or more successive periods are given, it is seen that fecundity diminished in every age-group, except in a few instances in the age-group 15 to 19, and, in the case of France, the group 20 to 24. Further, except in Austria and Finland, the fertility of wives declined progressively from the lowest to the highest age-groups. In those two countries the greatest fertility occurred among wives aged 20 to 24. The above table is based on legitimate births.

Drs. A. Newsholme and T. H. C. Stevenson have described and used in the Journal of the Royal Statistical Society a method of correcting the birth-rates so as to allow for the varying number and ages of wives in the population, and thus give a measure of the fertility or tendency to increase of the community, as against the actual increase given by the ordinary birth-rate (less the crude death-rate). The fertility-rates of Sweden in 1891 are adopted as the standard rates, and the corrected rates for England and Wales are taken as the standard with which other rates are compared. The corrected birth-rates of several communities in the periods 1880-1 and 1901-4, as calculated by this method, are given by the authors as follows [141]:—

From the above table it is seen that, although the birth-rate has almost universally fallen during the last thirty years, yet the absolute number of births tends to fall only in Ireland, Hungary, Saxony, France, Italy, Victoria, Queensland, and South Australia. It will be further noticed that more boys are born than girls, although, owing to a higher death-rate among the former than among the latter, more girls than boys survive.

The ratio of male to female births varies from country to country, and is much greater among still-births than live-births. The following table serves to illustrate this [58]:—

Country	Male Births per 1000 Female Births

(a) The figures for these countries are based on data relating to the period 1896-1900. In the remaining cases the period is 1901-5 (Japan 1901-4). The ratios as regards live-births do not vary much from period to period.

The lowest ratio among live-births is in England and Wales; the highest in Portugal and Spain. The range of variation is therefore from about 1037 to 1110. Of the states given three-fourths have a ratio within the limits 1040 to 1066.

The excessively high ratio of boys to girls among still-births is probably largely due to greater risks attending the birth of the former than the latter. The ratio varies from 1105 boys per 1000 girls in Japan to 1492 in Spain. The variation is greater than among live-births, and the ratio is also less stable from period to period.

STILL-BIRTHS

In studying any table showing still-births it should be remembered that the definition of the term varies from country to country. For example, in France, Holland, and Belgium an infant may be registered as still-born if dead at the time of registration of birth, and such registration may be delayed until the third day after the day of birth. In Christiania and Spanish towns a child must live at least twenty-four hours if it is to be registered as a live-birth. In most other countries an infant that shows any signs of life for however short a period is regarded as born alive. In the United Kingdom still-births have only recently begun to be registered. Differences also exist as to when the fœtus becomes an "infant." For example, in Germany the fœtus is described as a still-born infant after a period of gestation lasting seven months, similarly in Hungary and Spain. In Norway and Denmark this period is twenty-eight weeks; in Belgium, Austria, and Switzerland, six months; and in France, four months [60].

This diversity of definition and practice renders international comparisons extremely difficult, if not impossible. International statistics of infantile mortality are especially difficult to handle.

In the following table are shown, for certain countries, the mean annual numbers of still-births in the periods 1896-1900 and 1901-5, and their proportion per 1000 inhabitants, and per 1000 total births (legitimate and illegitimate) in the same periods [1], [58], [59]:—

(c) Mean of 1897-1900.

In most countries the ratio of still-births to total births slightly diminished. The most remarkable exception is the case of Servia. The explanation of the great increase in this instance is probably largely to be found in a greater number of births escaping registration in the earlier period than in the later. The ratio in Japan appears about double that found in any European country.

The proportion of still-births is generally much greater among illegitimate births than among legitimate, as is seen in the following table [58]:—

Country	Mean Annual Number of Still-Births per 1000 Total Births

(a) The second period is 1901-4.
(b) The second period is 1901-3.

The differences between the two rates are very great in some cases; for example, the illegitimate rate in Holland is upwards of 75 per cent. greater than the rate for legitimate. In France it is about 60 per cent. greater. The increase in both rates noted in Servia is probably largely to be explained by incomplete registration in the earlier period.

Only live-births are considered in the above table, because the practice with regard to still-births, as previously explained, is not the same in the different countries, while in many countries records are not kept at all of these births. The inclusion of the latter would generally affect, to the extent of a unit, the units' figures in the rates given in the table.

The average annual numbers of illegitimate births per 1000 total live-births over a series of years are given as follows [58]:—

No very safe deductions can be drawn from this table as to the change in the rate of illegitimacy in any given country over the period for which figures are given, without having regard to the change in the numbers of legitimate births. If, for example, the number of illegitimate births remains stationary, while the number of legitimate births diminishes, the rate of illegitimacy in relation to births would increase. But this could not be said to mean that, in this particular case, illegitimacy was on the increase. The only proper basis for a comparative study of illegitimacy is the ratio of illegitimate births to the numbers of unmarried women of child-bearing ages, say from 15 to 49. The fertility of women above 49 years of age may be neglected. In the following table is therefore given, for certain countries, the average number of illegitimate live-births per 1000 unmarried women (including widowed and divorced women) aged 15 to 49, in successive decennial periods [58]:—

Country	Average Number of Illegitimate Live-Births per 1000 Unmarried Women aged 15 to 49

The ratio of illegimites is seen to vary greatly from country to country. Ireland and Holland have the lowest ratios; Saxony, Austria, Hungary, and Bavaria the highest. In nearly all cases the tendency is towards a decrease in the ratio.

The illegitimate birth-rate (live- and still-births) per 1000 unmarried women at different ages was as follows in the countries named [58]:—

Country and Period	Mean Annual Number of Illegitimate Births (or Accouchements) per 1000 Unmarried Women aged

The highest rate of illegitimacy is seen to be generally amongst unmarried women in the age-group 25 to 29. A preceding table shows the highest rate of legitimate births to be generally amongst wives aged less than 20.

The following table shows the percentage of the total number of illegitimate births that occurred among unmarried women (including widowed and divorced) of the ages specified. The period to which the figures relate is stated against each country [58]:—

Country and Period	Percentage of Total Illegitimate Births that occurred among Unmarried Women aged

(a) Rate per 1000 live-births only.

A table prepared by Dr. Jacques Bertillon about 1897, and quoted by Drs. Newsholme and Stevenson in the Journal of the Royal Statistical Society, gives the birth-rate in London, Paris, Berlin, and Vienna for different social classes of the population. The table is as follows [141]:—

A similar table for London is given by Drs. A. Newsholme and T. H. C. Stevenson, who define their social areas according to the number of domestic servants per 100 families, as given by the census of 1901. The table is as follows [141]:—

Population in	Annual Births per 1000 Women aged 15-50
	London	Paris	Berlin	Vienna
Very poor quarters	147	108	157	200
Poor quarters	140	95	129	164
Comfortable quarters	107	72	114	155
Very comfortable quarters	107	65	96	153
Rich quarters	87	53	63	107
Very rich quarters	63	34	47	71
Average	109	80	102	153

Dr. Bertillon has also given the following table showing the number of legitimate births per 1000 married women aged 15-50 in Paris and Berlin [141]:—

Population in	Births per 1000 Married Women aged 15-50
	Paris	Berlin
Very poor quarters	143	214
Poor quarters	128	198
Comfortable quarters	109	192

(a) Due to the high rate in Marylebone, in which is situated Queen Charlotte's Lying-in Hospital.

The decrease in the birth-rate from the poorest to the richest groups is noteworthy, and is shown by all three tables to be practically continuous.

UNITED KINGDOM

The following table shows the number of live-births registered in England and Wales, Scotland, and Ireland in recent years, classified according to sex and legitimacy:—

The numbers of illegitimates and of still-births, according to the age of the mothers, were as follows [9]:—

Age of Mother	Numbers in 1906
	Illegitimate Live-Births	Still-Births
		Legitimate	Illegitimate
Under 15	172	4	3
15 to 19	15,075	1,549	716

Total	70,866	32,114	5,212

The numbers of live-births and the birth-rate over a series of years are given as follows [9]:—

Year	Average Annual Number of Live-Births
	Number per Year	Number per 1000 of Population
1873-77	953,000	26.0
1878-82	933,000	25.0
1883-87	923,000	24.2
1888-92	865,000	22.5
1893-97	858,000	22.3
1898-1902	844,000	21.7
1903-6	815,000	20.8
1907 [282]	774,000	19.7
1908 [282]	792,000	20.2

The highest birth-rate in France since 1806 was 33.9 per 1000 of population in 1814. Since then it has gradually and almost continuously declined, reaching the low figure of 19.7 per 1000 in 1907 [9].

GERMANY

The birth-rate in Germany per 1000 of population has averaged as follows over a series of years [58], [59]:—

Period	Average Annual Number of Live-Births per 1000 of Population
	Germany	Prussia	Bavaria	Saxony	Württemberg	Haden
1841-50	36.1	38.0	34.1	39.4	40.8	37.9
1851-60	35.3	37.7	33.2	39.6	35.8	32.9
1861-70	37.2	38.3	36.9	40.5	40.8	37.0
1871-80	39.1	39.0	40.3	42.9	43.1	38.5
1881-90	36.8	37.4	36.8	41.8	35.8	33.0
1891-1900	36.1	36.7	36.5	39.5	34.2	33.2
1901-6	34.1	34.7	35.7	34.2	33.9	33.7

The birth-rate, including the still-born, was as follows for the whole empire [12]:—

	Average Annual Total Birth-Rate
1851-60	36.8
1861-70	38.8
1871-80	40.7
1881-90	38.2
1891-1900	37.4
1901-6	35.2

The number of illegitimate births has fallen from 11.5 per cent. of the total births during the period 1851-60, to 8.5 per cent. during 1901-6. The number of still-births has fallen from 4 per cent. of the total births in the earlier period to 3.1 per cent. during 1901-6 [12].

The percentage of total births in the German Empire in 1905, occurring in each month of the year, is given as follows [12]:—

Month	Percentages of Total Births in 1906
	Legitimate	Illegitimate	Still-born
January	8.4	9.0	9.2
February	7.8	8.3	8.5
March	8.8	9.5	9.1
April	8.3	8.5	8.6
May	8.4	8.6	8.4
June	8.1	8.2	8.0
July	8.4	7.4	7.7
August	8.6	7.6	8.0
September	8.6	8.6	7.6
October	8.4	7.8	8.0
November	8.0	7.9	8.2
December	8.2	8.6	8.7
Total	100	100	100
Actual numbers	1,907,680	177,060	62,260

There were, in 1906, over 26,500 cases of twin births, 266 cases of triplets, and 1 case of quadruplets [12].

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA

Birth statistics covering a series of consecutive years are only available for a few of the states comprised in the Union. The average annual birth-rates for five states are given as follows [58]:—

State	Average Annual Number of Live-Births per 1000 Population
	1851-60	1861-70	1871-80	1881-90	1891-1900
Connecticut	24.6	22.7	24.7	23.1	24.1
Massachusetts	29.1	25.7	25.9	25.5	27.3
Michigan	22.5	22.1	19.5
Rhode Island	23.7	23.3	25.8
Vermont	19.4	20.8	19.1	20.6

The birth-rate (live-births only) in Maine averaged 21.3 per 1000 of population during 1892-1900, and 20.9 during 1901-5 [58].

BUILDING SOCIETIES

UNITED KINGDOM

The liabilities and balances due on mortgages of Incorporated Building Societies in the United Kingdom have varied as follows [22]:—

C

CANALS

The approximate cost of various canals is given as follows [67]:—

Suez Canal	£19,000,000
Manchester Ship Canal	15,000,000
Kiel Canal	8,000,000
Salt St. Marie Canal, United States	1,200,000
Salt St. Marie Canal, Canada	800,000
Amsterdam Canal	2,000,000
Corinth Canal	1,000,000
Cronstadt Canal	2,000,000
Welland Canal (Lake Erie to Lake Ontario)	5,000,000

Up to the end of June 1908 the United States Government had spent on the Panama Canal about £26,000,000. The total cost of this Canal when completed is estimated to amount to from £50,000,000 to £100,000,000 [67]. The total cost of the whole of the nine canals enumerated above was £54,000,000.

The total length of the Panama Canal when completed will be 49 miles, of which 4 miles at each end will be in the open sea. The minimum depth is to be 41 feet, the minimum width at the bottom 200 feet. Each lock will have a usable length of 1000 feet and will be 110 feet wide. The maximum lift of the locks will be 32 feet [67].

It is estimated that 40 ships will be able to pass through the canal from ocean to ocean in 24 hours [67].

At one part of the isthmus a dam (the Gatun dam) is to be constructed, which will be 7700 feet long and 2060 feet wide [67].

Up to the end of June 1908, 122,500,000 cubic yards had been excavated. 32,000 men were actually at work on the canal at the end of January 1908 [67].

The opening of the Panama Canal will shorten distances as follows [67]:—

New York to Panama and Pacific ports to the north	8400 miles
New York to Panama and Pacific ports to the south	8400 to 1000 miles (average 5000 miles)
Liverpool to Panama and Pacific ports to the north	6000 miles
Liverpool to Panama and Pacific ports to the south	2600 miles on average
New York to Yokohama via San Francisco	3700 miles
New York to Sydney via Tahiti	3800 miles

SUEZ CANAL

The numbers and tonnage of vessels of all kinds passing through the Suez Canal in each year from 1897, together with the transit receipts, were as follows [68]:—

UNITED KINGDOM

Statistics of canals in the United Kingdom for the year 1905 are given as follows [187]:—

Length	4,673 miles
Tons of goods conveyed	43,162,000
Revenue	£2,680,700
Expenditure	£1,891,200

Of these canals the length owned or controlled by railways was 1363 miles, on which were conveyed 14,216,000 tons of goods. The revenue was £643,500, and the expenditure £483,000 [187].

The paid-up capital of the canals was in 1905 [187]:—

Not belonging to railways	£36,970,000
Belonging to or controlled by railways	10,580,000
Total	£47,550,000

(The paid-up capital of canals in Ireland belonging to railways (95 miles) is not given in this statement.)

FRANCE

The length of rivers and canals in France actually navigated, and the tonnage carried per mile, in 1900 and 1907, are given as follows [9]:—

	1900	1907
Length navigated—
Rivers . . . Miles	4,560	4,370
Canals	3,030	3,050
Tonnage carried per mile—

GERMANY

The inland waterways of Germany in 1903 had a total navigable length of 8740 miles, comprising 5040 miles of main streams, 890 miles of channelled rivers, 1370 miles of navigable canals, and 1440 miles of canals between lakes, estuaries, &c. [39].

CAPITAL

The value of negotiable paper or securities in the world at December 31, 1906, was estimated by Mons. A. Neymarck to amount to over £29,000,000,000. The amounts owned by various countries were approximately as follows [279]:—

United Kingdom	£5,000,000,000
United States	4,500,000,000
France	4,000,000,000
Germany	2,600,000,000
Russia	1,000,000,000
Austria-Hungary	800,000,000

The capital issues of the world in 1908 are given approximately as follows [177]:—

Issues on account of—
State, provincial, and municipal loans	£290,000,000
Railways, industrial companies, &c.	490,000,000
Banks, &c.	55,000,000
Conversions	13,000,000
Total	£848,000,000

The nominal value of the securities quoted in the London Stock Exchange official list at the end of 1908 was £9,935,000,000 [189].

The amount of British capital invested abroad is given by The Economist approximately as follows [51]:—

British colonies and dependencies—
India	£470,000,000
Australasia	321,000,000
Canada	305,000,000
Transvaal and Orange River	220,000,000
Cape Colony	98,000,000

CHARITIES

UNITED KINGDOM

A return of the receipts of "charities in or available for the Metropolis" (London), prepared for the Poor Law Commission which reported in 1909, showed the income of the agencies dealing with material needs to be as follows [72]:—

Charitable contributions	£3,664,000
Payments by or for beneficiaries	956,000
Interest on invested funds	1,538,000
Legacies	735,000
Other items	787,000
Total	£7,680,000

If to this amount be added the income of spiritual charities, namely, £2,387,000, the total income of charitable agencies in or available for London become £10,067,000 [72].

These amounts exclude charges on public funds on account of material relief. These charges are given as follows [72]:—

Expenditure on asylums for insane, &c., of the London area	£567,000
Public grants to industrial and reformatory schools	360,000
Expenditure by guardians on relief of the poor in the Metropolis	3,865,000
Total	£4,792,000

Thus the total amount available for charitable relief in the London area in a year is at least £12,470,000.

FRANCE

The average annual number and value of gifts, &c., to public and other institutions in France in recent years are given as follows [73]:—

CANADA

The clearing-houses of chartered banks in the Canadian Dominion showed the following returns in the years 1902 to 1907 [31], [32]:—

1902	£522,000,000	1905	£686,000,000
1903	553,000,000	1906	812,000,000
1904	562,000,000	1907	863,000,000

The clearing-houses at Montreal and Toronto accounted for about 70 per cent. of these amounts, the returns of these and other clearing-houses in 1902 and 1907 being as follows [31], [32]:—

	1902	1907		1902	1907

COAL

CONTENTS OF ARTICLE

The following tables appear in this article in the order stated:—

	PAGE		PAGE		PAGE
Estimate of world's coal area	86	Average production and consumption per capita	88	Quantities of coal brought to London	90
Production in various countries, 1898 to 1907	86	Number of persons employed in coal-mining	89	Consumption for various purposes	90
Value of production in certain years	87	Production of lignite	89	Germany—
Average prices at pit's mouth in certain countries	87	Persons employed in production of lignite	89	Production and consumption of coal and lignite since 1876	91
Imports and exports in certain countries	87	United Kingdom—		United States of America—
Balance of imports or exports	88	Production and consumption of coal	90	Production of coal in principal producing states	91
Consumption in certain countries	88	Average prices per ton since 1897	90	Value of coal produced	91

An estimate by E. Lozé of the world's coal area unworked in 1901 gave the following results [74]:—

	Sq. Miles		Sq. Miles
China	232,500	Japan	5,000
United States	200,000	France	2,500
Canada	65,000	Austria-Hungary	1,800
India	35,000	Germany	1,700
New South Wales	24,000	Belgium	500
Russia in Europe	20,000
United Kingdom	12,000	Total	605,500
Spain	5,500

If the Siberian, Central Asiatic, and African coal areas are added to the above, the total coal area of the world is estimated as at least 800,000 square miles.

The production of coal (in most cases excluding lignite, for which see below) in certain countries in recent years was as follows [75]:—

Country	Production of Coal (in Thousands of Tons)

(a) Estimated. The Orange River Colony and Transvaal are included throughout the period.

(b) Luxemburg is included with Germany.

(c) Figures include production of lignite.

Production during the ten years 1898 to 1907 has more than doubled in the United States and Japan and some of the British Possessions; it has increased about 75 per cent. in the Russian Empire; about 50 per cent. in Germany; about 30 per cent. in the United Kingdom; about 25 per cent. in Austria-Hungary; about 15 per cent. in France; and less than 10 per cent. in Belgium.

The production of the United States in 1898 was 97 per cent. of that of the United Kingdom in the same year; in 1907 it was 160 per cent. of that of the latter country. Germany's production in 1898 was about 46 per cent. of that of the United Kingdom; in 1907 it was about 52 per cent.

The total production of coal in the world in 1907 was about 1000 million tons, of which the United States produced 43 per cent., the United Kingdom 27 per cent., and Germany 14 per cent. [75].

The value of the coal produced in various countries in 1898, 1902, and 1907 was as follows [75]:—

UNITED KINGDOM

The average annual production and consumption of coal in the United Kingdom in certain periods are stated as follows [76]:—

Periods	Average Annual Output	Average Annual Quantity Exported (a)	Average Annual Quantity Retained in the United Kingdom	Average Annual Consumption per Head of Population
	Tons	Tons	Tons	Tons
Average of 1875-7	134,000,000	19,000,000	115,000,000	3.46

" 1905-7	252,000,000	76,000,000	176,000,000	4.01
Quantities in 1907 only	268,000,000	85,000,000	183,000,000	4.14

(a) Includes coal shipped for the use of vessels engaged in foreign trade. These quantities averaged 3,500,000 tons per year in 1875-7; 6,700,000 tons per year in 1885-7; 9,900,000 tons per year in 1895-7; and 18,200,000 tons per year in 1905-7. In 1907 only, the quantity was 18,600,000. This column also includes coke and patent fuel exported, reduced to their equivalent value in coal.

The production in 1908 was 261,500,000 tons, valued at £116,600,000 [22].

The average prices of coal per ton in each year since 1897 are given as follows [76]:—

Of the 64,000,000 tons of coal only, exported from the United Kingdom in 1907 to countries abroad (exclusive of bunker coal, or coal for the use of ships on foreign voyages), 16,000,000 tons were exported at a price not exceeding 10s. per ton; 15,000,000 tons at prices between 10s. and 12s. per ton; 12,000,000 tons at prices between 12s. and 14s. per ton; 12,000,000 tons at prices between 14s. and 16s. per ton; and 9,000,000 tons at upwards of 16s. per ton [77].

The quantities of coal brought to London (metropolitan police area, including city of London) in 1903 and 1907 were as follows [75]:—

	1903	1907
	Tons	Tons
By railway	7,102,000	8,345,000
By canal	16,000	25,000
By sea (coastwise)	7,970,000	8,203,000
Total	15,088,000	16,573,000

(The metropolitan police area extends over a radius of 15 miles from Charing Cross. The population of this area in 1901 was 6,600,000, and in 1905 about 7,000,000.)

The annual consumption of coal by various users in the United Kingdom has been estimated as follows for about the year 1903 [78]:—

Railways (all purposes)	13,000,000
Coasting steamers (bunkers)	2,000,000
Factories	53,000,000
Mines	18,000,000
Iron and steel industries	28,000,000
Other metal and mineral industries	1,000,000
Brick works and potteries	5,000,000
Glass works
Chemical works
Gas works	15,000,000
Domestic uses	32,000,000
Total	167,000,000

Of this quantity of 167,000,000 tons of coal annually consumed, it has been estimated that from 40 to 60 million tons are practically wasted [78].

The quantity of coal remaining unworked in proved coalfields in the United Kingdom, and at a depth not exceeding 4000 feet, has been estimated at 100,000 million tons, and the quantity in unproved coalfields at not less than 40,000 million tons [78].

GERMANY

The production and consumption of coal and lignite in the German Zollgebiet have averaged as follows [17]:—

Period	Average Annual Quantities
	Production	Imports	Exports	Consumption
				Total	Per Capita
Coal
	Tons	Tons	Tons	Tons	Tons
1876-80	40,200,000	2,000,000	5,800,000	36,500,000	0.7

1901-5	46,200,000	7,800,000	21,000	54,000,000	0.91

The production of coal in 1908 was 146 million tons; of lignite, 65 million tons; coke, 21 millions; and briquettes, 18 millions [177].

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA

The principal states in which coal was produced in 1890, 1900, and 1906 are shown as follows [3]:—

The production of coal in 1907 and 1908 was [177]:—

	1907	1908
Quantity	430 million tons	380 million tons
Value	£137,000,000	£119,000,000

COFFEE

The average annual production of coffee in recent years is given as follows [79]:—

Years or Seasons	Brazil (a)	Other Countries (b)	Total
	Tons	Tons	Tons
Average of 1895-6 to 1898-9	530,000	270,000	800,000
Average of 1899-1900 to 1902-3	740,000	230,000	970,000
Average of 1903-4 to 1906-7
	780,000	230,000	1,010,000

(a) The quantities under Brazil are entries or shipments at Brazilian ports.

(b) The quantities under other producing countries are mild coffees.

The chief coffee-exporting countries, and the quantities exported in recent years, are given as follows [18]:—

Exporting Country	Quantities Exported (in Millions of Pounds)
	1902	1903	1904	1905	1906
Brazil	1740.4	1710.0	1326.0	1431.3	1847.4

Practically the whole of the anthracite coal is produced in Pennsylvania, a very small amount being obtained in Colorado and New Mexico, averaging about 66,000 tons a year. In the remaining states, bituminous coal only is produced [3].

The value of coal produced in 1890, 1900, and 1906 is shown as follows (dollar taken as 4s. 2d.) [3]:—

	1890	1900	1906
Anthracite	13,800,000	17,900,000	27,500,000

The comparison of the foreign trade of several countries is one of extreme difficulty, if anything approaching exactitude is required. The classification and definition of foreign trade, and in particular the "special trade"

(which, generally speaking, comprises imports for home consumption and exports of domestic produce), vary from one country to another; different methods of valuation of imports and exports are followed; the countries of origin of imports and of destination of exports are ascertained with different degrees of accuracy, or inaccuracy, while in some cases there are recorded simply the countries from and to which shipment is made. Added to these varieties of practice in the treatment of trade statistics, is the multitude of errors made in declaring or recording the values of imports and exports, the magnitude of which errors may not be altogether uninfluenced by the existence or non-existence of a customs tariff with ad valorem duties. These considerations not only vitiate trade comparisons between one country and another, they also affect to a greater or less degree the comparison of the statistics of a particular country between one period and another, according as changes are made in customs tariffs (which may involve changes in the classification of goods), in methods of valuation, and in the means of determining the origin and destination of goods. For a full discussion of the accuracy and comparability of international trade statistics, the reader is referred to two reports issued in 1904 and 1905 by a committee of Section F of the British Association [94].

The above remarks should be borne in mind when referring to any part of this article. Especially should attention be given to all notes or descriptions prefixed or appended to the tables.

The following table can only be used for comparative purposes within more or less wide limits of error. Perhaps its chief use is to indicate the relative rate of growth in the imports and exports of the several countries given.

The average annual value of the imports and exports of certain countries during the periods 1892-6 and 1902-6 are given as follows. In most cases, total imports and exports are given, exclusive of bullion and specie [1], [12]:—

(a) Special trade only, i.e. imports for home consumption and exports of domestic produce.

(b) Inclusive of bullion and specie.

(c) Switzerland includes specie; Italy and Argentine, silver bullion.

Of the total import and export trade of the principal countries of the world, which averaged during 1902-6 about £5,500,000,000 per year, Great Britain's share averaged during that period 17.8 per cent.; Germany's, 11.7 per cent.; that of the United States of America was 9.9 per cent.; France's share was 9 per cent.; Holland's, 6.8 per cent.; Belgium's, 6.5 per cent.; British India's, 3.4 per cent.; Austria-Hungary's, 3.4 per cent.; Russia's, 3.3 per cent.; and Italy's, 2.7 per cent. [12].

The imports and exports per head of population in or about the year 1906 are given as follows in the United States Statistical Abstract [3], or are deduced from the sources indicated. The figures relate mainly to the "special trade" of the several countries:—

(a) From 1899 onwards the value of new ships and boats with their machinery is included in the exports. Previous to that year it was excluded. The value was £9,197,000 in 1899; £8,588,000 in 1900; £9,149,000 in 1901; £5,872,000 in 1902; £4,284,000 in 1903; £4,455,000 in 1904; £5,431,000 in 1905; £8,644,000 in 1906; £10,018,000 in 1907; and £10,567,000 in 1908.

The above values represent, in the case of the imports, their cost, insurance, and freight, or, where goods are consigned for sale, their latest sale value. In the case of the exports, the values equal the cost plus the charges of delivery on board ship.

Merchandise imported for transhipment under bond is not included in the above table. The value of this entrepôt trade was as follows [22]:—

ANNUAL VALUE OF MERCHANDISE TRANSHIPPED UNDER BOND

Year	Value	Year	Value	Year	Value
	Thous. £		Thous. £		Thous. £
1897	10,752	1901	12,834	1905	14,318
1898	9,793	1902	13,683	1906	16,312
1899	10,787	1903	14,138	1907	18,824
1900	11,017	1904	13,667	1908	15,969

Of this merchandise about 30 per cent. is received from France for transhipment, 10 to 15 per cent. from the United States, and about 15 per cent. from Germany, Holland, and Belgium. After transhipment, 35 to 40 per cent. goes to the United States, 12 to 15 per cent. to Germany, Holland, and Belgium, about 10 per cent. to the British East Indies, and 8 to 10 per cent. to Australasia.

The imports and exports of bullion and specie are given as follows [22]:—

The chief source of gold supply to the United Kingdom is now South Africa, the relatively small value shown above as imported in 1900-2 being largely due to the shortage of supply from this source in consequence of the war. Next to South Africa, the United Kingdom draws most of its gold from Australasia, British East Indies, France, Germany, and Egypt. In 1908, South Africa supplied about 70 per cent. of the gold imported into the United Kingdom, Australasia about 8 per cent., British East Indies about 6 per cent., and the two European countries together about 7 per cent. The quantities from these various sources vary greatly, however, from year to year, especially the imports from the European countries, which are non-productive of the actual gold, and employ it rather as cash to settle accounts than as ordinary merchandise. The variations are shown in the following table, in which are given the amounts consigned to the United Kingdom by the countries stated, and not simply the amount shipped from those countries [22]:—

The greater part of the imports of silver comes from the United States, which supply about 75 per cent. of the whole.

The gold exported from the United Kingdom is consigned to many countries, the chief customers being the following [22] :—

(a) Including Farøe Islands, Iceland, and Greenland.

(b) Exclusive of Hong-Kong and Macao. Inclusive of Korea in first period but not in second.

(c) Exclusive of value of diamonds imported from the Cape of Good Hope. The value of diamonds exported from that colony to the United Kingdom averaged £3,960,000 per year during 1892-6, and £6,390,000 per year during 1902-6.

(d) The value of ships with their machinery exported from the United Kingdom is included in the second, but not in the first, period.

The principal countries taking the produce and manufactures of the United Kingdom during 1904-8 were the United States (averaging £24,800,000 per year); Germany (averaging £32,600,000 per year); France (£19,400,000 per year); Argentina (£15,500,000 per year); British India (£46,000,000 per year); Australia (£20,300,000 per year); and Canada (£13,100,000 per year) [22].

Since 1904, efforts have been made to ascertain the countries of actual origin and destination of imports and exports respectively, as distinct from the countries from or to which imports and exports are reported as shipped. This information is given in the following table, which shows (1) the values of imports into the United Kingdom originating in the countries stated in the first column, compared with the values reported as shipped from those countries; and (2) the values of the exports from the United Kingdom ultimately destined for the countries stated in the fourth column, compared with the values reported as shipped to those countries. The values given, however, must be regarded as only approximations to the true facts [22]:—

(a) Inclusive of Farøe Islands, Iceland, and Greenland.

(b) The value of diamonds from Cape Colony is not included. The value of diamonds exported from the Cape to the United Kingdom averaged £6,930,000 per year during 1904-8.

The table shows that France, Belgium, and the Netherlands are credited with a considerable part of British imports which actually originate elsewhere (e.g. in Germany and Switzerland).

The following tables show the annual value of the trade between the United Kingdom and foreign countries, and the United Kingdom and British possessions and protectorates, the merchandise being classified under four main heads, namely: (1) Food, drink, and tobacco; (2) raw materials and articles mainly unmanufactured; (3) articles wholly or mainly manufactured; and (4) miscellaneous and unclassified, including parcel post. Bullion and specie are excluded, as well as diamonds from the Cape [22].

The division comprising "raw materials and articles mainly unmanufactured" includes coal and other fuel; metallic ores; wood and timber; cotton, wool, and other textile materials, such as flax, jute, silk, &c.; oils, oil seeds, &c.; hides and undressed skins; materials for paper making, &c. The group of "articles wholly or mainly manufactured" includes iron and steel bars, girders, rails, plates, &c.; brass, bronze, copper, pig and sheet lead; platinum, quicksilver, &c.; cutlery and hardware; electrical goods; machinery; new ships; yarns and textile fabrics; apparel; chemicals, drugs, &c.; leather and leather manufactures; earthenware and glass; paper, &c. The other two groups of "food, drink, and tobacco," and "miscellaneous and unclassified," need no detailed definition, beyond stating that the latter includes parcel post.

The declared values of imports and exports form a very inadequate guide to the real change in the volume of foreign trade, since changes in values may be, and often are, due to variations of price as well as of quantity. In the following table some attempt has been made to eliminate the effect of price-variations, and to present the imports and exports since 1900 at the values they would have had if the prices which prevailed in 1900 had remained unaltered. The attempt is not completely successful, since the average prices of some imports and exports (e.g. articles conveyed by parcel post, a few manufactured articles, &c.) cannot be determined. The result, however, is not likely to be much affected by the variation in price of these items, since their whole volume bears but a small proportion to the total trade, and there is no reason to attribute to them such highly exceptional changes in price as would appreciably influence the total value of all imports or exports [96]:—

From this table it is seen that the large increase in value, both of imports and exports, in 1906 over 1905, was largely a price phenomenon. So also was the increase in 1907 over 1906. On the other hand, the increases in the volume of total imports and total exports down to 1905 were inadequately represented by the declared values, while the diminution in exports of home products chronicled in 1901, was one of values only and not one of volume or quantities. It is seen, too, that price-variations affected imports more than exports.

The declared values and the values estimated at the prices of 1900 are given in the following table as percentages of the values in 1900, under the general headings of (a) food, drink, and tobacco; (b) raw materials and articles mainly unmanufactured; and (c) articles wholly or mainly manufactured [96].

The group most affected by price-variations was that comprising raw materials and mainly unmanufactured articles, and in this group it was, as regards imports and re-exports, the textile products (chiefly cotton) which experienced the greatest price-variation, and as regards exports of British produce, coal was chiefly affected.

Calculations were made by the British Board of Trade in 1903 and 1904 as to the relative incidence of foreign and colonial tariffs on British exports. This was approximately ascertained by estimating the average "ad valorem" equivalent of the import duties imposed by each country on the main classes of goods which are exported from the United Kingdom to all destinations, and not solely to the particular market under consideration." By this means account was taken of those foreign and colonial import duties which may be high enough to exclude British goods from the particular countries imposing them. The results of the calculation are given as follows [83]:—

ESTIMATED AVERAGE "AD VALOREM" EQUIVALENT OF THE IMPORT DUTIES LEVIED BY THE UNDER-MENTIONED COUNTRIES ON THE PRINCIPAL MANUFACTURES EXPORTED FROM THE UNITED KINGDOM

	Per Cent.		Per Cent.
Russia	131	Roumania	14
Spain	76	Belgium	13
United States	73	Norway	12
Portugal	71	New Zealand	9
Austria-Hungary	35	Japan	9

It is pointed out that these rates of duty must not be regarded as representing the comparative protective efficiency of the several customs tariffs. A high import duty levied by a backward country may have less protective effect than a lower duty levied by an advanced country.

BRITISH EMPIRE

The approximate value of the total imports and total exports (including bullion and specie in both cases) of the British colonies, possessions, and protectorates in recent years, is given as follows [97]:—

1907	51,809	72,824	1,841	12,935(d)

(a) Previous to September 1903, the various states did not record as imports from countries outside Australia these goods which were transhipped in the state of arrival and forwarded to another state. Such goods were entered in the returns of the state finally receiving them as imports from the state in which they were transhipped. The figures in the above table, therefore, down to 1903, understate to some extent the real total value of all imports received from countries outside the Commonwealth. The values of the transhipped imports are estimated to have been £1,774,000 in 1899; £2,069,000 in 1900; £2,122,000 in 1901; £1,547,000 in 1902; and £1,024,000 in 1903.

(b) Prior to September 1903, goods sent from one state to another for transhipment beyond the Commonwealth were not treated as oversea exports, but as inter-state transfers. Since September 1903, such goods have been counted as exports at the place where they were shipped on board oversea vessels. No reliable estimates of these transhipments before the above-mentioned date is available. Their value after that date is included in the above table under the total exports.

(c) In and after 1906, the value of goods shipped in oversea vessels as ships' stores is not included in the value of exports from the Commonwealth. Previous to 1906, the value of such goods was included with the exports.

(d) Includes silver ore.

The principal articles imported and exported (excluding inter-state trade), and their average annual value during the period 1902-6, are shown as follows [15], [97]:—

From the beginning of 1905, the Commonwealth Trade and Customs Department has kept a record of the countries of origin of the imports, as well as of the countries of shipment. The values of imports from the chief countries whence originating, and also whence imported, are shown in the following table for the years 1905 and 1906 [15]:—

Countries from which Imports were Received	Value of Imports from
	Country of Shipment		Country of Origin
	1905	1906	1905	1906
United Kingdom	£ 23,075,000	£ 26,576,000	£ 20,320,000	£ 22,904,000
New Zealand	2,334,000	3,156,000	2,277,000	2,989,000

From the above table it is seen that the United Kingdom is, to a fairly large extent, a country of transit for goods consigned to Australia by other producing countries.

The average annual trade during 1902 to 1906 of the several Australian States was as follows [15]:—

State	Average Annual Values of Imports 1902-6			State	Average Annual Values of Exports 1902-6

(a) Includes in all years goods in transit for interior. Also includes goods (other than diamonds and raw gold) imported overland down to 1905, but not in 1906 and 1907. Inter-colonial trade by sea is also included in 1906 and 1907.

(b) Exports by sea only (including diamonds and raw gold brought overland for shipment), but excluding inter-state trade by sea in 1906 and 1907.

(c) Includes in all years goods in transit for interior, but excludes goods imported overland. Figures for 1906 and 1907 also exclude inter-state trade by sea, although this was included in 1905 and earlier years.

(d) Includes in all years diamonds and raw gold brought overland for shipment. Only exports by sea are shown, and in 1906 and 1907 inter-colonial exports by sea are excluded.

The large increases in imports in the years 1901 to 1903 occurred during the period of the South African war, and were largely due to the special demands set up by that war.

The imports and exports, including bullion and specie, of the Transvaal and Orange River Colony since 1902, are given as follows [97]:—

Year	Transvaal		Orange River Colony

1902 . . .	5,227	4,018	633	339

The British possessions included in this table are Nigeria, Gold Coast, Sierra Leone, and Gambia.

Most of the trade is done with the United Kingdom, the imports from that country having steadily increased (except a slight set-back in 1905) from £2,164,000 in 1897 to £5,984,000 in 1907, while the exports to the United Kingdom almost steadily increased from £1,704,000 in 1897 to £4,249,000 in 1907 [97].

(a) The returns of exports from Norway to Sweden from 1898 to 1906 are incomplete, owing to the abrogation in 1897 of the special law regulating the trade between the two countries. The above figures for 1902-6 are therefore not comparable with those for 1892-6.

(b) Exports to the Canary Islands are included in the second period 1902-6.

(a) Include the value of ships, and the "Veredelungsverkehr" in 1897 and after. The "Veredelungsverkehr" is the "temporary duty-free importation of articles destined for re-exportation after having undergone a refining process" (Muret's Encyclopædic Dictionary).

(b) Exclude through transit trade, but include the total "Veredelungsverkehr," and also the value of ships in and after 1897. Prior to March 1, 1906, the trade of the free ports of Hamburg, Cuxhaven, Bremerhaven, and Geestmünde is excluded from the above table. After that date, however, their trade with foreign countries is included, and the Zollgebiet then became the Wirtschaftsgebiet.

The imports for home consumption in 1908 amounted to £376,800,000, and the exports of home produce to £314,600,000 [285].

The imports and exports of bullion and specie, exclusive of broken gold, silver, &c., are given as follows [1]:—

1901	5,620,000	3,760,000	1907	5,936,000	4,642,000

(a) The values given for the imports for the years prior to 1899 are based on official values fixed in 1889. For 1899 and subsequent years the values of imports are based on the average prices ascertained to prevail in 1899. The import figures for 1898 and earlier years are therefore not comparable with those for later years. The figures in the two periods in fact tend to show the changes in the volume of trade rather than in the real value.

The principal articles imported and exported, with their average annual value in 1892-6 and 1902-6, were as follows [1]:—

The principal imports are opium (averaging £270,000 per year), tobacco (£60,000 per year), petrol (£70,000 per year), and rice (£40,000 per year). The principal exports are tea (averaging £570,000 per year) and refined camphor (£230,000 per year) [115].

KOREA

The values of imports and exports of Korea from 1904 to 1907 are given as follows [55]:—

Year	Imports	Exports
1904	2,740,000	710,000
1905	3,270,000	710,000
1906	3,040,000	830,000
1907	4,240,000	1,680,000

These figures do not include values of gold exported. These were £510,000 in 1904, £530,000 in 1905, £470,000 in 1906, and £450,000 in 1907. Japan sent about 70 per cent. of the imports each year, and received about 80 per cent. of the exports. Rice accounted for £770,000 of the exports in 1907. The other chief articles of export were beans, cow-hide, live stock, and fish. The chief imports were railway materials, silk and cotton goods, provisions, kerosene oil, and timber [55].

(a) Year 1907.

UNITED KINGDOM

The total number of industrial and provident societies registered in the United Kingdom at the end of 1907 was 2812. Their total membership was 2,588,210, and total funds £56,393,300. These societies may be classified as follows [258]:—

	Societies	Members	Funds
Industries and trades	2,267	2,461,030	£53,788,900
Businesses	399	108,550	984,700
Land societies	146	18,630	1,619,700

The most important co-operative societies are the workmen's productive and distributive societies. The numbers, membership, and capital of these in 1892, 1900, and 1906, so far as they made returns, are given as follows [2]:—

Productive and Distributive Societies	1892	1900	1906
Number which made returns	1,541	1,839	2,157
Membership	1,154,000	1,780,000	2,335,000
Capital—
Share	£13,458,000	£22,630,000	£30,120,000
Loan	3,154,000	6,340,000	9,780,000
Total	16,612,000	28,970,000	39,900,000
Amount of actual sales (a)	47,150,000	75,570,000	98,400,000

(a) These figures include sales by wholesale to retail societies, and the value of the production of purely productive societies.

The table does not of course completely represent the true growth of co-operative production and distribution in the United Kingdom, since the figures relate only to such societies as made returns in the respective years, and it is not improbable that the proportion of societies which made no returns was larger in the earlier than in the later years. Nevertheless the figures indicate real growth.

The number and kind of societies engaged in co-operative distribution, and the amount of sales in 1897, 1902, and 1906, are shown as follows [2]:—

Distribution by	Co-operative Distribution in
	1897		1902		1906
	Number of Societies	Sales	Number of Societies	Sales	Number of Societies	Sales
English Wholesale Society	1	£11,920,140	1	£18,397,560	1	£22,510,040
Scottish Wholesale Society	1	4,405,850	1	6,059,120	1	7,140,180
Irish Agency Society	1	116,240	1	184,690	1	174,680
Irish Agricultural Wholesale Society	1	14,440	1	53,090	1	54,090
Retail stores	1,442	40,128,560	1,454	55,319,260	1,441	63,353,770
Agricultural and other retail societies	46	69,990	165	169,310	287	622,410
Total	1,492	56,655,220	1,623	80,183,330	1,732	93,855,170

If the true measure of co-operative trade in the country be taken as the amount of retail trade done by the retail societies—since the sales of the wholesale societies are made to the retail societies, and also practically the whole of the proceeds of co-operative production passes through their hands—then the co-operative trade increased from over £40,000,000 in 1897 to about £64,000,000 in 1906.

The value of co-operative production by the various kinds of societies in 1897, 1902, and 1906 is shown as follows [2], [6]:—

Production by	Co-operative Production in
	1897		1902		1906
	Number of Societies	Value of Production	Number of Societies	Value of Production	Number of Societies	Value of Production

(a) The goods produced by the retail and wholesale societies are usually transferred to their distributive departments. The numbers of retail societies given are those which had productive departments.

In 1908 co-operative production (exclusive of agricultural production) was carried on by the English and Scottish Wholesale Societies, by 947 societies established primarily for retail distribution, by 7 corn-milling societies, and 140 other productive societies, or a total of 1096 societies, 859 of which were in England and Wales, 215 in Scotland, and 22 in Ireland. These societies employed in production 50,143 persons, who received in wages £2,825,650. The principal industries carried on are shown as follows [286]:—

Industries Carried on by 1096 Co-operative Societies in 1908	Number of Employees	Total Wages Paid	Total Value of Production
Food and tobacco	12,777	£ 850,370	£ 16,569,590

Other industries	738	32,230	76,800
Total	50,143	2,825,650	22,778,290

Of the employees, 27,574 were men, 14,592 women, and 7977 young persons under eighteen years of age [286].

The total production of the English and Welsh societies was £16,637,940, of the Scotch, £6,091,250, and of the Irish, £49,100 [286].

Details of the co-operative societies connected with the Co-operative Union are given as follows for the year 1908. This Union comprises the greater part of the co-operative societies in the United Kingdom, other than dairying and agricultural societies [258].

Kind of Society	Number of Societies (a)	Number of Members	Liabilities			Sales during the Year	Net Profit

(a) The figures in the following columns relate to 1548 societies which reported details, namely, 1232 in England and Wales, 295 in Scotland, and 21 in Ireland.

The amounts of sales given in this table against the productive departments of the English and Scottish Wholesale Societies represent the value (factory price) of the goods produced in those departments and transferred to the distributive departments, and are additional to the amounts given for the sales of the distributive departments. The real co-operative trade of the country in 1908 amounted to about £70,000,000, being the sales of the retail societies, the sales of other societies being practically all to these societies. The corresponding amount in 1897 was about £40,000,000. Towards the £70,000,000 worth of goods which passed through the retail societies in 1908, the two wholesale societies themselves produced £8,000,000 worth, the 120 productive societies produced £3,000,000 worth, and the productive departments of retail societies produced £8,000,000 worth [258]. This makes the total value of co-operative production by these societies in 1908 about £19,000,000 at factory prices. The retail selling value of this production is therefore probably at least £25,000,000. It should be noted that these figures exclude production by dairying and a few other societies, the value of which would probably be about £3,000,000.

The number of employees in the above 1548 societies, on December 31, 1908, was 117,600 (67,300 in distributive and 50,300 in productive departments), and the amount of salaries and wages during the year was £6,724,000 (£3,882,200 in the distributive and £2,841,800 in the productive departments) [258].

The societies were distributed over the separate parts of the kingdom as follows [258]:—

	England and Wales	Scotland	Ireland (b)
Number of societies (a)	1,242	295	23
Number of members	2,106,160	401,625	8,410

Net profit	8,792,500	2,918,600	17,500

(a) See note (a) to previous table.

(b) Agricultural, dairy, and special societies are not included. The figures given relate to distributive societies.

The progress of agricultural co-operation in England and Wales and Scotland is shown in the following table, which gives the number and turnover of the societies affiliated to the Agricultural Organisation Society (formed by amalgamation in 1901) in 1901 and 1908 [257], [258]:—

Year	Societies at End of Year	Turnover
1901	13	£ 9,470
1908	294	860,000

The membership of the affiliated societies in 1908 was about 15,000. The character of the societies was as follows [258]:—

Societies for supply of requirements and sale of produce	130
Allotments and small holdings societies	111
Dairy, bottled milk, and cheesemaking societies	15
Agricultural credit societies	21
Others	17
Total	294

The number of co-operative credit societies in the United Kingdom has been steadily growing during the last few years. These societies exist for the purpose of making temporary advances of money, at a reasonable rate of interest, to their members for reproductive undertakings. The societies are mostly in rural districts, and consist principally of farmers and labourers. There are a few in urban districts among artisans. Of those reported to be at work in 1906, 211 were in Ireland, 1 in Scotland, and 26 in England and Wales. Statistics for 1898, 1902, and 1906 are given as follows [6]:—

Co-operative Credit Societies	1898	1902	1906
Number reported at work	31	114	238
Membership at end of year	2,659	7,921	18,288
Share, loan, and reserve capital	42,245	77,607	130,061
Amount of loans—
Advanced and renewed during year	14,955	31,107	77,629
Repaid during year (including interest)	11,734	23,279	65,443
Working expenses (including interest on capital)	1,396	2,671	5,157
Profit, after allowing for interest on capital	212	813	825

Each of these societies covers but a small area in its operations, so that personal knowledge of the character of the applicants for loans is possible to the committee and general body of members. It will be seen that the average membership per society is from 70 to 80; that the average capital per society has diminished from over £1,300 to £600; and per member it has fallen from £16 to £7.

Besides these societies, there were in England and Wales, in 1905, 254 loan societies which made returns. They had a membership of 33,543. Loans had been issued to 52,846 persons, and the amount in their hands at the end of 1905 was £204,345. The amount due to depositors in the societies was £250,278 at the end of the year [2].

DENMARK

The number of co-operative dairies in Denmark is about 1100, with a membership of 160,000. They produce 175,000,000 lbs. of butter annually, worth about £9,700,000 [259]. There are also (c. 1908) 36 co-operative bacon factories, with a membership of nearly 95,000. In 1907 their sales amounted to £4,400,000 [259]. In 1906 there were 500 co-operative egg societies, which had a turnover in that year of £244,000 [260].

FRANCE

The following particulars are given in the International Co-operative Bulletin for April 1909.

At the beginning of 1908 there were in France 414 co-operative productive societies, consisting of workmen who took an active part in the business of the societies. Agricultural co-operative societies are not included in this number. Returns furnished by 399 societies showed a total membership of 17,320. The annual trade of 365 of these societies, with an aggregate membership of 16,150, and with 6100 hired workers, amounted to £2,120,000 [257].

At the same date there were 2301 co-operative distributive societies, exclusive of military canteen co-operative societies and co-operative chemists. 2078 of the total number of societies had an aggregate membership of 678,000, and an annual turnover of £8,660,000. 881 societies were bakeries exclusively, while 479 other distributive societies had bakery departments. 86 societies were co-operative breweries, 31 were co-operative butchers' shops, 40 were co-operative societies for the sale of wine, 16 were co-operative restaurants, and 28 were for the sale of coal [257].

These distributive societies have formed two unions with wholesale departments. One of these, the "Union co-opérative des sociétés françaises de consommation," had a total membership of 346 societies, of which 330 were affiliated to the wholesale department, whose turnover in 1907 amounted to £40,300. The second wholesale society is the "Magasin de gros des Co-opératives de France," with a membership of 228 societies (1908) and a turnover of £151,600. Its working capital was £40,000, reserve fund nearly £1,000, and profit just over £3,000 [257].

There were, in January 1908, also 2168 rural loan societies, with a membership of 96,190 and a share capital of £226,170. The loans advanced in 1907 amounted to £2,828,300. In addition to these societies, there were 17 people's banks, of which one was in Algiers [257].

The 2168 rural loan societies were affiliated to 88 "regional" societies. To these central organisations the State advanced during 1907 a sum of £1,145,000 [9], [260].

In 1907 there were 3883 agricultural co-operative associations with a membership of 716,530. There were 64 federations comprising 3752 of the agricultural societies, and a membership in the federated societies of 843,700—these last two numbers, however, containing duplicate entries, since one society may be affiliated to several unions [9].

GERMANY

The numbers and membership of co-operative societies in Germany at the beginning of 1908 are given as follows [12]:—

Kind of Society	Societies	Membership
Credit associations	16,092	2,202,950
Supply associations (raw materials)—
Industrial	299	11,120
Agricultural	1,845	160,240
Productive societies—
Industrial	275	30,390
Agricultural—Dairies	2,980	248,440
" Others	500	23,170
Distributive societies (stores)	2,110	1,131,450
Co-operative tenants' societies	747	140,280
Others	2,003	157,550
Total	26,851	4,105,590

The credit associations are of two main kinds or types, the Schulze-Delitzsch town bank ("People's Banks"), serving the industrial community, and the Raiffeisen country bank, serving the agricultural community. The Schulze-Delitzsch town bank is an association for providing credit to its members, and raises its funds by a share capital and, generally, unlimited liability. The Raiffeisen country bank fulfils the same purpose for the rural population, but relies for its funds more on unlimited liability than does the town bank. In 1905 there were 1020 town banks, with a membership of 586,595. The amount of credit granted in that year by these banks was about £150,000,000. The number of country banks in 1905 was 13,181 as against 1729 in 1890. Of these 13,181 banks, 10,786 had a membership in 1905 of 954,473, and granted credit during the year up to about £25,000,000 [260].

The number of retail societies or stores in 1905 was 1922. Of these, 1105, with a membership of 961,085, made returns of their trade, which amounted in that year to about £12,000,000 [11].

The Wholesale Co-operative Society at Hamburg had, at the end of 1908, a membership of 560 societies. The turnover during 1908 was £3,288,900 [257].

SWITZERLAND

The number of co-operative organisations in Switzerland at the end of 1907 was some 5295, having increased from 3947 in 1902 [257].

The societies comprised [257]:—

1805	cheesemaking and dairy societies
682	cattle-breeding societies
521	agricultural societies for the purchase of raw materials
202	co-operative distilleries
87	Raiffeisen banks
39	other credit societies
376	distributive societies
75	societies for supplying electricity for lighting and other purposes and several other societies, such as bakery and butchery societies, dairies, co-operative inns, building societies, &c.

ITALY

In 1906 there were in Italy about 830 popular banks (town credit associations). Of these, 760 had a capital, including reserves, of £5,300,000. The deposits were £28,000,000 and the credits over £18,000,000 [260].

There were also in 1906 about 1470 rural banks [54].

The number and capital of other co-operative societies at the end of 1906 are given as follows [54]:—

Societies	Number	Capital
Distributive (stores)	1,449	394,000
Building and decorative	817	776,000
Agricultural and viticultural	620	155,000
Food preparations	241	101,000
Transport trades	73	42,000
Printing, &c.	70	32,000
Metal and engineering	71	18,000
Chemical, &c., trades	68	152,000
Electrical trades	50	76,000
Others	583	296,000
Total	4,042	2,042,000

Corresponding figures for 1897 are given as follows [54]:—

Societies	Number	Capital
Distributive	445	168,000
Building and decorative	380	376,000
Agricultural, &c.	42	22,000
Others	336	365,000
Total	1,203	931,000

The distributive societies had a membership, about 1906, of 200,000, and do an annual business estimated at £2,400,000 [277].

RUSSIA AND FINLAND

Dr. Hans Müller estimated the number of co-operative retail societies in Russia (including Finland) in or about 1906 to be 1500, with a total membership of 300,000, and estimated sales amounting to £6,000,000. Returns received from 291 societies in 1904 showed a membership of 97,300 and a turnover of £4,400,000 [256].

SERVIA

The International Co-operative Bulletin reports that there are (1909) in Servia 850 rural co-operative societies on the Raiffeisen system, with a total membership of 40,000. The working capital is £100,000, and savings deposits £120,000. Their turnover in 1908 was £1,440,000 [257].

There are also some 100 co-operative distributive societies on the Rochdale system (that is, "sale at market price with cash payments and distribution of profits among members in proportion to the amount of their purchases" [260]), 180 agricultural supply associations, 15 co-operative dairies, 7 vintner societies, and about 100 other rural societies [257].

All these societies are connected with a central co-operative bank at Belgrade, which has a share capital of £80,000, of which only £8000 is (June 1909) paid-up. The money transactions in 1908 amounted to £1,120,000 [257].

ROUMANIA

Co-operative credit societies have increased considerably in Roumania since their first introduction about twelve years ago. By the end of 1907 there were 2223 people's banks and co-operative credit societies, with a membership of 295,300. The paid-up share capital was over £1,080,000, the deposits were £200,000, and the reserve funds £50,000 [257].

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA

The number of co-operative stores in thirty-two of the United States in June 1905 was 343, as follows [151]:—

California	68
Kansas	34
Wisconsin	30
Massachusetts	26
Washington	22
Michigan	18
Iowa	17
Texas	17
New York	16
Pennsylvania	14
Ohio	13
Minnesota	12
20 others	56
Total	343

The membership of these stores was estimated to be over 76,000, the capital over £1,700,000, and the trade over £53,000,000.

JAPAN

The number of co-operative societies in Japan in 1901, 1904, and 1907, and the membership, amount of contributions paid-up, and reserve funds, are given as follows [55]:—

Kind of Association	Number of Co-operative Societies			Number of Members (a)	Amount of Contributions Paid-Up (a)	Reserve Fund (a)
	1901	1904	1907
Credit	191	751	1,539	125,770	£ 302,000	£ 46,000

Others	371
Total	263	1,232	3,334

(a) The figures in the last three columns are estimated from the business reports for 1905-6.

INDIA

Co-operative credit has obtained a foothold in India. The membership and working capital of the credit societies are shown thus [276]:—

Year	Membership	Working Capital
1906	28,690	£ ...
1907	90,830	158,110
1908	148,930	293,800

COPPER

The production of copper in the chief producing countries in 1897, 1902, and 1907, is given as follows [12]:—

Country	Production from Domestic and Imported Ores
	1897	1902	1907
	Tons	Tons	Tons
United States	220,000	294,000	373,000

Austria-Hungary	1,000	1,000	1,000
Total	452,000	580,000	746,000

(a) Including Portugal.

(b) Including crude copper and copper regulus.

(c) Year 1906.

The production of copper in the United Kingdom from native ores is very small, having averaged only some 610 tons per annum during 1897-1907 [22].

Too rigid comparisons should not be drawn from these figures, as they are not adequately representative of the working classes of the several countries. For instance, fourteen "normal families," all of which were connected with the cotton industry, cannot be regarded as a fair sample of the Swiss working classes. It should not be forgotten, too, that the figures given in the table are percentages, and not absolute amounts. The German "normal family" is represented as devoting 13 per cent. of its total expenditure to bread, flour, and meal; while the British percentage is only half as much, namely, 6 per cent. In actual money, however, the German "normal family" spent 2s. 6d. compared with 2s. by the British.

For definition of "normal family," see section on United States below.

More recent and extensive information than that given in the above table is furnished in the following series of tables:—

UNITED KINGDOM

The average weekly amount of money spent on food, and the quantities consumed by the working classes in towns in the United Kingdom, as deduced from 1944 budgets collected by the Board of Trade, mostly in the summer of 1904, are given as follows [83]:—

The preceding tables are based on budgets of urban working-class families. The following table shows the quantities of certain articles of food consumed weekly by agricultural labourers' families in England in 1902. These quantities are calculated from information obtained by 114 investigators, and relate to the weekly consumption of agricultural families, consisting of a man, his wife, and four children, with incomes ranging from 15s. to 22s. a week, the average income being about 18s. 6d. [80].

(a) Rent figures relate to the single years 1880, 1885, 1890, 1895, and 1900.

From this table it is seen that during the last twenty years or so of the nineteenth century, the cost of food of the working classes diminished nearly 40 per cent., and of clothing about 10 per cent. But rent increased about 16 per cent., and fuel and light about 11 per cent. The net result, therefore, as given in the last column, was a fall in the cost of living, as measured by these items, of about 20 per cent.

In the results of an inquiry into the conditions of the wage-earning classes in York, undertaken by Mr. B. Seebohm Rowntree during the years 1899-1901, it is given that among fourteen working-class families earning on the average 19s. 8d. per week, and containing on the average two adults and three children, 51 per cent. of the total weekly expenditure was on food; 18 per cent. on rent; 6.3 per cent. on clothing; 9 per cent. on fuel and lighting; and the rest on sundries [85].

FRANCE

The average weekly expenditure on food of the working classes in French towns, as ascertained by an investigation by the British Board of Trade during the years 1907-8, is given as follows [86]:—

Limits of weekly income of families	Under 20s.	20s. and under 25s.	25s. and under 30s.	30s. and under 35s.	35s. and under 40s.	40s. and over

The rents commonly paid by the working classes in the French towns, as found in the above-mentioned investigation, were as follows [86]:—

The proportion of the average weekly income of French working-class families which is spent on food, and the proportion spent on rent, were found by the Board of Trade, as the result of the inquiry referred to above, to be as follows [86]:—

Incomes of Families per Week	Percentage of Weekly Income Spent on
	Food	Rent
Under 20s.	62.7	12.3
20s. and under 25s.	60.8	11.2

The consumption of horseflesh in Paris per head of the population is given as follows [86]:—

1901	5.8 lbs.	1904	8.8 lbs.
1902	6.4 "	1905	10.2 "
1903	7.5 "	1906	11.0 "

During the period 1881–90 the consumption averaged only 2½ lbs. per head per year [86].

The cost of living in France, as represented by food and lodging, has varied as follows, the cost in 1900 being taken as 100 [87]:—

1806	77	1860	97.5
1810	78.5	1870	105
1820	83	1880	107
1830	85	1890	104.5
1840	84.5	1900	100
1850	86.5

From this series of index numbers, the cost of living (as regards food and lodging) appears to have increased nearly 40 per cent. between 1806 and 1880, and from that date to have diminished about 7 per cent. down to 1900.

GERMANY

The following table gives the weekly amount spent on food, and the quantities consumed, by workmen's families in towns in Germany in the years 1906–7, as ascertained by an extensive investigation by the British Board of Trade into cost of living in certain German towns [88]:—

A comparison of the cost of living in England, France, and Germany, on the basis of the results furnished by the Board of Trade inquiries referred to in this article, showed that "an English working-class family which should migrate to France and endeavour to maintain there the same mode of life as in its native country, would find rent at not quite the same level as in England, food and fuel about 18 per cent. dearer, wages about 25 per cent. less, and hours of labour about 17 per cent. longer. If the family migrated to Germany, rent would be found to be about 23 per cent. higher than at home, food and fuel probably something less than 18 per cent. dearer, wages about 17 per cent. lower, and hours of labour about 11 per cent. longer" [179]. This statement, however, should be treated as only a rough approximation to the true facts.

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA

An investigation undertaken into the cost of living of 25,440 families in the United States during one year, in most cases 1901, yielded the results presented in the table below. The families were scattered over the principal industrial centres of thirty-three States (including the district of Columbia), and only those families were considered whose head was earning not more than £250 a year. Budgets drawn up by the families themselves were apparently not obtained, the necessary information being gained by personal inquiry by "experienced special agents." The 25,440 families comprised 124,108 persons, of whom 2050 were dependents, 9120 were boarders, 1876 were lodgers, and 237 were servants. The average income per family and expenditure on food are given in the following table [89]:—

Geographical Division	Number of Families	Average Number of Persons per Family	Average Annual Income per Family	Average Annual Expenditure per Family for		Expenditure on Food, as Percentage of Total Income
				All Purposes	Food
North Atlantic States	13,782	4.80	£158	£147	£66	Per Cent. 41.8
South Atlantic States	2,193	5.16	144	135	61	42.4
North Central States	7,340	4.98	157	148	66	42.1
South Central States	1,221	5.22	141	133	59	41.8
Western States	904	4.14	184	155	66	35.9
United States	25,440	4.88	156	146	65	41.7

Of these families only 2567 gave sufficient information to permit of the expenditure on food being tabulated in detail. Their distribution, average income, and average expenditure on food are shown in the next table, and the details of their expenditure on food in the one following [89]:—

Geographical Division	Number of Families	Average Size of Family	Average Annual Income per Family	Average Annual Expenditure per Family for		Expenditure on Food, as Percentage of Total Income
				All Purposes	Food
North Atlantic States	1,415	5.25	£174	£162	£70	Per Cent. 40.2
South Atlantic States	219	5.30	159	146	62	39.0
North Central States	721	5.46	176	164	67	38.1
South Central States	122	5.65	149	144	61	40.9
Western States	90	4.69	186	157	64	34.4
United States	2,567	5.31	172	160	68	39.5

The families providing the information on which this and the next table are based cannot be regarded as entirely typical of the whole 25,440 families, since they are reported by the investigators as "generally somewhat more intelligent and better educated than the average family canvassed."

The cost and quantity of the chief articles of food consumed on the average per week, by the above 2567 families, are given as follows [89]:—

The preceding tables relate to families, some of which contain lodgers, boarders, and dependents. The results, therefore, can hardly be accepted as of general application to the American working classes. The following tables, based on the same investigation, are perhaps more suitable in this respect. They relate to the income and expenditure of 11,156 "normal families," a "normal family" being defined as one which has—

- (a) The husband at work ;
- (b) A wife ;
- (c) Not more than five children, the oldest of whom is not more than fourteen years of age ;
- (d) No dependent, boarder, lodger, or servant ;
- (e) Expenditures for rent, fuel, lighting, food, clothing, and sundries [89].

Perhaps the only condition which vitiates the representative character of these "normal families" is the age limit of the children.

The distribution of these families, their average income per week, and average weekly expenditure under various heads, are given as follows [89]:—

Geographical division	N. Atlantic States	S. Atlantic States	N. Central States	S. Central States	Western States	United States

In the next table the 11,156 "normal families" are classified according to income, and the expenditure under various heads is expressed as a percentage of the total expenditure [89]:—

Several interesting results are deducible from this table, namely, as income increases the percentage expenditure on food and fuel diminishes; that on clothing and on sundries increases; while that on rent and lighting is roughly the same for all classes of income.

The next table presents information of a similar kind to the above, but with the families distributed according to the number of children (under fourteen) in them [89]:—

The percentage expenditure for food and for clothing increases with the number of children; and that for rent, fuel, lighting, and sundries diminishes.

NEW ZEALAND

Both wages and the prices of "necessary foods" have risen considerably in New Zealand during the past few years, as shown in the following series of index numbers, in which the level of wages in 1906 and the level of prices of food in 1906 are both represented by 100. The last column, headed "real wages," shows the change in the purchasing power of wages, so far as foodstuffs only are concerned. No account is taken of the cost of rent, the clothing, or fuel [33]:—

Year	Index Numbers (1906=100)			Year	Index Numbers (1906=100)
	Wages	Food Prices	"Real Wages" (a)		Wages	Food Prices	"Real Wages" (a)
1895	84.8	84.3	100.6	1902	93.4	105.6	88.5
1896	84.3	86.1	97.9	1903	96.5	100.5	96.0
1897	84.6	86.1	98.3	1904	98.6	98.5	100.1
1898	88.7	87.4	101.5	1905	98.0	102.0	96.1
1899	88.0	83.6	105.3	1906	100.0	100.0	100.0
1900	90.4	86.0	105.1	1907	104.9	103.3	101.5
1901	89.7	89.6	100.1

(a) See explanation preceding table.

So far as the cost of food is concerned, this table shows that the purchasing power of wages was, in 1907, little above its level in 1895, although money wages had risen in the interval nearly 24 per cent.

COTTON

The world's production of cotton in recent years, so far as estimated, is given as follows [18]:—

Continent, &c.	Estimated Production (a)

Total	17,331,000	16,702,000	20,369,000	17,845,000	20,993,000

(a) Production is stated in bales of 500 lbs. gross weight, or 478 lbs. net of lint.

(b) Estimated average annual production is shown. In a report on cotton in the United States prepared by Mr. Moritz Schanz of Chemnitz for the Fifth International Congress of Master Cotton Spinners' and Manufacturers' Associations, the cotton crop of China in 1906 was given as 418,000 bales of 500 lbs. each, and the total for the world as about 20,000,000 bales of 500 lbs. each [90].

It should be remembered that the above figures are for the most part more or less rough estimates, while a few countries are omitted altogether. The totals are therefore by no means complete.

The yield of cotton varies much from one part of the world to another. In the East Indies it is estimated that 50 to 60 lbs. of cotton (lint) are obtained per acre of cotton land. American sea island cotton yields 75 to 150 lbs. per acre; American upland cotton, 205 lbs. per acre on the average, though varying from 110 lbs. in Alabama to 380 lbs. in Louisiana and Texas. For Egypt, the yield is put at 340 lbs. per acre, this high yield being largely attributable to absence of frost [90].

The chief cotton-exporting countries, and the quantities exported in recent years, are given as follows [18]:—

Exporting Country	Exports (in Thousands of Bales) (a)
	1902	1903	1904	1905	1906
United States	7,138	6,180	8,679	7,268	9,036
British India	1,429	1,866	1,334	1,741	1,744
Egypt	1,378	1,158	1,225	1,353	1,388
Brazil	148	130	61	111	146

(a) Quantities are stated in bales of 500 lbs. gross weight, or 478 lbs. net.

The chief importing countries and their imports (as far as possible, imports for home consumption) were as follows [18]:—

Importing Country	Imports (in Thousands of Bales) (a)
	1902	1903	1904	1905	1906
United Kingdom	3,225	3,114	3,559	4,018	3,686

(a) Bales of 500 lbs. gross weight, or 478 lbs. net.

In Ellison's Annual Review of the Cotton Trade for 1907-8, the consumption of cotton in Europe, the United States, and India is shown as follows [91]:—

Country or Continent	Consumption of Cotton (in Thousands of Bales of 500 lbs.)
	1870-1	1880-1	1890-1	1900-1	1907-8

The total number of cotton spindles (exclusive of waste and doubling spindles) in the world in the middle

The number of spindles in work in 1908, and the total consumption of cotton in the year ended August 31, 1908, have been estimated as follows [90]:—

Country	Estimated Number of Spindles in Work	Estimated Consumption of Cotton in Year ended August 31, 1908
		lbs.
Great Britain	52,800,000	1,970,000,000
Germany	9,900,000	870,000,000

United States	27,800,000	2,300,000,000
Other countries (except China and the Levant)	2,950,000	330,000,000
Total	128,900,000	9,300,000,000

China is estimated to have about 750,000 spindles and the Levant 100,000. These places use practically only domestic cotton [90].

UNITED KINGDOM

The principal countries from which the United Kingdom draws its supplies of cotton are as follows [22]:—

Countries from which Imports were Received	Millions of lbs. imported in
	1903	1904	1905	1906	1907	1908
Foreign countries	1,710	1,858	2,146	1,925	2,267	1,982

Excess of imports	1,488	1,701	1,921	1,762	2,057	1,770

The percentages of total imports received from Egypt, other foreign countries, and British possessions were as follows:—

Countries	Percentages of Total Imports
	1903	1904	1905	1906	1907	1908
	Per Cent.	Per Cent.	Per Cent.	Per Cent.	Per Cent.	Per Cent.
Egypt	16	17	16	18	18	17

British possessions	5	5	3	4	5	4
Total	100	100	100	100	100	100

The imports from Egypt and the British possessions are seen to be less than a quarter of the total imports.

The estimated consumption of cotton in Great Britain in recent years is given as follows in Ellison's Annual Review of the Cotton Trade for the Season 1907-8 [91]:—

Year	Consumption in Bales of 500 lbs. each
	Total	Per Week
	Bales	Bales
1898-9	3,519,000	67,670
1899-1900	3,334,000	64,110
1900-1	3,269,000	62,860
1901-2	3,253,000	62,560
1902-3	3,185,000	61,250
1903-4	3,017,000	58,020
1904-5	3,620,000	69,610
1905-6	3,774,000	72,580
1906-7	3,892,000	74,850
1907-8	3,690,000	70,960

The growth in the imports of raw cotton during the last two centuries is seen in the following table, taken from "The Lancashire Cotton Industry," by S. J. Chapman [92]:—

AVERAGE ANNUAL IMPORTS OF RAW COTTON IN MILLIONS OF LBS.

Year	Mill. lbs.	Year	Mill. lbs.
1700-5	1.17	1851-5	872
1771-5	4.76	1876-80	1,456
1791-5	26	1891-5	1,746
1816-20	139	1896-1900	1,758
1831-5	313

The growth in the value of the exports of cotton yarns and manufactures is given by Mr. S. J. Chapman as follows [92]:—

AVERAGE ANNUAL VALUE IN MILLIONS OF £'s

Year	Mill. £	Year	Mill. £
1785-9	1.07 (a)	1851-5	31.8
1791-5	2.09 (a)	1876-80	68.4
1816-20	20.4 (b)	1891-5	66.2
1831-5	19.1	1896-1900	66.4

(a) Official values.

(b) Inflated values.

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA

The average annual production of raw cotton in the United States, its farm value, the exports and imports and home consumption in recent years, are shown as follows [3]:—

Years ended June 30	Production		Imports	Exports of Domestic and Foreign	Retained for Consumption
	Gross Weight of Crop	Farm Value
	Mill. lbs.	Mill. £
Average of 1896-9	4,870	58	50	3,270	1,650
„ 1900-3	5,230	88	70	3,370	1,930
„ 1904-7	6,210	128	70	3,880	2,400

The acreage under cotton has increased almost steadily from 14,480,000 acres in 1880 to 20,175,000 acres in 1890; 25,758,000 acres in 1900; and 31,310,000 in 1907. The production increased from 3,000,000,000 lbs. (net) of lint in 1880, of a total estimated value of £62,000,000, to 5,300,000,000 lbs. of lint in 1907, valued at £115,000,000 [3], [18].

On the average, it is calculated that, in the States, one person picks about 100 lbs. of cotton daily, although in favourable conditions as much as 300 to 350 lbs. may be picked [90].

(a) The numbers of convicted given for Scotland exclude persons outlawed, and cases where bail was forfeited for non-appearance.

(b) Excludes persons found and detained as insane, and includes persons discharged without trial, or (in the case of England and Wales) sent to industrial schools.

(c) Includes 174 cases postponed in 1907 (or an annual average of 58 during 1905-7), and 41 in 1908.

The prison population in the United Kingdom has averaged as follows in recent years [43], [104], [105]:—

Country	Average Annual Commitments to Prison

1907-8	15,060	2,660	2,980	130	20,830

The gross annual prison expenditure in 1907-8 (including that for State inebriate reformatories) was £637,900, averaging £30, 8s. per prisoner; the net expense (deducting value of prisoners' labour, &c.) was £473,300, averaging £22, 11s. per prisoner. Expenditure in the State inebriate reformatories averaged per prisoner £47 gross, and £43, 16s. net [43].

"Productive and domestic" work was found during 1907-8 for an average of 17,560 prisoners. The value of this prison labour was £225,000. In 1904-5 the value of such labour was £245,000 [43].

SCOTLAND

The average daily number of prisoners in custody in Scotland is given as follows [104]:—

Year	Average Daily Number of Prisoners in Custody
	Ordinary Prisoners		Total of all Classes
	Males	Females	Males	Females	Total
1898	1,660	600	2,020	620	2,640

The gross expense of prisons in Ireland, including the State inebriates' reformatory, was, in the year 1907-8, £89,520, averaging £35, 11s. per prisoner. The net cost (deducting value of prisoners' labour, &c.) was £85,946, averaging £34, 2s. per prisoner [105].

BELGIUM

The numbers of cases tried, and the convictions by assize courts and correctional tribunals in Belgium, are given as follows [14]:—

Year	Assize Courts		Correctional Tribunals		Total Convictions
	Cases Tried	Convictions	Cases Tried	Convictions
1850	163	190	16,125	20,620	20,810
1860	177	190	15,974	20,070	20,260

1905	83	100	38,567	43,110	43,210

The number of cases coming before the police tribunals increased from 32,400 in 1850 to 137,100 in 1905, and the number of persons charged with offences increased from 49,900 to 171,100. From 10 to 12 per cent. of these cases were declared beyond the jurisdiction of the police court. In most of the remaining cases fines were imposed [14].

The mean prison population has varied as follows [14]:—

Year	Average Number in Prison
	Central Prisons		Secondary Prisons		Total both Sexes
	Males	Females	Males	Females
1870	1,880	150	2,670		4,700

THE NETHERLANDS

The number of criminal causes introduced into the High Court (Cour de Cassation) of Holland rose from 322 in 1898 to 392 in 1902, and to 511 in 1907 [35].

The number of criminal causes taken to the courts of appeal averaged 970 per year during the period 1898 to 1902, and 1040 during the succeeding five years, 1903 to 1907. The number in 1907 was 1061 [35].

The district courts (Tribunaux d'Arrondissement), acting as courts of first instance, dealt with 15,130 criminal causes in 1898, 15,760 in 1902, and 13,840 in 1907. The numbers of accused persons and of convictions were as follows [35]:—

Annual Average	Accused	Convicted
1898-1900	17,850	16,100
1901-3	18,640	16,970
1904-6	17,770	16,090
1907	16,550	14,760

Acting as courts of appeal, the district courts had on the average 500 cases per year during 1898 to 1902, and 700 per year during 1903 to 1907 [35].

The number of cases dealt with in the local (cantonal) courts, and number of accusations and convictions, were as follows [35]:—

Period	Average Annual Numbers
	Cases	Accused Persons	Convictions
1898-1900 . . .	96,000	104,800	101,800
1901-3 . . .	120,500	130,700	125,000
1904-6 . . .	143,000	153,500	148,100
1907 . . .	159,400	169,700	163,400

The numbers of convicted persons are somewhat less than the above numbers of convictions.

The total prison population in 1900 was 51,200, comprising 47,900 males and 3300 females. In 1906 it was 45,000, comprising 42,800 males and 2700 females. The average prison population was as follows [35]:—

Year	Males	Females	Total
1900 . . .	6,790	390	7,180
1903 . . .	7,470	360	7,830
1906 . . .	6,790	310	7,100

FRANCE

The average annual number of persons convicted for crimes before assize courts and correctional tribunals has varied as follows [9]:—

Period	Average Annual Number of Persons Convicted
	Assize Courts	Correctional Tribunals	Total
			Number	Per 10,000 Population
1873-77	3,900	185,000	188,900	51.7

1905	3,310	2,290	213,880	197,240

These numbers do not include persons tried for misdemeanours in the police courts. The number of such persons in 1905 was 449,000, of whom 435,000 were convicted [9].

The number of recidivists among the persons tried in the assize and correctional courts has averaged as follows [9]:—

Period	Average Annual Number of Recidivists
	Assize Courts	Correctional Tribunals
1896-1900	1,330	91,500
1901-5	1,270	85,300

The prison population of France at December 31 of recent years is given as follows [9]:—

Year	Number of Prisoners on December 31 in
	Central and Agricultural Prisons		Houses of Arrest, &c.		Reformatories		Total both Sexes
	* Males	Females	Males	Females	Boys	Girls
1897	8,430	1,010	15,640	2,790	4,900	1,020	33,790

1906	5,130	500	12,750	1,830	2,660	620	23,490

In the central and agricultural prisons, long-term prisoners are detained; while short-term prisoners are confined in the houses of arrest, &c. (Maisons d'Arrêt, de Justice, et de Correction).

The total number of persons received into the above prisons and establishments during the course of the year averaged 406,000 per year during 1897-1901, and 368,000 during 1902-6, while the aggregate number of days of confinement averaged 11,775,000 per year during 1897-1901, and 9,106,000 during 1902-6 [9].

GERMANY

The number of charges and convictions for criminal offences in the year 1906 is given as follows [12]:—

Nature of Offence	Number of Apprehensions	Number of Convictions	Number of Convicted Persons
			Males	Females	Total	Aged 12 and under 18 Years
Against the State, public order, and religion	110,310	106,280	83,550	12,780	96,330	2,460

Totals	676,800	629,940	451,140	82,630	533,770	55,270

Offences settled by military law, as well as offences against the collection of public revenue and taxes, are excluded from this table.

The number of persons previously convicted was 234,440 [12].

The number of convicted persons has varied as follows [12]:—

1900	469,800	1904	517,000
1901	497,300	1905	520,400
1902	512,300	1906	533,800
1903	505,400

The number of juvenile offenders (aged twelve to eighteen) increased from an average of about 31,000 per annum during 1883-7 to nearly 50,000 per annum during 1898-1902. In 1906 their number was 55,000 [11].

The growth of recidivism is shown by the numbers of persons previously convicted having increased from an annual average of 94,000 in 1883-7 to over 200,000 during 1898-1902 [11].

ITALY

The numbers of convictions in Italy for offences of all kinds have varied as follows [54]:—

Year	Convictions	Per 100,000 Population
1895	360,290	1,150
1896	377,450	1,200
1897	416,180	1,300
1898	424,860	1,330
1899	458,260	1,430
1900	395,380	1,220
1901	405,130	1,250
1902	409,760	1,250
1903	428,630	1,300
1904	379,820	1,150

The numbers of crimes and misdemeanours reported were [54]:—

Year	Crimes and Misdemeanours Reported
	Number	Per 100,000 Population
1895	726,030	2,330
1896	767,130	2,440
1897	805,000	2,550
1898	839,510	2,640
1899	826,200	2,580
1900	814,520	2,530
1901	804,290	2,480
1902	816,920	2,500
1903	831,290	2,530
1904	804,680	2,440

Only about 69 per cent. of these reported cases were tried in the courts. During the period 1895-1904 about 460,000 per year were tried in the police courts (Pretori), about 9000 per year in the correctional courts (Tribunali), and about 4800 in the courts of assize [54].

The prison population, on December 31 of certain years, is given as follows [54]:—

AUSTRALIA

The number of dairy cows in milk and the production of milk in New South Wales during the period 1901-5 are given as follows [15]:—

New South Wales	1901	1902	1903	1904	1905
Dairy cows in milk No.	417,835	351,287	362,429	424,936	442,950

Average yield per cow Gals.	322	274	336	329	328

The average annual yield per cow during the whole period 1901-5 was 339 gallons in New South Wales, and 318 gallons in Victoria. The average for the whole of Australia for all dairy cows and all seasons is given as 250 gallons per cow per annum [15].

The production of milk in all States in 1907 was [190]:—

New South Wales 183 mill. gals.	Western Australia 4.6 mill. gals.
Victoria 182 ,,	Tasmania 15.5 ,,
Queensland 61 ,,
South Australia 30 ,,	Total 476 ,,

Considerable quantities of cheese and butter are made, the production in recent years being as follows [15], [190]:—

(a) Quantity given for Tasmania represents production in factories.

NEW ZEALAND

The yield of milk from "fairly good" milking cows in New Zealand is stated to be approximately 500 gallons per annum. There were in 1908 about 541,400 dairy cows in the colony [33].

The production of butter and cheese in factories is stated as follows [33]:—

Year	Butter	Cheese
	Tons	Tons
1902	14,720	5,600
1903	18,040	5,040
1904	20,710	5,850

1906	22,470	7,670
1907	23,990	10,310

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA

The number and value of milch cows in the United States have increased as follows [18]:—

	On January 1	Number	Farm Value
1868		8,691,600	47,600,000
1878		11,300,100	60,000,000
1888		14,856,400	75,500,000
1898		15,840,900	89,700,000
1908		21,194,000	134,100,000

The value of farm dairy products in the States in 1907 is given as nearly £165,000,000, while the value of poultry and eggs produced on farms in 1907 is given as more than £120,000,000 [18].

(a) Average of 1901-4.

(b) Average of 1892-5.

(c) Average of 1901-3.

(d) Includes 77,283 deaths in the earthquake at Messina and Reggio (December 28, 1908). Excluding these deaths the death-rate was 20.3.

In most states the table shows a progressive diminution in the death-rate. The figures, however, for one country are not strictly comparable with those for another, largely because the definition and treatment of still-births are not everywhere the same. The number of still-births is generally less than 1 per 1000 of the population, but is great enough to affect, to the extent of a unit, the unit's figure in the death-rate. Taking the above rates, however, as roughly comparable, the lowest are found in Ontario, United States, Australasia, Uruguay, Denmark, Scandinavia, and the United Kingdom; the highest occur in Chili, Austria-Hungary, Russia, Roumania and other Balkan States, and Spain. The range in 1901-5 is from 9.9 per 1000 in New Zealand to 29.9 in Chili.

The variation in the death-rate is due, among other causes, to variations in the age-distribution of the populations, and it is more useful accordingly to compare death-rates among people of given ages. These are given for several countries in the following table [58]:—

State	Average Annual Death-rate 1896-1905 per 1000 of all Persons Aged

Russia (1891-1900)	357	62	10	7	9	12	19	35	69	113	139	33.5

The above table is based on the average annual number of deaths at the several ages and the population at corresponding ages as given at the last census in each country, that is, at the end of 1900 or beginning of 1901. For Russia, the census at the beginning of 1897 is taken. In every case, except Finland, Hungary, and Russia, the death-rate is seen to be lowest in the age-group 5 to 14, from which it progressively rises as the age increases. In those three countries the lowest rate occurs in the group 15 to 24. The death-rates for the age-group 0 to 1 are not strictly comparable because of the varied treatment and definitions of still-births. There are considerable differences between the rates for the several states in any particular age-group. For example, in the group 1 to 4 years, the rate varies from 11 in Denmark to 44 in Hungary, and 59 in Spain. In the next age-group 5 to 14, many countries have as low a rate as 3, while Hungary and Servia show a rate of 9. In all age-groups similar marked differences exist. The table shows that relative death-rates in particular age-groups cannot be inferred from the rates for all ages combined. Thus France and Prussia have the same general death-rate, namely, 20 per 1000 persons, but for the two groups 0 to 1 and 1 to 4 the Prussian rates exceed the French by as much as 35 per cent.; the rates are equal for the group 5 to 14; the French rates exceed the Prussian for the groups 15 to 24, 25 to 34, and 35 to 44; the Prussian then exceed the French up to and including the group 65 to 74; while for the last two groups the French again exceed the Prussian.

The above table gives the rates for males and females together; but the rates for each sex are by no means identical for the same age-groups, as the following tables show [58]:—

State	Average Annual Death-rate 1896-1905 per 1000 Males Aged

Generally speaking the above tables exhibit a lower death-rate for females than for males. The rate for the two sexes in the age-groups from 1 to 4 to 35 to 44 are close together. In these groups, too, the male death-rate is in some countries less than the rate for females of corresponding ages. From age 15 to age 44, of course, females are subject to the risks attendant upon child-bearing. Servia is exceptional in showing a greater death-rate for females than for males of all ages together, a phenomenon repeated in many of the separate age-groups. Servian statistics, however, must be accepted with caution. Ireland, too, reveals a greater death-rate among females than among males at high ages. Denmark, Holland, Baden, Württemberg, Spain, Italy, Austria, Hungary, and Russia are other states showing in one or more age-groups a greater female death-rate than male death-rate. It will be noticed that in no instance is the mortality of females greater than that of males among infants of less than one year of age. It is generally 20 or more per cent. less.

The following table gives, for certain states, the mean annual number of deaths per 1000 persons of different civil conditions in the decade 1896-1905 [58]:—

In every state shown in this table, except Servia, the death-rates are lower for females than for males. In Servia the rates for females exceed those for males, except in the case of widowed and divorced persons. The rates in all the states are highest among widowed and divorced persons. This is partly to be expected, on account of this class containing an exceptionally large proportion of elderly persons. The class of married persons experiences on the whole the lowest death-rates. The differences in the rates between these various classes are, however, to be best studied when the rates for different ages are given, as in the next table. The figures refer to the period 1896-1905 (in two cases to the period 1886-1895), the population among which the deaths occur being taken as that given by the census nearest the middle of the decade. This was also done for the preceding table [58].

The most noteworthy facts observable in the above tables are the high death-rates among widowed and divorced persons of all ages, and the low rates among married persons of all ages, whether compared with the rates for unmarried persons or with the rates for the general population. The chief exception is that of females in the age-group 20-39 (child-bearing period), the death-rates for whom tend to be somewhat higher than for unmarried females of corresponding ages. The causes of the high death-rates of widowed persons are not apparent. Grief at the loss of husband or wife has been suggested as one cause. Where, too, the deceased wife or husband died of an infectious disease, the surviving partner is not improbably infected with it, and so dies prematurely. It is remarkable that bereaved husbands seem to suffer much more than bereaved wives, even allowing for the generally higher death-rates among men than among women. This is probably due to widowers being on the whole older than widows, so that in any given age-group relatively more widowers than widows are likely to be near the upper limit of the age-group. The death-rates for wives under 40, besides tending to be higher than for unmarried women under 40, are also slightly higher than for husbands under 40, and so furnish an exception to the usual relationship between the death-rates for the two sexes, an exception probably due to the risks attendant on childbirth.

The death-rates at certain definite ages in various countries, as calculated from data relating to the period stated in each case, were as follows [58]:—

(a) The rates for Scotland are for age periods, namely, 0-1, 1-2, 2-3, 3-4, 4-5, 5-10, 10-15, 15-20, 20-25, 25-35,

35-45 . . . 85-95.

In the other cases, the rates are for the year of age stated in the first column, viz. under 1, 1 and under 2 . . . 5 and under 6, 10 and under 11, 15 and under 16, and so on.

The figures for England and Wales in the above table are from a mortality table constructed by Dr. J. Tatham, on the basis of the censuses of 1891 and 1901, and the numbers of deaths from 1891 to 1900. The Norwegian figures are from mortality tables calculated by M. A. N. Kicer, from the censuses of 1891 and 1900, and the deaths in the years 1891-2 to 1900-1. The Austrian and Hungarian figures are based on the deaths in the years 1900 and 1901 and the census of 1900. The Dutch figures are from tables calculated by M. Van Pesch, on the basis of censuses and annual numbers of deaths. The Belgian rates are similarly constructed. The French figures are based on the deaths in the years 1898-1903 and the census of 1901. The numbers of deaths and of living persons recorded at the various ages were adjusted by the graphic method. The Italian figures are calculated from deaths in the years 1899-1902, and from the census of 1901. The Indian figures are based on the census of 1901.

The mortality rates shown in the table are necessarily only approximate, because the data on which they are based are more or less rough and inexact, even where the census and death statistics have been adjusted to allow for the tendency in many men and women to report ages incorrectly, especially in the neighbourhood of "round numbers," such as 20, 30, 40, &c.

International comparison, too, is rendered difficult, and, if exactitude is required, impossible, because the methods of construction of mortality and survival tables differ from country to country. If the figures, and especially comparisons, are not pressed too closely, however, the table will serve to indicate fairly well the general course of mortality rates from the earliest to the most advanced ages.

It is to be expected that deaths would not be equally distributed throughout the year. In most European countries the winter months from December to March are the most fatal. This is seen from the following table, which gives the percentage of the total annual deaths which occurs in each month [58]:—

Russia is seen to be an exception to the general tendency to highest number of deaths in winter, the maximum in Russia being reached in July and August. Spain, too, has its maximum in August.

The average annual numbers of deaths from certain diseases per 100,000 of the population during the period 1901-5 are given as follows [58], [62], [108], [109]:—

(a) Diphtheria only.

(b) Average of 1903-5.

(c) The causes of death are not tabulated for the whole of the German Empire, but the figures given are based on over 90 per cent. of the total population of the Empire.

(d) Including r theln.

(e) All forms of tuberculosis.

(f) Including typhus.

(g) Provisional figures.

(h) Including brain fever.

(i) Average of 1901-3.

(j) Rates are for that part of the United States in which registration of deaths was carried out. It comprised 40 per cent. of the total population of the Union in 1905.

(k) Rates are for towns in France of 5000 inhabitants and upwards.

(l) Rates under the separate diseases are for Copenhagen and other large towns. But the death-rate from all causes is for the whole kingdom.

The rates given in the above table should not be used for too exact comparisons. The cause of death may in many instances be imperfectly ascertained or incorrectly recorded; and where death follows on a complication of diseases, different doctors may classify the death under different headings. Considered broadly, the table reveals that, among the diseases for which death-rates are given, pulmonary tuberculosis is universally the most deadly, and that next to it, in most states, comes cancer. There appears, however, among the states great diversity in the death-rates under particular diseases. For example, Servia shows very high death-rates from most diseases, but a particularly low one from cancer, in comparison with the rates prevailing in many other states.

The death-rates from various diseases have not remained stationary from one period to another, as is seen from the following table [58], [62] :—

The death-rate from cancer shows a steady increase in all the states included in the above table. Death-rates from most of the other diseases show a tendency to decline, although in some instances an opposite tendency is revealed; for example, deaths from pulmonary tuberculosis in Italy, and from pneumonia in the United Kingdom.

The average annual proportion of deaths by violence per 100,000 persons, excluding suicides (q.v.), are given as follows [58]:—

State	Deaths by Violence per 100,000 Persons			State	Deaths by Violence per 100,000 Persons

The proportions for most of the above states remain fairly stationary from period to period, though differing from state to state. Norway appears to have the greatest fluctuation.

The average annual death-rates from certain diseases in the principal towns of the world during the period 1903-7 were as follows [60]:—

INFANTILE MORTALITY

In studying any table of rates of infantile mortality, it should be remembered that still-births are defined differently in different countries. For example, in France, Holland, and Belgium, an infant is registered as "still-born" if dead before registration of birth, which registration must take place within three days of the day of birth. In Christiania and Spanish towns a child dying within twenty-four hours of birth is registered as a still-birth. In most other countries, however, an infant that shows any signs of life for however short a period is counted as born alive [60]. (See page 69 supra.)

The annual death-rates of infants under one year of age per 1000 births in recent quinquennial periods, and in 1906, are given as follows [62], [282]:—

(b) Average of 1901-3.

The rates of mortality of infants under one year of age, given in the above table, differ from those given in a former table (p. 184) owing to the different bases adopted in calculating the rates. In the earlier table, the number of infants "at risk" was that enumerated in the censuses of the several countries. In the above table, however, the number "at risk" was the number born. The rates based on the census are necessarily higher than those based on births, since more children are born within a year of the census date than are recorded as being alive on that date. The differences arising from the two methods of calculating the death-rate of infants under one year of age are shown in the following table [58]:—

State	Annual Average Death-rate for Infants under One Year
	Per 1000 Enumerated in the Census			Per 1000 Born Alive

The differences between the rates based on census numbers and those based on registration numbers are seen to be considerable in many cases, though they show a tendency to become smaller during the period covered by the table.

Apart from the United Kingdom and Belgium, the infantile death-rate shows a progressive decline, whether the census numbers of infants be taken or the numbers born alive. The increase in the rate in the United Kingdom may be more apparent than real, as greater care appears to have been exercised in the more recent years in the registration of infantile deaths, fewer such deaths being treated as still-births, and so escaping registration. Non-registration of infants in order to avoid vaccination under the Vaccination Acts may also have had some influence on the apparent death-rate [287].

Substantial variations may be noticed between the rates for the several states, the German states showing much higher rates than the others. The lowest rate of all is found in Ireland.

Taking the number of infants born alive as the basis, the average annual death-rates for males and females separately in successive quinquennial periods were as follows [58]:—

State	Average Annual Death-rate per 1000 Infants Born Alive
	Males under One Year			Females under One Year

(a) Average of 1901-4.

The rates for females are seen to be universally less than for males, ranging from about 16 to 30 per cent. less. While the percentage difference between the rates for the two sexes was practically the same in the first two quinquennial periods, it rose by 5 to 8 per cent. in the last period. For example, in England and Wales 122 boys died to every 100 girls who died in the period 1891-5, and 121 in the next period. In 1901-5, however, 127 boys died to every 100 girls. In Denmark the proportion of male to 100 female deaths under one year of age rose from 122 in the first two periods to 131 in the last. In Holland the rise was from 120 to 130, and in France from 120 to 125.

Infantile mortality further varies as between legitimates and illegitimates, the death-rate of the latter being much higher than that of the former. The following table shows the annual average death-rate of legitimate infants under one year per 1000 legitimate live-births, and of illegitimate infants per 1000 illegitimate live-births, and also the ratio of the death-rate of the latter to that of the former. The period chosen is the quinquennial period 1876-1900 [58]:—

State	Death-rate of Infants under One Year per 1000 Live-births		Ratio of Death-rates
	Legitimates	Illegitimates	Legitimates	Illegitimates
Norway	89	177	100	199
Sweden	92	164	100	178
Finland	135	190	100	141

France	149	255	100	171
Italy	163	239	100	147
Bulgaria	142	230	100	162

The death-rate for illegitimate infants varies from twice as great as for legitimates in Norway, down to about one and one-third as great in Austria. The variation of the actual rate for illegitimates is not so great between the several states as is the variation of the rate for legitimates. The highest legitimate death-rate for infants (251 per 1000 in Saxony) is almost three times as great as the lowest (89 per 1000 in Norway); but the highest illegitimate death-rate (365 per 1000 in Saxony) is a little more than twice as great as the lowest (164 per 1000 in Sweden).

Infantile mortality, however, can only be properly studied when the proportional number of deaths is given for ages ranging from a few days up to one year, since the frequency of deaths is very great soon after birth and rapidly diminishes during the course of the first year of life. The following detailed table for Sweden exemplifies this, the number of deaths per 10,000 infants born alive during 1902 being given [58]:—

Age	Deaths per 10,000 Births	Age	Deaths per 10,000 Births	Age	Deaths per 10,000 Births

In Sweden a sharp distinction is drawn between still-births and live-births, and both are registered. In countries where this is not the case, it is impossible to produce accurate statistics of deaths among infants during the first few days of life.

In the following table deaths are given in age-groups, and the numbers represent, not death-rates, but the average annual proportion of infants dying at each age out of every 10,000 born alive in the period 1896-1900 [58]:—

Of the deaths occurring within one year after birth, in most cases one-third take place within the first month; in Japan the proportion is one-half; in Hungary, nearly one-half; in Holland, Belgium, Russia, and Saxony, about one-quarter. Within three months (90 days) of birth, half the deaths of the first year have occurred. The first five days yield from one-sixth to one-fifteenth of the first year's deaths; the next five from one-twentieth to one-thirtieth (in Japan, one-sixth to one-seventh); the next five about the same; and the next fortnight about one-tenth.

In the following table is given the average proportion of deaths of infants under five years of age that occurred at various ages in the period 1901-5, the total number of deaths under five being taken as 1000 [58]:—

It must be understood that the numbers in the above table are not in any sense death-rates, and one country must not be compared with another as if they were. It is seen that of the deaths that do occur of children under five years of age, from 53 per cent. to 83 per cent. of the children are under one year of age; while 30 per cent. to 48 per cent. are under three months old. For each successive year of age after the first the number of deaths rapidly declines.

The mean daily death-rate, during the first year of life, per 10,000 children in each age-group, in the period 1901-5, was as follows [58]:—

The above table is constructed by taking, in the case of each state, 10,000 children born alive; ascertaining the number of survivors at the end of the 5th day, 9th day, 14th day, and so on; then calculating the total number of days lived by each batch of survivors during the ensuing period, and finally finding the number of deaths occurring in that period in every 10,000 days lived. This last number is equivalent to the number of deaths per day occurring among 10,000 children of the mean age of that period. For example, of 10,000 children born alive (or surviving birth) in France in 1901-5, 186 died during the first 5 days, leaving 9814 survivors. Assuming that the 186 who died lived on an average $2\frac{1}{2}$ days each, the total number of days lived in this period was 9814×5 plus $186 \times 2\frac{1}{2} = 49,535$ days. During these 49,535 days of life there were 186 deaths, that is approximately 37.6 deaths to each 10,000 days of life; or 37.6 deaths to 10,000 children (whose mean age is $2\frac{1}{2}$ days) during one day of life.

Death-rates so computed are of course only approximate—it cannot be supposed, for instance, that children dying in the first five days after birth do live on an average $2\frac{1}{2}$ days each. But for rough purposes the figures in the table may be accepted as indicative of the relative daily death-rates in different states. Such rates are seen to be greatest in the German States, in Hungary, Austria, and Russia, and, for the first month, greatest in Japan. Ireland is a country with very low rates.

The annual rate of infantile mortality in some of the principal towns of the world, arranged according to population, was as follows in the years 1903 to 1907 [60]:—

The influence on the rate of infantile mortality exercised by the way in which the infants are nourished is shown in the following figures, which give the deaths in Berlin of infants aged from 0 to 1 year in every 1000 infants aged 0 to 1 enumerated at censuses in 1890, 1895, and 1900 [110]:—

Class	Average Rate of Mortality per 1000 Infants Aged 0 to 1 in the Classes in Column 1
	1890-1	1895-6	1900-1
Infants nourished at the breast	74.2	63.0	69.4
Infants nourished with animals' milk	499.9	396.9	366.2
Infants given mixed nourishment	601.2	233.7	242.5
All infants	324.9	291.9	294.0

Investigations into the conditions of infant life in Westminster (London) during 1907-8 showed that of 844 breast-fed infants, 716 (84.8 per cent.) were healthy, 108 (12.7 per cent.) were delicate, while 20 (2.3 per cent.) died within the year. Of 140 bottle-fed infants, the numbers were 66 (47.1 per cent.), 57 (40.7 per cent.), and 17 (12.1 per cent.) respectively. Classifying the families according to income, the results were found to be as follows [111]:—

Family income per week	Over 25s.	21s. to 25s.	Under 21s.
Number of cases observed	546	402	266
Number of infants who were—
Healthy	427	294	136
Delicate	86	80	93
Dead within the year	33	28	37
Per cent. of infants who were—	Per Cent.	Per Cent.	Per Cent.
Healthy	78.2	73.1	51.1
Dead within the year	6.0	7.0	13.9

The numbers forming the basis of both the above tables, especially the second table, are too small for perfectly trustworthy conclusions to be deduced. But the tables indicate at least the large effect produced on infantile life by the method and kind of nourishment in the one case, and by material welfare in the other.

(For further statistics on infantile mortality see under United Kingdom below.)

UNITED KINGDOM

The average annual death-rates in the army and navy and the merchant service are given as follows [62], [282]:—

Service	Death-rates per 1000
	Average 1896-1900	Average 1901-5	1906	1907	1908
Army—
In United Kingdom	5.0	4.5	3.1	3.1	2.6
Abroad	19.5	11.5	7.8	6.4	6.9
Total Army	13.7	8.9	5.5	4.7	4.8
Royal Navy (service afloat)	5.6	4.8	3.7	3.4	3.4
Merchant service (excluding fishing vessels and yachts) (a)	12.3	10.8	10.4	9.5	9.4

(a) Figures refer to years ended in June of years stated at head of table.

The average mortality rates for the army abroad were considerably affected by the South African war, the rate rising from 12.5 per 1000 in 1896 to 36.1 in 1900; and then falling to 19.1 in 1901, 13.5 in 1902, and 8.6 in 1903.

ENGLAND AND WALES

The following table exhibits a comparison of death-rates (corrected for age and sex differences in the population) of persons, falling within successive age-groups, in selected urban and rural registration counties of England and Wales. The urban counties contained an estimated population in 1906 of 18,716,000 persons, and are Glamorgan, Lancaster, London, Middlesex, Monmouth, Northumberland, Nottingham, Stafford, Warwick, Yorkshire (East and West Ridings). The rural counties contained an estimated population in 1906 of 4,356,000 persons, and are Buckingham, Cambridge, Cornwall, Hereford, Huntingdon, Lincoln, Norfolk, North Wales, Oxford, Rutland, Salop, Somerset, South Wales (except Glamorgan), Suffolk, Westmoreland, Wiltshire [108]:—

All ages	17.1	18.8	14.2	15.0	16.4	12.7	16.0	17.6	13.4

From this table it appears that the mortality in urban areas is greater than in rural areas in all age-groups except 20-25 in the case of males, and 15-25 in the case of females. This exception is partly ascribed to the return home of young adults who had migrated from rural districts to the towns, and had there contracted phthisis.

The death-rates of all males in England and Wales, and of occupied and retired males, at various age-groups, based on the census of 1901 and the death registers of 1900 to 1902, are given as follows [112]:—

Age-group	Average Death-rates in 1900-2 per 1000
	Total Males	Occupied Males Only	Retired Males Only	Occupied and Retired Males
15 to 20 years	3.49	2.44	79.69	2.46
20 " 25 "	4.77	4.41	90.60	4.50
25 " 35 "	6.38	6.01	96.51	6.29
35 " 45 "	10.94	10.22	94.80	10.87
45 " 55 "	18.67	17.73	68.30	18.72
55 " 65 "	34.80	31.01	91.48	35.56
65 years and upwards	94.61	88.39	148.02	106.23

The group of retired males shows exceptionally high rates of mortality, due to this group containing those males who are compelled to give up their occupations on account of illness or disease or other physical defect. The rates for occupied males only are, on the other hand, unduly favourable to that group, since the weakest members are constantly passing into the group of "retired" persons, and at death are registered as unoccupied, although death may have been accelerated, if not caused, by the nature of the occupations from which they "retired." A comparison of occupational death-rates is likely, therefore, to be more valid if retired persons and deaths among them are first allocated to the occupations in which those persons were engaged before retirement, than if persons actually occupied are alone considered. Even then, the death-rates in different occupations will appear unduly high in some and unduly low in others, on account of the weaker individuals in occupations requiring strength and vigour changing into occupations of a less arduous character. There is a tendency, accordingly, for certain occupations to be engaged in by strong, healthy persons only, while others attract the weaker individuals. These considerations must be borne in mind in connection with the following table, which shows the mean annual death-rates per 1000 males, aged 15 and upwards, engaged in, or retired from, certain occupations, during the years 1900 to 1902 [112]:—

A recent report of the Metropolitan Asylums Board (London) gives the case-fatality among the admissions for scarlet fever to hospitals of the Asylums Board since 1870. The following table is derived by the Registrar-General from figures in that report [62]:—

Period	Admissions for Scarlet Fever	Deaths	Ratio per Cent. of Deaths to Admissions	Mean Annual Mortality from Scarlet Fever per 1000 Living in the County of London
1873-77	3,228	399	12	0.62
1878-82	7,424	901	12	0.62
1883-87	12,798	1,238	10	0.32
1888-92	33,818	2,573	8	0.22
1893-97	68,512	3,494	5	0.23
1898-1902	64,800	2,234	3	0.11
1903-7	79,155	2,376	3	0.10

The great diminution in the rate of mortality from this disease as shown in this table may be due partly to severe cases only being admitted to the hospitals in the early years. But the general mortality from this fever in the county of London has fallen to less than one-sixth what it was in 1873-82.

Similar tables to the above are given as follows for diphtheria and enteric fever [62]:—

DIPHTHERIA

Period	Admissions for Diphtheria	Deaths	Ratio per Cent. of Deaths to Admissions	Mean Annual Mortality from Diphtheria per 1000 Living in London
1888-92	5,084	1,617	32	0.37

INFANTILE MORTALITY

The greatest infantile mortality appears to occur during the third quarter of the year. Taking the average of the decennium 1896–1905, the deaths of children under one year of age numbered—

139 per 1000 births in the first quarter of the year ;
 118 per 1000 births in the second quarter ;
 187 per 1000 births in the third quarter ; and 144 per 1000 births in the fourth quarter.

The mortality for the whole year was, on the average, 147 per 1000 births [108].

The variations from year to year in the mortality during the third quarter, and the mean temperature of the earth at a depth of 3 feet 2 inches, and the mean rainfall in the same quarter, according to observations at Greenwich, are given as follows [108]:—

Year	Deaths in Third Quarter of Year of Infants under One Year of Age per 1000 Births	Mean Temperature in Third Quarter	Amount of Rainfall in Third Quarter	Year	Deaths in Third Quarter of Year of Infants under One Year of Age per 1000 Births	Mean Temperature in Third Quarter	Amount of Rainfall in Third Quarter
		Degrees	Inches			Degrees	Inches
1896	178	62.2	8.7	1902	125	59.6	5.7
1897	213	62.2	6.3	1903	133	60.2	12.3

From this table there appears to be a close relationship existing between weather conditions on the one hand, and infantile mortality on the other. The deaths of children under one year was 118 per 1000 in 1907 and was the lowest on record. The mortality in the third quarter of the year, as shown in the above table, was exceptionally low. The summer of that year was unusually cool and showery [62].

The average annual death-rates of infants under one year of age, and under five years of age, during the period 1901–5, according to the class of diseases causing death, are given as follows [108]:—

SCOTLAND

Infantile Mortality

The following table shows the average annual rates of infantile mortality in Scotland in five groups of registration districts. The principal towns comprise those which had a population of over 30,000 at the last census (1901); the large towns are those with 10,000 to 30,000 inhabitants at the last census; the small towns are those with from 2000 to 10,000 inhabitants at the census; the mainland-rural districts and the insular-rural districts comprise the registration districts, or parts of districts, not included in the above town districts [61]:—

FRANCE

The average annual death-rate (exclusive of still-births) in France for a century is given as follows [9]:—

	Death-rate per 1000 Population
1806-10	26.3
1811-15	26.9
1816-20	25.3
1821-25	24.8
1826-30	25.5

1891-95	22.3
1896-1900	20.7
1901-5	19.6
1906-8	19.7

The mortality in the army averaged 9.4 per 1000 of the mean effective strength during 1876-80, 6.7 per 1000 during 1886-90, 5.3 per 1000 during 1896-1900, and 4.4 per 1000 during 1901-6 [9].

GERMANY

The mean annual death-rate (exclusive of still-births) in Germany since 1876 has been as follows [9]:—

	Mean Annual Death-rate per 1000 Population
1876-80	26.1
1881-85	25.7
1886-90	24.4
1891-95	23.3

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA

The registration of deaths in the United States at present covers only a part of the Union. The following statistics, therefore, relate only to the registration area of the States. This area in the period 1901-5 contained nearly 41 per cent. of the total population of the country, and in 1906 nearly 49 per cent., namely, about 32,500,000 in 1901-5 and 41,000,000 in 1906 out of a total population of about 80,000,000 [109].

The average annual death-rates from all causes in the registration States during 1901-5 and the rate in 1906 are given as follows [109]:—

State	Death-rates per 1000 of Population
	1901-5	1906
California	(a)	17.4
Colorado	(a)	15.9
Connecticut	16.0	16.7

NEW ZEALAND

The average age at death of persons dying in New Zealand was 39.6 years for males and 35.6 years for females in the period 1897 to 1901, and 41.9 years for males and 37.4 years for females in the period 1902 to 1906 [114].

In the following table are shown for the period 1902 to 1906 the number and ages of living children left by married men at death [114]:—

DEATH DUTIES

UNITED KINGDOM

The net receipt of all death duties in each financial year from 1897-8 has been as follows [37]:—

Year ended March 31	Net Receipt of all Death Duties				Amount Due to the Exchequer (a)
	England	Scotland	Ireland	United Kingdom
	Thous. £	Thous. £	Thous. £	Thous. £	Thous. £
1897-8	13,564	1,242	643	15,449	11,186
1898-9	13,539	1,456	738	15,733	11,487
1899-1900	16,159	1,597	653	18,409	13,909
1900-1	14,184	1,665	872	16,721	12,483
1901-2	15,850	1,903	760	18,513	14,251
1902-3	15,410	1,861	642	17,913	13,712
1903-4	14,945	1,619	762	17,326	13,035
1904-5	14,642	1,874	742	17,258	13,011
1905-6	14,881	1,854	610	17,345	12,968
1906-7	16,500	1,768	691	18,959	14,263
1907-8	16,571	1,847	690	19,108	19,108 (a)

(a) Until the year 1907-8, the receipts from Death Duties were allocated, on the one hand, to the Imperial Exchequer, and, on the other, to Local Taxation Accounts. The amount due to the latter Accounts was therefore equal to the difference between the net receipt for the United Kingdom as given in the above table and the amount due to the Exchequer. In 1907-8, however, the total receipts from Death Duties were paid into the Exchequer, and the payments to the Local Taxation Accounts were accordingly made out of the Consolidated Fund (the amount on account of the Death Duties being £4,505,000 in 1907-8, leaving £14,603,000 for the Imperial Exchequer). The amount of duty paid into the Exchequer in any year does not exactly coincide with the net receipt of such duty actually due to the Exchequer for that year, the difference varying from a few thousand pounds to £600,000 or £700,000. The receipt of duty in 1908-9 was about £18,400,000 [38].

The net capital value of property on which estate duty, probate (and inventory) duty and account duty were paid in each year from 1897-8 is given as follows for each part of the United Kingdom separately [22]:—

The number and net capital value of estates, or portions of estates, liable only to estate duty, in the year ended March 31, 1908, classified by classes of estates, for the three parts of the United Kingdom, are given as follows [37]:—

Country	Net Value of Estates Liable to Duty in 1907-8
	Not exceeding £500	£500 to £1000	£1000 to £10,000	£10,000 to £50,000	£50,000 to £100,000	£100,000 to £500,000	£500,000 to £1,000,000	Ex- ceeding £1,000,000	Total all Values

It should be remarked that the values here given under any particular class of estate are not strictly the capital values of the estates whose numbers are given in the upper portion of the table. For example, the net capital value of the seven estates, whose separate value exceeded £1,000,000, is not to be taken as exactly £15,779,000. This is due partly to the numbers, which represent the affidavits for probate or administration presented within the year, and which may not reveal the full value of the estates on which duty is ultimately paid; partly to the fact that a single estate may be subject to duty in portions at different rates, so that an estate appearing in only one class in the upper part of the table may be represented by property in two or more classes in the lower part of the table; and partly, to some estates being included in the capital value, but not in the numbers of affidavits.

These remarks apply to the preceding tables.

The capital values given in the above tables are net values, and are arrived at by deduction of debts, &c., from gross values. The next table shows the gross capital value of all property subject to estate duty, so far as such property came within the cognisance of the Inland Revenue Commissioners [37]:—

1907-8	17,963	24,719	228,705	85,194	313,899

The gross capital of insolvent estates (which were not liable to duty), as declared to the Inland Revenue Commissioners, averaged during the ten years ended March 31, 1908, £3,116,000 per year; the debts averaged £4,496,000, and the net deficiency therefore averaged £1,380,000.

The gross capital of estates not exceeding £100 net value, which came to the notice of the above Commissioners, averaged during the same period £1,729,000 per year; the debts averaged £809,000; and the net capital averaged £920,000 [37].

DEBT

The funded and other debts of the principal countries of the world in or about the year 1907, and the annual debt charges, are shown as follows [3], [189]:—

DIAMONDS

CAPE OF GOOD HOPE

The average daily number of employees and wages paid in the diamond mines in the Kimberley division of Cape Colony during the years 1897 to 1906 are given as follows [27]:—

Mines	Average Daily Number of Employees				Average Weekly Wages
	1897-1901		1902-6		1897-1903		1904-6
	White	Coloured	White	Coloured	White Employees	Coloured Employees	White Employees	Coloured Employees

Du Toit's Pan	23	123	201	1,730
Bultfontein	110	786	187	1,455

(a) Average daily numbers of 419 whites and 196 coloured during the period 1897-1901; and of 673 whites and 428 coloured during 1902-6, were employed at workshops, construction, &c.

(b) And lodging in addition.

In 1907 the above four mines employed respectively, on the average, 348 white and 2272 coloured persons; 1736 white and 4220 coloured (924 white and 778 coloured at workshops, &c.); 469 white and 3942 coloured; and 418 white and 3558 coloured. Wages remained as given for 1904-6 [29].

The average weight and value of the diamonds produced in the mines in the Kimberley division were as follows [27], [29]:—

Period	Average Weight in Carats	Average Total Value
1897-1901	2,644,100	£3,975,500
1902-1906	2,421,200	5,000,400
1907 only [29]	2,469,100	5,955,200

The Cullinan diamond found in 1905 in the mines of the Premier Diamond Mining Company, was the largest diamond in the world. It weighed in its rough state 3025 $\frac{3}{4}$ English carats, or more than 1 $\frac{1}{2}$ lbs. avoirdupois. When cut, it furnished one brilliant weighing 516 $\frac{1}{2}$ carats, another weighing 309 carats, a third weighing 92 carats, a fourth weighing 62 carats, and several smaller ones. The whole number were estimated to be worth over £1,000,000 [116]. The Kohinoor diamond weighs just over 106 carats [116].

DISEASE

TUBERCULOSIS

The average annual death-rate from pulmonary tuberculosis in various countries during, in most cases, the period 1896-1905, is given as follows [108]:—

State	Average Annual Death-rate per 1000 Living	State	Average Annual Death-rate per 1000 Living
Hungary (average 1897-1905)	3.80 (a)	Spain (average 1900-5)	1.44

Scotland	1.55	New Zealand	0.74
The Netherlands	1.49	Western Australia	0.70
Japan	1.45	Tasmania	0.67

(a) These figures relate to deaths from all forms of tuberculosis.

(b) Including deaths from general tuberculosis.

CANCER

The average annual death-rate from cancer in various countries during, in most cases, the period 1896-1905, is given as follows, the countries being arranged in the order of their relative mortality from this disease [108]:—

State	Average Annual Death-rate per 1000 Living	State	Average Annual Death-rate per 1000 Living
Switzerland	1.29	Prussia	0.61
The Netherlands	0.95	New South Wales	0.59
Norway	0.90	Tasmania	0.56
England and Wales	0.83	Italy	0.53
Scotland	0.81	Queensland	0.50
German Empire	0.74	Japan (average 1899-1903)	0.49
Victoria	0.72	Spain (average 1900-5)	0.44
Austria (average 1895-1904)	0.70	Western Australia	0.38
New Zealand	0.63	Jamaica	0.16
Ireland	0.63	Servia	0.09
South Australia	0.61

Exact comparisons should not be made between the crude rates of mortality from cancer in the various countries included in the above table. The age constitution of the population in the different countries is not similar, while the assigned causes of death are not of equal accuracy and reliability.

On the basis of the experience of the industrial insurance companies of the United States of America during the period 1891-1900, Mr. F. L. Hoffman gave the following results as to the mortality from tubercular diseases and cancer among the classes of persons, chiefly wage-earners and others with small incomes, taking out industrial insurance policies [117]:—

Age	Percentage of Deaths from all Causes due to
	Tubercular Diseases		Cancer
	Males	Females	Males	Females
	Per Cent.	Per Cent.	Per Cent.	Per Cent.
15 to 29 years	38.0	40.6	0.4	0.7
30 " 44 "	34.3	28.9	1.5	5.9
45 " 59 "	15.5	9.6	4.7	10.6
60 " 74 "	5.5	3.8	4.9	6.4

The industrial insurance experience of the American Prudential Insurance Company during the period 1897-1902 gave the following results as to the percentage of deaths from certain causes among persons in certain occupations [117]:—

Percentage of Total Deaths due to
Consumption		Pneumonia		Liver Diseases
Occupations	Per Cent.	Occupations	Per Cent.	Occupations	Per Cent.
Grinders	57.6	Moulders	15.9	Hotel-keepers	10.3
Polishers	40.7	Puddlers	13.0	Liquor dealers	7.9
Printers	37.6	Miners	13.1	Brewers	6.8
Plumbers	35.5	Liquor dealers	12.1	Policemen	6.0
Hatters	34.6	Iron and steel workers	11.7	Butchers	5.4
Glassworkers	31.9	Policemen	9.7	Waiters	4.3
Upholsterers	31.8			Tailors	4.2

DIVORCES

The numbers of divorced persons in the population of several States, according to the censuses taken in or about the year 1900, are given as follows [12]:—

Country	Number of Divorced		Total	Number per 100,000 of Population aged 15 and upwards
	Males	Females
Sweden	1,920	3,620	5,540	160
Switzerland	5,160	9,270	14,430	630
Germany	31,280	60,740	92,020	250
Netherlands	2,130	3,740	5,870	180

Portugal	1,230	1,350	2,580	70
Hungary	6,430	12,050	18,480	150
Russian Empire (1897)	34,390	53,270	87,660	110
Finland	570	820	1,390	80
Servia	2,160	2,230	4,390	300
Roumania	6,720	10,430	17,150	480
Bulgaria	2,750	3,000	5,750	260
United States of America (including Alaska and Hawaii)	84,570	114,930	199,500	400

ENGLAND AND WALES

The average annual numbers of persons divorced in England and Wales, and the numbers of re-marriages, for a series of quinquennial periods, are given as follows [62]:—

Period	Number of Persons Divorced	Number of Divorced Persons who Re-married
		Men	Women	Total
Average of 1871-75	357	31	30	61
„ 1876-80	554	56	48	104
„ 1881-85	671	68	60	128
„ 1886-90	707	80	89	169
„ 1891-95	744	110	104	214
„ 1896-1900	980	172	173	345
„ 1901-5	1,126	262	248	510
Year 1906	1,092	351	325	676
„ 1907	1,288	309	327	636

The numbers of marriages of divorced persons should not be accepted as complete, since the figures refer only to persons described in the marriage register as divorced, while doubtless some divorced persons marry without disclosing the fact that they are divorced.

NETHERLANDS

The average annual number of persons divorced in Holland in recent years is given as follows [35]:—

	Average Annual Number
1898-1900	1,028
1901-3	1,173
1904-7	1,465

BELGIUM

The number of divorces in Belgium has averaged per year as follows [14]:—

1882-86	232
1887-91	360
1892-96	491
1897-1901	689

SWITZERLAND

The annual number of divorces in Switzerland has averaged as follows [23]:—

1876-80	940
1881-85	930
1886-90	880
1891-95	900
1896-1900	1,040
1901-5	1,150
1906	1,340

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA

The average annual number of divorces in the United States since 1867 is given approximately as follows [193]:—

	Average Annual Number
1867-71	10,700
1872-76	13,700
1877-81	17,900
1882-86	23,500
1887-91	31,500
1892-96	39,000
1897-1901	52,200
1902-6	66,500

The divorces per 100,000 of population increased steadily from about 29 during 1868-72 to 82 during 1903-6 [193].

On the average, about 33 per cent. of the total divorces were granted to husbands, and the remainder to wives [193].

Of the total number of divorces from 1887 to 1906, namely, 945,600, 39 per cent. were due to desertion, 22 per cent. to cruelty, 16 per cent. to adultery, 4 per cent. to drunkenness, and 4 per cent. to neglect to provide maintenance, &c. [193].

The duration of marriage before divorce was ascertained in 900,600 cases during 1887 to 1906, and it was found that in 2 per cent. of the cases, marriage had lasted less than 1 year; in 34 per cent., from 1 to 5 years; in 28 per cent., from 6 to 10 years; in 16 per cent., from 11 to 15 years; in 9 per cent., from 16 to 20 years; and in 11 per cent. of the cases, marriage had lasted 21 years or more [193]. An examination of 770,900 cases of divorce showed that separation between husband and wife had taken place in 27 per cent. of the cases in about 1 year after marriage, and in over 50 per cent. of the cases before the fifth year of marriage was completed [193].

JAPAN

The number of divorces in Japan averaged as follows [115]:—

1896-98	113,060
1899-1901	64,720
1902-4	64,630
1905	60,180

AUSTRALASIA

Divorces and judicial separations in Australia and New Zealand averaged per year as follows [15]:—

Period	Australia	New Zealand
1871-80	29	...
1881-90	70	23
1891-1900	358	37
1901-6	374	136

(a) State expenditure only.

(b) State expenditure for public primary schools only. These had 4,530,000 enrolled pupils.

(c) Also 190,000 in ambulatory schools.

(d) 1905-6 for England and Wales.

(e) Primary schools.

The number of scholars in primary or elementary schools in certain countries in 1890, 1900, and 1906, and their proportion of the population aged less than 15 years in 1890 and 1900, are given as follows [9]:—

Country	Scholars in Primary or Elementary Schools
	1890		1900		Number in 1906
	Number	Per 1000 of Population Aged under 15	Number	Per 1000 of Population Aged under 15

(a) Numbers given are those on the rolls at the end of the year.

(b) Numbers given are the average daily attendances.

(c) Numbers in primary schools in 1898, and in communal schools in 1906.

(d) Year 1904.

(e) Year 1905.

The figures in the two preceding tables are not in all cases comparable with one another. The first table gives the enrolment, and the second in some cases the attendances. The detailed statistics given below under the names of countries should be consulted.

The following table shows the ages at which compulsory education begins and ceases, respectively, in the several countries stated. In some countries, however, public provision is made for the instruction of children below the age at which attendance at school becomes compulsory. In special circumstances, too, the age at which compulsory attendance begins may be postponed, and the age at which it ceases may be lowered or raised. The extent to which the law is enforced may also vary from country to country [119], [120].

States	Age at which Compulsory Education
	Begins	Ceases
United Kingdom	5 years [123]	14 years [118]
Netherlands	7 "	13 years, and in some cases 12 years
Norway	7 "	14 years

Victoria	6 " [15]	14 "
New Zealand	7 "	14 "
Japan [93]	6 "	14 "

In Belgium, Quebec, and Manitoba there is (in 1908) no statutory compulsion. In Nova Scotia and New Brunswick compulsory attendance is left to local option, but if adopted the limits of age are 7 and 12, with certain exceptions.

UNITED KINGDOM

Statistics of elementary schools and of scholars in 1906-7 are given as follows:—

Country	Number of Elementary Schools	Accommodation	Number of Scholars on Register	Average Attendance
				Number	Per Cent. of Number on Register
England and Wales [121]	20,647 (a)	7,070,000	6,000,000	5,300,000	88

Total	5,587,000	5,904,000	6,003,700

The numbers of teachers in schools in 1902 and 1908 are given as follows [22]:—

Type of School	Numbers in
	1902	1908
Public elementary schools	121,700	155,900
Higher elementary schools	340	680 (a)
Schools for blind and deaf children	560	615
Schools for defective and for epileptic children	225	630

(a) Year 1907.

These numbers are exclusive of pupil teachers, whose numbers on the staffs of schools were 24,000 in 1902 and 22,000 in 1908 [22].

The expenditure of local education authorities on account of elementary education in 1901-2 and 1906-7 is given as follows [22]:—

	School Boards 1901-2	Local Education Authorities 1906-7
Current expenditure—	£	£
Public elementary schools	8,200,000	17,200,000
Industrial and special schools	180,000	430,000

Loan charges	2,000,000	2,420,000
Other payments	90,000	60,000
Total ordinary	11,000,000	21,200,000
Expenditure out of loans	2,400,000	2,400,000
Total	13,400,000	23,600,000

The public education system of England and Wales was radically altered by Parliament by the Education Act of 1902, and accordingly the two sets of figures given above should not be taken as indicating a normal growth in expenditure.

The numbers of students at the Universities of Oxford and Cambridge in 1897 and 1907 are given as follows [191]:—

University	1897	1907
Oxford	3,400	3,700
Cambridge	2,900	3,500

In 1907 Oxford had 295 professors and many assistants. The Bodleian library contains over 600,000 volumes. At Cambridge University there were 135 professors and many assistants. There is a library of over 500,000 volumes [191].

The numbers in average attendance were [118]:—

Type of School	1897-8	1901-2	1906-7
Voluntary and "non-provided" schools	2,500,000	2,500,000	2,450,000
School board and council schools	2,000,000	2,300,000	2,850,000
Total	4,500,000	4,800,000	5,300,000

Statistics of secondary and other schools in 1908 are given as follows [22]:—

GERMANY

The numerical strength of certain political parties in Germany, as shown in elections to the Reichstag, is given as follows [12]:—

	Numbers in Thousands
	1881	1884	1887	1890	1893	1898	1903	1907

Social Democrats	312	550	763	1,427	1,787	2,107	3,011	3,260

The growth of the Social Democratic Party is noteworthy. Their strength in the Reichstag, however, is not proportional to their voting numbers, as is seen in the following table [12]:—

AUSTRALIA

Both in Australia and New Zealand women possess the parliamentary franchise. The number of electors who voted in the elections for the Commonwealth Parliament in 1903 and 1906 are shown as follows [15]:—

Year	Electors Enrolled		Electors who Voted		Percentage of Voters to Electors Enrolled
	Males	Females	Males	Females	Males	Females
Elections for Senate—
1903	994,500	899,100	528,000	359,300	53.1	40.0
1906	1,114,200	995,400	628,100	431,000	56.4	43.3
Elections for House of Representatives—
1903	767,800	703,100	433,600	305,800	56.5	43.5
1906	1,020,900	899,500	585,500	403,000	57.4	44.8

The qualification for the franchise in the Commonwealth elections is six months' continuous residence in Australia, and in general, only adult British subjects can qualify.

State Elections

Women were given the franchise in NEW SOUTH WALES in 1902, and voted for the first time at a State election in 1904. On that occasion, 304,400 males and 262,400 females were qualified to vote, and 74.3 per cent. of the males and 66.5 per cent. of the females actually voted [15].

In VICTORIA the women have not been given the franchise as regards the State elections [15].

In QUEENSLAND women possess the franchise, and exercised it for the first time in 1907. In that year, 125,100 males and 95,000 females were enrolled as electors, and the percentages who voted are estimated to have been 73.4 of the males and 68.6 of the females [15].

SOUTH AUSTRALIA was the first Australian State to grant women's suffrage, the franchise being exercised for the first time at the Legislative Assembly elections of 1896. The elections of 1900, 1902, and 1905 showed as follows [15]:—

Year	Electors on Roll		Electors who Voted		Percentage of Voters to Electors on Roll
	Males	Females	Males	Females	Males	Females
Elections for Legislative Council—
1900	38,700	9,850	21,400	3,910	55.3	39.7
1902	38,400	13,500	30,000	7,940	78.4	58.8
1905	39,000	13,900	28,800	8,330	73.9	60.0
For Legislative Assembly—
1900	77,100	72,000	53,500	36,500	62.1	49.2
1902	95,400	92,200	64,300	50,200	67.4	54.5
1905	96,700	93,400	60,100	46,000	69.3	50.7

The franchise for the Legislative Council elections is much more restricted than for the Assembly elections. Adult British subjects who have been registered on the electoral roll for six months are, in general, eligible to vote in the latter.

WESTERN AUSTRALIA permits female suffrage. Particulars of the elections of 1901, 1904, and 1905 for the Legislative Assembly are given as follows [15]:—

Year	Electors on Roll		Votes Recorded in Contested Districts		Percentage of Voters to Electors in Contested Districts
	Males	Females	Males	Females	Males	Females
1901	74,900	16,600	29,800	8,300	44	56
1904	108,900	55,000	43,300	23,500	49	47
1905	79,000	42,700	33,500	19,400	51	53

In TASMANIA women also possess the franchise, and exercised it for the first time in 1906. In that year, in connection with the elections for the House of Assembly, 47,400 males and 41,600 females were enrolled; 37,100 males and 33,400 females were enrolled in the contested districts alone; and of these latter, 23,100 males and 17,200 females voted, i.e. 62.3 per cent. of the males and 51.5 per cent. of the females [15].

NEW ZEALAND

By an Act which came into force in 1893, women, including Maoris, were admitted to the franchise in New Zealand. The existing law permits registration, as an elector, of every adult person of European extraction who has resided in the colony for one year and in one electoral district for three months. For Maori representation, every adult Maori resident in any Maori electoral district can vote. Women, though qualified to be electors, may not be elected to the House of Representatives.

The following table shows the numbers of male and female electors, and the proportion that voted for European representatives, at the several elections in and since 1893 [33]:—

Date of General Election	Estimated Total Adults	Number on Electoral Rolls	Per Cent. of Adults Registered as Electors	Number who Voted	Per Cent. of those on Rolls who Voted

1905	500,110	476,480	95.3	396,660 (c)	83.3

(a) The number as given on the rolls is in excess of the estimated adult male population.

(b) Excludes figures for three electoral areas in which no contest took place.

(c) Includes informal votes, which numbered 4970 in 1902, and 5470 in 1905.

BRITISH SOUTH AFRICA

The numbers of electors and representatives in the several colonies at the dates given, together with the percentage of electors who voted in the case of contested elections, are given as follows [29]:—

Colony	Date of Election	Number of Representatives	Number of Registered Voters at Time of Election	Percentage of Voters who Voted in Contested Elections
Cape Colony	1908	107	152,121	67.5
Natal	1906	43	23,795	66.4
Transvaal	1907	69	105,268	68.2
Orange River Colony	1907	38	36,261	77.2

There are no coloured voters in the Transvaal and Orange River Colonies. The General Elections in 1907 in these colonies were the first under the new constitutions granted in 1906 to the Transvaal, and in 1907 to the Orange River Colony.

The registered voters of Cape Colony included 22,784 non-Europeans.

The total loss of population by emigration from the European countries during the sixty years 1841-1900 has been estimated to have been as follows [44]:—

	Total Net Emigration Outwards 1841-1900		Total Net Emigration Outwards 1841-1900
United Kingdom	7,713,700	Portugal	648,100
Germany	4,853,300	Norway	443,000
Russia in Europe	3,443,100	Netherlands	255,000
Italy	2,927,300	Denmark	154,000
Austria-Hungary	1,510,400	Belgium	107,300
Spain	1,046,500	Switzerland	99,900
Sweden	847,300	Finland	75,000

France is estimated to have had a total net immigration during the same period of 869,200 [44].

The total net emigration from Europe is estimated to have been nearly 23,000,000 persons [44].

The immigration into the United States of America during the same sixty years, 1841-1900, is estimated to have been nearly 18,700,000 persons [44]. From 1820 to 1908, both years inclusive, about 26,100,000 immigrants are estimated to have entered the United States [107].

UNITED KINGDOM

The number of passengers of all classes to and from the United Kingdom in recent years has been as follows [126]:—

Year	Passengers between United Kingdom and Non-European Countries (a)			Passengers between United Kingdom and European Countries (a)			Net Balance Outward from United Kingdom

(a) The whole coasts of the Mediterranean and Black Seas are, in this table, included under European countries.

(b) Balance outward.

The information respecting the passenger movement between the United Kingdom and non-European countries is, down to and including the year 1907, more reliable and detailed than that between the United Kingdom and the European continent, since the latter information, down to the end of 1907, was supplied entirely voluntarily by shipping and railway companies, while the former information had, as regards all outward passengers on vessels carrying steerage passengers and all inward steerage passengers, statutory sanction.

The passenger movement between the United Kingdom and Europe in 1908 is much more accurately described than in the previous years, so that the figures for 1908 are not properly comparable with the earlier figures.

If the outward passengers bent on pleasure or business are assumed to be about equal in numbers to the inward passengers of this class, the balance outward may be regarded as emigrants, properly so-called.

The number of cabin passengers outwards to non-European countries in 1907 was 110,040, and of steerage passengers 524,910 [126].

The sex and nationality of passengers between the United Kingdom and non-European countries in recent years are given as follows [126]:—

(a) Excluding persons whose nationality was not ascertained.

The reported destinations of passengers to non-European countries are given as follows [126]:—

Country of Disembarkation	Average Annual Number of Passengers Outward from the United Kingdom during 1903-7
	British and Irish	Per Cent. of Total	All Passengers	Per Cent. of Total
		Per Cent.		Per Cent.
United States	141,510	47	305,110	60

All other places	19,260	6	27,980	5
Total	302,850	100	511,050	100

Of the total passengers to non-European countries during 1903-7, an average of 96,480 were cabin passengers, and 414,570 steerage passengers.

The principal non-European countries from which passengers came to the United Kingdom during 1903-7 were as follows [126]:—

Country of Embarkation	Average Annual Number of Passengers Inward to the United Kingdom during 1903-7
	British and Irish	Per Cent. of Total	All Passengers	Per Cent. of Total
United States	65,700	49	145,950	62

All other places	12,650	9	19,090	8
Total	134,250	100	234,120	100

From the two immediately preceding tables it is seen that there has been on the average an annual balance outward to the United States of about 160,000 persons, of whom 75,000 were British and Irish; and to British North America a balance of about 94,000 persons, of whom 73,000 were British and Irish; Australasia received a balance of 8000, mostly British and Irish; while the Cape and Natal received a balance of less than 7000 per year, of whom about 4500 were British and Irish.

BRITISH POSSESSIONS

The numbers of immigrants into, and emigrants from, certain British colonies, &c., in the years 1905 to 1907, are shown in the following table, together with the percentage from or to the United Kingdom so far as can be stated [97]:—

1905	14,640	12,100	2,160	100
1906	17,550	13,910	3,020	150

FRANCE

The emigration from France to places out of Europe is very small, as shown in the following table [9]:—

1897	5,000
1898	4,000
1899	5,000
1900	5,000
1901	4,000
1902	4,000
1903	6,000
1904	5,000
1905	5,000
1906	6,000
1907	8,000
1908	5,000

GERMANY

The numbers of Germans who emigrated to non-European countries in recent years are given as follows [12]:—

Year	To United States	Total
1897	20,350	24,630
1898	18,560	22,220
1899	19,810	24,320
1900	19,700	22,310
1901	19,910	22,070
1902	29,210	32,100
1903	33,650	36,310
1904	26,090	27,980
1905	26,010	28,080
1906	29,230	31,070
1907	30,430	31,700

In 1908 the number of emigrants was about 19,900 [177].

The number of foreigners emigrating from German ports (Bremen, Hamburg, and Stettin) increased from 55,700 in 1897 to 346,900 in 1907. These consisted chiefly of emigrants from Austria-Hungary and Russia to the United States [12].

PORTUGAL AND POSSESSIONS

The numbers of Portuguese who emigrated to places out of Europe in recent years were as follows [126]:—

Year	Total	To Brazil	To North America	To Africa
1897	21,120	17,790	(?)	1,540
1898	23,400	20,130	1,150	1,950
1899	17,540	13,350	2,370	1,540
1900	20,790	14,490	4,170	1,940
1901	20,440	14,490	3,790	1,960
1902	23,880	15,000	6,840	1,940
1903	21,290	14,530	4,760	1,920
1904	27,930	21,450	4,350	1,950

SPAIN

The numbers of Spaniards (excluding State officials and soldiers) who emigrated to places out of Europe from 1897 to 1902 were as follows [126]:—

Year	Total	To Africa	To Brazil	To Argentina
1897	50,040	16,880	8,100	9,780
1898	38,550	12,900	3,830	12,630
1899	47,060	15,690	2,280	9,940
1900	55,450	17,000	3,290	12,650
1901	48,890	14,630	2,830	11,160
1902	44,400	20,460	1,120	8,770

Including soldiers, government officials, tourists, &c., the numbers outwards from, and inwards to, Spain in recent years are given as follows [1]:—

Year	Outwards	Inwards
1902	51,590	58,220
1903	57,260	54,690
1904	87,290	57,150
1905	126,070	62,040
1906	126,770	73,910
1907	130,640	79,350

ITALY

The numbers of Italians who emigrated from Italy to places out of Europe in recent years were as follows [1], [126]:—

Year	Total	To United States	To Brazil	To Argentina, Uruguay, and Paraguay
1897	174,550	47,140 (a)	80,980	(?)
1898	139,190	56,380	38,660	33,940 (b)
1899	145,440	63,160	26,570	44,170 (b)
1900	171,740	89,400 (a)	27,440	42,720
1901	288,950	121,140	82,160	64,090
1902	295,440	193,770	40,430	37,980
1903	292,030	197,860	27,710	45,160
1904	267,250	168,790	19,720	53,100
1905	459,350	316,800	30,080	88,840
1906	523,090	358,570	27,810	109,540
1907	428,260	298,120	21,300	80,140

(a) Including emigrants to British North America.

(b) Emigrants to Argentina only.

Emigrants to European countries are given as follows [1]:—

1900	181,050	1904	203,940
1901	244,300	1905	266,980
1902	236,070	1906	264,880
1903	215,940	1907	276,420

SWITZERLAND

The numbers of persons who emigrated from Switzerland to places out of Europe in recent years were as follows [126]:—

Year	Swiss	Others	Total	To United States
1897	1,780	730	2,510	2,150
1898	1,700	590	2,290	1,990
1899	1,700	790	2,490	2,160
1900	2,650	1,170	3,820	3,340
1901	2,970	950	3,920	3,520
1902	3,620	1,090	4,710	4,230
1903	4,670	1,150	5,820	5,290
1904	3,730	1,090	4,820	4,280
1905	3,780	1,270	5,050	4,350
1906	3,840	1,460	5,300	4,730 (a)

(a) Including emigrants to Canada.

AUSTRIA-HUNGARY

The numbers of Austrians and Hungarians reported as having emigrated from Austria-Hungary to countries out of Europe, and the numbers reported as having entered the United States of America, are given as follows [126]:—

Year	Total	To United States
1897	39,060	31,320
1898	55,310	50,330
1899	97,340	84,840
1900	115,040	108,700
1901	135,210	133,810
1902	183,920	185,660
1903	220,890	234,640
1904	161,050	165,790
1905	278,410	284,070
1906	312,850	296,210

It will be seen that the numbers reported by authorities in the United States as having entered that country are in some cases greater than the numbers officially reported as having emigrated from Austria-Hungary. The discrepancy is due partly to the different sources from which the figures are obtained, and partly probably to differences in the methods of ascertaining the facts.

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA

The numbers of alien immigrants, and, in addition to these, non-immigrant aliens, who arrived in the United States in recent years, are given as follows [126], [107] :—

Year ended June 30	Country of last Permanent Residence of Immigrant Aliens (Steerage Passengers)							Non-immigrant Aliens
	United Kingdom	Russia and Finland	Italy	Austria-Hungary	Germany	Others (b)	Total (b)

1908 [107].	93,380	156,710	128,500	168,510	32,310	203,460	782,870	141,830

(a) Including all Poland. In and after 1899 Polish immigrants are included under the countries to which they belong.

(b) Immigrants arriving from Canada and Mexico are not included in this table [1].

The departures from the United States to foreign countries other than British North America have been as follows [107] :—

1897-8	225,410
1898-9	256,010
1899-1900	293,400
1900-1	306,720
1901-2	326,760
1902-3	375,260
1903-4	508,200
1904-5	536,150
1905-6	496,740
1906-7	569,880
1907-8	874,690

On the average, 40 per cent. of these outward passengers were cabin passengers.

The numbers of aliens refused admission to the United States have increased from about 4000 in 1900 to 13,000 in 1907 and 11,000 in 1908. The principal cause of exclusion has been pauperism [107].

ARGENTINE REPUBLIC

The numbers of immigrants into, and emigrants from, Argentina in recent years are given as follows [1] :—

Year	Immigrants			Total Emigrants

(a) Railway passenger duty is charged on all passenger fares in England and Scotland which exceed the rate of 1d. per mile, fares for return or periodical tickets being taxed if the ordinary fare for the single journey exceeds 1d. per mile. The rates of duty are £2 per cent. for urban traffic, and £5 per cent. for other traffic. The duty does not apply to Ireland.

The net receipt of duty in the United Kingdom in 1908-9 was [22] :—

Beer	£12,691,000	Railways	£346,000
Spirits	17,456,000	Others	84,000
Licences	3,114,000	Total	£33,691,000

FACTORIES

UNITED KINGDOM

The numbers of "factories" and "workshops" in the United Kingdom on the registers of the Home Office increased as follows [7], [8] :—

	1897	1902	1908
Factories	85,627	100,424	110,691
Workshops	122,274	145,721	149,398

The factories include laundries with power machinery, and the workshops include laundries without power machinery. In 1908 the number of factories included 7851 textile factories.

The numbers of persons employed in textile factories in 1896 and 1907 are given as follows. The numbers are only approximately correct, since a small number of factories (about 3 per cent. in 1907) are not included [22], [254].

The numbers employed in textile factories in the several parts of the kingdom in 1907 are given approximately as follows (see remark prefixed to preceding table) [254]:—

England and Wales	875,660
Scotland	135,570
Ireland	75,690
Total	1,087,220

The numbers employed in non-textile factories and laundries in 1904 were as follows [128]:—

	Non-textile Factories	Laundries
England and Wales	2,538,400	92,800
Scotland	403,800	8,400
Ireland	125,600	3,200
Total	3,067,800	104,400

Of the persons employed in non-textile factories, 617,700 were females, and of those employed in laundries, 94,000 were females. The number of half-timers under 14 years of age was 3300 (including 900 females) in non-textile factories, and 120 (including 80 females) in laundries. The number of full-timers under 18 years of age was 466,400 (including 165,100 females) in non-textile factories, and 14,800 (13,300 females) in laundries. Adults above 18 numbered 2,598,100 (451,700 females) in the non-textile factories, and 89,500 (80,600 females) in the laundries [128].

An inquiry in 1907 into the numbers of persons employed in potteries under special factory rules yielded the following results [8]:—

	North Staffordshire Potteries	Rest of United Kingdom	Total

(a) Local budget only, excluding subsidies and other expenditures of the French Government on account of Algeria.

(b) Exclusive of receipts and expenditure of State railways.

(c) Gross revenue collected by the administration of the public debt.

(d) In most cases the revenue and expenditure given above are those as appropriated in the budget law of the several countries. But in the case of the countries marked (d) the actual revenue and expenditure are given.

The following series of tables should be consulted for the finances of the more important states. The figures do not in all cases exactly agree with those given above. This is partly due to the fact stated in note (d) above, and partly to the dollar having been converted at the rate of 4s. 2d. for the purposes of the preceding table.

UNITED KINGDOM

The revenue and expenditure of the United Kingdom in each year from that ended March 31, 1897, are given in the following table. The amounts paid to local taxation accounts are included under total revenue and expenditure, and are also shown separately [22], [129].

Year ended March 31	Total Revenue	Total Expenditure Chargeable against Revenue	Total Payments to Local Taxation Accounts, &c.
1896-7	£ 112,198,500	£ 109,725,300	£ 8,288,700
1897-8	116,016,300	112,338,300	9,442,300
1898-9	117,857,400	117,671,400	9,973,500
1899-1900	129,804,600	143,687,100	11,114,600

1906-7	155,936,500	149,637,700	11,379,700
1907-8	159,537,700	151,812,100	11,155,400
1908-9 [129]	151,578,000	152,292,000	9,824,000 (a)

(a) The falling off of this item is due to the transfer at the beginning of 1909 to the County Councils and County Borough Councils of England and Wales of the collection of certain licence duties, the proceeds of which then no longer passed into the Exchequer.

The main sources of imperial revenue, including the amounts paid over to local taxation accounts, in the years 1897-8, 1902-3, 1907-8, and 1908-9, are given as follows. It should be remembered that taxation in the year 1902-3 was on the war basis occasioned by the South African War [22], [129].

Head of Revenue	Imperial Revenue (Exchequer Receipts) in the Year
	1897-8	1902-3	1907-8	1908-9
Customs	£ 22,005,000	£ 34,650,000	£ 32,490,000	£ 29,200,000

Other receipts (including fee and patent stamps)(a)	2,886,000	3,238,000	3,918,000	3,728,000
Total revenue	£ 116,016,000	£ 161,319,000	£ 156,538,000	£ 151,578,000

(a) The fee and patent stamps average about £1,000,000 a year, but grow slowly in amount from year to year.

The principal heads of expenditure in the same years as above are given as follows [22], [129]:—

Head of Expenditure	Imperial Expenditure (Exchequer Issues) in the Year
	1897-8	1902-3 (a)	1907-8	1908-9
	£	£	£	£
National debt	25,000,000	27,282,000	29,500,000	28,000,000

Postal and telegraph services	11,565,000	14,563,000	17,527,000	18,113,000
Other items	1,846,000	1,633,000	1,972,000	1,669,000
Total expenditure chargeable against revenue	112,338,000	194,251,000	151,812,000	152,292,000
Total issues to meet capital expenditure	2,751,000	6,376,000	2,834,000	2,636,000

(a) The exceptionally high expenditure in 1902-3 was mainly occasioned by the South African War.

The gross amount of the national debt on March 31 in each year from 1898, and the estimated value of assets, are given as follows [22]:—

At March 31	Gross Debt	Estimated Assets
		Market Value of Suez Canal Shares	Other Assets	Total
	£	£	£	£
1898	638,818,000	24,435,000	807,000	25,242,000
1899	635,394,000	26,451,000	704,000	27,155,000
1900	638,920,000	24,312,000	868,000	25,180,000
1901	703,934,000	25,806,000	713,000	26,519,000
1902	765,216,000	27,935,000	727,000	28,662,000
1903	798,349,000	26,485,000	5,284,000	31,769,000
1904	794,498,000	28,910,000	2,189,000	31,099,000
1905	796,736,000	30,857,000	2,117,000	32,974,000
1906	788,990,000	31,080,000	2,587,000	33,667,000
1907	779,165,000	31,796,000	4,273,000	36,069,000
1908	762,326,000	31,055,000	4,419,000	35,474,000
1909	754,121,000	32,667,000	4,493,000	37,160,000

There were also outstanding on March 31, 1909, various loans to the amount of £172,100,000, which were guaranteed by the British Government. Of this amount, local loans accounted for £71,100,000; Irish land purchase for £44,400,000; and the Transvaal for £36,700,000 [22].

The Budget for 1909-10, as introduced into the House of Commons, showed as follows [129]:—

Estimated Revenue—	Estimated Expenditure—
Customs £30,740,000	National debt services £25,000,000
Excise 36,110,000	Local taxation accounts 10,083,000
Estate, &c., duties 21,450,000	Army 27,435,000
Stamps 8,250,000	Navy 35,143,000
Land tax 700,000	Civil services 40,370,000
Income tax 37,400,000	Customs and excise and inland revenue 3,423,000
Land value duties 500,000	Post office services 18,978,000
Post office, telegraphs, and telephones 22,400,000	Others (including balance of £488,000) 2,158,000
Others 5,040,000
Total £162,590,000	Total £162,590,000

The estimated revenue was revised in October 1909, and reduced to £162,090,000, but owing to the non-passage of the Budget into law until April 1910, the actual revenue in 1909-10 fell short of the estimate by about £30,000,000.

NORWAY

The total revenue, expenditure, and outstanding debt of Norway in each year from that ended March 31, 1902, are given as follows [1]:—

The ordinary revenue of the several states, &c., that comprise Brazil (excluding the State of Amazonas, the figures for which were not available), amounted in 1904 to £8,000,000, and the extraordinary revenue to £3,000,000, a total revenue of £11,000,000. This was chiefly derived from export taxes (£3,900,000), taxation of real estate (£1,300,000), and trade, profession, and company licences (£900,000). Loans accounted for £2,900,000 of the extraordinary revenue.

The total expenditure of the several states, &c., in 1904 amounted to £10,000,000. The chief items of expenditure were: Education (£1,200,000), defence and public order (£1,400,000), debt services (£2,700,000), and public works (£800,000) [79].

(These amounts, which represent state revenue and expenditure, are, of course, additional to the amounts in the table above, which represents the federal revenue and expenditure.)

The federal and state debts of Brazil in 1901 and 1906 are given as follows [79]:—

Nature of Debt	Amount of Debt Outstanding
	1901	1906
Federal debt—
Funded	£84,600,000	£107,700,000
Guaranteed by Union	400,000	1,400,000

Debts of states and capital—
Funded	10,700,000	32,800,000
Floating	1,500,000	2,800,000
Total for states and capital	12,200,000	35,600,000
Total federal and state debts	103,600,000	157,000,000

£72,100,000 of the federal funded debt and £22,300,000 of the states' funded debt in 1906 were dischargeable in gold and the rest in currency. £52,500,000 of the total funded debt was internal and the rest foreign. All the foreign funded debt was dischargeable in gold.

The total federal debt in 1861 was £16,500,000; by 1871 it had reached £48,600,000; by 1881, £61,700,000; by 1891, £78,900,000; by 1901, £91,400,000; and by 1906, £121,400,000 [79].

URUGUAY

The annual budgets of recent years have allowed for the following expenditures [131]:—

1898-9	£3,361,500
1899-1900	3,430,700
1901-2	3,438,300
1904-5	3,496,900
1906-7	4,080,800
1908-9	4,484,100

In the intervening years not shown above no budget was sanctioned, the last budget being prolonged.

The chief items of estimated revenue in the financial year 1908-9 are as follows [131]:—

Customs	£2,562,800
Property tax	570,800
Licence taxes	260,600
Internal taxes	363,800
Stamp taxes, &c.	162,600
Posts and telegraphs	119,000

The principal items of estimated expenditure in 1908-9 are [131]:—

Ministry of interior	£636,900
„ finance	291,700
„ industries	333,800
„ war and marine	650,300

The public debt of Uruguay outstanding in 1906 was about £27,000,000, involving an annual charge of £1,500,000 [189].

EGYPT

The revenue of Egypt in 1908 amounted to £15,900,000, and the total expenditure, ordinary and special, to £14,700,000. The budget of 1909 estimates the revenue at £15,500,000, and the expenditure at £15,200,000. The outstanding debt at the end of 1908 was £95,500,000. Stock to the amount of £6,100,000 was held by the government or the commissioners of the debt, leaving debt in the hands of the public amounting to £89,400,000, the annual charge on which was about £3,500,000 [192].

CAPE OF GOOD HOPE

The total revenue, expenditure, and outstanding debt of Cape Colony in recent years are given as follows [97]:—

Year ended June 30	Gross Revenue (a)	Gross Expenditure (a)	Debt Outstanding at End of Calendar Year (b)
1901	£7,960,000	£7,990,000	£31,390,000
1902	9,050,000	3,620,000	36,970,000
1903	11,700,000	11,200,000	36,470,000
1904	9,910,000	10,860,000	39,390,000
1905	8,470,000	9,150,000	42,110,000
1906	8,240,000	8,230,000	43,980,000
1907	7,700,000	8,350,000	46,260,000

(a) Excludes share of customs duties paid over to other governments. The expenditure also excludes expenditure from loans for public works. This amounted in the years given to £1,860,000, £700,000, £1,860,000, £2,680,000, £1,200,000, £750,000, and £860,000 respectively.

(b) These amounts include debts guaranteed by the colony, but exclude 'treasury and deficiency bills or notes outstanding. These bills amounted in the years given to £2,660,000, £1,870,000, £2,360,000, £6,700,000, £6,610,000, £5,230,000, and £4,980,000 respectively.

The total public debt of the colony, which amounted to £101,250 in 1859 (the year in which the debt was created) was £46,260,000 on December 31, 1907. The nature of the principal works or services for which the debt was raised, and the amount of debt outstanding on account of each service on December 31, 1907, are shown as follows [29]:—

	Amount of Debt (Dec. 31, 1907)		Amount of Debt (Dec. 31, 1907)
Reproductive works—		Non-productive works—
Railways	£28,559,980	Native rebellions	£3,543,290
Harbours	4,598,060	Colonial defence	1,800,000
Telegraphs	468,230	War losses compensation	1,350,620
Other	1,350,240	Harbours	1,242,820
		Other	1,726,740

Partially reproductive works	£1,709,810	Total debt outstanding	£46,259,790

The debt on account of reproductive works represents 75 per cent. of the total debt.

The total outstanding debt of the municipalities of the colony, on December 31, 1907, was £6,800,000, including a bank overdraft of £317,000 [29].

NATAL

The gross revenue, expenditure, and amount of outstanding debt of Natal in recent years were as follows [97]:—

Year ended June 30	Gross Revenue (a)	Gross Expenditure (a)		Outstanding Debt at June 30 (excluding Treasury Bills, &c.) (b)
		Exclusive of Expen- diture from Loans	From Loans

1907	4,450,000	4,650,000	70,000	35,000,000 (b)

(a) Excluding loan expenditure on railway construction.

(b) Debt in respect of both the Transvaal and Orange River Colony.

ORANGE RIVER COLONY

The revenue and expenditure of the Orange River Colony in recent years are given as follows [97]:—

Year ended June 30	Gross Revenue	Gross Expenditure
		Excluding Loans for Public Works	From Loans for Public Works
1902	270,000	240,000	...

1907	790,000	770,000	53,000

For outstanding debt, see under Transvaal above.

AUSTRALIAN COMMONWEALTH

The total revenue and expenditure of the Australian Commonwealth since its foundation in 1901 have been as follows [15]:—

Year	Con- solidated Revenue	Expendi- ture	Surplus Revenue
	£	£	£
Half-year to June 30, 1901	4,895,760	1,296,050	3,599,710
1901-2	11,296,980	3,932,750	7,364,230
1902-3	12,105,940	3,901,370	8,204,570
1903-4	11,631,000	4,252,500	7,378,480
1904-5	11,465,600	4,322,830	7,142,770
1905-6	11,881,920	4,497,540	7,384,380
1906-7	12,832,890	4,987,320	7,845,570

The constitution of the Commonwealth provides for the payment, to the constituent members, of at least three-fourths of the net revenue from customs and excise duties. In practice, the surpluses shown above, which exceed three-fourths of the net customs and excise revenue, have been paid to the several states.

The amounts of Commonwealth revenue credited to each state, of expenditure debited to each state, and of surplus revenue paid to each state in 1906-7, were as follows [15]:—

State	Revenue Credited to State	Expendi- ture Debited to State	Surplus Revenue Paid to State
New South Wales	4,782,120	1,759,990	3,025,130
Victoria	3,537,600	1,336,590	2,201,010
Queensland	1,707,140	768,000	938,940
South Australia	1,113,450	468,890	644,560
Western Australia	1,216,410	441,530	774,880
Tasmania	476,170	215,120	261,050
Total Commonwealth	12,832,890	4,987,320	7,845,570

The main sources of the Commonwealth revenue are given as follows [15]:—

Year	Revenue
	Customs	Excise	Postal	Other	Total
	Thous. £	Thous. £	Thous. £	Thous. £	Thous. £
Half year ended June 30, 1901	3,602	548	741	5	4,896
1901-2	7,670	1,224	2,373	30	11,297
1902-3	8,213	1,472	2,405	16	12,106
1903-4	7,578	1,528	2,510	15	11,631
1904-5	6,993	1,807	2,633	33	11,466
1905-6	7,090	1,910	2,824	58	11,882
1906-7	7,661	1,988	3,129	55	12,833

The customs revenue is derived mainly from duties on stimulants (yielding about 30 per cent. of total), apparel and textiles (yielding about 17 per cent. of total), narcotics (about 12 per cent.), agricultural products (average about 13 per cent.), and metals and machinery (about 7 per cent.). The chief items of excise revenue are beer, spirits, sugar, and tobacco.

The main heads of Commonwealth expenditure are shown as follows [15]:—

Year	Expenditure
	Postal	Defence	Trade and Customs	Other	Total
	Thous. £	Thous. £	Thous. £	Thous. £	Thous. £
Half year ended June 30, 1901	810	234	121	131	1,296

Total	28,197,920	29,231,390	33,670,780	31,273,130

(a) Year ended December 31, 1901.

The main sources of state revenue in 1906-7 were as follows [15]:—

State	Revenue in 1906-7
	"Taxation"	Railways and Tramways	Land	Surplus Commonwealth Revenue	Other	Total
	Thous. £	Thous. £	Thous. £	Thous. £	Thous. £	Thous. £

Total	3,986	14,813	3,386	7,845	3,641	33,671

The item of "taxation" comprises chiefly income tax, probate and succession duties and other stamp duties, land tax, and licences. The land revenue is provided by sales and rentals, which in 1906-7 contributed about £1,690,000 each to the land revenue of all states together.

The main branches of state expenditure in 1906-7 were as follows [15]:—

State	Expenditure in 1906-7
	Public Debt	Railways and Tramways	Education	Other	Total
	Thous. £	Thous. £	Thous. £	Thous. £	Thous. £

By far the greater part of these debts consists of loans raised for productive services, chiefly railways and tramways (on which there had been an aggregate loan expenditure down to June 30, 1907, of £141,270,000 for all the states together), water supply and sewerage, harbours, rivers, &c., roads and bridges, &c. [15].

NEW ZEALAND

The total revenue, expenditure, and public debt of New Zealand in recent years are shown as follows [33]:—

Year ended March 31	Total Revenue	Total Expenditure	Public Debt Outstanding on March 31
			Gross	Net
	£	£	£	£

1905-6	7,650,100	7,122,340	62,191,000	59,670,500
1906-7	8,478,960	7,774,930	64,179,000	61,276,500
1907-8	9,063,990	8,213,970	66,453,900	63,525,000

The main items of revenue in 1907-8 were as follows [33]:—

	1907-8
Customs duties	£3,103,570
Railways	2,765,400
Stamps (including postal and telegraph cash receipts)	1,550,930
Land tax	537,850
Income tax	304,900
Land: Sales, rents, &c.	289,600
Others	511,740
Total	£9,063,990

The principal branches of expenditure in 1907-8 were [33]:—

	1907-8
Public debt charges	£2,187,430
Railways	1,963,430
Public instruction	843,310
Postal and telegraph	707,150
Old age pensions	330,800
Militia and volunteers	174,670
Other	2,007,180
Total	£8,213,970

In addition to the above expenditure there has been expenditure out of loans as follows [33]:—

	1907-8	Average of Five Years 1903-4 to 1907-8
Land purchases	1,021,700	762,000
Public buildings	226,000	189,000
Railway construction	1,280,200	1,056,000

Other	273,000	363,000
Total expenditure out of loans	3,318,600	2,825,000

The public debt (gross) of New Zealand amounted on March 31, 1908, to £66,453,900. The principal services for which this debt has been incurred are shown as follows [33]:—

	Debt on March 31, 1908
	Amount	Per Cent. of Total
On account of—	£
Railways	21,271,000	32
Roads and bridges	6,092,000	9
Public works and buildings	4,771,000	7

The land tax is fixed at $2\frac{1}{2}$ per cent. of the assessed value of the land. The Russo-Japanese War expenses led however, to this tax being increased to rates ranging from 3 to 17.5 per cent., according to the class of land [55].

The income tax varied before the war from 1 per cent. on incomes of about £30, 1.2 per cent. on incomes of about £51, 1.5 per cent. on incomes of about £102, and, by stages, up to 5 per cent. on incomes of between £5,120 and £10,250, and 5.5 per cent. on incomes above £10,250. On account of the war, these rates were increased by amounts varying from 10 per cent. in the case of the lowest income (thus making the tax rate 1.1 per cent.) to 27 per cent. in the case of the highest incomes (making the rate on incomes above £10,250 about 6.9 per cent.) [55].

The business tax was created in 1896, and is levied upon all descriptions of commerce and industry. The basis of assessment varies with the kind of business, being in some cases the amount of sales, in others the amount of capital, in others, again, the amount of receipts, and so on. The tax rate varies according to the kind of business, and also according to the basis of assessment, and, in practically all cases, about 2s. is levied for each employee. The tax on capital varies from 0.2 to 1.5 per cent.; on the rental value of buildings it varies from 2 to 6 per cent.; on the amount of sales it is 0.5 per cent. in wholesale and 1.5 per cent. in retail cases; and so on. The war led to increases in these rates, in some cases the increase being as much as 150 per cent. of the ordinary rate [55].

The customs duties are levied on a large number of items. From 1866 to 1899, export and import duties were levied, on the whole, at the rate of 5 per cent. ad valorem. From 1899 to 1906, the general tariff comprised some articles which were duty free, while ad valorem rates were levied varying from 5 to 20 per cent. on various raw materials and manufactured articles; from 35 to 40 per cent. on wine, spirits, and tobacco; and from 20 to 40 per cent. on jewellery and articles of luxury. Since October 1, 1906, a new tariff has been in force, which specifies 538 different articles. Under this tariff, customs duties bear a ratio of about 16 per cent. to the value of the dutiable articles [55].

The monopoly receipts are raised on tobacco, salt, and camphor monopolies. The present law respecting tobacco permits the cultivation of leaf tobacco by private persons, and the resulting produce is purchased and manufactured by the government. The manufactured tobacco is sold by licensed dealers at fixed prices. Importation and exportation of tobacco are controlled by the government. The salt monopoly has recently been put on a footing similar to the tobacco monopoly. The camphor monopoly since December 1907 has been somewhat similarly treated, a Japanese firm acting as agent in the transportation and custody of the camphor, and collecting the receipts on its sale [55].

The amount of the Japanese national debts outstanding on March 31, 1908, was £233,000,000. The objects for which the debts have been raised, the amounts raised, redeemed, and outstanding on March 31, 1908, are given as follows [55]:—

Totals	314,370,000	81,030,000	233,340,000

War and "expansion of armaments" account for nearly 60 per cent. of the amount raised, and for the same percentage of the amount of debt outstanding on March 31, 1908. Railway construction, harbour works, &c., and "exploitation of new territory," absorbed 9 per cent. of the amount raised, and are responsible for about 10 per cent. of the outstanding amount.

The total amount of the Japanese national debt outstanding at the end of each year (March 31) from 1897-8, and the amounts per head, are given as follows [55]:—

Year	Amount of National Debt Outstanding at End of Year	Amount per Head of Population	Year	Amount of National Debt Outstanding at End of Year	Amount per Head of Population
	£	s. d.		£	s. d.

1902-3	56,600,000	23 1

The public loans raised in connection with the Russo-Japanese War, from its beginning down to the end of 1906, are calculated to have reached the amount of £174,000,000. It is expected to complete the redemption of these loans in about thirty years. The amount disbursed from October 1903 to June 1907 directly on account of the war was about £155,000,000 [55].

KOREA

Korea was without a real national budget until 1905. The revenue and expenditure in and since that year are given as follows [55]:—

	1905	1906	1907	1908
Revenue—	£	£	£	£
Ordinary taxes and duties	755,000	760,000	960,000	1,060,000
Other	15,000	10,000	20,000	110,000
Total ordinary revenue	770,000	770,000	980,000	1,170,000
Extraordinary revenue	370,000	910,000
Total revenue	770,000	770,000	1,350,000	2,080,000
Expenditure	980,000	815,000	1,430,000	2,080,000

Military expenditure accounted for 26 per cent. of the total expenditure in 1905, 17 per cent. in 1906, 11 per cent. in 1907, and 2 per cent. in 1908; court expenditure for 10 per cent. in 1905, 16 per cent. in 1906, 9 per cent. in 1907, and 7 per cent. in 1908. The rest was administrative and other expenditure.

The Korean national debts outstanding at the end of February 1908 amounted to about one and a quarter million pounds sterling [55].

FIRES

The fire-brigade of LONDON (administrative county) was equipped in 1907 with 141 fire-stations; 182 steam, motor and other fire-engines; 431 fire-escapes; 327 horses; 52 miles of hose; over 28,000 hydrants; and 1285 fire-alarms. The Metropolitan Water Board had in London at the end of March 1907, 46,860 hydrants and fire-plugs [113].

The fire-brigade staff consisted in 1905 of 1375 men, and in 1908 of 1432 men.

The PARIS fire-brigade staff in 1905 numbered 1855, with 49 steam and other fire-engines; 257 fire-escapes; 41 miles of hose; and over 8100 hydrants [113].

The BERLIN fire-brigade staff in 1904 numbered 970 men, with 31 fire-engines (in 1905) [113].

VIENNA has a professional fire-brigade which numbered 491 men in 1905, and a voluntary brigade which numbered 1597 men, the total strength of the two brigades being 2088 [113].

LONDON (administrative county) had in 1905 one fire-brigade member to every 3400 inhabitants, or to every 56 acres of area.

PARIS (1905) had one to every 1460 inhabitants, or to every 10 acres of area.

BERLIN (1904) had one to every 2000 inhabitants, or to every 16 acres of area.

VIENNA (1905) had one to every 930 inhabitants, or to every 32 acres of area [113].

The numbers of fires, &c., to which the brigades were called were as follows [113]:—

	London 1907	Paris 1905	Berlin 1905-6	Vienna 1905
Total fire calls received	5,575	3,711	2,527	1,451
Number of false alarms	1,391	564	489	340
Number of fires	4,184	3,147	2,038	1,111
Serious or large fires	70	298 (a)	103	35

(a) Number of fires involving damage of £40 and over.

The net cost to the municipalities of the fire-brigades was as follows [113]:—

London (1907)	£267,820
Paris (1904)	135,780
Berlin (1905)	61,970
Vienna (1905)	59,140

Excluding chimney fires, the annual number of fires in London averaged as follows [188]:—

1897-9	3,644
1900-2	3,548
1903-5	3,509
1906-8	3,467

During 1908, over 11,700,000 gallons, or 52,260 tons, of water were used for extinguishing fires. 75 per cent. of his quantity was taken from street pipes, and the remainder from river, canals, and docks [188].

Statistics of disasters by fire in FRANCE are given as follows [73]:—

	Annual Averages
	1871-6	1882-6	1902-6
Number of fires	8,460	10,620	12,630
Number of persons who perished	86	90	112
Amount of loss—	£	£	£
Covered by insurance	1,220,000	1,740,000	2,640,000
Not covered by insurance	430,000	420,000	490,000
Total loss	1,650,000	2,160,000	3,130,000

The number of fires in NEW YORK in 1906 was about 12,200, involving a total insurance loss of £2,000,000. In CHICAGO there were over 4000 fires, causing an insurance loss of nearly £1,000,000 [3].

The SAN FRANCISCO conflagration of April 1907 destroyed 25,000 buildings. The total property loss was estimated at over £70,000,000, of which about £46,000,000 fell on insurance companies [3].

FISH

UNITED KINGDOM

The quantities and values of sea fish (exclusive of salmon) returned as landed on the coasts of the United Kingdom are shown as follows [22]:—

(a) Excluding salmon and shell fish.
(b) Excluding salmon only.

NORWAY

The value of the Norwegian fisheries has increased from an annual average of £1,200,000 during 1894-6, to an average of £1,700,000 during 1904-6 [1].

The cod fisheries employed in 1906, 20,200 vessels and 88,000 men. The catch was nearly 47,000,000 fish, valued at £910,000 [1].

FRANCE

The value of the French fishery products in 1905 was about £5,000,000. The chief fish were [9]:—

Fish	Quantity	Value
Cod	31,000 tons	£730,000
Herrings	74,000 "	730,000
Sardines	15,000 "	400,000
Oysters from coast fisheries	542 millions	160,000
Oysters from oyster beds	952 "	640,000
Total oysters	1,494 "	£800,000

GERMANY

The value of the German fisheries was £1,350,000 in 1906, and £1,400,000 in 1907. Of these values, herrings (fresh and salt) accounted for £450,000 in 1906, and £380,000 in 1907 [12].

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA

The total quantities and value of fish and fish products landed at different parts of the United States are given as follows [3]:—

	Quantity	Value
	Tons	£
New England States (1905)	214,000	2,900,000
Middle Atlantic States (1904)	363,000	3,900,000
South Atlantic States (1902)	48,000	600,000
Gulf States (1902)	51,000	700,000
Pacific Coast States (1904)	75,000	1,400,000
Mississippi River and Tributaries (1903)	42,000	380,000
Great Lakes (1903)	39,000	570,000
Minor interior waters (1900-3)	2,500	90,000
Alaska (1906)	71,000	1,800,000

The quantities and values of certain fishery products landed in 1907 by American vessels at Boston and Gloucester, the two greatest fishing ports of the country, are given as follows [132]:—

Fish	Quantity		Value
	Tons	£
Cod, fresh	20,500	250,000
Cod, salted	7,000	120,000
Haddock, fresh	19,000	240,000
Hake, fresh	9,000	65,000
Total all fish, fresh and salted	86,000	1,100,000

The output of the fish hatcheries of the Bureau of Fisheries during 1907-8 amounted to about 2,400,000,000 fry and 460,000,000 eggs, which were distributed to various other hatcheries at home and abroad [132].

During 1907, about 814,000,000 fry were distributed from the Dominion hatcheries. During the forty years from 1868 to 1907, nearly 6,300,000,000 fry were distributed [32].

CANADA
The values of fish landed in Canada in 1902 and 1906 are given as follows [32]:—

(Dollar taken as 4s. 1½d.)

Province	Values of Fish in
	1902	1906
British Columbia	1,090,000	1,440,000

Quebec	420,000	450,000
Others	430,000	550,000
Total	4,510,000	5,400,000

The chief fish were cod, which averaged in value during 1902-6 about £750,000 per year; herring, about £450,000; and salmon, about £1,100,000 [32].

FLAX

The estimated production of flax-seed and fibre in various countries in recent years is given as follows [18]:—

(a) Including Bosnia and Herzegovina.

The above figures are in many cases more or less rough estimates, and the totals should not be taken as complete.

UNITED KINGDOM

The area under flax in the United Kingdom has diminished considerably during recent decades, as shown in the following table [19]:—

Country	Area under Flax Crop in
	1881	1891	1901	1907
England	Acres	Acres	Acres	Acres
Wales	6,410	1,787	630	355
Scotland	13	4	6	4

United Kingdom	147,145	74,665	55,442	59,659
	153,679	76,466	56,082	60,031

The production of flax in Ireland averaged 9670 tons during 1897-1906. In 1907 it was 11,646 tons [19].

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA

The acreage, production, and farm value of flax-seed in the United States in recent years are given as follows [18]:—

Year	Acreage	Production	Average Yield per Acre	Farm Value on December 1
	Acres	Cwts.	Cwts.	£
1902	3,739,700	14,640,000	3.9	6,400,000

Food is required to fulfil the twofold purpose of building-up and repairing the bodily tissues, &c., and of supplying the energy necessary for muscular work and the ordinary vital processes of the body. Protein foods contribute chiefly to the first function, while fats and carbohydrates are essential for the second. A study of the diet of numerous American persons showed that, on the average, 150 grams of fat and 350 grams of carbohydrates were consumed to every 100 grams of protein (100 grams are equal to 0.22 lb.) [136].

If the food requirement of a man in full vigour and at moderate work be represented by 100, the requirements of persons at different ages have been estimated to be as follows [136]:—

	Relative Food Requirement
Man in full vigour at moderate work	100
" " at hard work	120
" " in sedentary occupation	80
Woman in full vigour at moderate work	80
" " at hard work	100
" " in sedentary occupation	70
Man or woman in old age	90
" " extreme old age	70-80
Boy 15-16 years old	90
" 13-14 "	80
" 12 years old	70
" 10-11 years old	60
Girl 15-16 years old	80
" 13-14 "	70
" 10-12 "	60
Child 6-9 "	50
" 2-5 "	40
" under 2 years old	30

In connection with this table it should be remarked that a woman's body is generally somewhat smaller than a man's, and the amount of work done by a woman somewhat less, from the point of view of energy expended, than that done by a man.

Investigations into the actual diets of persons in various occupations and conditions have given the following results as the average proteid and energy values of the foods eaten per day [136]:—

(a) The calorie used in this connection is the larger calorie, and is equivalent to nearly 1.4 foot-tons.

The above table is supplied by the United States Department of Agriculture from investigations undertaken by the department and from other sources. It has been computed by other authorities that the ordinary diets of the labouring classes in all countries "yield something over 3000 calories of energy and over 100 grams of proteid per man per diem" (Proc. Roy. Soc. Edin., 25 (1904-5), p. 498). From data collected or utilised by the United States Department of Agriculture, the following dietary standard for a man in full vigour at moderate muscular work was deduced [136]:—

	Protein	Energy
	Grams	Calories
Food per day as purchased	115	3,800
Food eaten per day	105	3,500
Food digested per day	95	3,200

The body assimilates on the average about 92 per cent. of the total protein eaten, and utilises about 91 per cent. of the total energy of the food consumed.

The waste of food in the ordinary American home was found to average about 10 per cent. of the quantity purchased.

The above dietary standard is for a man at work. Experiments go to show that the energy output of a man of ordinary size, without active muscular work, and fasting, is about 1550 calories per day. The minimum amount of protein necessary for ensuring that the bodily functions shall be carried on has been estimated at about 35 grams per day for a man weighing 150 lbs. [136].

Certain amounts of mineral matter are also required for forming bone, &c., and for other purposes. The requirement per man per day has been estimated as follows [136]:—

	Grams
Phosphoric acid (P ₂ O ₅)	3 to 4
Sulphuric acid (SO ₃)	2 " 3.5
Potassium oxide	2 " 3
Sodium oxide	4 " 6
Chlorin	6 " 8
Iron	0.006 " 0.012
Calcium oxide	0.7 " 1
Magnesium oxide	0.3 " 0.5

The following quantities of meat, as purchased for consumption, have been calculated to be required as equivalents to the protein and energy values of 1 lb. of certain other food-stuffs [137]:—

The following table shows the comparative cost of nutrients in different foods, as ascertained from investigations in Washington, U.S.A., during the year 1906 [137]:—

(a) Not the infusion, but the substance from which the beverage is made.

From the above table it is seen, for example, that the 10 cents (5d.) required to purchase the 49 grams of protein yielded by sirloin of beef, would have purchased wheat bread yielding 83½ grams of protein.

It has been computed that about 3000 calories of energy and 100 grams of protein are required per day by a man in full vigour and engaged in moderate muscular work.

(a) Including goats.

China, India, and parts of Africa and South America are not included in this table, partly because their stock is not at present drawn upon by the rest of the world.

The columns in the above table headed "total equivalent of cattle" have been compiled by reckoning the meat value of 1 sheep to be 0.172 of that of 1 "cattle," and the meat value (actual and potential) of 1 pig to be equivalent to that of 1.25 "cattle." Mr. Hooker arrived at these relative values by considering the meat production of the United Kingdom in relation to the numbers of live stock.

It is pointed out, however, that these two columns should not be used for comparing the meat animals of one country with those of another, since "ripe beasts are not of the same weight in each country, nor is the proportion of males to females" the same. Further, the use of the equivalents above only gives the potential meat supply, which was not so nearly reached in fact in the earlier period as it was in the later.

The most noteworthy feature of this table is the almost universal falling-off in the number of sheep.

For this table, a bushel of wheat has been taken as equal to 60 lbs.; a bushel of barley, 56 lbs.; of oats, 40 lbs.; and of maize, 56 lbs. [28].

The total consumption of these grains, and maize, and their products (reduced to grain equivalents), and the proportion of the home production to the total consumption, averaged as follows [28]:—

Period	Average Annual Consumption				Home Production expressed as a Percentage of Total Consumption
	Wheat	Barley	Oats	Maize	Wheat	Barley	Oats

The average annual quantity of raw cocoa imported and retained for home consumption amounted, during the period 1903-7, to 1.02 lbs. per head of the population; of coffee, to 0.67 lb. per head; of currants and raisins, to 4.65 lbs. per head; of tea, to 6.08 lbs. per head; of tobacco, to 1.97 lbs. per head; and of wine, to 0.29 gallon per head [22].

The average annual value per head of population of the imports of certain food products are given as follows for the periods named, the values being the cost at the place of import, and excluding, therefore, inland carriage to market, the cost of distribution, and the profits after landing [25]:—

A committee of the Royal Statistical Society of London estimated the annual and weekly consumption of meat by different classes in the community to be as follows, the estimates being based on data relating to the years 1899 to 1903 [138]:—

Class of Persons	Consumption of Meat per Head
	Per Annum	Per Week
	lbs.	lbs.
Labourers	86	1.65
Artisans and labourers	107	2.06
Lower middle class	122	2.35
Middle class	182	3.50
Upper class	300	5.77
Average (weighted)	119	2.29

The consumption of milk, butter, and cheese in the United Kingdom was estimated by the same committee of the Royal Statistical Society to be as follows [138]:—

Class	Consumption per Head per Annum
	Milk	Butter	Cheese
	Gallons	lbs.	lbs.
Labourers	5	15	9
Artisans, mechanics, and labourers	12
Lower middle class	25	23	10
Middle class	39	29	8½
Upper class	31	41	10½
Average (weighted)	15	18½	10½

Of the quantities given in this table, the imports of cheese, less exports, amounted to 6.8 lbs. per head, and the imports of butter, less exports, to 9.8 lbs. per head [138].

The average annual consumption of food by working-class families in towns in the United Kingdom may be estimated to be approximately as follows, on the basis of 1944 weekly budgets collected by the British Board of Trade [83]:—

Number of families on which estimate is based	261	289	416	382	596	1,944
Average annual family income (a)	£55	£70	£83	£95	£135	£96

(a) Annual income is obtained by multiplying the weekly income by 52. The quantities consumed per head per year are obtained by multiplying the weekly quantities given in the budgets by 52, and dividing the products by the average number of persons in the families.

Results deduced from such limited data as the above should be accepted as only rough approximations to the true annual consumption, especially as no allowance is made for unemployment and consequent shortage of food consumption.

The quantity of meat, poultry, and provisions which passed through the London Central Markets at Smithfield in 1907 was 417,060 tons, as against 421,900 tons in 1906. The quantity of fish was 1980 tons in 1907 (1970 tons in 1906). The quantity of fish brought into Billingsgate Market amounted to 165,600 tons in 1906 and 174,300 tons in 1907 [113].

Only about 20 per cent. of the above quantities was home produce [113].

The supply of live stock in 1907 at the London cattle markets was 58,740 cattle and 357,950 sheep [113].

About 13,030 churns of milk are stated to be delivered daily at London railway stations by the several railway companies. A churn contains 17 gallons [113].

An interesting estimate of the quantity of provisions which entered the London markets from midsummer 1759 to midsummer 1760 is given by Henry Chamberlain as follows [139]:—

Wheat flour	369,635 quarters
Cattle	98,244 "
Sheep and lambs	711,123 "
Calves	194,760 "
Hogs	186,932 "
Sucking pigs	52,000 "
Oysters	115,536 bushels
Mackerel	14,740,000
Butter	16,366,700 lbs.
Cheese	21,066,000 "

The quantity of beer brewed in the city and suburbs during the same period was estimated to have been 975,200 barrels [139].

FRANCE

The production and consumption of wheat in France is given as follows [9]:—

(a) Grain and flour.

The differences between the production and total consumption columns of this table represent the net imports into France. In recent years the imports have been very small, so that France is at present almost self-sufficing in the matter of wheat.

The production and consumption of other grains have averaged approximately as follows [16]:—

Period	Average Annual Quantities
	Production	Consumption

(a) Raw sugar.

(b) Refined sugar.

France exports rather more sugar than she imports, so that she is self-sufficing as regards this food-stuff.

In this table a bushel of rye represents 56 lbs.; barley, 48 lbs.; oats, 32 lbs.; and maize, 56 lbs.

It will be noticed that, as with wheat, so with rye and barley, France is almost self-sufficing. The imports of oats equal only 5 per cent. of the total consumption for all purposes. The imports of maize, however, are considerable, varying from 20 to 40 per cent. of the total supply.

The production and consumption of wine and beer have averaged as follows [9]:—

(a) The annual income is obtained by multiplying the average weekly income by 52, and the quantities annually consumed are obtained by multiplying the weekly quantities given in the budgets by 52 and dividing the products by the number of persons in the families. See note to similar table for the United Kingdom above.

The average annual consumption of meat in Paris per head of the population is given as follows [86]:—

Kind of Meat	Average Consumption per Head in Paris
	1901	1902	1903	1904	1905	1906
	lbs.	lbs.	lbs.	lbs.	lbs.	lbs.

Total	194.4	195	193.6	194.4	194.4	197.2

A notable feature of this table is the steady increase in the consumption of horse-flesh. During the period 1881-90 the annual consumption per head averaged only 2½ lbs. In 1908 there were estimated to be about 600 horse-meat shops in Paris. The total weight of horse-flesh (including small quantities of the flesh of donkeys and mules) consumed in Paris in recent years has been [86]:—

1901	137,200 cwt.
1902	152,100 "
1903	180,100 "
1904	212,500 "
1905	246,900 "
1906	265,600 "

The per capita consumption of meat in Paris as given above is much greater than the estimates given in the preceding table, which cover a number of towns, both large and small.

Another estimate of the per capita consumption of meat in France is given by M. Imbart de la Tour, namely, 78.9 lbs. per year [137].

GERMANY

The production of certain food-stuffs in Germany in recent years has averaged as follows [16]:—

Period	Average Annual Production (Imperial Bushels)
	Wheat	Rye	Spring Barley	Oats

In these tables the bushel of wheat represents 60 lbs.; rye, 56 lbs.; barley, 48 lbs.; and oats, 32 lbs.

Throughout the period given in the above tables, Germany became more and more dependent on foreign supplies for wheat and barley. The percentage of home production to total consumption has varied as follows [16]:—

Grain	Home Production as a Percentage of Total Consumption
	1886-90	1891-5	1896-1900	1901-5
	Per Cent.	Per Cent.	Per Cent.	Per Cent.
Wheat	87	76	75	65
Rye	93	94	94	96
Barley	82	75	72	69
Oats	97	97	94	95

The consumption of sugar, coffee, cocoa, and tea is given as follows [12]:—

Period	Average Annual Consumption
	Sugar (a)	Coffee	Cocoa	Tea
	Thous. Tons	Thous. Tons	Thous. Tons	Thous. Tons
1871-5	245	92	1.9	1.0
1881-5	314	109	2.8	1.5
1891-5	534	121	8.0	2.6
1901-5	845	173	22.0	2.9
1906-7	1,024	184	32.8	3.5

Period	Per Head of Population

1891-5	23.3	5.3	0.35	0.11
1901-5	31.9	6.6	0.84	0.11
1906-7	37.0	6.6	1.17	0.13

(a) The periods for sugar are 1871-6, 1881-6, 1891-6, 1901/2-1905/6, and 1906-7.

Germany produces far more than her requirement of sugar, since she exports on the average some 900,000 tons per year [1].

The annual consumption of beer has averaged (as follows [12]):—

Years	Total Consumption	Consumption per Head
		Mill. Imp. Gals.
1874-8	852	20.0
1884-8	964	20.8
1894-8	1,371	25.7
1904-6	1,578	26.0

The average annual production and consumption of meat in Germany during the three years 1904-6 was as follows [137]:—

Kind of Meat	Average Home Production	Average Net Imports (a)	Average Annual Consumption
			Total	Per Head of Population
	lbs.	lbs.	lbs.	lbs.
Beef	1,980,000,000	160,000,000	2,140,000,000	35.5
Mutton and lamb	130,000,000	400,000	130,400,000	2.1
Pork, including lard	3,510,000,000	285,000,000	3,795,000,000	63.0

(a) Excluding the free ports.

During 1906-8 the per capita consumption of meat averaged 114 lbs. 94 per cent. of this amount represented home production [158].

The average annual consumption of food by working-class families in German towns may be estimated to be approximately as follows, on the basis of 5046 weekly budgets collected by the British Board of Trade [88]:—

Number of families on which estimate is based	193	872	1,329	1,223	692	737
Average annual income per family (a)	£46	£59	£70	£83	£95	£126

Milk, fresh Pints	102	134	142	148	156	144
Eggs No.	50	90	106	117	126	129

(a) The annual income is obtained by multiplying the average weekly income by 52, while the consumption per head is obtained by multiplying the weekly quantities given in the budgets by 52 and dividing the products by the number of persons in the families. See note to similar table for the United Kingdom above.

Of the total quantity of meat consumed per family; 30 per cent. is beef, 27 per cent. sausage, 21 per cent. pork, 10 per cent. bacon, 6 per cent. veal, and 3.5 per cent. mutton [88].

The per capita consumption of fresh meat in Berlin is given as follows for a few years down to 1903 [88]:—

	lbs. per Head		lbs. per Head
1898	165.1	1901	176.8
1899	168.6	1902	165.2
1900	178.2	1903	166.2

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA

The production and consumption of wheat and wheat flour (in equivalent of wheat) in the United States have averaged as follows [1]:—

Period	Average Annual Quantities (Imperial Bushels)
	Production	Consumption
		Total	Per Head
Mill. Bush.	Mill. Bush.	Bush.
1883-87	428	309	5.4
1888-92	472	332	5.2
1893-97	443	288	4.1
1898-1902	614	408	5.3
1903-7	650	521	6.2

The net exports (total exports less total imports) of wheat, and the percentage of domestic produce exported, have averaged as follows [3]:—

Period	Average Net Exports	Percentage of Domestic Produce Exported
	Mill. Bush.	Per Cent.
1883-87	119	28
1888-92	140	29
1893-97	155	35
1898-1902	206	34
1903-7	129	17

The production of these grains suffices to meet the home consumption. Oats are exported in varying quantities, having ranged from about 450,000 bushels in 1887 to 47,000,000 bushels in 1905. The average net export, including oatmeal, throughout the period 1883-1907, was some 16,000,000 bushels per annum. During the ten years 1883-92, there was a net import of barley of about 7,000,000 bushels per year. Since then, exports have exceeded imports, the net export having been about 9,000,000 bushels per annum. The domestic export of rye and rye flour has averaged about 3,000,000 bushels per annum, but the yearly quantity has varied from about 30,000 bushels to 15,000,000 bushels [18].

The production and consumption of maize and maize meal have averaged as follows [1]:—

Period	Average Annual Quantities (Imperial Bushels)
	Production	Consumption
		Total	Per Head
Mill. Bush.	Mill. Bush.	Bush.
1883-87	1,630	1,585	27.7
1888-92	1,800	1,740	27.3
1893-97	1,780	1,670	23.7
1898-1902	1,970	1,840	23.7
1903-7	2,510	2,430	28.8

The balance between the consumption and the production of maize represents exports, which have varied, on the average, from 3 to 7 per cent. of the production. The production of oats, barley, and rye has averaged as follows [18]:—

Period	Average Annual Production (Imperial Bushels)
	Oats	Barley	Rye
	Mill. Bush.	Mill. Bush.	Mill. Bush.
1883-87	595	56	24
1888-92	655	73	28
1893-97	685	69	26
1898-1902	790	84	27
1903-7	845	144	29

The consumption of coffee, tea, and sugar has averaged as follows [3]:—

Period	Average Annual Consumption
	Total			Per Capita
	Coffee	Tea	Sugar	Coffee	Tea	Sugar
	Mill. lbs.	Mill. lbs.	Thous. Tons	lbs.	lbs.	lbs.
1883-87	513	73	1,335	9.1	1.29	53
1888-92	520	84	1,620	8.3	1.34	58
1893-97	608	97	1,980	8.8	1.40	64
1898-1902	854	78	2,250	11.2	1.02	66
1903-7	931	99	2,760	11.3	1.19	74

All the coffee and tea and the bulk of the sugar are imported. The consumption of domestic sugar averaged about 200,000 tons per annum in 1883-87, and 580,000 tons per annum in 1903-7 [3].

The consumption of distilled spirits, of wines, and malt liquors averaged as follows [3]:—

Period	Average Annual Consumption
	Total			Per Capita
	Distilled Spirits	Wines	Malt Liquors	Distilled Spirits	Wines	Malt Liquors
	Mill. Proof Gals.	Mill. Gals.	Mill. Gals.	Proof Gals.	Gals.	Gals.

1898-1902	96	31	1,232	1.25	0.40	17.85
1903-7	125	44	1,602	1.51	0.53	19.25

The total and per capita consumption of dressed meat in the United States of America in the year 1900 has been estimated to have been as follows [137]:—

Kind of Meat	Consumption in 1900
	Total	Per Head of Population
	lbs.	lbs.
Beef	6,610,000,000	87.0
Mutton and lamb	1,080,000,000	14.3
Pork and lard	6,420,000,000	84.5
Total	14,110,000,000	185.8

The percentage of bones and trimmings in dressed meat has been estimated to be [137]:—

Beef	25 per cent.
Mutton	25 "
Pork	15 "

Allowing for these percentages, the consumption of edible meat in the United States was estimated to have been in 1900 as follows [137]:—

Kind of Meat	Total	Per Capita
	lbs.	lbs.
Beef	4,970,000,000	65.5
Mutton (and lamb)	810,000,000	10.6
Pork	5,460,000,000	71.8
Total	11,240,000,000	147.9

The national retail meat bill of the United States is estimated by Mr. G. K. Holmes to have been about £420,000,000 in 1900, and about £480,000,000 in 1906 [137].

The average annual consumption of various articles of food by American wage-earners, as deduced from the budgets of 2567 families, whose bread-winners earned no more than £240 per year, is given as follows. The data relate to the period 1900-2, mainly to 1901 [89].

	Annual per Capita Consumption
Fresh beef	66 lbs.
Salt beef	9 "
Fresh pig products	21.5 "
Salt pig products	21 "

(a) Exclusive of the native states.

France spends annually on her state forests over £500,000, and realises from them over £850,000. Prussia spends on 7,000,000 acres over £2,200,000 per year, and realises about £3,500,000. Saxony spends on 400,000 acres about £190,000, and realises about £340,000. The total expenditure of the United States upon the national forests (150,000,000 acres in 1908) amounted during 1907-8 to £300,000, while the income from them amounted to £310,000. The total expenditure of the Forest Service for all purposes was, however, £370,000 [18]. France spends annually on the state forests about 4s. per acre; Switzerland, 5s. 6d.; Prussia, 6s. 7d.; Saxony, 9s. 8d. In 1908-9 the United States proposed to spend on the national forests only 1d. per acre [18].

FREIGHTS

The course of ocean freight-rates between the United Kingdom and certain ports abroad, over a period of twenty years, has been calculated by the British Board of Trade. The following table shows the average annual percentage fluctuations in these rates, the level of rates in 1900 being represented by 100 [83]:—

Period	Mean Ocean Freight-rates (1900=100)
	Inward	Outward	Average of two preceding Columns
1886-88 . . .	100	108.2	104.1
1889-91 . . .	110.9	108.4	109.7

1895-97 . . .	79.8	78.6	79.2
1898-1900 . . .	93.4	93.5	93.5
1901-3 . . .	67.0	78.6	72.8

Representative steam freight-rates, according to Messrs. Angier Brothers, quoted in The Statist, are given as follows [143]:—

	1908	1909

The average freight-rates during 1905-7 for coal, from Cardiff to certain ports, is given by Mr. H. Stanley Jevons as follows [178]:—

From Cardiff to	Distance in Nautical Miles	Average Freight-rate 1905-7 per Ton of Coal	Rate per Ton per Mile	From Cardiff to	Distance in Nautical Miles	Average Freight-rate 1905-7 per Ton of Coal	Rate per Ton per Mile

It is pointed out by Mr. Jevons that the rate per mile is influenced by (1) the length of the voyage, in short voyages the port charges being proportionally high; (2) the profitableness of return cargoes; and (3) the cost of labour in working the vessels, the low rates to the East being due to a certain extent to the cheap Lascar and other Eastern labour.

The mean ocean freights from New York and New Orleans to Liverpool for wheat, maize, and rye, and for cotton, have been as follows [144]:—

Period	Mean Ocean Freight-rates
	New York to Liverpool		New Orleans to Liverpool
	Wheat, &c.	Cotton	Wheat, &c.	Cotton
	Pence per 100 lbs.	Pence per 100 lbs.	Pence per 100 lbs.	Pence per 100 lbs.
Average of 1886-90	5.19	15.7	7.75	30.35

" 1896-1900	5.34	11.75	7.41	20.8
" 1901-5	2.41	7.1	4.37	16.1
Year 1906	2.52	8.5	5.72	17.1

These freight-rates are the rates asked by the steamship lines or forwarding agents, and may differ more or less from the rates actually paid. Owing to competition, the difference in the case of grain would be very small.

The average freights for cotton about the year 1907 are stated as follows [90]:—

Ports	Distance in Nautical Miles	Freight-charge for Bales		Average Freight-charge per 100 lbs. per 1000 Nautical Miles
		Weight of Bales	Freight

(a) Figures are exclusive of trading accounts.

Statistics of 360 institutions in addition to the above were not available.

The receipts of King Edward's Hospital Fund for London increased from £227,600 in 1897 to £484,100 in 1907, and the expenditure from £60,500 to £127,900 respectively. The total receipts during the eleven years 1897-1907 were £2,183,600, and the total expenditure £877,500 [146].

The number of beds in poor-law infirmaries and in voluntary hospitals in certain towns in or about the year 1906 is given as follows [72]:—

	Number of Beds c. 1906
	Voluntary Hospitals	Poor-law Infirmaries (a)	Total
London	10,220	16,300	26,520
Liverpool	1,170	2,000	3,170
Manchester and Salford	1,270	3,250	4,520

Sheffield	560	800	1,360
Newcastle	420	350	770
Cardiff	235	500	735
Leicester	200	500	700

(a) The number of beds in poor-law infirmaries given in this table is exclusive of beds in the hospitals of the Metropolitan Asylums Board. These were—

In fever hospitals	7,880
In small-pox hospitals	2,040
Ringworm and ophthalmia schools for children	1,020

The estimated number of patients provided by the voluntary hospitals with medical assistance in England and Wales in 1906 was [72]:—

	In-Patients	Out-Patients	Total
In London	114,260	1,607,950	1,722,210
In the provinces	131,290	884,480	1,015,770
Total England and Wales	245,550	2,492,430	2,737,980

The figures for out-patients are considered to be an over-statement of the facts, since duplicates are probably included in the numbers.

The numbers of beds, patients, &c., in 123 hospitals in Greater London in 1906 are given by Mr. Percy E. Braun as follows [145]:—

Number of beds	10,947
Average daily number occupied	8,977
Total number of in-patients	132,670
Total number of new out-patients, including renewals	1,871,500
Total number of out-patient attendances	5,200,710

The income of these 123 hospitals in 1906 is given as £846,820, of which £265,090 came from invested property, £151,830 from annual subscriptions, and £142,100 from the King's, Metropolitan Sunday, and the Hospital Saturday Funds.

The total expenditure was £999,980 ordinary, and £270,400 extraordinary. Provisions accounted for £227,250; surgery and dispensary for £118,010; domestic expenses for £195,970; salaries, wages, and pensions for £266,100; and rents, rates, taxes, repairs, &c., for £96,790 [145].

FRANCE

The death-rate of sick persons averaged 9.2 per 100 persons treated during 1871-1880, and 9.1 per 100 treated during 1901-5.

The death-rate among the old, infirm, and incurable averaged 17.4 per 100 during 1871-80, and 17.8 per 100 during 1901-5.

The average annual receipts and expenses of hospital establishments were as follows [73]:—

Receipts and Expenses	Average Annual Amounts
	1871-80	1901-5
Receipts—	£	£
From property and investments, &c.	1,430,000	1,800,000

Private	71,510	154,950	357,050
Total	544,780	820,440	1,253,320

The number of admissions averaged per year 518,700 during 1880-2; 747,800 during 1889-91; and 1,140,800 during 1898-1901 [12].

There were also, in 1901, 78 public and 127 private lying-in hospitals, with 2837 and 459 beds respectively. The average number of cases during 1898-1901 was 30,710 per year [12]. There were also, in 1901, 40 public and 143 private eye hospitals, with 2057 and 2527 beds respectively. The number of cases averaged, during 1890-1901, 44,700 per year [12].

HUNGARY

In the kingdom of Hungary there are (c. 1908) 449 general hospitals, containing 37,545 beds. The number of patients in 1906 was 366,200, and the number of nursing days 11 millions. There are also fever hospitals in 3030 parishes. In 1906 the number of patients was only 4027, and the nursing days 97,000 [26].

AUSTRALIA

Statistics of hospitals in Australia are given as follows for 1901 and 1906 [15]:—

	1901	1906
Number of hospitals	285	313
Number of beds	10,526	12,103
Admissions during year	84,990	99,310
Indoor patients treated	91,150	106,490
Deaths	7,114	7,627
Expenditure	£538,920	£612,630

The number of distinct cases of out-patients in 1906 was estimated to be 217,000.

All hospitals in Australia are included in the above figures, except that in 1901 the details include only the Adelaide Hospital among South Australian institutions.

The total expenditure in the Commonwealth in money on hospitals, charities, and all forms of relief publicly given, but excluding old age pensions, was estimated to be £1,700,000 in 1906 [15].

NEW ZEALAND

There are (1908) 53 public hospitals in New Zealand. The admissions during 1907 numbered 11,182 males and 5835 females, while the number of inmates at the end of the year was 1011 male and 525 female patients, a total of 1536. The revenue of these hospitals in 1906-7 was £183,860 [33].

CANADA

The number of hospitals in Canada and their inmates in census years are given as follows [32]:—

Year	Hospitals	Inmates
1871	28	1,820
1881	83	5,120
1891	124	4,780
1901	152	7,010

INDIA

Statistics of civil hospitals and dispensaries in British India are given as follows for 1897 and 1906 [5]:—

	1897	1906
Number of institutions	2,291	2,464
Number of patients treated—
Indoor	368,120	404,600
Outdoor	19,153,390	24,343,320
Total	19,521,510	24,747,920
Number of indoor patients died	38,695	30,520
Deaths per 1000 indoor patients	105	75

The income (excluding balances) was as follows [5]:—

	1897	1906
Income from—	£	£
Government funds	153,380	240,160
Local and municipal funds	194,980	308,730
Subscriptions	36,320	55,040
Other sources	49,360	48,640
Total	434,040	652,570

Expenditure was as follows [5]:—

	1897	1906
	£	£
On establishment	203,020	277,650
On other objects	229,740	364,710
Total	432,760	642,360

With the exception of the number of institutions, indoor patients, deaths, and income from "other sources," all the above items increased fairly regularly throughout the period.

HOUSES AND HOUSING

UNITED KINGDOM

The numbers of houses in the United Kingdom enumerated at the census of 1901 were as follows:—

	Number of Houses at Census of 1901
	Inhabited	Uninhabited	Building	Total
England and Wales	6,260,852	448,932	61,909	6,771,693

United Kingdom	8,045,924	582,673	73,507	8,702,104

Further statistics for England and Wales, Scotland, and Ireland separately are given in the following tables.

The numbers of houses in England and Wales as enumerated at the censuses of 1881, 1891, and 1901, are given as follows [147]:—

	1881	1891	1901
Inhabited houses	4,831,519	5,451,497	6,260,852
Uninhabited houses	386,676	372,184	448,932
Houses building	46,414	38,387	61,909
Total	5,264,609	5,862,068	6,771,693

Houses described as "uninhabited" are not necessarily empty houses, but include houses unoccupied on the census night. In 1901, 189,137 of the "uninhabited" houses were occupied for business or other purposes during the day, while the balance of 259,795 were practically empty houses.

Certain proportional statistics are given as follows [147]:—

	1881	1891	1901
Inhabited houses per square mile	83	93.5	107.3
Families or separate occupiers per inhabited house	1.17	1.12	1.12

From the penultimate table it is seen that between 1891 and 1901 there was a relative shifting of the population from the smaller to the larger tenements. The last table shows that, so far as the number of rooms is concerned, the population of urban districts is much more crowded than that of rural districts. The differences would probably not be so striking if allowance could be made for all housing factors, e.g. size of rooms, sanitary arrangements, &c.

The numbers of inhabited houses in Scotland at the census of 1901 are given as follows [225]:—

Groups	Numbers at Census, 1901
	Inhabited Houses	Rooms	Total Population	Families	Persons per Room
Towns (2000 inhabitants and upwards)	647,616	1,968,263	3,120,241	678,786	1.6
Villages (300 to 2000 inhabitants)	99,542	322,813	466,053	104,403	1.4
Rural districts	179,756	731,522	885,809	184,011	1.2
Total: Scotland	926,914	3,022,598	4,472,103	967,200	1.5

In addition to the above 926,914 inhabited houses, there were 59,420 uninhabited houses, and 9062 houses building, making a total of 995,396 houses built and building [225].

At the census of 1901 the number of houses in Ireland comprised 858,158 inhabited houses, 74,321 uninhabited, and 2536 building, giving a total of 935,015 houses. In 1891 the total number was 942,500. There were also in 1901, 2,438,665 out-offices and farm-steadings [150]. In 1881 there were 33,693 mud cabins in Ireland. By 1891 these had been reduced to 16,891, and by 1901 to 7683 [150].

The total valuation of houses, land, &c., in Ireland in 1901 was £14,815,500, excluding a valuation of £117,300 for the telegraph, gas and water mains, for fisheries, mines, &c. [150].

Inhabited houses in England and Scotland of a full annual value of £20 and upwards are charged with inhabited house duty. The collection of this tax permits of the following information being obtained as to the numbers and annual values of houses in those two countries [22], [37]:—

(a) Include residential shops, hotels, &c., under £20 annual value.

The distribution of houses in 1906-7 over the two kingdoms is shown as follows [37]:—

	Number	Annual Value
London	742,800	£ 47,909,800
Rest of England	6,843,000	138,341,100
Scotland	1,132,100	20,015,400
Total	8,717,900	206,266,300

In London there were in 1906-7, 503,800 houses, residential shops, &c., of an annual value of less than £20; 320,500 private dwelling-houses of annual values between £20 and £50; 67,600 between £50 and £100; and 30,700 of annual value of £100 and upwards. There were also 2857 lodging-houses of an aggregate annual value of £347,400 [37].

THE NETHERLANDS

The numbers of houses enumerated at the censuses of 1879, 1889, and 1899 were as follows [35]:—

	1879	1889	1899
Inhabited houses	729,098	811,353	890,157
Uninhabited houses	22,578	36,480	30,708
Houses building	2,391	2,264	4,346
Total	754,067	850,097	925,211

The numbers of families were 818,805 in 1879, 910,930 in 1889, and 1,024,277 in 1899, equal to 1.12, 1.12, and 1.15 respectively per inhabited house. The number of persons per inhabited house was 5.50 in 1879, 5.56 in 1889, and 5.73 in 1899 [35].

BELGIUM

The number of houses in Belgium as enumerated at the census of 1900 is given as follows [14]:—

Dwelling-houses (inhabited and uninhabited)	1,329,504
Other houses and buildings	47,057
Total	1,376,561

The number of inhabitants to every dwelling-house was 5.03 [14].

In 1890 the number of dwelling-houses, inhabited or not, was 1,198,058, and of other buildings, 31,749. The population per dwelling-house was 5.06 [14].

In 1880 there were 1,062,082 inhabited, and 65,240 uninhabited houses [14].

FRANCE

The number of houses and factories in France assessed to tax, and their rental value in 1897 and 1907, are given as follows [9]:—

	Numbers		Rental Value
	1897	1907	1897	1907
Houses	9,081,100	9,302,800	109,410,000	122,240,000

(a) Includes 95,300 for which detailed information was not available.

GERMANY

The number of households in Germany at different censuses is shown as follows [227]:—

1871	8,731,900
1880	9,652,000
1890	10,617,900
1900	12,260,000
1905	13,274,500

In 1905, 12,247,700 of the households were families; 955,800 consisted of individuals living alone; and 61,000 were institutions, &c. The family households were distributed as follows, according to the numbers in the families [227]:—

Size of Household	Households	Persons
2 persons	1,977,700	3,955,400
3 "	2,270,600	6,811,800
4 "	2,246,800	8,987,200

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA

The United States Census defines a dwelling as "a place in which, at the time of the census, one or more persons regularly sleep." Hence a dwelling may be not merely a house in the ordinary sense of the word, but also "a room in a factory, store, or office building, a loft over a stable, a canal boat, a tent, or a wigwam." According to this definition, the numbers of dwellings at the last three censuses are given as follows [244]:—

Year	Total Population	Total Dwellings	Persons per Dwelling
1880	50,000,000	8,960,000	5.6
1890	63,000,000	11,480,000	5.5
1900	76,000,000	14,430,000	5.3

CANADA

The number of houses, and number of families occupying different numbers of rooms, according to the census of 1901, are given as follows [32]:—

	Numbers at Census of 1901
Houses in construction, vacant, and occupied	1,068,951
Families	1,070,747
Families occupying 1 room	46,154
" " 2 rooms	74,715
" " 3 "	97,674
" " 4 "	143,874
" " 5 "	131,781
" " 6 to 10 rooms	488,786
" " 11 rooms and over	73,632

767,404 of the houses were constructed of wood ;
 167,384 of brick ;
 29,922 of stone ;
 43,923 of composite ; and
 60,318 of other materials [32].

EGYPT

The number of houses in Egypt returned at the census of 1907 was 1,927,352, compared with 1,418,891 in 1897 [192].

CAPE OF GOOD HOPE

The number of buildings in Cape Colony enumerated at the census of 1904 was as follows [29]:—

Dwelling-houses—
Inhabited	455,565
Uninhabited	156,410
Under construction	1,731
Buildings not intended for dwelling-houses—
Inhabited	434
Occupied	106,781
Unoccupied	3,798
Under construction	515
Total	725,234

Of the inhabited "houses" included in these figures, over 296,000 were huts, and 5380 were tents, wagons, or had canvas roofs.

AUSTRALIA

The number of dwellings in Australia, as recorded at the census of 1901, are given as follows [71]:—

State	Number of Dwellings, 1901
	Inhabited	Uninhabited	Building	Total
New South Wales	252,502	14,831	1,438	268,771
Victoria	241,410	11,629	617	253,656
Queensland	98,737	1,670	(a)	100,407 (a)
South Australia	69,856	5,640	358	75,854

Tasmania	34,165	2,187	118	36,470
Total	745,176	38,220	2,732 (a)	786,128 (a)

(a) The number of houses being built in Queensland was not ascertained, and the totals are therefore incomplete.

So far as ascertained at the census, about 265,000 houses were built of stone, brick, or concrete ; 452,000 of wood, metal, lath and plaster, or mud ; 43,000 of canvas ; while the rest were unspecified [71].

On the average, there were over 5 persons to every occupied house.

NEW ZEALAND

At the census of 1906, there were enumerated 197,003 dwellings, of which 179,076 were occupied, 11,279 unoccupied, and 1267 were building. There were also 5381 tents or buildings with canvas roofs. In 1886 the number of inhabited dwellings (including tents) was 111,971 ; of uninhabited, 9146 ; and of houses building, 834 [148].

According to number of rooms, the inhabited dwellings were distributed as follows [148]:—

	1886	1906
One room (including tents)	10,257	12,558
Two rooms	12,110	9,651
Three and four rooms	40,090	47,098
Five and six rooms	27,218	68,350
More than six rooms	21,037	45,185
Number of rooms unstated	1,259	1,575
Total	111,971	184,457

The average number of persons per inhabited dwelling decreased from 5.17 in 1886 to 4.82 in 1906 [148].

INDIA

The number of occupied houses and population per house in India, as given at the census of 1901, was as follows [5]:—

	Occupied Houses	Population per House		Occupied Houses	Population per House
British territory—			Punjab	3,212,700	6.3
Bengal	9,935,200	5.1	Burma	2,092,800	5.0

I

ILLITERACY

A rough measure of the diminution of illiteracy in the population may be furnished by statistics of the numbers of persons marrying who cannot sign their own name, either putting a cross against their name or making no sign at all. The following table shows the average number of such illiterate persons among 1000 persons who married in three successive quinquennial periods [58]:—

State	Number of Illiterates per 1000 Persons who Married
	Males			Females
	1886-90	1891-5	1896-1900	1886-90	1891-5	1896-1900
England and Wales	84	51	32	98	60	37

South Australia	24	18	11	25	18	14
Western Australia	20	13	...	21	16
Tasmania	51	43	...	42	35
New Zealand	18	12	7	26	16	8

The proportions quoted for Prussia, Servia, and Bulgaria represent persons who cannot read or write, and are therefore not strictly comparable with the figures for other countries. The proportion in England and Wales in the period 1901-5 fell to 20 for males and 24 for females [58]; in Scotland, to 18 for males and 24 for females [61]; and in Ireland, to 112 for males and 88 for females [58]. In all cases there is steady progress, and in most instances rapid progress, towards the entire elimination of illiterates as above defined.

UNITED KINGDOM

The decrease of illiteracy in the United Kingdom since 1865 is indicated in the following table, which gives the proportion of married persons who signed the marriage registers by mark [118]:—

Year	Number of Persons who Signed the Marriage Registers by Mark
	England and Wales		Scotland		Ireland

BELGIUM

The numbers of persons in Belgium between the ages of 15 and 60 who were unable to read and write, as recorded at the censuses of 1880, 1890, and 1900, were as follows [9]:—

Year	Males	Females	Total	Percentage of Total aged 15 to 59
				Males	Females
1880	407,000	499,000	906,000	26	32
1890	359,000	441,000	800,000	21	25
1900	275,000	341,000	616,000	14	17

The percentage of recruits unable to read and write was 44 in 1850, 39 in 1860, 29 in 1870, 22 in 1880, 16 in 1890, 12 in 1900, 10 in 1905, and 9 in 1907 [14].

THE NETHERLANDS

The percentage of conscripts in the national militia unable to read or write has diminished as follows [35]:—

1865	18.2
1875	12.3
1885	10.5
1895	5.4
1905	2.4
1907	1.9

FRANCE

The proportion of married persons who signed the marriage document by a cross instead of their names diminished as follows [9]:—

Year	Percentage of Persons Married who Signed by a Cross
	Males	Females
	Per Cent.	Per Cent.
1855	32	48
1860	30	45
1865	27	41
1870	27	40
1875	20	31

1890	8	14
1895	6	10
1900	5	6
1905	3	4
1906	3	4

The proportion of conscripts who could not read and write is given as follows [9]:—

	Percentage of Illiterate Conscripts
1855	36
1865	27
1875	13
1885	14
1895	7
1905	5

These percentages were determined by ascertaining the proportion who could not read and write, among those whose state of education was known.

GERMANY

The percentage of uneducated recruits in Germany (recruits ohne Schulbildung) is given as follows for a series of years [9]:—

1875	2.37
1880	1.59
1885	1.08
1890	0.54
1895	0.15
1900	0.07
1905	0.05

ITALY

About 40 per cent. of the males, and 53 per cent. of the females, between 15 and 60 years of age, at the census of 1901, were unable to read and write. In 1882, the percentages were 52 and 69 respectively [9].

The percentage of recruits unable to read and write averaged [54]:—

1871-5	53.5
1881-5	47.3
1891-5	39.4
1901-5	31.6

SPAIN

Over 40 per cent. of the males, and over 65 per cent. of the females, between 16 and 60 years of age, at the census of 1900, were unable to read and write [9].

PORTUGAL

Over 60 per cent of the males, and 80 per cent. of the females, aged between 15 and 60, at the census of 1900, were unable to read or write [9].

RUSSIA

The percentage of recruits in the Russian Empire unable to read or write diminished as follows [9]:—

1875	78.8
1880	77.9
1885	73.4
1890	68.5
1894	62.4

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA

In the United States, illiteracy is defined so as to include "all persons at least 10 years of age unable to write their own language, the majority of them being also unable to read" [149].

The percentage of illiterates, so defined, at the last three censuses, is given as follows [149]:—

Year	Males	Females	Both Sexes
1880	15.83	18.16	16.97
1890	12.35	14.38	13.34
1900	10.14	11.22	10.66

According to race or nativity, the percentages illiterate were [149]:—

	1880	1890	1900
Native whites	8.75	6.23	4.64
Foreign-born whites	11.98	13.06	12.85
Negroes, Indians, and Mongolians	70.00	56.76	44.47
Total all races	16.97	13.34	10.66

CANADA

The numbers of persons enumerated at the censuses of 1891 and 1901 who could read and write, read only, and who could not read, are given as follows [32]:—

	1891		1901
	Number aged 5 and over	Per Cent. of Population aged 5 and over	Number aged 5 and over	Per Cent. of Population aged 5 and over
Population aged 5 and upwards	4,230,000	100	4,728,000	100
Read only	207,000	5	129,000	3
Read and write	3,177,000	75	3,919,000	83
Cannot read	846,000	20	680,000	14

AUSTRALIA

The proportions of educated and illiterate persons per 10,000 of the total population, as enumerated at the censuses of 1881, 1891, and 1901, are shown as follows [15]:—

	Proportions per 10,000 of Total Population
	1881	1891	1901
Persons who could—
Read and write	7,073	7,543	8,004
Read only	615	343	208
Not read	2,312	2,114	1,788

These figures relate to the whole population.

Considering only children of school age, i.e. children aged over 5 and under 15, the proportions were [15]:—

	1881	1891	1901
Children who could—
Read and write	7,061	7,588	7,984
Read only	1,266	734	481
Not read	1,673	1,678	1,535

The percentage of persons married who signed with a mark diminished as follows [15]:—

Year	Males	Females	Both Sexes
1861	18.5	30.7	24.6
1871	10.6	16.4	13.5
1881	4.3	6.8	5.6
1891	2.3	2.4	2.34
1901	1.35	1.3	1.32
1906	0.92	0.86	0.89

NEW ZEALAND

The percentage of the population able to read and write, read only, or unable to read, is given as follows for three censuses [148]:—

Condition	Percentage of Population at Censuses
	1886	1896	1906
Read and write	74.0	80.6	83.5
Read only	4.8	2.9	1.6
Cannot read	21.2	16.5	14.9

Between the ages of 10 and 40 years, over 99 per cent. of the population enumerated at the census of 1906 could read and write; between 50 and 55 years, 96 per cent.; between 60 and 65, 94 per cent.; between 70 and 75 years, 89 per cent.; 80 years and upwards, 86 per cent. [148].

The percentages of males and females, separately, who could read only and who could not read were [148]:—

Census Year	Read Only		Could not Read
	Males	Females	Males	Females
1886	4.36	5.31	20.24	22.28
1896	2.71	3.08	16.23	16.83
1906	1.48	1.73	14.49	15.36

The percentages of children aged 5 to 15 who could read and write, read only, or not read, are shown as follows for certain census years [15]:—

	1881	1891	1901
Percentage of children who could—
Read and write	68.5	74.7	81.4
Read only	14.0	9.9	5.6
Not read	17.5	15.4	13.0

The following table shows the proportion of persons per 1000 marriages, by various religious denominations, who affixed marks to the marriage register, instead of signing their names [33]:—

Denomination	Proportion per 1000 Married who Signed by Mark
	1881		1891		1901		1907
	Males	Females	Males	Females	Males	Females	Males	Females
Church of England	16.6	27.2	8.3	10.7	1.3	3.3	1.5	...
Presbyterians	10.3	29.6	5.8	8.7	2.7	4.7	0.9	1.9
Wesleyans and other Methodists	32.4	41.8	8.9	10.7	3.7	3.7	...	2.5
Roman Catholics	117.8	133.3	31.3	18.3	6.2	7.8	1.1	1.1
Other denominations	10.4	20.7	9.3	...	1.6	3.2	...	1.5
Marriages by registrars	39.2	93.5	27.4	43.1	13.8	15.7	4.8	12.8
Total marriages	32.0	58.0	13.9	16.8	4.6	6.2	1.5	3.1

Too much stress should not be laid on these percentages, since they fluctuate considerably from year to year. They merely serve to indicate in a general way the decline of illiteracy. See the table at the beginning of this article.

CAPE COLONY

The census of 1904 gave the following results respecting the proportion of persons who could read and write, or read only, or neither read nor write [27]:—

Capability	Percentages
	Of Total Males		Of Total Females		Of Total Persons
	European or White Races	Other Races	European or White Races	Other Races	European or White Races	Other Races
Read and write	76	10	74	10	75	10
Read only	2	2	2	2	2	2
Neither read nor write	22	88	24	88	23	88
	100	100	100	100	100	100
Total numbers of persons	319,000	900,000	261,000	930,000	580,000	1,830,000

Among the persons who married during the years 1905-7, 27 per cent. of the brides and 27.6 per cent. of the bridegrooms were unable to write [29].

EGYPT

The number of persons in Egypt able to read and write, as enumerated at the census of 1907, was 609,400, comprising 548,700 males and 60,700 females. The numbers of literates per 1000 of the population in 1897 and 1907 are given thus [192]:—

Nationality	1897		1907
	Males	Females	Males	Females
Egyptians	80	2	85	3
Foreigners	728	516	691	445

INCOME TAX

UNITED KINGDOM

The net receipt of income tax and produce per penny of tax in each year from 1897-8 is given as follows [37]:—

Year ended March 31	Net Receipt of Income Tax (a)				Produce for each Penny of the Tax (b)
	England	Scotland	Ireland	United Kingdom
1897-8 (a)	£ 14,898,851	£ 1,601,784	£ 670,742	£ 17,171,377	£ 2,188,380
1898-9 (a)	15,662,806	1,692,211	687,294	18,042,311	2,284,290
1899-1900	16,406,858	1,766,033	694,445	18,867,336	2,353,620
1900-1	23,772,051	2,839,835	949,274	27,561,160	2,475,440
1901-2	30,825,249	3,410,097	1,143,354	35,378,700	2,531,460
1902-3	33,720,346	3,696,186	1,243,314	38,659,846	2,535,860
1903-4	26,786,535	2,675,694	1,038,221	30,500,450	2,562,550
1904-5	27,389,732	2,860,782	1,013,140	31,263,654	2,580,530
1905-6	27,423,061	2,888,330	983,361	31,294,752	2,633,440
1906-7	28,024,957	2,867,746	999,246	31,891,949	2,666,870
1907-8 (a)	28,005,740	2,858,549	996,091	31,860,380	2,622,810

(a) In every year incomes not exceeding £160 a year were exempt. Further, in 1897-8 incomes not exceeding £400 were allowed an abatement of £160; and those between £400 and £500 were allowed an abatement of £100. From 1898-9 onwards the following abatements were allowed:—

£160	on incomes not exceeding	£400
£150	on incomes from	£400 to £500
£120	" "	£500 " £600
£70	" "	£600 " £700

In 1907-8 earned and unearned incomes below £2000 per annum were differentiated, and the former charged at 9d. in the £, while the latter were charged 1s. [37].

The rate of tax in the £ was 8d. from 1897-8 to 1899-1900; 1s. in 1900-1; 1s. 2d. in 1901-2; 1s. 3d. in 1902-3; 11d. in 1903-4; and 1s. in 1904-5 and subsequent years, subject to the above abatements.

(b) The produce per penny is based on the net produce of the tax, which differs slightly from the net receipt.

The receipt from income tax in 1908-9 amounted to about £33,930,000, and the estimated receipt for 1909-10 to £37,400,000 [129]. Owing, however, to the rejection of the Finance Bill by the House of Lords in December 1909, only about £13,300,000 of this latter sum was collected in 1909-10.

The gross amounts of income, classified in classes, brought under the review of the Inland Revenue authorities in each year from 1895-6 onwards, together with the amounts on which income tax was received, are given as follows [22], [37]:—

Year ended March 31	Gross Amounts of Income Assessed to Tax						Total Income on which Tax was Received

(a) The statistics for 1907-8 are somewhat incomplete owing to a change in practice following legislation.

Gross income in the year 1906-7 is shown in greater detail in the next table for the several parts of the United Kingdom, it being understood, however, that the amounts of income stated under each part of the kingdom represent the amounts assessed to the income tax in that part, and not necessarily the amounts earned there. Figures for 1896-7 are also given for comparison [22], [37]:—

(a) Mainly farmers' profits. Profits of nurseries and market-gardens are also included.

(b) The amount of profits from Government securities is included only in the total for the United Kingdom. The amount includes profits from [37]—

British Government securities	£ 15,683,200
Indian	8,768,300
Colonial	13,932,700
Foreign	8,338,100
	£ 46,722,300

The gross amount of income brought under the review of the Inland Revenue in 1907-8 was £990,000,000, and in 1908-9 it was £1,040,000,000 [38].

The total income which was identified by the Inland Revenue authorities as derived by this country from abroad amounted in the year 1886-7 to £44,508,000; 1896-7 to £56,319,000; 1906-7 to £79,560,000 [37].

These amounts, of course, are not, and cannot be, exhaustive of all the income received from abroad. This could be ascertained only from complete declarations made by all those persons who receive it, and such full declarations do not at present exist. Mr. George Paish has estimated that the annual income derived from companies trading abroad is about £140,000,000. Even this sum is exclusive of interest on money deposited in banks abroad by persons resident in the United Kingdom, and is also exclusive of income from capital privately placed abroad [70].

The total amount of income in 1906-7 represented by assessments on employés was £120,882,700, comprising the amount of £97,131,600 given in the above table as salaries of government and other officials, and £23,751,100 received by other employés. The number of assessments was 519,189, made up of 417,845 in respect of salaries of officials of the government, &c., and 101,344 on other employés. In 1901-2 the total number of assessments on employés was 437,589, and the total amount of income, £101,692,300. The class of officials of public companies tends to increase rather rapidly by the conversion of private concerns into public companies [37].

It is possible to classify, according to amounts, the profits from businesses, professions, employments, &c. (Schedule D of the income tax), and the salaries of government, corporation, and public company officials (Schedule E), and such a classification is given in the next table. These profits and salaries do not, however, represent the whole of the income of those persons, &c., assessed under Schedules D and E, since one person may be liable to tax under all five Schedules A, B, C, D, and E in respect of different parts of his income. Also, the number of assessments does not represent the number of separate persons or firms, &c., paying tax, since, as just stated, a single person may be taxed under more than one schedule, and so be counted more than once, or may form part of a firm under one schedule, and be assessed as a single individual under another. These remarks should be borne in mind in using the following table [37]:—

Amount of Profit or Income	Assessments to Income Tax, 1906-7, under Schedules D and E

(a) But not exempt from tax.

In addition to the above amounts there were also assessed under Schedule D the following amounts of income declared by agents, bankers, and coupon dealers who deduct tax on behalf of the revenue, namely: England, £28,866,500; Scotland, £339,200; Ireland, £130,500; United Kingdom, £29,336,200. This income cannot be classified.

Having regard to the remarks preceding the above table, the numbers of assessments of "employés" and "persons not employés" do represent the same numbers of separate individuals, though the income assessed is not to be taken as their total income. Under the remaining heads the numbers of individuals affected cannot be stated.

Persons whose incomes are between £160 and £700 per year are allowed certain abatements from their incomes, and are taxed on the remainder. The numbers of such persons who claim these abatements approximately represent the numbers of all persons possessing incomes between the stated limits, although some more or less small addition should be made for those persons who do not claim abatement, though entitled to it, and for those who escape assessment altogether, though liable to it. The numbers of abatements allowed in recent years are given as follows [37]:—

Year	Rate of Tax in the £	Number of Abatements on Incomes between
		£160 and £400	£400 and £500	£500 and £600	£600 and £700	Total (£160 to £700)

1906-7	1 0	628,818	58,704	33,150	16,607	737,279

The numbers in the earlier years are likely to differ more from the numbers of persons actually receiving the incomes stated than is the case in the later years, since the higher rate of income tax in the later years would probably induce an increasing number of persons to avail themselves of the concession of abatement.

PRUSSIA

In Prussia, incomes of £45 a year and upwards are subject to income tax. It is a progressive tax, starting at about 6s. on incomes of £45, and rising by numerous steps to 4 per cent. on incomes of £5000 and upwards [180].

The number of taxpayers increased from 2,440,000 in 1892 to 5,880,000 in 1908. The income assessed to the tax increased in the same period from about £290,000,000 to about £660,000,000, and the amount of tax from over £6,000,000 to over £13,000,000 [177].

There is also in Prussia a supplementary tax to the income tax, devised principally to subject to taxation that part of an estate which yields no income. This property tax is progressive, starting at a rate of about 3s. on properties valued at between £300 and £400, and rising to £5 on properties between £10,000 and £11,000 in value, and an additional 10s. for every £1000 above a value of £11,000 [278]. The number of payers of this tax, value assessed to tax, and amount of tax, increased as follows [177]:—

	1895	1908
Taxpayers	1,152,000	1,503,000
Value of property taxed	£3,150,000,000	£4,500,000,000
Amount of tax	£1,530,000	£2,210,000

AUSTRALIA

An income tax is levied in all the Australian states. The amounts paid in 1901-2 and 1906-7 were as follows [15]:—

	1901-2	1906-7
New South Wales	211,900	283,400
Victoria	220,600	355,100
Queensland (a)	66,200	284,500
South Australia	80,900	166,600
Western Australia (a)	85,900	116,900
Tasmania (a)	20,200	116,900
Commonwealth	685,700	1,323,400

(a) Inclusive of allied taxes.

The rates of tax were (1908) as follows [15]:—

In NEW SOUTH WALES, 6d. in the pound on incomes above £200 per annum.

In VICTORIA, 3d. in the pound on incomes up to £500, 4d. from £500 to £1000; 5d. on incomes from £1000 to £1500, and 6d. on incomes over £1500; with double these rates if the income is derived from property ("unearned"). Incomes under £200 are exempt.

In QUEENSLAND, incomes of £200 are exempt. Earned incomes from £200 to £500 pay 6d. in the pound. Incomes from £500 to £1000 pay 6d. on the first £500, and 7d. on every pound over this amount. Incomes from £1000 to £1500 pay 7d. in the pound for the first £1000, and 8d. thereafter. Incomes over £1500 pay 8d. in the pound. Incomes from property pay 9d. for every pound.

In SOUTH AUSTRALIA, incomes under £150 are exempt. Earned incomes from £150 to £800 pay 4½d. in the pound. Above £800, 7d. in the pound is payable on all over £800. Incomes from property are subject to 9d. in the pound up to £800, and 13½d. for every pound above that amount.

In WESTERN AUSTRALIA, incomes under £200 are exempt. On incomes above this amount 4d. in the pound is payable.

In TASMANIA, incomes under £100 are exempt, and above that amount pay 1s. in the pound.

In all the states various abatements and deductions are allowed besides those mentioned above.

NEW ZEALAND

An income tax is levied in New Zealand on incomes above £300. The tax is not levied, however, in respect of rents and profits derived from the direct use of land, as these sources of income are subject to the land tax (g.v.). In 1907-8 the tax rate was 6d. in the pound on the first taxable £1000, and 1s. thereafter. The amount of income tax paid, and the numbers of taxpayers, increased as follows [33]:—

Year	Taxpayers	Income Tax
1897-8	4,588	£ 115,210
1902-3	7,589	200,683
1907-8	10,420	304,905

UNITED KINGDOM

A census of production in the United Kingdom was taken in 1907, but only a few preliminary results are yet available. These will be found at the end of this volume. A general idea of the position of some important industries in this country may, meanwhile, be obtained by considering the numbers employed, or the production and consumption of the materials used or manufactured in them. Such statistics of the coal-mining, iron-ore, pig-iron, shipbuilding, cotton, woollen, and worsted industries are here given.

The progress of coal-mining may be shown by the following figures. The numbers of persons employed increased from 681,700 in 1895 [83] to 759,900 in 1900 [83] and to 918,400 in 1907 [75]. The production averaged per year 181 million tons of coal during the three years 1893-5; 221 million tons during 1899-1901; and 252 million tons during 1905-7 [28]. The value at the pit's mouth during these three periods averaged £58,600,000, £102,500,000, and £98,000,000 respectively [28]. The average annual consumption of coal was 140 million tons during 1893-5; 164 million tons during 1899-1901; and 176 million tons during 1905-7; equivalent to 3.6, 4, and 4 tons per capita respectively [28]. The balance between production and consumption represents exports.

The production and consumption of iron ore are shown as follows [28]:—

Period	Average Annual Quantities
	Production	Consumption	Consumption per Capita
	Tons	Tons	Tons
1893-5 . . .	12,060,000	16,370,000	0.42
1899-1901 . . .	13,580,000	19,880,000	0.48
1905-7 . . .	15,270,000	22,860,000	0.52

The difference between production and consumption represents practically the consumption by the United Kingdom of foreign ore, which increased from about 4 million tons per year in the first period to about 7½ million tons per year in the last.

The production and consumption of pig-iron are similarly shown as follows [28]:—

Period	Average Annual Quantities
	Production	Consumption	Consumption per Capita
	Tons	Tons	Tons
1893-5 . . .	7,370,000	6,590,000	0.17
1899-1901 . . .	8,770,000	7,730,000	0.19
1905-7 . . .	9,940,000	8,450,000	0.19

The balance between production and consumption represents exports, which increased from about 800,000 tons per year in the first period to 1,500,000 tons per year in the last.

The progress of shipbuilding is shown as follows (vessels for the Royal Navy are excluded) [22]:—

	Average Annual Tonnage
	1893-5	1899-1901	1905-7
	Vessels built for British owners . . .	530,000	750,000
Vessels built for foreigners, including war vessels . . .	100,000	200,000	240,000
Total . . .	630,000	950,000	1,080,000

The earnings of the carrying trade of the United Kingdom have been estimated by the British Board of Trade to be about £90,000,000 per annum [80].

The total value of the iron and steel goods of all sorts, including ships, machinery, tools, hardware, &c., produced in the United Kingdom in 1907 is given by Mr. L. G. Chiozza Money as about £170,000,000. Ships, machinery, tools, and hardware alone accounted for £80,000,000 [152].

The consumption of cotton in Great Britain increased from 3,384,000 bales of 500 lbs. in 1890-1 to 3,690,000 bales in 1907-8 [91]. The number of spindles at work in 1908 was nearly 53 millions [90]. In the cotton factories in 1907 were employed 576,800 persons [7], as compared with 522,600 in 1901 and 532,900 in 1896 [22]. The amount of wages paid in the cotton industry in a year is probably over £26,000,000 [156]. The value of the output of the cotton industry in 1907 is given by Mr. Chiozza Money as about £135,000,000 [152].

The production and consumption of wool are given as follows [153]:—

Period	Average Annual Quantities
	Production	Consumption
	lbs.	lbs.
1891-5 . . .	146,000,000	491,000,000
1896-1900 . . .	139,000,000	522,000,000
1901-5 . . .	134,000,000	477,000,000
1906-8 . . .	132,000,000	543,000,000

Including pulled wool, wool from imported sheepskins, &c., the average annual consumption of wool was [153], [154]:—

1891-5	646,000,000 lbs.
1896-1900	683,000,000 "
1901-5	663,000,000 "
1906-8	771,000,000 "

The numbers of spindles and power-looms in woollen and worsted factories in the United Kingdom in 1890 and 1904 were as follows [155]:—

	1890		1904
	Spindles	Power-looms	Spindles	Power-looms
Woollen & shoddy } factories . . .	3,450,000	62,900	2,900,000	51,800
Worsted factories .	3,070,000	67,400	3,780,000	52,700
Totals . . .	6,520,000	130,300	6,680,000	104,500

The numbers of persons employed in factories in the woollen and worsted industries varied from 284,400 in 1896 to 259,900 in 1901 [22], and to 261,200 in 1907 [7].

The amount of wages paid in the woollen and worsted industries (including carpet, flock, and shoddy) is probably over £10,000,000 per annum [156]. The value of the output in 1907 is given by Mr. Chiozza Money as about £85,000,000 [152].

The annual value of British building and repair contracts of all kinds is given by Mr. Money as probably over £100,000,000 [152].

THE NETHERLANDS

From statistics of excise revenue it is found that there were in Holland in 1897 and 1907 [35]:—

	1897	1907
Distilleries . . .	544	551
Sugar refineries . . .	10	11
Beet-sugar factories . . .	30	28
Salt-works . . .	47	37
Breweries . . .	498	453
Vinegar manufactories . . .	92	82

The production of sugar averaged 159,000 tons per annum during 1898 to 1902, and 148,000 tons during 1903-7 [1].

The number of manufactories using steam-engines increased from 3236 in 1886 to 4198 in 1896, to 4936 in 1906, and 4946 in 1907. The number of steam-boilers in these establishments was 4242, 5678, 7160, and 7226 respectively [35].

Relatively small quantities of coal are produced. The production in 1898 and 1907 was as follows [35]:—

		1898	1907
Production . . .	Tons	148,000	711,000
Value	£	54,000	410,000

The number of persons employed at coal mines was 489 in 1898, and 4017 in 1907 [35].

Between the two dates given the production of coal showed a continuous increase.

BELGIUM

The Belgian industrial census of October 1896 gave the following general results [14]:—

Industries	Number of Undertakings, &c.		Total Personnel			Mean Horse-power Employed (Steam, Gas, and Oil)

Wage-earners, home-workers	36,230	65,440	101,670
Total	837,220	265,020	1,102,240

Comparative statistics of quarrying, coal-mining, iron and steel, and zinc industries are given in the following tables.

The number of quarries in Belgium increased from 1409 in 1895 to 1680 in 1906; the number of workmen from 31,800 to 37,900; and the value of the products from £1,640,000 to £2,490,000 [14].

Coal-mining production is given as follows [14]:—

		1895	1900	1906
Production	Mill. Tons	20.1	23.0	23.1
Value	Mill. £	7.7	16.3	14.1
Persons employed		119,000	132,700	139,400
Mean annual wages per person	£	38	56	54

The numbers of steam-engines and total horse-power employed in Belgium in 1900 and 1906 are given as follows [14]:—

Service	Number		Horse-power

The number of persons employed at mines increased from 156,500 in 1897 to 208,100 in 1907, and the number of workers in the metals increased from 72,100 in the former year to 89,800 in the latter [9].

The construction of ships has varied considerably. The average annual net tonnage built during 1895-7 was 32,800 in respect of sailing ships, and 6400 in respect of steam ships, or a total net tonnage of 39,200. During 1905-7 the average annual net tonnage built was 12,700 for sailing ships, and 24,800 for steam vessels, or a total of 37,500 tons [9].

In the sugar industry there were 367 factories in 1896-7, and 255 in 1907-8. The quantity of sugar beets used in the factories and the production of refined sugar were [9]:—

GERMANY

An industrial census of the German Empire was taken in June 1907, which ascertained the number of undertakings or industrial concerns and their personnel. Undertakings which employed persons who obtained therein the main part of their earnings or livelihood were described as principal undertakings (Hauptbetriebe). Other undertakings, which employed persons who found therein merely a supplementary source of income, were described as subordinate undertakings (Nebenbetriebe).

From these two tables it will be noticed that although in some cases, e.g. quarrying, &c., metal-working, textiles, wood-working, &c., and clothing, the number of industrial concerns diminished between the two censuses, yet the numbers of persons employed increased in every instance. In 1895, on the average, there were, taking all the above industries together, 2.5 men and 0.7 woman to every undertaking; in 1907 the proportion had risen to 3.2 men and 1 woman. It will be also noticed that the women employed increased 50 per cent. in number, and the men 37 per cent.

The production of coal (excluding lignite) in Germany and Luxemburg increased as follows [12]:—

Others	2,089	20,890	3,320	24,210
Total	571,498	1,128,600	723,000	1,851,600

Of the total number of undertakings given in this table, 160,118 were concerns in each of which only one person was employed. Of these, agriculture accounted for about 20,000; clothing for about 39,000; and textiles for about 33,000 [159].

Also included in the above table were 70,874 undertakings carried on at home, which employed 25,000 males and 67,100 females. Most of these domestic undertakings were connected with the textile industries, there being in this group of industries nearly 52,000 such undertakings, employing 16,100 males and 53,000 females. There were nearly 8500 domestic undertakings connected with the clothing industries, employing 1700 males and 7600 females. Watch and clock making gave employment at home to 6300 males and 5800 females, a total of 12,100 persons out of a total number of 32,200 males and 18,500 females engaged in the whole industry [159].

The results of the industrial census of 1905, as recorded in the above table, are not comparable with the occupation statistics as given by the general census of 1900. (See article on Occupations, infra.) The industrial census enumerated the persons employed in particular undertakings without regard to the kind of work done by (or the trade followed by) each person. The clerical staff, for example, would be included with all branches of the manual or technical staff employed in any one undertaking, so that the total number employed in that undertaking might represent many different trades or professions. On the other hand, the general census classifies persons according to their trade, or the kind of work done by them.

Another source of incomparability is to be found in the fact that the population census was taken in the winter, and the industrial census in summer, so that it is not unlikely that a person engaged in one occupation in the one season might be following an entirely different trade in the other.

AUSTRIA

The principal results of the Austrian industrial census of 1902 are shown approximately thus [209]:—

Industries	Undertakings other than Home Undertakings			Home Undertakings
	Principal Undertakings	Subordinate Undertakings	Personnel	Number	Personnel
Earthenware, stone, glass	20,420	370	214,900	13,790	20,200

The number of undertakings using their own mechanical power in 1902, and the horse-power employed, are given as follows [209]:—

Industries	Undertakings using their own Power	Horse-power
Stone, glass, &c.	1,745	54,390
Metals	3,740	225,100
Machines, instruments	1,485	52,830

Power, lighting, &c., } undertakings	355	163,870
Others	1,527	20,130
Total of above	50,957	1,343,750

The horse-power includes 782,100 steam, 115,900 electricity, and 428,000 water-power. The electric power was mainly in the metal industries (29,600 horse-power), machine construction, &c. (13,000 horse-power), textiles (10,300 horse-power), foods (11,000 horse-power), and heating, lighting, &c., concerns (28,600 horse-power). The water-power was mainly in foods (155,900 horse-power), paper (63,100 horse-power), wood-working, &c. (57,200 horse-power), and textiles (49,300 horse-power), metals (35,300 horse-power), heating, lighting, &c., concerns (38,300 horse-power) [209].

Mining, trade, and transport are not included in these tables.

HUNGARY

The number of industrial undertakings, and their personnel, in the chief groups of industry in Hungary, according to the census of 1900, are shown approximately as follows [209]:—

Industries	Undertakings	Personnel
Iron and metals	48,540	128,200
Machine construction, instruments, &c.	21,290	72,400
Earthenware, pottery, glass, &c.	10,460	44,900
Wood and bone industries	33,700	95,800
Leather, brush, feather, &c., } industries	6,380	16,600

Fine arts, &c.	2,360	17,100
Total of above	424,760	981,500

There were also 95,300 persons employed in hotels and restaurants, and 43,100 in "domestic and popular industry" [26].

Mining, trade, and transport are not included in these figures.

BULGARIA

A census of industries in Bulgaria, which receive state "encouragement," was undertaken in December 1904. Only establishments which have invested £1000 in land, buildings, and plant, or which employ not less than 20 persons, can receive this state encouragement, which consists of the grant of certain trading privileges. The census was therefore restricted in its extent, but it is claimed that the greater part of the factory industry of the country was included [160].

INDUSTRIES AND MANUFACTURES 321 INDUSTRIES AND MANUFACTURES

The general results of the census are given as follows [160]:—

0.5 per cent. of the male wage-earners and 4.1 per cent. of the females were aged 12 or under, and 3.9 per cent. of the males and 26.9 per cent. of the females were 13 to 15 years old. Only 16.1 per cent. of the females were over 20 years of age [160].

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA

Statistics of industrial establishments in the United States as recorded at the censuses of 1900 and 1905 are given as follows. The figures cover the years 1899 and 1904, and those for 1904 are partly estimated. Government establishments and establishments in Hawaii are not included [161].

The wages given in this table were the total wages paid during the year to which they relate, while the numbers of wage-earners are the average numbers employed, and not the exact numbers which received the wages paid. It is accordingly not permissible to divide the one by the other to arrive at the average amount of wages received by each person. Further, the profits of the establishments cannot be deduced from the table, since no allowance is made for depreciation, bad debts, and other items.

INDUSTRIES AND MANUFACTURES 322 INDUSTRIES AND MANUFACTURES

Statistics of factory establishments only (excluding "neighbourhood industries and hand trades," which are included in the previous table) are given in the following table [161]:—

(In the above tables the dollar has been converted at the rate of 4s. 1½d.)

The power employed in industries as given at the censuses of 1900 and 1905 is shown as follows. The 1900 figures include certain "hand trades and neighbourhood industries," while the 1905 figures relate only to factory industries [162].

The steam and water power given in this table was owned power.

The "other" horse-power shown in the table included [162]:—

	1900	1905
Gas and gasoline: Owned	134,700	289,500
Electric: Owned	310,700	1,150,900
Electric: Rented	182,600	441,600

The amount of steam and water power rented cannot be stated separately.

The number of industrial establishments covered by the above statement was 133,460 in 1900, and 134,540 in 1905 [162].

CANADA

Statistics of the principal industries in Canada are given in the following table for the year 1905 [31]:—

(Dollar taken as 4s. 1½d.)

Industries	Number of Establishments	Capital	Number of Wage-earners	Amount of Wages	Value of Products
		£		£	£
Food products	5,012	18,000,000	45,520	2,500,000	36,000,000

Clay, glass, and stone products	749	5,000,000	13,530	1,000,000	3,000,000
Tobacco and its manufactures	155	2,000,000	7,110	500,000	3,000,000
Other industries	1,538	45,500,000	40,770	4,000,000	20,000,000
Total	15,796	174,000,000	356,030	28,000,000	148,000,000

The wage-earners in the above table comprise 288,030 males, who earned £25,000,000, or an average of £86 per man; and 68,000 females, who earned £3,000,000, or an average of £45 per woman. Besides these wage-earners there were on salaries 31,545 males, who earned £6,000,000, or an average of £190 per man; and 4950 salaried females, who earned £400,000, or an average of £74 per woman [31].

Considering only those manufacturing establishments which employed five or more persons, the following comparison may be made between the years 1905 and 1900 [31]:—

	1900	1905	Percentage Increase 1905 over 1900
Capital £	92,000,000	171,000,000	86
Employés No.	339,200	383,900	13
Salaries and wages £	23,000,000	33,000,000	43
Value of products £	99,000,000	145,000,000	46

The largest increases in value of products occurred in the food products, which showed a growth of 37 per cent. between 1900 and 1905; iron and steel products, 51 per cent. increase; timber and lumber, 36 per cent. increase; paper and printing, 59 per cent.; clay, glass, and stone products, 85 per cent.; metals and metal products other than steel, 156 per cent.; vehicles for land transport, 85 per cent.; and liquors and beverages, 51 per cent. The only decrease occurred in the industry concerned with the making of vessels for water transport, in which the value of products in 1905 was 7 per cent. less than in 1900 [31].

Average wages in 1900 were £69 for males and £36 for females, as against £86 for males and £45 for females in 1905. Average salaries for managers, officers, clerks, &c., were, in 1900, £171 for males and £65 for females; and in 1905, £190 for males and £74 for females. These averages refer to establishments employing five persons and over [31].

An interesting comparison is given in the following table, showing the approximate value produced in the years 1880, 1890, 1900, and 1905, in establishments which employed five or more persons [31]:—

Industries	Value Produced
	1880	1890	1900	1905 (a)
	£	£	£	£
Food products	15,000,000	22,000,000	26,000,000	36,000,000
Textiles	8,000,000	14,000,000	14,000,000	18,000,000
Iron and steel products	3,500,000	6,000,000	7,000,000	11,000,000
Other metals and metal products	2,000,000	3,600,000	4,000,000	10,000,000
Timber and lumber and their re-manufactures	11,400,000	17,500,000	16,500,000	23,000,000
Leather and its finished products	7,500,000	7,200,000	7,000,000	9,000,000
Paper and printing	2,000,000	3,000,000	4,200,000	7,000,000
Vehicles for land transport	2,000,000	4,000,000	4,000,000	8,000,000
Clay, glass, and stone products	1,000,000	2,500,000	1,600,000	3,000,000
Tobacco and its manufactures	600,000	1,000,000	2,400,000	3,000,000
All industries, including those not specified above	64,000,000	97,000,000	99,000,000	148,000,000

(a) The values for 1905 include the products of establishments employing less than five hands, the total value for these being £2,400,000. As this value is spread over several industries, the broad comparisons suggested by the table are not much affected.

The horse-power employed in manufacturing establishments, as given at the census of April 1901, is stated as follows [31]:—

Type of Power	Number	Horse-power	Type of Power	Number	Horse-power
Steam-engines	6,558	380,240	Electric motors	2,206	46,461
Gas and gasolene engines	244	2,078	Other motors	79	2,232
Water-wheels	2,683	221,642	Totals	11,770	652,653

Ontario had 3319 steam-engines, representing 181,652 horse-power; 1172 water-wheels, of 77,313 horse-power; and 1426 electric motors, of 21,767 horse-power. Quebec had 1580 steam-engines, of 89,455 horse-power; 1031 water-wheels, of 116,455 horse-power; and 572 electric motors, of 21,678 horse-power [31].

CAPE COLONY

The following particulars relating to the production of certain industries in Cape Colony are given for the census year ended March 31, 1904 [27]:—

Nature of Industry	Production in Census Year
	Commodity	Measure	Quantity
Flour mills	Flour and meal	Tons	213,600
Breweries	Beer	Gallons	1,715,400
Tobacco manufactories	Tobacco manufactured	lbs.	2,187,000
	Snuff "	"	147,700
	Cigars "	Number	4,161,800
Soap and candle works	Soap	lbs.	1,200,000
	Candles	"	2,191,400
	Spirits	Gallons	676,100
Professed distilleries	Bricks	Number	137,668,200
Brickyards and potteries	Fish cured and canned	"	880,700
Fish-curing establishments	Hides tanned	"	52,600
Tanneries, fellmongeries, and wool-washeries	Skins "	"	48,800
	Sheepskins stripped	"	5,700
	Wool washed	lbs.	6,686,000
Wagon and cart works	Wagons	Number	3,500
	Carts	"	5,300
	Other vehicles	"	700

The approximate value of the materials used in these industries is given as £5,840,000; of the machinery and plant, £2,180,000; and of the articles produced, £9,040,000 [27].

AUSTRALIA

Statistics of factories in operation in the Commonwealth during 1907 are given as follows. A factory is defined as an "industrial establishment in which four or more hands are employed, or in which power other than hand is used" [190].

Class of Industry	Number of Factories in Operation	Average Number of Hands Employed	Amount of Salaries and Wages Paid during 1907	Approximate Value of Land and Buildings in connection with Factories	Approximate Value of Plant and Machinery Employed	Number of Establishments Using Machinery Worked by Steam, Gas, Oil, or Electricity	Horse-power of Engines Used

Total	184,900	63,900	248,800

Details of the power employed are given thus [190]:—

	Horse-power
Steam	180,180
Gas	12,800
Oil	4,110
Electricity	23,550
Total	220,640

The estimated value of all Australian production during 1907 is given as follows [190]:—

NEW ZEALAND

Comparative statistics relating to the manufactories and works, which include, in the two years considered below, "any concern where two or more persons work together at making articles for disposal, wholesale or retail, and without reference to machinery being used or not," are given as follows for the census years 1901 and 1906.

Mining, quarrying, and fisheries, and government railway workshops and the government printing office are excluded [148].

	1901	1906	Increase per Cent. 1901-6

(a) Including government works. These were not included prior to 1905.

The capital employed in the woollen mills increased from £297,000 in 1901 to £308,000 in 1906. The production varied from 3,980,000 lbs. in 1901 to 2,830,000 lbs. in 1906 [5].

The capital employed in the paper mills was £490,000 in 1901 and £340,000 in 1906. The production was 46,710,000 lbs. in 1901 and 47,480,000 lbs. in 1906 [5].

The production of the breweries was 5,550,000 gallons in 1901 and 5,600,000 gallons in 1906. During the period 1901-6 the average production was over 5,900,000 gallons per annum [5].

The number of factories working and liable to inspection increased from 978 in 1897 to 1732 in 1906. The average daily number of employes increased thus [5]:—

	1897	1906	Per Cent. Increase
Men	335,700	546,690	63
Women	60,270	102,800	70

JAPAN

The numbers of manufactories in Japan, and employes therein in 1897, 1902, and 1906, are given as follows [55]:—

Year	Number of Manu- factories	Number of Operatives Employed
		Males	Females	Total
1897	7,287	182,792	254,462	437,254
1902	7,821	185,621	313,269	498,890
1906	10,361	242,944	369,233	612,177

Of the factories shown in this table, 2910 were worked by motor-power in 1897, 2991 in 1902, and 4656 in 1906. The power chiefly employed was steam-power. In 1897 there were 2992 steam-engines, of 55,970 horse-power; in 1902, 4057 engines, of 90,780 horse-power; and in 1906, 5401 engines, of 203,000 horse-power.

The largest numbers of operatives in the above manufactories in Japan in 1906 were employed as follows [55]:—

Silk and cotton mixed	1,250,000	1,060,000
Hemp	290,000	240,000
Total piece goods	13,160,000	12,620,000
Value of Japanese sashes produced	1,680,000	780,000
Value of other woven goods	2,090,000	2,790,000
Total value of woven goods	16,930,000	16,190,000

The manufacture of matches occupied 5500 male and 18,700 female operatives in 1906, as against 5000 males and 15,000 females in 1902, and 5400 males and 14,500 females in 1898. The production was 22 million gross in 1898, valued at £660,000; 27 million gross in 1902, valued at £880,000; and 55 million gross in 1906, valued at £1,590,000 [55].

Earthenware and porcelain manufactures occupied 20,600 operatives in 1898, 25,000 in 1902, and 28,300 in 1906. The value produced was £500,000 in 1898, £700,000 in 1902, and £1,370,000 in 1906 [55].

Lacquered wares occupied 20,000 operatives in 1898, 16,800 in 1902, and 16,700 in 1906, the value produced being £500,000, £560,000, and £690,000 respectively [55].

Straw-plaiting occupied 71,300 operatives in 1899, 95,600 in 1902, and 275,400 in 1906, the value produced being £280,000, £240,000, and £480,000 respectively [55].

The values of other manufactured goods in 1906 were: Crude camphor and camphor oil, £70,000; mats and matting, £1,040,000; leathers, £1,110,000; oil, £1,190,000; saké, £420,000; indigo, £330,000; and peppermint, £235,000 [55].

The government employed in their establishments at the end of 1906 a total of 108,000 male and 23,000 female operatives and apprentices, and 62,000 male and 600 female labourers. Of these the military arsenals at Tokio and Osaka accounted for 33,000 male and 6000 female operatives and apprentices, and 200 male labourers. The various naval arsenals employed 50,000 male operatives and apprentices, and 58,000 male labourers. The tobacco manufactures in connection with the tobacco monopoly employed 3300 male and 13,200 female operatives, &c., and 300 male and 30 female labourers. A steel foundry employed 8000 male operatives, &c., and 1800 male and 500 female labourers; while the government railway works employed 8000 male operatives, &c., and about 300 male labourers [55].

INFIRM

Statistics of the numbers of infirm persons should be used with great caution, especially numbers based on census returns. The infirmities of blindness and deafness are not easily defined. Still less so is "mental derangement" or "lunacy" or "insanity." It is practically certain that different persons do not apply these terms to exactly the same degree of infirmity, so that of two equally "mentally deranged" persons one might be returned on a census schedule as insane and the other not, or of two equally deaf persons one might be described on the schedule as deaf and the other not. These considerations should be borne in mind when consulting the statistics in this article.

UNITED KINGDOM

The numbers of blind persons in the United Kingdom enumerated at the last three censuses were as follows [147]:—

Country	Blind Persons Enumerated at Censuses
	Numbers			Per Million of Population
	1881	1891	1901	1881	1891	1901
England and Wales	22,832	23,467	25,317	879	809	778
Scotland	3,158	2,797	3,253	845	695	727
Ireland	6,111	5,341	4,253	1,181	1,135	954
United Kingdom	32,101	31,605	32,823	920	838	792

The proportions of blind persons per million males and females in 1901 were [147]:—

Country	Number per Million
	Males	Females
England and Wales	835	725
Scotland	766	690
Ireland	970	939
United Kingdom	842	744

The numbers of deaf and dumb persons enumerated were as follows [147]:—

Country	Deaf and Dumb Persons Enumerated at Censuses
	Numbers			Per Million of Population
	1881	1891	1901	1881	1891	1901
England and Wales	13,295	14,192	15,246	512	489	469
Scotland	2,142	2,125	2,638	573	528	590
Ireland	5,136	4,464	3,971	992	949	891
United Kingdom	20,573	20,781	21,855	590	551	527

The proportions of deaf and dumb persons according to sex in 1901 were [147]:—

Country	Number per Million
	Males	Females
England and Wales	524	417
Scotland	649	534
Ireland	1,000	784
United Kingdom	590	468

The numbers of mentally deranged persons enumerated were as follows [147]:—

Country	Mentally Deranged Persons Enumerated at Censuses
	Numbers			Per Million of Population
	1881	1891	1901	1881	1891	1901
England and Wales	84,503	97,383	132,654	3,253	3,358	4,078
Scotland	14,397	15,462	20,291	3,854	3,841	4,537
Ireland	18,413	21,188	25,050	3,553	4,504	5,618
United Kingdom	117,313	134,033	177,995	3,363	3,552	4,293

The apparent increase of insanity shown in England and Wales, and Scotland, from 1891 to 1901, is largely due to the fact that in 1901 the term "feeble-minded" was inserted on the census schedule in place of "idiot" which appeared in the earlier schedules.

The proportions of mentally deranged according to sex in 1901 were [147]:—

Country	Number per Million
	Males	Females
England and Wales	3,946	4,202
Scotland	4,462	4,602
Ireland	5,981	5,264
United Kingdom	4,225	4,357

The numbers of lunatics in asylums and workhouses in 1901 were [147]:—

England and Wales	105,600
Scotland	13,200
Ireland	21,200
United Kingdom	140,000

ENGLAND AND WALES

The numbers of reported lunatics, idiots, and persons of unsound mind in England and Wales on January 1 in each of several years are given by the Lunacy Commissioners as follows [163]:—

On January 1	Lunatics, Idiots, and Persons of Unsound Mind

(a) Excludes 115 whose condition as to marriage was unknown.

(b) The table reads thus: 3 per 100,000 single males aged less than 15 were admitted annually, on the average, into asylums, &c.; or 150 per 100,000 widowed females aged 45 to 54; and so on.

The chief causes of insanity among those admitted to asylums, &c., during the period 1902-6, are stated as follows [163]:—

Causes of Insanity	Average Annual Number of Instances in which each Cause was Assigned
	Private Lunatics		Pauper Lunatics
	Males	Females	Males	Females
Moral—
Domestic trouble (including bereavements)	50	120	334	836

The number of instances in which the above causes operated to produce insanity is greater than the number of patients, since the insanity of any particular patient may be attributable to more than one cause. The average annual number of patients to which the table refers was 1218 private males and 1254 private females, and 9464 pauper males and 9970 pauper females.

The proportions of recoveries to admissions and to total numbers under treatment, and the proportions of deaths, are given as follows [163]:—

Period	Average Annual Percentage of
	Recoveries to Admissions			Recoveries to Daily Average Number Resident			Deaths to Daily Average Number Resident
	Males	Females	Total	Males	Females	Total	Males	Females	Total
1873-77	34.8	42.75	38.8	11.0	12.0	11.5	12.35	8.4	10.3

The average weekly cost per patient of maintaining patients in the county and borough asylums for the year ended March 31, 1907, was as follows [163]:—

In county asylums	9s. 9½d.
In borough asylums	10s. 11½d.
In both together	10s. 0½d.

These amounts exclude cost of repairs, additions, and alterations. In the year 1905 the cost in county asylums was 9s. 11½d., and in borough asylums, 10s. 11½d., and for both together, 9s. 11½d. [163].

FRANCE

The numbers of blind, and deaf and dumb persons in France, as enumerated at the census of 1901, are given as follows [9]:—

	Numbers at Census of 1901
	Blind Persons			Deaf and Dumb Persons
	Males	Females	Total	Males	Females	Total
At home	13,220	10,900	24,120	8,780	6,420	15,200

1906	68	45	113	44,390	50,010	94,400	60,920	1,163,000

The form of insanity described as "folie alcoolique" was assigned to 4910 patients in 1891, 8020 in 1901, and 8730 in 1906 [9].

GERMANY

The numbers of blind, and deaf and dumb persons in Germany, according to the census of 1900, were [12]:—

	Males	Females	Total
Blind	17,818	16,516	34,334
Deaf and dumb	26,368	22,382	48,750

The number of lunatic asylums, number of beds and patients, are given as follows [12]:—

	1882	1891	1901
Number of asylums—
Public	107	132	164

The annual number of admissions to asylums increased as follows [12]:—

	Average Annual Number
1880-82	15,230
1889-91	22,840
1898-1901	34,060

BELGIUM

The number of imbeciles placed in institutions in Belgium increased as follows [14]:—

Year	Males	Females	Total
1885	4,720	4,610	9,330
1890	5,450	5,320	10,770

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA

The number of inmates of institutions for the insane in the United States in 1908 is given as follows [107]:—

	Number of Insane
Foreign-born persons—
Aliens	25,610
Naturalised citizens	25,130
Native-born persons	121,450
Total	172,190

These figures include 100 insane persons in institutions in Alaska, 210 in Hawaii, and 340 in Porto Rico.

CANADA

The numbers of infirm persons, by ages, returned at the census of 1901, are given as follows [32]:—

An estimate by Mr. Frederick L. Hoffman (Newark, U.S.A.) of the number of industrial insurance policyholders, and the amount of industrial insurance, throughout the world in 1904, gave the following results [117]:—

(Dollar taken as 4s. 1½d.)

Country	Number of Companies	Number of Industrial Policies, December 31, 1904	Amount of Insurance, December 31, 1904

UNITED KINGDOM

An interesting comparison of ordinary life insurance statistics in the United Kingdom is given in the following table [166]:—

	Amounts in		Increase
	1870	1900
Premium income	£ 9,940,000	£ 21,800,000	Per Cent. 119
Interest income	4,090,000	8,910,000	118
Life funds	87,770,000	248,880,000	184
Existing life business	292,560,000	639,260,000	119
Of which: Endowment assurances	7,530,000	157,210,000	1,988
Claims paid	8,290,000	16,940,000	106

The most striking feature of this table is the great increase in endowment assurances. In 1870 these formed less than 3 per cent. of the total life business, but in 1900 the ratio had risen to nearly 25 per cent. The proportion had risen still further by 1906, as seen from tables below.

The character of the assets of British life assurance companies (ordinary) in 1871 and 1900 was as follows [167]:—

Assets	Amounts		Percentages
	1871	1900	1871	1900
	£	£	Per Cent.	Per Cent.
Mortgages	51,600,000	80,400,000	47	29

1907	53,150,000	39,990,000	93,140,000

The number of companies included in the above statements in 1907 is fifteen.

The progress of fire insurance is shown by the following statement, which gives the amount of premiums received and claims paid by all French companies [9]:—

Year	Fire Premiums Collected	Fire Claims Paid
1896	£ 4,033,000	£ 1,966,000
1902	4,593,000	2,327,000
1907	5,554,000	2,885,000

The average annual amount of claims during 1896-1900 was £2,210,000, and during 1901-7 was £2,610,000 [9].

Fifteen French companies showed premiums received during 1907, on account of insurance against accidents, amounting to £3,082,000. The amount paid on account of claims was £2,093,000. The assets of these companies amounted to £7,960,000 [9].

GERMANY

The life policies in force in Germany at the end of 1905 in insurance undertakings under imperial survey were as follows [12]:—

The total value insured against fire in Germany has been estimated to have been about 7700 million pounds in 1905 and 8000 millions in 1908 [177].

A noteworthy feature of the investments of German insurance companies is the large proportion invested in mortgages. This is shown in the following table, which gives the investments of life insurance companies (including sickness insurance) [168]:—

(b) Particulars in 1907 are for forty-three companies.

ACCIDENT INSURANCE

Insurance against accidents is compulsory, for certain workpeople, in Germany, Austria, Hungary, France, Italy, Denmark, Holland, Belgium, Norway, and other countries. The classes of workpeople involved vary much from one country to another. In France, for example, seamen are affected; in Belgium, miners; in Hungary, agricultural labourers; in Germany, workers in many trades and industries, such as mining, building, agriculture, shipping, &c. The obligation to insure is generally restricted to persons receiving less than a certain defined income. In Germany, the limit is £150 per annum; in Italy, £85; in Norway, £60; in Finland, £30. In Austria and Holland no limit is fixed [10], [169], [170].

The system is most highly developed in Germany and Austria-Hungary. In Germany, all accidents occurring in the course of work are covered, except those intentionally brought about by the worker, and (since 1900) those due to gross misconduct. In Austria, only the first type of accident appears to be excluded from the benefits of insurance. In the earlier period of disablement the injured workers are compensated out of the sickness insurance funds, to which workers contribute two-thirds and the employers one-third. This period of compensation out of the sickness insurance funds lasts in Germany for thirteen weeks, after which the liability is transferred to the accident insurance funds. The employers pay the whole cost of these latter funds [10], [169], [170].

The maximum possible compensation, besides medical aid, for total disablement is, under the German law, a pension of £75 plus one-third of any actual earnings of the worker above this amount. The usual rate of pension is two-thirds of the injured person's earnings. In the event of death, funeral money is payable, and a pension to the dependent survivors, amounting in the maximum to 60 per cent. of the deceased's yearly wages. For partial disablement the amount of compensation varies with the degree to which the injured person has been incapacitated. Burial money is one-fifteenth of a year's earnings, but not less than £2, 10s. [10], [169], [170].

In the following table are given statistics relating to the German compulsory accident insurance scheme [10], [11], [12], [13]:—

Year	Approximate Number of Persons Insured	Number of Persons sustaining Accidents for which Compensation was Payable				Expenditure
		Number whose Accidents resulted in			Total	Compensation	Total
		Death	Permanent Total Disablement	Permanent Partial or Temporary Disablement
1890	13,619,700	6,047	2,708	33,283	42,038	1,016,000	1,962,000

Of the insured persons in 1906, about 5½ million were women [12].

About 55 per cent. of the insured persons are engaged in agricultural occupations and forestry; about 7 per cent. in metal, engineering, and shipbuilding industries; and about 8 per cent. in the building trades. As regards the occupations of the persons injured, about 50 per cent. are engaged in agriculture and forestry; about 11 per cent. in the metal, engineering, and shipbuilding industries; about the same percentage in the building trades; and about 7 per cent. in mining and smelting [10].

Throughout the period of twenty-two years from 1885 (the date of the commencement of the accident insurance scheme) to 1906, about 1,714,000 persons sustained accidents for which compensation was payable [12].

Ordinary income and expenditure throughout this period were as follows [12]:—

	Total Amounts 1885-1906
Ordinary income—
Employers' contributions	£82,000,000
Interest, &c.	10,000,000
Total income	£92,000,000
Ordinary expenditure (excluding capital invested)—
Benefits	£66,000,000
Management	12,000,000
Total expenditure	£78,000,000

SICKNESS INSURANCE

Compulsory insurance against sickness exists in many countries for certain classes of workers. In Germany, the workers contribute about two-thirds of the funds, and employers about one-third. But the contribution of the worker is limited to a maximum of 4 per cent. of the average wage. Besides those persons compelled to insure, others may insure in these funds provided their salary is not more than £100 a year. These, of course, pay the whole cost of insurance. The benefits include medicine and medical attendance, with surgical appliances if required; and sick pay from the third day of illness, amounting to a maximum of from 2s. to 2s. 6d. a day. If treatment is given in hospital, the family of the insured receives half the pay to which he would have been entitled if not in hospital. These benefits may continue for 26 weeks, and if the illness is the result of an accident, the liability is then transferred to the accident insurance. Provision is made for women in childbirth, if insured, and also for funerals [10], [169], [170].

The number of persons insured in Germany, and the number of cases and days of sickness in certain years, are shown as follows [10], [12]:—

Year	Sickness Insurance
	Number of Persons Insured	Number of Cases of Sickness	Number of Days of Sickness
1890	6,579,500	2,422,400	39,176,700
1895	7,525,500	2,703,600	46,470,000
1900	9,520,800	3,679,300	64,916,800
1905	11,184,500	4,451,400	88,082,300
1906	11,689,400	4,423,800	87,444,600

About 3,000,000 of the insured persons in 1906 were women [12].

The contributions from workers and employers, including fees, and the expenditure on sick relief, were as follows [10], [12]:—

Year	Contributions (including Fees) from Workers and Employers	Expenditure on Sick Relief
1890	£4,560,000	£4,200,000
1895	5,870,000	5,240,000
1900	8,300,000	7,890,000
1905	12,520,000	11,610,000
1906	13,830,000	12,090,000

The total ordinary income and expenditure, and the balance of funds in these years, were as follows [11], [12]:—

Year	Total Ordinary Income	Total Ordinary Expenditure	Balance of Funds
1890 . . .	4,840,000	4,570,000	3,850,000
1895 . . .	6,240,000	5,700,000	5,260,000
1900 . . .	8,890,000	8,580,000	7,820,000
1905 . . .	13,350,000	12,690,000	10,150,000
1906 . . .	14,670,000	13,210,000	11,510,000

In the above tables, statistics of sickness insurance of persons in mines and smelting works at mines are not included, there being special miners' funds for these persons. In 1905, there were 719,300 persons insured in these funds. The number of cases of sickness was 397,200, and of days of sickness, 6,633,000. The total income in 1905 was £1,340,000, including £690,000 contributed by the insured and £540,000 by the mine-owners. The total expenditure in 1905 was £1,240,000, of which £1,180,000 represented the cost of sick relief [12].

From 1885 (the date of commencement of the sickness insurance funds) down to 1906, the total receipts and expenditure (including those of the special miners' funds down to 1905) were as follows [12]:—

Total Amounts 1885 to 1906
Ordinary income—
Workers' contributions . . .	£114,000,000
Employers' contributions . . .	50,000,000
Interest, &c.	8,000,000
Total income	£172,000,000
Ordinary expenditure (excluding capital invested)—
Benefits	£150,000,000
Cost of management	9,000,000
Total expenditure	£159,000,000

During the same period (1885–1906) there occurred over 70,000,000 cases of sickness combined with incapacity for work, involving over 1,236,000,000 days of sickness [12].

(For insurance against infirmity and old age, see article on Pensions.)

AUSTRIA

Insurance against accident is compulsory in Austria for certain classes of workpeople. All kinds of accidents occurring in the course of work are covered by the insurance, except those wilfully brought about by the worker. During the first four weeks of disablement, the cost of compensation is borne by the sickness insurance funds (see below). The accident insurance funds are furnished by the employers, who may, however, deduct 10 per cent. of their contributions from the workmen's wages. The pension payable for total disablement is 60 per cent. of the annual earnings, but may not exceed £60. Less amounts are payable for partial disablement. In the event of death, burial money is payable, and pensions to surviving dependents up to 50 per cent. of the deceased's earnings [10].

The approximate number of persons insured (exclusive of persons employed in mining and smelting works, for whom there are special laws), the number sustaining accidents for which compensation became payable, and the amounts paid in compensation, are given as follows, for certain years [10]:—

Year	Approximate Number of Persons Insured	Number of Persons Sustaining Accidents Involving Compensation	Expenditure on Compensation for Accidents
1890	1,230,000	6,740	£17,100
1895	1,880,000	16,400	188,300
1900	2,370,000	23,040	559,900
1903	2,620,000	25,460	780,500

The total receipts, including balances, increased from £320,000 in 1890 to £3,040,000 in 1903. The amount placed to the credit of capital account to meet current liabilities increased from £220,000 in 1890 to £7,470,000 in 1903 [10].

Compulsory sickness insurance also exists in Austria. Workers contribute two-thirds and employers one-third to the funds, the maximum for the worker, however, being 3 per cent. of his wages. The benefits include medical attendance, &c., and sick pay from the commencement of the illness, amounting to 60 per cent. of the daily wages current in the district among workpeople covered by the insurance. This pay may continue for twenty weeks. Provision is made for women in childbirth, if insured, and for funerals. Statistics of this insurance scheme are given as follows [10]:—

Year	Number of Persons Insured on Dec. 31	Number of Cases of Sickness	Total Number of Days of Sickness	Receipts			Expenditure
				Contribution of Workers	Contribution of Employers	Total all Receipts	On Sick Relief	Total
1890 . . .	1,534,500	797,700	12,409,300	£667,480	£290,000	£1,029,980	£813,580	£945,060
1895 . . .	1,946,700	1,013,600	17,517,000	956,840	413,740	1,462,020	1,149,560	1,348,370
1900 . . .	2,343,200	1,313,100	22,708,700	1,272,460	569,380	1,966,970	1,619,790	1,900,000
1903 . . .	2,489,100	1,304,200	24,472,100	1,446,430	658,140	2,247,960	1,831,570	2,147,970

This table excludes persons employed in mining and smelting works at mines, for whom there is a special insurance scheme.

The following tables furnish statistics relating to special miners' provident funds in Austria. The cost of insurance in these funds is borne by workpeople and employers in equal parts. Officials receiving a higher salary than £100 a year pay the whole cost of their insurance. "All overseers must be insured against sickness; overseers receiving no more than £100 a year, and workpeople engaged in temporary work not directly connected with mining, must be insured against accident; and all other workpeople must be insured against sickness, accident, old age, and infirmity." The sickness allowances must at least be equal to those paid under the general insurance laws. The state pays the whole cost of sickness insurance for those workpeople employed in state-owned mines [10].

HUNGARY

Compulsory insurance against sickness is in force in Hungary for industrial workpeople generally, and is similar to the Austrian system, except that the maximum premium payable by the worker varies from 3 to 5 per cent. of the average wages in the locality and trade of the insured, and that the sick pay is generally limited to 50 per cent. of the worker's earnings. Statistics of this sickness insurance are given as follows [10]:—

Year	Number of Persons Insured	Receipts		Expenditure

The government life insurance department accounted for 45,980 policies in December 1906, and a gross amount of insurance of £10,670,000 [33].

The average amount insured per policy was, at the end of 1906 [33]:—

Ordinary insurance	£246
Industrial insurance	24

In 1901 an accident branch of the government insurance department in New Zealand was opened to insure persons against accident, but mainly to insure employers against liability under "The Workers' Compensation for Accidents Act, 1900." This act allows a workman to claim compensation for all injuries incurred in the course of his employment which are not due to his serious and wilful misconduct. The compensation payable is a maximum amount of £400 for death, the actual amount being determined according to the deceased's wages, and whether or not he leaves dependants. Incapacitation due to injury carries with it a maximum allowance of £2 per week, the total liability of the employer, however, being limited to £300 [33].

The premiums charged by the accident insurance branch are assessed on wages, and vary from 3s. per £100 of wages in the lightest occupations, to 20s. per £100 of wages in the building trades, 45s. in coal-mining, and 85s. in bush-felling [33].

The premium income and the claims under this insurance are shown as follows [33]:—

Year	Premium Income	Claims

(a) Includes 2 companies doing fire business in addition to their principal business. The authorised capital credited to these 2 is £610,000, and the paid-up capital £150,000.

(b) Includes 4 companies (authorised capital £1,640,000, and paid-up capital £420,000) doing marine business as well as their principal business.

(c) Includes 6 companies (authorised capital £2,250,000 and paid-up capital £575,000) doing transport insurance in addition to their principal business.

(d) Fidelity insurance is carried on by this company in addition to its principal business.

Under the insurance business law of 1900, insurance business may be carried on by a joint-stock company or on the mutual plan, in either case special permission being required for the establishment of the business. The capital of a joint-stock, or the fund of a mutual, insurance company must be at least £10,250, and no other business than insurance may be followed at the same time [55].

IRON AND STEEL

The production of iron ore in the chief producing countries in each year from 1896 was approximately as follows [1], [176]:—

(a) Including Luxemburg.

(b) Excluding Finland.

The production of iron ore has trebled in the United States of America since 1896, and doubled in Germany, France, and Sweden. The world's production of iron ore in 1907 was probably about 133 million tons [176].

The production of pig iron from domestic and imported ores is given as follows [1], [9], [12], [176]:—

(a) Excluding Finland.

The world's output of pig iron in 1907 is estimated at about 60 million tons, of which the United States produced 40 per cent.; Germany, 20 per cent.; and the United Kingdom, 17 per cent. [176].

The production of steel is given as follows [1], [176]:—

The world's output of steel in 1907 was about 51½ million tons [176], of which the United States furnished 45 per cent.; Germany, 23 per cent.; and the United Kingdom, 13 per cent. For every 100 tons of pig iron consumed for all purposes, the United Kingdom produced, on the average of 1905-7, about 63 tons of steel; Germany, 92 tons; France, 76 tons; and the United States, 90 tons [176]. Generally speaking, about 84 per cent. of the pig iron consumed is utilised in the production of steel [176].

The production of iron ore, pig iron, and steel, per head of population, averaged as follows [176]:—

Country	Average Annual Production per Head of Population

The differences between the quantities consumed and the quantities produced represent net imports or exports as the case may be. The United Kingdom imports from 30 to 35 per cent. of its total consumption. Germany, at the beginning of the above period, exported about as much as it imported, but is now importing more than it exports. In the last two or three years net imports have been from 10 to 15 per cent. of the consumption. The United States are practically self-supporting. Sweden exports from 70 to 80 per cent. of its production, and Spain over 90 per cent. [176].

The total consumption of pig iron is given as follows. The consumption includes foreign as well as domestic iron [1], [176]:—

(a) Including Luxemburg. Also including the "improvement trade" (Veredelungsverkehr).
 (b) Excluding Finland.

The United Kingdom has a net export of pig iron of from 600,000 to 1,800,000 tons per annum. Belgium is the only country which depends largely on foreign supplies [176].

The consumption of iron ore and pig iron per head of population averaged as follows [176]:—

(a) The ore used in the production of pig iron in the United Kingdom includes foreign as well as native ores. The production from native ores alone averages in recent years little more than 50 per cent. of the total production [22].

The production of pig iron in 1908 was 9,100,000 tons [1].

The average prices of pig iron per ton in each year from 1897 are given as follows [43]:—

1887	3,339,100 "
1897	7,157,000 "
1907 [176]	23,363,000 "
1908 [1]	14,120,000 "

The average annual production of iron and steel rails is shown thus [1]:—

Period	Iron	Steel	Total
	Tons	Tons	Tons
1885-7	18,300	1,554,000	1,572,300
1895-7	4,300	1,354,300	1,358,600

IRRIGATION

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA

The numbers of farms irrigated at various dates, together with the areas and cost of construction, are given as follows [3]:—

Year	Number of Farms Irrigated	Number of Acres Irrigated	Cost of Construction of Systems
			Total	Average per Irrigated Acre
1889	54,100	3,631,400	£	£ s. d.
1890	110,100	7,778,900
1902	133,400	9,481,300	14,839,000	1 18 0
1907 (estimated)	167,200	11,000,000	19,319,000	2 0 0
			30,900,000	2 16 0

New irrigation systems under construction at the end of 1907 covered 1,910,000 acres, the estimated cost down to the end of 1911 being £14,500,000 [3].

CAPE OF GOOD HOPE

According to the census of April 1904, there were 414,600 acres of land under irrigation, of which 386,500 acres were in the colony proper, 19,400 acres in the native territories, and 8700 acres in Bechuanaland [29].

There were also in the colony, at the same date, 2168 artesian wells (2118 in the colony proper), and 8662 other wells (7949 in the colony proper) [29].

INDIA

The total area under irrigation in 1906-7 was [5]:—

	Acres
By government canals	16,700,000
„ private canals	1,448,000
„ tanks	3,177,000
„ wells	10,949,000
„ other sources	4,381,000
Total	36,655,000

In 1897-8 the area irrigated was 30,418,000 acres. During the ten years ended with 1906-7, the average area under irrigation was 32,500,000 acres [5].

AUSTRALIA

The area irrigated in Victoria in 1906-7 was 160,600 acres. The total area of districts served by irrigation plants was 2,702,200 acres. In no other state in Australia does any considerable area appear to be irrigated. This is partly due to the fact that in those districts most liable to drought there is obtainable an abundant supply of artesian water. Both in South Australia and New South Wales there are, however, irrigation plants. In the latter state, a scheme in course of being carried out (the Barren Jack scheme) will provide the means of irrigating about 358,000 acres [15].

J

JUTE

UNITED KINGDOM

The jute industry in the United Kingdom employed in 1904 about 12,600 males and 28,600 females, a total of 41,200 persons [2].

The number of spindles and power-looms in jute factories (in some of which flax is, however, also manufactured) is given as follows [2]:—

	1890	1905
Spindles: Spinning	268,165	263,938
„ Doubling	11,874	14,203
Power-looms	14,107	13,704

The industry is chiefly centred in Scotland (round Dundee), as shown thus [2]:—

Country	Spindles, 1905	Looms, 1905
England and Wales	3,700	470
Scotland	270,800	13,070
Ireland	3,700	160
Total	278,200	13,700

The imports of jute into the United Kingdom averaged as follows [22]:—

Period	Quantity	Value
	Tons	£
1893-7	337,400	4,150,000
1898-1902	333,100	4,240,000
1903-7	323,400	5,940,000
1908	354,000	5,880,000

Of these quantities, 107,900, 113,500, 114,200, and 104,900 tons respectively, were re-exported on the average each year [22], leaving for home consumption an annual average quantity of 229,500 tons during 1893-7, 219,600 tons during 1898-1902, 209,200 tons during 1903-7, and 249,100 tons in 1908.

The exports of the domestic production of jute goods averaged [22]:—

Period	Yarn	Piece Goods	Value
			Yarn	Manufactures
	Mill. lbs.	Mill. Yards	£	£
1893-7	37.6	249	387,000	2,240,000
1898-1902	44.7	202	492,000	1,990,000
1903-7	51.9	186	742,000	2,340,000
1903	50.1	167	713,000	2,140,000

BRITISH INDIA

The area under jute in British India averaged per annum [5]:—

1,970,000 acres during 1897-8 to 1899-1900 ;
 2,180,000 " " 1900-1 " 1902-3; and
 3,030,000 " " 1903-4 " 1906-7

The estimated yield in British India and certain native states averaged per annum in the same three periods, respectively, 5,860,000, 6,850,000, and 7,900,000 bales of 400 lbs. [5].

The exports of raw jute and jute manufactures averaged per annum [5]:—

	1897-8 to 1901-2	1902-3 to 1906-7
Raw jute Value £	6,330,000	10,500,000
" Quantity, cwts.	12,360,000	14,020,000
Jute manufactures Value £	4,610,000	7,550,000
" Bags, mills.	196	225
" Cloth, mill. yds.	323	595

Jute mills in 1897-8 and 1906-7 showed as follows [5]:—

	1897-8	1906-7
Number of jute mills	34	44
Capital employed £	3,600,000	6,300,000
Persons employed No.	94,500	166,900
Looms "	12,835	25,284
Spindles "	273,450	520,500

The number of jute presses increased from 83 in 1901 to 126 in 1906, and the persons employed from 18,740 to 23,640 [5].

L

LABOUR BUREAUX, EXCHANGES, &c.

UNITED KINGDOM

The work of the London employment exchanges during 1909 was as follows [7]:—

Average monthly number of fresh applications for work	17,600
Average monthly number of situations offered by employers	4,000
Average monthly number of workpeople found work	3,400
Average number of applicants on register at end of month	11,600

The work done by the provincial bureaux in 1909 was as follows [7]:—

Average number of fresh applications for work during each month	6,000
" " situations offered by employers during each month	2,100
" " workpeople found work during each month	1,700
" " applicants on register at end of each month	13,900

Returns of about 10 women's employment bureaux showed that during 1909 there were each month, on the average, 800 fresh applications for work, 680 fresh situations offered by employers, and 210 workpeople engaged by employers (150 permanently and 60 temporarily). The chief occupation represented was that of domestic service [7].

The Labour Exchanges Act of 1909 empowered the Board of Trade to establish labour exchanges, or assist or take over existing exchanges. The first exchanges under this Board were opened during February 1910 to the number of 83 [286].

The occupations, &c., of the persons remaining on the registers at the end of each month were [7]:—

Occupation, &c., of Applicants	Average Number of Applicants on Register at End of Month
Building	1,470
Metal and engineering	960
Transport and general	3,580
Other males	3,520
Women and girls	2,030
Total	11,560

FRANCE

The number of labour exchanges (bourses du travail) in France increased from 34 in 1894 to 75 in 1900, and 130 in 1907 [9]. Nearly all of the exchanges have employment bureaux connected with them. The numbers of situations filled by means of these exchanges, so far as reported, are given as follows [194]:—

Period	Number of Exchanges Reporting	Number of Situations Secured
		Permanent	Temporary	Total	Per Exchange
Annual average: 1894-6	30	24,300	6,200	30,500	1,020
" 1897-9	38	45,700	38,500	84,200	2,220
" 1900-2	53	38,900	21,300	60,200	1,140
" 1903-5	66	58,000	30,200	88,200	1,340
" 1906	89	62,200	36,100	98,300	1,100

These exchanges make small grants to workmen travelling in search of work. "The grant is given one-half in cash, one-half in kind. The recipient must belong to a trade union or join one in six months. The man must not have left the place in which he lived for any reason except lack of work, and must present himself to each bourse in succession. Each bourse manages its own fund, this fund being maintained by a monthly contribution of one penny from each member of each trade union. The grant is at the rate of 2 francs (1s. 7½d.) for the first 25 miles or fraction of 25 miles from each bourse visited, and about 7½d. for each 12½ miles or fraction of that distance afterwards" (W. D. P. Bliss) [194].

In 1907 these bourses received a subvention from municipal authorities of £15,800, and from the departments, £2200 [9].

In 1907 there were also 325 employment bureaux established by employers' associations and federations, and 29 established by joint associations and federations of employers and employés [194].

Besides these and other agencies for finding employment for persons out of work, there are in France a number of municipal employment bureaux. In 1891 there were 24 of these bureaux; in 1896, 52; in 1906, 76, including 12 in Paris and 1 in Algiers. The work done by the bureaux which made reports is shown as follows [194]:—

Period	Bureau Reporting	Average Annual Numbers
		Permanent	Temporary	Total	Per Bureau
1896-8	35	42,580	12,830	55,410	1,580
1899-1901	32	51,320	13,680	65,000	2,030
1902-4	28	48,250	5,130	53,380	1,910
1905-6	23	40,930	4,920	45,850	1,990

GERMANY

The number of employment bureaux in Germany, and the number of situations secured, so far as reported to the German Imperial Statistical Office, were given in an official report to the Reichstag in 1906 as follows. Ordinary private bureaux conducted for gain, and certain special bureaux, are not included [194].

Kind of Employment Bureau	Number of Bureaux	Situations Secured
		Total	Number per Bureau
Guild	2,400	213,000	89
Trade union	1,000	120,000	120
Public	400	550,000	1,375
Paritätische (a)	60	51,000	850
Commercial	60	25,000	416
Employés	30	230,000	7,670
Agricultural chambers	11	50,000	4,545

(a) These are usually for special trades, and are under the control of committees composed of employers and employés in equal numbers.

The most important of these bureaux are the public employment bureaux, which exist "for finding work for men and women in any department of trade or occupation, usually without charge, or at the most for a nominal fee" (W. D. P. Bliss) [194]. The bureaux are subsidised by the state and by local public bodies. In most cases, though not all, they are controlled by municipalities. They are united in federations, and are in intimate correspondence with one another. The largest of the bureaux is that of Berlin, which is divided into about 28 different departments, of which 9 are for women. The estimated income and expenditure of this bureau in 1908 were as follows [194]:—

Income—
Subvention from city	£2,950
Registration fees	860
Annual contributions	370
Sub-rentals	370
Profits from canteen	340
Other items	330
Total receipts	£5,220
Expenditure—
Salaries	£2,000
Rent	1,380
Heating	340
Other items	1,500
Total expenditure	£5,220

The work of the Berlin bureau may be shown as follows [194]:—

Year	Number of Situations		Situations Secured
	Offered by Employers	Applied for by Workers
1902	37,935	42,829	30,534
1903	60,691	74,541	46,616
1904	90,499	99,874	67,017
1905	128,249	137,025	92,190
1906	134,474	156,817	99,557

The numbers of situations secured by the principal public employment bureaux in 1896, 1901, and 1906 are given as follows [194]:—

City	Situations filled by Public Employment Bureaux
	1896		1901		1906
	Males	Females	Males	Females	Males	Females
Berlin	19,030	1,662	24,528	2,072	84,375	15,182

(a) 1895.

(b) 1905-6.

Besides the labour bureaux, there are in Germany numerous relief stations, established to provide shelter for homeless and other working-men, and to aid them in obtaining employment. There are several kinds of these institutions, the two principal being the Herbergen zur Heimat (travellers' homes), at which working-men find a temporary home, and the Verpflegungstationen (relief stations), which furnish food and shelter for twenty-four hours (or forty-eight, including a Sunday) in return for a few hours' work in the morning. In 1906 there were 461 Herbergen, and about 1000 relief stations. During that year nights' lodgings were furnished to transient guests as follows [194]:—

	Nights' Lodgings
Paying guests	2,752,600
Aided guests	435,100
Total	3,187,700

The number of nights' lodgings furnished to boarders was 770,000. Employment was given to 159,110 applicants [194]. In 1908 there were 454 of these hostels, which gave accommodation to 2,622,000 persons, including 34,456 boarders. On the average each boarder spent 22 nights at the hostels, and the others (travellers) 1.65 nights. Situations were found for 139,090 travellers [7].

Germany has 35 labour colonies (one of which is in the United Kingdom), which were instituted for the temporary reception and employment of unemployed workpeople. Since 1882, when labour colonies were first established, over 200,000 persons have been admitted into them [7].

The admissions in 1907 and 1908, according to trade or occupation of the persons admitted, were as follows [7]:—

	Number of Persons Admitted in 1907	1908
Building trades	950	1,130
Metal and engineering trades	800	1,110
Agriculture and fishing	1,950	1,090
Commercial occupations	560	680
Food preparation trades	470	610
Wood-working, &c., trades	380	570
Clothing and cleaning	510	520
Chemical and pottery	250	370
Transport and seafaring	180	250
Other trades or occupations	1,600	1,960
Unspecified	3,110	4,300
Total	9,860	12,590

Of the persons who entered the colonies in 1908, over 6900 had been in the colonies before, 2450 once before, 1350 twice before, and 3100 more than twice. 52 per cent. of those admitted in 1908 were from 30 to 50 years of age, 24 per cent. were not more than 30, and 24 per cent. were over 50. During 1908, 11,750 persons left the colonies. Of these, 6400 left "at their own desire," 2270 were dismissed, and 380 absconded. Only 1900 left to go into situations [7].

AUSTRIA

The number and work of employment bureaux in Austria in 1906 are given as follows [194]:—

Kind of Bureau	Number of Bureaux	Situations		Situations Secured
		Offered by Employers	Applied for by Workers
Public	768	349,209	371,553	248,624
Guild or employers' unions	458	43,257	47,431	36,555
Trade union	498	28,579	46,321	23,296

Commercial	492	47,458	36,181	27,899
Total	2,746	522,913	549,625	367,486

There were also, in 1906, 7563 relief stations, which secured 41,421 situations [194].

In 1900 there were 485,200 applications at bureaux and relief stations for employment; 378,000 situations were offered by employers; and 208,400 situations were filled [195].

SWITZERLAND

Ten of the principal public employment bureaux in Switzerland received, in 1905, 59,696 applications for situations; 64,623 situations were offered by employers, and 45,024 situations were secured. Of these the bureau at Zurich had 18,305 applications for situations, 21,626 situations were offered, and 15,660 situations were secured; at Basel, there were 14,186 applications, 12,927 situations offered, and 10,780 situations found; at Bern, 9082 applications, 11,023 offers, and 6554 situations found; and at Geneva, 9083 applications, 7947 offers, and 5614 situations found [194].

LAND

GREAT BRITAIN

The numbers of agricultural holdings above one acre in Great Britain in June 1907 were returned as follows [20]:—

Size of Holding	Numbers in June 1907
	England	Wales	Scotland	Great Britain
Above 1 and not exceeding 5 acres	80,921	10,255	18,449	109,625

Total	371,475	60,636	78,843	510,954
Average size of holdings Acres	66	46	62	63

Of the above holdings it is stated that 28,403, equal to 5.6 per cent. of the total in Great Britain, were returned as not farmed primarily for business, or as a means of livelihood. Of the holdings between 1 and 5 acres in area, 11.4 per cent. were returned as not farmed for business; 5.7 per cent. of those between 5 and 50 acres; 1.6 per cent. of those between 50 and 300 acres; and 1.2 per cent of those above 300 acres [20].

By June 1908 the number of holdings had diminished as shown in the next table [184]:—

Size of Holding	Holdings in June 1908
	England	Wales	Scotland	Great Britain	Percentage Owned or Mainly Owned
Above 1 and not exceeding 5 acres	79,837	10,121	18,136	108,094	14.3

The rateable value of "lands" (including agricultural lands, other lands, farm-houses and farm-buildings, tithe-rent charges and uncommuted tithes, but excluding lands occupied as railways, canals, &c.) was ascertained for England and Wales in 1870, 1894, and 1899 as follows [184]:—

1870	£39,835,000
1894	33,655,000
1899	31,312,000

The rateable value of agricultural land only, in England and Wales, in 1901 and 1907, was as follows [184]:—

	Rateable Value in
	1901	1907
London	£23,480	£16,100

IRELAND

Particulars respecting the agricultural holdings in Ireland at the time of the last three censuses are given as follows [150]:—

	Particulars according to Census taken in
	1881	1891	1901
Number of holdings	499,109	486,865	490,301

" out-offices and farm-steadings	1,797,544	2,004,830	2,130,247

The decrease in the number of inhabited houses in which the agricultural population resided in 1901, as compared with the numbers at previous censuses, is entirely due to the gradual disappearance of the lower classes of houses; e.g. mud cabins diminished from 33,693 in 1881 to 16,891 in 1891, and to 7683 in 1901 [150].

The distribution of holdings according to size is given by the last three censuses as follows [150]:—

Holdings not exceeding £15 in rateable value constituted 59 per cent. of the total number of holdings in Leinster; 60 per cent. in Munster; 68 per cent. in Ulster; and 86 per cent. in Connaught [150].

The numbers of holdings as given by the Irish census, and reproduced above, are, however, less than the numbers published by the Department of Agriculture and Technical Instruction for Ireland. The differences are mainly explained by the fact that the census returns do not include a large number of labourers' cottage holdings and gardens, which are included by the Department of Agriculture; and also that the census returns really comprise land-holders and not holdings, so that if two or more holdings in a given county are held by a single person, they are counted in the census as one holding of their combined area or value.

The number of holdings in 1881, 1891, 1901, and 1907, and the number of resident occupiers in 1907, as given by the Department of Agriculture, were as follows [19]:—

Size of Holdings	Number of Holdings in				Number of Occupiers in 1907
	1881	1891	1901	1907
Not exceeding 1 acre	50,996	55,628	74,328	83,574	82,598

Total	577,739	572,640	590,175	599,872	552,997

The greatest differences between the numbers in this table and in the one above giving the census figures are seen to be in respect of holdings under one acre, though differences occur in respect of holdings of all sizes.

BELGIUM

The distribution of agricultural holdings in Belgium in certain years is given as follows [14]:—

FRANCE

In France there are about 5,000,000 proprietors possessing an average of 7½ acres each; 500,000 with an average of 75 acres; and 50,000 with an average of 750 acres. About 1,000,000 families possess self-sufficing freeholds [248].

THE NETHERLANDS

The land of Holland was divided as follows in 1833 and 1907 [35]:—

	1833	1907
	Acres	Acres
Uncultivated—
Heaths	2,240,000	1,390,000
Water and morass	310,000	300,000

Total cultivated and uncultivated	8,070,000	8,030,000

The distribution of agricultural land into holdings in 1895 and 1904 is given as follows [35]:—

Size of Holding	1895		1904
	Number of		Number of
	Owners	Farmers	Owners	Farmers
2½ to 12½ acres	45,240	33,940	50,350	42,350
12½ „ 24½ „	21,010	13,350	20,370	14,430
24½ „ 49½ „	17,520	12,190	16,890	12,910
49½ „ 123½ „	10,920	10,890	10,330	11,670

247 acres and over	110	60	96	88
Total	96,210	71,400	99,296	83,278

Thus in 1895, 57.4 per cent. of the total number of holdings were held by the owners, and 42.6 per cent. by farmers. In 1904 the proportions were 54.4 per cent. and 45.6 per cent. respectively.

GERMANY

The numbers of agricultural holdings (landwirtschaftliche Betriebe) in Germany according to the censuses of 1882 and 1895 were as follows [12]:—

Size of Holding	1882		1895
	Number	Per Cent. of Total	Number	Per Cent. of Total
Under 5 acres	3,061,830	58.0	3,236,370	58.2

1235 acres and over	4,140	0.1	4,180	0.1
Total	5,276,340	100	5,558,310	100

The aggregate area of these holdings was as follows [12]:—

Size of Holding	1882	1895
	Acres	Acres
Under 5 acres	5,300,000	6,000,000
5 and under 12½ acres	9,500,000	10,200,000

247 „ 1235 „	15,000,000	16,200,000
1235 acres and over	10,400,000	11,000,000
Total acreage	99,200,000	106,800,000

Of the acreage in 1895, 86 per cent. was owned by the occupiers [12].

A large number of German towns possess considerable amounts of land, both within and without their municipal area, suitable for building purposes, and so of great assistance in any schemes designed for coping with traffic and housing difficulties. The amount of land so owned by certain towns in or about the year 1903 is given as follows [261]:—

	Acres
Berlin	36,690
Breslau	16,440
Frankfort-on-Main	11,380
Görlitz	77,760
Munich	10,260
Stettin	12,900
Strassburg	12,010

HUNGARY

In 1895 there were over 2,795,000 agricultural farms. Their sizes may be classified as follows [26]:—

	Number	Aggregate Acreage
Under 7 acres	1,459,900	3,600,000
7 to 142 acres	1,311,200	28,900,000
142 to 1422 acres	20,800	8,400,000
Over 1422 acres	4,000	18,300,000
Total	2,795,900	59,200,000

In the case of the large farms of over 1420 acres, it is stated that 42 per cent. of their aggregate area is forest land, 13 per cent. pasture land, 32 per cent. ploughed land, 7 per cent. meadows, 5 per cent. non-productive, and 1 per cent. vineyards, gardens, &c. [26].

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA

The total area of the United States is about 2,285,800,000 acres [17].

The area of unappropriated and unreserved lands was about 960,000,000 acres in 1890; 920,000,000 acres in 1900; and 780,000,000 in 1907 [3].

The number of farms in the States (excluding Alaska and Hawaii) and their total acreage, according to the last four censuses, were as follows [3]:—

Census Year	Number of Farms	Total Acreage of Farms			Per Cent. of Farm Land Improved
		Improved	Unimproved	Total
		Acres	Acres	Acres
1870 (a)	2,659,990	188,921,100	218,813,900	407,735,000	46
1880 (a)	4,008,910	284,771,000	251,310,800	536,081,800	53
1890 (a)	4,564,640	357,616,800	265,601,900	623,218,700	57
1900	5,737,370	414,498,500	424,093,300	838,591,800	49

(a) Farms of less than 3 acres, which reported a sale of less than £100 worth of products in the census year, are not included in the table for these years.

In 1900, Alaska contained 12 farms comprising in all only about 160 acres. In Hawaii, in 1900, there were 2270 farms, covering altogether 2,609,600 acres, of which 294,500 acres were improved, and 2,315,100 unimproved [3].

The value of all farm property in the States, excluding Alaska and Hawaii, was returned in 1900 as £4,258,000,000. Of this total amount, farm land, with improvements, accounted for £2,720,000,000; buildings for £741,000,000; implements and machinery for £156,000,000; and live stock (on farms and ranges) for £641,000,000 [3].

The number of persons engaged in agriculture was given in 1900 as 10,438,000 [3].

CANADA

The numbers of occupiers of lands in Canada in the last four census years are given as follows [32]:—

Size of Holding	Numbers of Occupiers in
	1871	1881	1891	1901 (a)
10 acres and under	40,280	75,290	191,610	91,190
11 to 50 acres	78,880	93,330	87,880	81,240
51 to 100 acres	141,300	156,670	157,750	156,780
101 to 200 acres	82,180	102,240	130,270	150,830
201 acres and over	25,230	36,500	52,980	64,650
Total	367,870	464,030	620,490	544,690 (a)

(a) The numbers in 1901 exclude persons holding less than 5 acres. Further, the holdings in that year relate to farm land only. The numbers in 1901 are therefore not comparable with the numbers given for the earlier censuses.

The total area occupied was [32]:—

1871	Acres	36,046,000	1891	Acres	60,288,000
1881	Acres	45,358,000	1901 (farm land only)	Acres	63,334,000

The numbers of occupiers in the various provinces in 1901 are given as follows [32]:—

Province, &c.	Numbers Occupying Farm Lands in 1901						Total Area Occupied
	5 to 10 Acres	11 to 50 Acres	51 to 100 Acres	101 to 200 Acres	201 Acres and Over	Total

CAPE COLONY

The area of farm land cultivated, and the numbers of workers on farms, as returned at the census of 1904, are stated as follows [27] :—

Territory	Farm Land Cultivated	Number of Workers on Farms
		European or White		Other Races		Total
		Males	Females	Males	Females	Males	Females
	Acres
The colony proper . . .	403,000	62,215	20,326	80,490	28,028	142,705	48,354
Native territories . . .	25,000	2,806	1,356	6,659	3,589	9,465	4,945
Bechuanaland . . .	2,000	1,517	443	2,908	605	4,425	1,048
Total colony . . .	430,000	66,538	22,125	90,057	32,222	156,595	54,347

The area of the colony, including the Transkeian Territories and Walfish Bay, in 1907, was estimated at about 177,400,000 acres. Of this area, 133,800,000 acres had been disposed of, leaving 43,600,000 acres still undisposed of, excluding the railway land grant in British Bechuanaland, which was undisposed of on December 31, 1907, and amounted to about 2,000,000 acres. The number of titles to land issued in 1901 was 1277; in 1902, 453; in 1903, 1380; in 1904, 1475; in 1905, 2718; in 1906, 3532; and in 1907, 4835. The net area thus alienated was 100,400 acres in 1901, and 602,700 acres in 1907 [29].

AUSTRALIA

The total area of the several Australian states, and the areas occupied and unoccupied in 1907, and in the whole Commonwealth in 1897, are given as follows [15], [190] :—

The number of holdings in New South Wales in 1901 was 69,439, with an aggregate area of about 48,000,000 acres [15].

NEW ZEALAND

The numbers and aggregate acreage of occupied holdings in New Zealand in the years 1903-4 and 1907-8 were as follows [33]:—

Size of Holding	Occupied Holdings in New Zealand

The number of freeholders increased from 34,450 in 1886 (of whom 28,521 had holdings of from 5 to 320 acres) to 45,068 in 1906 (of whom 35,200 had holdings of from 5 to 320 acres). The number of owners (other than owners of town lands) in 1906, and the acreage and value of their holdings, are given as follows [33]:—

Size of Holding	Number of Owners	Aggregate Acreage	Capital Value	Unimproved Value

In addition to the above, there were 82,951 owners of town lands having an estimated capital value of £65,880,000 [33].

The total number of tenants of crown lands on March 31, 1908, was over 25,000, from whom a total yearly rental or instalment was payable, amounting at that date to about £530,000. The total area held by these tenants was nearly 18,300,000 acres [33].

The capital and unimproved values of land in New Zealand in 1878, 1891, and 1908 are given as follows [33]:—

	1878	1891	1908
	£	£	£
Unimproved value	62,574,000	75,832,000	161,325,000
Value of improvements	36,993,000	46,393,000	92,115,000
Total capital value	99,567,000	122,225,000	253,440,000

The increase between 1878 and 1908 in the "unimproved value" is therefore estimated at about 158 per cent., and in the value of improvements at about 149 per cent.

The total valuation of counties was £85,818,000 in 1891, and £162,290,000 in 1908; and of boroughs, £36,407,000 in 1891, and £91,150,000 in 1908 [33].

LAND TAXES

UNITED KINGDOM

The net receipt of land tax in Great Britain in recent years is given as follows [37]:—

Period	Annual Net Receipt in
	England	Scotland	Great Britain
Average of 1897-8 to 1901-2	£ 769,190	£ 32,590	£ 801,780
Average of 1902-3 to 1906-7	709,720	32,500	742,220
Year 1897-8	890,780	32,080	922,860
„ 1907-8	677,460	32,540	710,000

The receipt for Great Britain in 1908-9 was £710,910 [22].

The number of parishes charged with separate quotas in England and Wales in 1798 was 16,104, the amount being £1,857,080. Since then the amount of land tax redeemed is given as £938,659, leaving £918,421 as the amount of the quotas existing on March 25, 1908. The number of parishes charged on that date was 15,246. In Scotland, the quotas, as fixed in 1798, amounted to £47,997; tax amounting to £14,616 has since been redeemed, leaving a balance on March 25, 1908, of £33,381 [37]. This tax has become practically a fixed rent charge.

In the Budget of 1909 proposals were laid before Parliament and approved for new land taxes, comprising a duty on increase of site value, a duty on the capital value of certain undeveloped land, and a reversion duty on benefit accruing from the termination of leases.

AUSTRALIA

A land tax is levied in all the Australian states except Queensland (1908).

In NEW SOUTH WALES, a tax of 1d. in the £ is levied on the unimproved value of land after a deduction from such value of £240. Certain exemptions are allowed. In VICTORIA, every "landed estate," i.e. "land of upwards of 640 acres in extent forming one area, or separate areas not more than five miles apart, and valued at over £2500," is subject to taxation, at the rate of 1½ per cent. on the capital value above the sum of £2500. In SOUTH AUSTRALIA, the unimproved value of land is taxed at the rate of 1d. in the £. On property exceeding £5000 in value, the rate is 1½d. "for every £1 of the total assessed unimproved value over that amount." Certain exemptions are allowed. In WESTERN AUSTRALIA, a tax of 1d. in the £ of the unimproved value of land exceeding £50 total value was imposed in 1907, and came into force in 1908. A rebate of half the tax is allowed to owners of improved land. Certain exemptions are also allowed. In TASMANIA, land of a total capital value of less than £5000 is subject to a tax at the rate of ½d. in the £ of the capital value. On land valued from £5000 to £15,000 the rate is ½d.; from £15,000 to £40,000, ¾d.; from £40,000 to £80,000, 1d.; and £80,000 and over, 1d. in the £. A deduction is allowed in the case of mortgages, and certain exemptions exist [15].

The amount of land tax collected in recent years is shown as follows [15]:—

Year	New South Wales	Victoria	South Australia	Tasmania
1902-3	£ 320,700	£ 92,900	£ 105,000	£ 41,900(a)
1903-4	335,200	106,400	77,400	50,900(a)
1904-5	332,500	97,800	115,000	54,200
1905-6	339,800	103,500	94,600	54,800
1906-7	345,500	92,400	90,200	56,100

(a) Calendar years 1902 and 1903.

NEW ZEALAND

In New Zealand the land and income taxes are complementary to each other. The land tax is assessed on the unimproved value of land, "i.e. the capital value (or gross saleable value) less the value of all improvements." Income tax is not levied in respect of rents and profits derived from the direct use of land, so that improvements on land are exempt from both the income tax and the land tax. A tax is also levied on the capital value of mortgages. The rates of tax are (1908) [33]:—

Ordinary tax	1d. in the £
Graduated tax, in addition to the ordinary tax	1½d. in the £ to £2 per cent.
On capital value of mortgages	¾d. in the £

The graduated land tax is payable on land the unimproved value of which is not less than £5000, and reaches its maximum at the value of £200,000 [33].

Certain abatements and exemptions are allowed.

The number of land-tax payers and the yield of the tax increased as follows [33]:—

Period	Taxpayers	Land Tax
1897-8	13,132	£267,286
1902-3	18,869	296,062
1907-8	28,991	537,846

The number of freeholders in 1908 was estimated at 150,000, and the crown tenants numbered about 24,180. The number of actual taxpayers was only 28,991, in consequence of the exemptions, &c., allowed [33].

LEAD

The total production of lead in certain countries in 1897, 1901, and 1906, is given as follows [12]:—

The most obvious features in this table are that the greatest expectation of life is shown at age 10, except in the case of New Zealand, and that the expectation of life for females is, in most countries, greater than for males at all ages. The two countries Italy and India are exceptions. It is interesting to note that the several expectations appear about the same in England and Wales, and Scotland; again in Denmark, Norway, and Sweden; and again in Belgium and France. In Finland and Prussia the figures run fairly close together, but the data employed for the respective states relate to different periods. All such comparisons as these, however, must be used with caution, since the methods by which tables like the above are calculated are not identical in different countries, and the statistics used in the construction of the tables are themselves only approximately correct.

The numbers of males and females surviving at various ages out of every 1000 born are given in the following table. The data on which the figures are based relate to the period stated against the name of each country [58].

The figures in this table are only approximately correct, since the data on which they are based are the age-distribution of the population as given at one or two censuses, and the average annual numbers of deaths at each age as recorded in registers of deaths. In some cases no correction has been made for the notorious misstatements of age at the censuses. Comparisons between one country and another should accordingly not be pressed too far. Generally speaking, however, it is deducible from the table that of each thousand males born, one-third to one-quarter die, in most countries, before the tenth year; one-half are dead by the time the survivors reach the age of fifty to sixty. In India the ravages of death appear startling. One-third of the males die during their first year; half of the males born are dead by about the tenth year. Death-rates of females are generally slightly less than those of males. This fact is brought out in the table, where it is seen that more females per 1000 born survive at each age than is, on the whole, the case with males at similar ages. In Hungary, Italy, and India this phenomenon tends to be reversed at ages between twenty and fifty.

The next table shows more closely than the last the age at which there are 500 survivors out of every 1000 born, that is, the period during which 1000 born are reduced to exactly half that number. The figures for each country are based on statistics of the same period as in the previous table [58]:—

Country	Age at which 1000 Born have been Reduced to 500 Survivors		Country	Age at which 1000 Born have been Reduced to 500 Survivors
	Males	Females		Males	Females
England and Wales	53	58	Prussia	49	56
Denmark	61	65	Holland	57	61

Sweden	62	65	France	54	59
Finland	49	54	Italy	53	53
Austria	38	42	India	12	13
Hungary (Kingdom of)	40	39

Hungary is the only country given in this table in which the age for females is lower than for males. In most cases it is four to six years higher. The extraordinary position of India is very clearly shown.

The survivals of infants at various ages during the first year of life are given as follows for the period of 1901-5, unless otherwise stated [58]:—

The figures in the above table, relating to England and Wales, are based on the population enumerated at the censuses, and on the deaths registered during the respective decennial periods. The figures for healthy districts for the period 1881-90 are based on the population and mortality in 263 districts, each of which had a corrected death-rate in the decennium 1881-90 not exceeding 15 per 1000 at all ages. The mean population of those districts was 4,603,000 persons. For the period 1891-1900, the selected healthy districts numbered 260, and were those each of which had a corrected death-rate in this decennium of not more than 14 per 1000 at all ages. Their mean population was 4,477,000 persons.

The following table shows the number of survivors during the first year of life of 100,000 infants born, the figures being based on the mean number of births registered during 1904 and 1905, and the deaths under one year of age registered in the latter year [172]:—

LIGHTING

LONDON

Electric Lighting

The capacity at the end of the year 1906 or 1906-7 of the electrical plant of the London borough councils was 58,120 kilowatts, and of companies supplying the administrative county of London, 132,480 kilowatts. The total capacity was therefore 190,600 kilowatts. The total number of public lamp standards connected on circuit at the end of the year was about 8550, of which 6300 were arc lamps [113].

The capacity of plant in the hands of public authorities supplying Outer London was 39,550 kilowatts, and of plant belonging to private companies, 16,000 kilowatts, being a total capacity at the end of the year 55,550 kilowatts. The number of public lamp standards connected on circuit in Outer London was 13,040, of which 2080 were arc lamps [113].

The number of units sold by the London borough councils during 1906 or 1906-7 was about 53,700,000, which was 81 per cent. of the total number generated (66,300,000). Power and heat absorbed 13,300,000 units; private lighting, 30,500,000 units; and public lighting, 9,900,000 units. The quantity sold by companies was 115,700,000 units, of which 80,000,000 were for private lighting, and 4,100,000 for public lighting. In 1901-2, the borough councils sold 16,700,000 units, of which 4,800,000 were for public lighting; and the companies sold 62,700,000 units, of which 2,600,000 were for public lighting [113].

In the extra-London area, 37,000,000 units were sold by public bodies, out of 44,600,000 units generated. Private lighting accounted for 13,400,000 units, public lighting for 7,300,000, and power and heat for 16,300,000 units. Public companies sold in Outer London 12,000,000 units, of which 3,300,000 were for private lighting, 260,000 for public lighting, and the balance of 8,440,000 for power and heat [113].

Gas Lighting

The gas companies supplying the administrative county of London had in 1907 in that area [113]:—

4,450 miles of gas mains;
90,720 public gas lamps; and
1,098,000 private consumers.

The quantity of gas made was 45,904 million cubic feet. Of this quantity, 2297 million cubic feet, or 5 per cent., were unaccounted for, that is, lost by leakage, &c. [113].

(a) Excluding sums received by the Metropolitan Water Board.

(b) Excluding loans raised by school boards for areas other than London and county boroughs. The amount of such loans in 1902-3 was £1,163,000. (c) Includes £45,944,000 on account of Metropolitan Water Board.

(d) Includes £47,439,000 on account of Metropolitan Water Board.

The total receipts in 1906-7 were £138,290,000, and in 1907-8, £140,110,000; the total expenditure, £137,190,000 and £137,760,000 respectively; and outstanding loans, excluding the Metropolitan Water Board, £447,080,000 and £455,520,000 respectively [292].

The total number of local public authorities in England and Wales which had financial transactions in the year 1905-6 was over 25,500. In 1901-2 the number was over 28,300 [173].

The principal sources and the amounts of the aggregate receipts of local authorities in the years 1901-2 and in 1905-6 were as follows [173]:—

Source of Receipts	Aggregate Receipts in
	1901-2	1905-6

Total ordinary expenditure	87,380,000	111,340,000
Expenditure out of loans	33,920,000	25,140,000
Total expenditure	121,300,000	136,480,000

(a) Amount in 1902-3.

The expenditure of the Metropolitan Water Board is excluded from this table. It amounted in 1905-6 to £3,340,000 [173].

The loan charges shown in the table fell to be borne in 1901-2 and 1905-6 principally by the following services [173], [247]:—

	1901-2	1905-6		1901-2	1905-6
	£	£		£	£
Lighting (not gas)	700,000	1,730,000	Sewerage	1,280,000	2,310,000
Gasworks	1,000,000	1,460,000	Tramways and light rail- ways	580,000	1,570,000
Harbours, &c.	1,380,000	1,730,000	Waterworks	2,360,000	3,280,000
Education	1,950,000	2,420,000	Other items	5,910,000	5,770,000
Highways, &c.	1,780,000	2,840,000
Lunatics and asylums	380,000	590,000	Total	£18,340,000	£25,010,000
Police and police stations	100,000	120,000
Poor relief	920,000	1,190,000

These amounts must be added to the amounts shown above to obtain the total expenditure under each head. The several amounts are, however, only approximate, since it is not practicable always to allocate loan charges to particular services. The separate amounts given are therefore more or less understated.

The expenditure out of loans was incurred principally on account of the following services [173]:—

	1901-2	1905-6
	£	£
Education	2,560,000	2,370,000
Electric lighting	3,910,000	2,390,000

Harbours, docks, &c.	1,320,000	1,780,000
Bridges, highways, and street improvements	5,410,000	3,110,000
Sewerage	2,600,000	2,780,000
Tramways and light railways	4,770,000	3,130,000
Waterworks	3,240,000	3,180,000
Housing of working classes	780,000	550,000
Lunatic asylums	1,090,000	890,000
Poor law purposes	1,590,000	1,000,000
Other items	4,740,000	3,440,000
Total	33,920,000	25,140,000

The gross amounts of outstanding loans of local authorities at the end of 1901-2 and 1905-6, and the principal services for which the debts were incurred, are given as follows [173]:—

	1901-2	1905-6
	£	£
Education	33,480,000	40,630,000
Sewerage	33,200,000	38,860,000
Poor law purposes	11,270,000	13,360,000
Highways, bridges, and tunnels	46,340,000	58,800,000
Electric lighting	14,830,000	27,490,000
Gasworks	22,300,000	23,720,000
Harbours, docks, piers, canals, and quays	38,020,000	44,300,000
Tramways and light railways	12,930,000	28,140,000
Waterworks	58,960,000	118,830,000 (a)

Parks, open spaces, &c.	6,890,000	8,240,000
Other items	42,810,000	52,660,000
Total	343,420,000	482,980,000

(a) Includes £47,440,000 outstanding on account of the Metropolitan Water Board.

The gross estimated rental and the rateable value of property assessed to local rates in certain areas in England and Wales in March or April 1901 and 1906, are given as follows [173]:—

Area	Gross Estimated Rental		Rateable Value
	1901	1906	1901	1906
	£	£	£	£
London (County Council area)	47,900,000	53,200,000	39,800,000	43,900,000
County boroughs	52,400,000	63,300,000	42,900,000	51,000,000

Total, England and Wales	224,600,000	254,900,000	186,500,000	207,100,000

In connection with this table it should be noted that county boroughs increased in area from 420,100 acres in 1901 to 478,500 acres in 1906; other boroughs from 734,300 acres to 773,700 acres; and other urban districts from 2,619,800 acres to 2,629,200 acres. The area of rural districts decreased from 33,478,500 acres in 1901 to 33,371,300 acres in 1906. The area of the administrative county of London was 74,800 acres, and of England and Wales as a whole, 37,327,500 acres [173].

The principal classes of property rated are shown as follows [173]:—

Class of Property Assessed to Rates	England and Wales		London Only
	1901	1906	1901	1906

Total	186,500,000	207,100,000	39,800,000	43,900,000

The rateable value of England and Wales in 1908 was £212,800,000, and of London only, £44,700,000 [118].

The average amounts of public rates raised by local authorities in 1901-2 and 1905-6 were as follows [173]:—

(a) In addition there was each year a small expenditure out of contingent, depreciation, or reserve funds. The greatest amount so expended was £83,370 in 1906-7; and the smallest, £7241, in 1903-4.

(b) Prior to 1902-3 capital receipts and expenditure refer only to money borrowed.

The average rate of assessment per £1 of gross rental has steadily increased since 1897-8. In that year it was 3s. 1.8d. per £1; in 1901-2 it had risen to 3s. 7.9d. per £1; and in 1906-7 to 4s. 0.7d. per £1. If local rates be expressed as an average rate per head of estimated population, the amounts would be 19s. 2.9d. per head in 1897-8; £1, 3s. 3.9d. in 1901-2; and £1, 7s. 0.1d. in 1906-7 [174].

The main heads of expenditure in 1906-7 are given as follows [174]:—

Chief Purposes of Expenditure	Expenditure in 1906-7 out of
	Ordinary Receipts	Capital Receipts
	£	£
Revenue-producing undertakings	6,060,463	1,789,345

Total expenditure	15,061,908	3,308,365

The receipts from gas supply amounted in 1906-7 to £1,833,145; from electricity supply, to £517,545; from tramways, to £1,187,094; from harbours and ports, &c., to £1,136,082; and from water supply, about £1,000,000, or, excluding assessments, to £433,259 [174], [175].

The total debt of local authorities in Scotland outstanding at the close of the year 1906-7 was £63,898,800, equivalent to £2, os. 2d. per £ of the gross rental of the whole of Scotland (which was £31,813,300), or £13, 7s. 1d. per head of the estimated population. Of this debt, however, about £42,400,000 was on account of revenue-producing undertakings, mainly waterworks, £12,800,000; harbours and docks, £12,100,000; electricity works, £3,700,000; gasworks, £6,700,000; tramways and light railways, £3,800,000; and workmen's dwellings, £2,200,000 [174], [175].

The amounts of annuities and outstanding loans at the end of each year from 1896-7 are given as follows [22]:—

Year	Capitalised Values of Annuities at End of Year	Loans Outstanding at End of Year	Total
1896-7	5,117,000	35,704,000	40,821,000

Of the total debt at the end of 1906-7, £12,900,000 represented loans on account of reproductive undertakings, mainly, waterworks, £3,600,000 outstanding; harbours and docks, £3,400,000; electricity and gasworks, £1,300,000; tramways and light railways, £1,000,000; and workmen's dwellings, £3,500,000 [175].

The valuation in 1907 of houses and other hereditaments in Ireland was £6,478,000, and of lands, £9,055,700 [19].

THE NETHERLANDS

The total receipts and expenditure of the local authorities in Holland were as follows in recent years [35]:—

Year	Provinces		Communes
	Total Receipts	Total Expenses	Total Receipts	Total Expenses
1900	£ 441,000	£ 458,000	£ 9,980,000	£ 9,180,000

1905	718,000	703,000	12,750,000	12,090,000

The provincial revenue is derived mainly from additions to the state taxes and from loans; and the communal revenue from loans, taxes, state and provincial grants, industrial undertakings, &c. Communal expenditure is largely on account of the communal debt, education, industrial undertakings, and public works.

The communal debt at the end of 1905 amounted to £27,730,000. At the end of 1900 it was £21,320,000 [35].

The receipts and expenses of the communes of Anvers (297,000 inhabitants), Brussels (199,000 inhabitants), Liège (172,000 inhabitants), and 13 other communes of 40,000 inhabitants and upwards, in 1905, were [14]:—

Other expenses	130,000	336,000	512,000
Total	452,000	735,000	982,000

The provincial debt amounted to £900,000 at the end of 1890; £1,400,000 at the end of 1900; and £1,500,000 at the end of 1906 [14].

The ordinary receipts and expenditure and debt of the communes are given as follows [9]:—

Year	Ordinary Receipts	Ordinary Expenditure	Communal Debt
1898	£ 30,200,000	£ 28,900,000	£ 145,800,000
1899	30,600,000	29,200,000	147,200,000

1908 [293]	36,500,000(a)	35,200,000(a)	166,600,000

(a) Budget estimates.

The receipts from octroi in 1901 and 1907 were as follows [9]:—

	1901	1907
	£	£
Liquids	3,420,000	3,320,000
Eatables	3,770,000	3,850,000
Combustibles	1,820,000	1,970,000
Other articles	2,110,000	2,290,000
Total	11,120,000	11,430,000

The ordinary expenditure of the city of Paris in 1907 amounted to £13,900,000, towards which the octroi contributed £4,400,000; direct taxes, £3,360,000; revenue from gasworks, £1,250,000; and revenue from canals and water supply, £1,000,000 [86]. The debt of Paris on January 1, 1908, was £100,900,000 [293].

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA

The revenue and expenditure of the States and other divisions in the United States in the year ended June 30, 1902, were as follows [3]:—

(Dollar taken as 4s. 2d.)

(a) Financial year 1903.

(b) Estimated.

(c) Excluding temporary payments, and payments on account of principal of public debt.

(d) These totals are only approximations, since the revenue and expenditure of cities from 8000 to 25,000 inhabitants are for the year 1902-3, while for "all other minor divisions" they are estimates.

The net State and local debts outstanding at the end of the year 1902-3 were as follows [3]:—

	Outstanding Debt (a)
States and territories	£48,940,000
Counties	40,950,000
Cities, townships, school districts, &c.	298,630,000
Total	£388,520,000

(a) Dollar taken as equal to 4s. 2d.

Between 1800 and 1900 the waterworks owned by public authorities are said to have increased from 6 per cent. to 60 per cent. of the whole number in operation at the two dates. Of the 50 largest cities in the United States, only 9 are dependent (1906) on private companies for their water supply [200].

In 1906, the public gas plants of the United States numbered 25, against 15 in 1900 [200].

The public electric lighting plants numbered 927 in 1904, and over 1000 in 1906 [200].

INDIA

The income and expenditure of municipalities and of district and local boards, in India, in recent years, are given as follows [5]:—

Year	Municipalities			District and Local Boards
	Revenue (a)		Expenditure	Revenue (a)		Expenditure

(a) Excluding balances.

The main sources of the income of municipalities are rates and taxes (octroi, tax on houses and lands, water rate, &c.), receipts from markets and slaughterhouses, state grants, and loans. The principal heads of expenditure are debt charges, water, drainage, conservancy, roads, hospitals, education, lighting, and police [5].

Rates and taxes of municipalities increased from 2s. 5d. per head of population in 1897-8 to 3s. 2d. per head in 1906-7, while the total revenue increased from about 3s. per head in 1897-8 to 4s. 6d. per head in 1906-7 [5].

The income of district and local boards increased from 2½d. per head of population in 1897-8 to 3½d. per head in 1906-7 [5].

JAPAN

The annual revenue and expenditure of local bodies in Japan are stated as follows [55]:—

(Yen taken as 2s. 0.6d.)

Financial Years	Revenue		Total Expenditure
	Rates	Total Revenue
	₹	₹	₹
1899-1900	7,850,000	13,380,000	11,790,000
1900-1	9,040,000	15,100,000	13,390,000
1901-2	10,260,000	16,500,000	14,670,000
1902-3	10,980,000	17,800,000	15,850,000
1903-4	10,810,000	17,950,000	16,170,000
1904-5	8,270,000	13,480,000	12,480,000
1905-6 (a)	8,780,000	13,910,000	12,890,000
1906-7 (a)	9,300,000	14,510,000	14,380,000
1907-8 (a)	10,860,000	17,730,000	17,020,000

(a) The figures for 1905-6, 1906-7, 1907-8 are the budget estimates. In other cases, the figures represent the settled accounts.

The rates yield about 60 per cent. of the total revenue. The rest of the revenue is derived from subventions from the state and (in the case of cities, towns, and villages) from the prefectures; also rents, fees, and miscellaneous receipts.

The revenue or expenditure of the communes is from 60 to 65 per cent. of the total revenue or expenditure shown in the above table, and that of the departments makes up the remainder, namely, from 35 to 40 per cent. [115].

The amount of local loans in Japan, classified according to the objects for which they were raised, are given as follows [55]:—

Year	Amount of Local Loans on Account of					Total of Local Loans at End of Year
	Education	Sanitation	Industry	Public Works	Other Objects
	Thous. £	Thous. £	Thous. £	Thous. £	Thous. £
1899	24	9	17	2,828	387 (a)	3,265
1900	34	9	29	3,773	535 (b)	4,380

1905	438	1,197	391	3,903	481	6,410
1906	435	1,153	408	5,470	454	7,920
1907	502	1,240	1,326	5,294	782	9,150

(a) Includes £372,000 not classified according to object for which raised.

(b) " £513,000 " " " " " " "

(c) " £770,000 " " " " " " "

The raising or alteration in the amount of a loan requires the permission of the central authorities, except in the case of (1) city, town, or village loans, which are to be redeemed within three years; (2) district loans, so long as the total amount does not exceed £102 (for these, prefectural permission is required); and (3) prefectural loans, so long as their total amount does not exceed £5120 [55].

M

MAIZE

The world's production of maize in recent years is given approximately as follows [18]:—

(a) Including Bosnia and Herzegovina.

The average annual yield of maize per acre during 1901-5 was 25 bushels in the United States [18], 19 in Austria-Hungary, 20 in Italy, 13 in Roumania, 14 in Russia [16], and 23 in Australia [19].

The chief countries exporting maize, and the quantities exported during the period 1902 to 1906, are given as follows [1], [18]:—

Exporting Countries	Quantities Exported in
	1902	1903	1904	1905	1906
	Bushels	Bushels	Bushels	Bushels	Bushels

(a) The free ports are not included prior to March 1, 1906.

The United Kingdom, Germany, Belgium, Denmark, and the Netherlands, are dependent on other countries for the whole supply of their maize. Austria produces about half its requirement, and France 70 per cent. (1901-5) [16].

Russia, during 1901-5, exported on the average 50 per cent. of its production, and Roumania 39 per cent. [16].

(b) Period 1886-90.

(c) Period 1862-70.

(d) Period 1883-90.

A marked feature of this table is the general fall in the marriage-rate between the decades 1871-80 and 1881-90 and its recovery in the next decade, though not to the level of the rate prevailing in 1871-80. In many cases, however, such as Denmark, Sweden, Servia, and South Australia, the fall was unbroken from the decade 1871-80 to the last decade. It is interesting to notice that although France has a medium marriage-rate, yet the birth-rate in that country is the lowest in Europe, averaging 22.2 per 1000 of the population in the decade 1891-1900. Ireland, with the lowest marriage-rate in Europe, had a birth-rate of 23 per 1000 in the decade 1891-1900. The highest marriage-rates are seen to be in Servia, Saxony, and Russia; the lowest in Ireland, Sweden, Chile, and Uruguay.

Taking the adult population as consisting of persons aged 15 and upwards, the numbers of adult males and females, and the proportions married, unmarried, widowed, and divorced in several states at the censuses taken in or about the year 1900, were as follows [12]:—

State	Males Aged 15 and Upwards				Females Aged 15 and Upwards

(a) Includes widowed.

Blanks in the "divorced" columns indicate that divorced persons were not separately returned as such.

The greatest proportions of married persons, namely, over 60 per cent., occur in British India, the Balkan States of Servia, Roumania, and Bulgaria, the Russian Empire, and Hungary; and the lowest proportions, namely, less than 40 per cent., in Ireland, Cuba, Western Australia, and Queensland as regards males, and Ireland and Cuba as regards females. The proportion of women of 15 years of age and upwards in British India who are spinsters is remarkably small, while the proportion of widows is exceptionally high. The proportion of women who were or had been married at the time of the census in the respective countries is almost universally greater than the corresponding proportion of men, despite the fact that in most countries there are more women than men, at least in European countries. Considering only those actually married, however, the proportion of women who are wives is generally less than the proportion of men who are husbands, except in those countries where the men aged 15 and over outnumber the women. This of course is what one would naturally expect. India, however, is an exception, and it may be that many men returned themselves as married who were in reality widowed at the time of the census.

Taking the ages 15 and 49 as the practical limits for child-bearing, the proportion of married women between these ages to 1000 of all women of the same ages was as follows at the dates of successive censuses in the countries specified [58]:—

Taking the marriageable portion of the population to be bachelors of 18 years of age and upwards, spinsters of 15 and upwards, and all widowed and divorced persons, the average marriage-rate per 1000 such persons was as follows in the countries named [58]:—

Countries	Average Annual Marriage-rate per 1000 Marriageable Persons			Average Annual Marriage-rate per 1000 Total Population

The rates among the widowed and divorced male members of the community are seen to exceed considerably those among the widowed and divorced females. The actual numbers of bachelors, spinsters, divorced and widowed persons who married in 1905 in various countries were as follows [58]:—

(a) Includes 544 males and 210 females not classified.

From the above table it is seen that the number of spinsters marrying exceeded the number of bachelors, except in Western Australia; while more widowers than widows, and more divorced males than divorced females remarried, except, as regards divorced persons, in some of the German and Australian states and Servia, and, as regards widowed persons, except West Australia. This relation is better exhibited in the next table, in which is given the number of bachelors, spinsters, widowed and divorced persons who married in every 1000 marriages. The proportions are based mainly on the records of marriages for 1901-5 [58]:—

(d) 10 males and 4 females per 1000 marriages unclassified.

The greatest proportion of bachelors in every 1000 marriages is seen to be in the Australasian states, Belgium, Sweden, Denmark, and the United Kingdom; the lowest is in Japan, Hungary, Servia, and Bulgaria. The greatest proportion of spinsters is in Sweden, Ireland, Denmark, Norway, New Zealand, and Würtemberg; the lowest is in Japan, Bulgaria, and Hungary. Hungary has the greatest proportion of widowers (151 per 1000 marriages); New Zealand the lowest (54 per 1000). The greatest number of widows in every 1000 marriages is found in Bulgaria; the smallest number in Japan. Of divorced persons who remarried, Japan has many times more in every 1000 marriages than any other country, the numbers being 101 males and 93 females. Saxony comes next with 17 males and 18 females.

Taking the marriageable part of the population to be bachelors aged not less than 18, spinsters aged not less than 15, and all widowed and divorced persons, the rate of marriage per 1000 such persons within certain age-groups was as follows in the states named [58]:—

(a) The age-groups for the first two periods are under 21; 21-24; 25-29, &c.

From the above table it is seen that, generally speaking, in 1000 marriages the proportion of persons aged less than 30 has been increasing at the expense of those above that age. The most notable exceptions are England and Wales and Scotland, where the age-groups 25 to 39 have contributed more and more persons to the marrying population, and other age-groups fewer. The tendency, therefore, in these two countries is to marry slightly later in life, and in other countries earlier, than was the case fifteen years ago. In France, the proportion of males in the age-group 25 to 30, and of females in the age-group 20 to 24, is growing, while the proportion is remaining stationary or diminishing in other age-groups. Curiously, in Hungary the age-group 60 and above appears to yield a growing proportion of men, and the group 50 and above of women, to 1000 marriages. In the majority of the countries included in the table the age-group 25 to 29 furnishes the greatest percentage of males, and the group 20 to 24 the greatest percentage of females, in every 1000 marriages. In England and Wales, Finland, and Japan, the group 20 to 24 gives the greatest percentage of males as well as of females; while in Hungary, the group 20 to 24 for males, and 15 to 19 for females, gives the highest percentage.

The above table, of course, gives no information as to the changes in the absolute numbers of persons marrying in the various age-groups. These numbers are shown in the following table, from which it is seen that they have increased in many groups, and diminished in others, the diminutions or increases not being confined to any particular age-groups [58]:—

Excluding Prussia, because included in Germany, in seven of the remaining fourteen European states the minimum number of marriages occurs in March. These states are Russia, Germany, Belgium, France, Spain, Servia, and Austria. It will be noted that most of these countries are preponderantly Roman Catholic in religion, and the small relative number of marriages in March, or really Lent, is due to religious interdictions on marriage at that period. All these countries have a second minimum in December, when the minimum of Austria also occurs, a fact to be explained by this period embracing Advent and Christmas. The number of marriages is also low in all the European countries about July and August, when harvesting operations are in progress. Half the countries have their maximum in October and November. In Cape Colony, the maximum percentage occurs in April (corresponding in season to the European autumn), and the minimum percentage at the beginning of the year.

The mean age of persons who married in the two quinquennial periods 1891-95 and 1896-1900 was as follows in the countries named [58]:—

State	Bachelors		All Men		Spinsters		All Women
	1891-5	1896-1900	1891-5	1896-1900	1891-5	1896-1900	1891-5	1896-1900
England and Wales	26.5	26.6	28.4	28.4	25.0	25.1	26.2	26.2
Sweden	28.9	28.7	30.7	30.2	27.0	26.7	27.6	27.2

Queensland	27.8	28.4	28.9	...	23.2	23.7	24.2
Western Australia	28.4	...	29.1	...	24.6	...	25.0

The above mean ages are only approximate, and are not absolutely comparable with one another, so far as different countries are concerned, since they are based on age-groups and not exact ages, and these groups sometimes differ from state to state. The figures relating to the same country at different periods are, however, comparable with one another.

ENGLAND AND WALES

The mean age at marriage of men and women in England and Wales has gradually increased in recent years, as shown in the following table [62]:—

Class	Mean Age at Marriage
	1896-9	1900-3	1904-7
Husbands—	Years	Years	Years
All husbands	28.37	28.49	28.56
All bachelors	26.50	26.81	27.02
All widowers	44.52	45.02	45.32
Bachelors with spinsters	26.34	26.52	26.75
Bachelors with widows	34.06	34.12	34.32
Widowers with spinsters	41.50	42.22	42.54
Widowers with widows	49.71	49.74	50.24
Wives—
All wives	26.19	26.35	26.37
All spinsters	25.12	25.32	25.45
All widows	40.68	40.42	40.64
Spinsters with bachelors	24.60	24.81	24.98
Spinsters with widowers	32.56	32.95	33.21
Widows with bachelors	35.90	35.79	36.11
Widows with widowers	45.00	44.97	45.43

The following table shows the proportion of marriages that took place in England and Wales according to the rites of the Established Church, and by other means [62]:—

Period	Number per 1000 Total Marriages
	According to Rites of Established Church	In Registered Buildings		According to Rites of Jewish Religion	According to Rites of Quakers	Civil Marriages in Register Offices
		Roman Catholics	Nonconformists
1841-50	896	73		1.4	0.5	29
1851-60	831	47	66	1.7	0.4	54
1861-70	778	45	91	1.8	0.3	84
1871-80	739	42	107	2.3	0.3	109
1881-90	706	43	115	3.3	0.3	132
1891-1900	686	41	121	5.4	0.3	146
1901-7	644	41	130	7.4	0.3	177

The steady proportional growth of civil marriages and of marriages in Nonconformist buildings is noticeable in this table. Roman Catholic marriages have declined somewhat in proportion, while marriages according to the rites of the Church of England have also relatively diminished in a marked degree.

The proportion of persons who signed the marriage register with marks instead of their names has diminished continuously. In every 100 marriages the proportion who signed with marks during 1841-5 was 33 among the men and 49 among the women. In 1901-5 these proportions had fallen to 2 among men and 2.4 among women. In 1906 the proportions were 1.5 and 1.9; and in 1907, 1.4 and 1.7 respectively [62].

SCOTLAND

The proportions of marriages celebrated according to the rites of certain churches in Scotland are given as follows [61]:—

Period	Number of Marriages according to Rites of Churches in every 1000 Marriages					Irregular Marriages per 1000 Total Marriages
	Established Church	Free Church	United Presbyterian Church	Roman Catholic Church	Other Churches
1871-80	456	223	130	90	91	10
1881-90	461	203	116	98	97	25
1891-1900	451	190 (a)	110 (a)	98	104	47
1901-6	453	270		106	110	61

(a) Average during 1891-9. These two churches were united in 1900, and became the United Free Church.

From this table it appears that marriages according to the rites of the Established Church and of the United Free Church and its forerunners have proportionately declined compared with marriages otherwise solemnised.

During the period 1901-6, 88.5 per cent. of the marriages solemnised in Scotland took place between bachelors and spinsters, 2.5 per cent. between bachelors and widows, 6.5 per cent. between widowers and spinsters, and 2.5 per cent. between widowers and widows [61].

IRELAND

Nearly 70 per cent. of the marriages in Ireland during the period 1897-1907 were solemnised according to the rites of the Roman Catholic Church [65].

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA

Marriage statistics for the United States are incomplete, though statistics have been collected for a population embracing over 95 per cent. of the total population of the States. In this part of the community the marriages numbered as follows [193]:—

1890	531,500	1905	804,800
1895	598,900	1906	853,300
1900	685,300

The marriage rate per 10,000 unmarried persons aged 15 years and over, in the area covered by the returns, was 316 in 1890 and 321 in 1900. The rate in 1900 varied in different parts of the Union as follows [193]:—

North Atlantic States	260	South Central States	436
South Atlantic States	350	Western States	273
North Central States	322	Continental United States	321

(a) For British Columbia, Nova Scotia, Ontario, and Quebec only.

(b) Matabele, and Mashonaland mines only.

(c) Figures for 1905.

(d) Inclusive of the average number of persons (viz. 174,000) employed full time at quarries, and not the maximum number employed (viz. 477,000) at any time during 1907, for however short a period. There were 6760 mines, &c., in Luxemburg, in which country ore containing 2,650,000 tons of iron was produced.

(e) Figures for 1906.

(f) Figures include coal miners and only ore miners of Colorado, Michigan, Missouri, and Montana.

(g) Output in South Australia only.

The totals in the above table are incomplete, since estimates for many countries are not available. The numbers employed in getting coal alone amounted to more than half of the total number of miners, &c., shown in the table, there being over 925,000 in Great Britain, 680,000 in the United States, 611,000 in Germany, 183,000 in France, 145,000 in Russia (1906), 142,000 in Belgium, 126,000 in Austria, and 112,000 in India [281].

The value of the world's output of minerals in 1907 was about £935,000,000, of which coal accounted for about £418,000,000 [281]. In 1906, the total value of the mineral output was about £850,000,000, of which coal was credited with over £340,000,000 [196].

The quantities of metals shown against the several countries in the table are those quantities which are "considered obtainable from the ores raised in the countries in question," and are not necessarily, or even generally, the quantities of metals actually produced in those countries. (For the production of gold, silver, and other metals, see also articles under their respective names.)

UNITED KINGDOM

The number of persons employed at mines and quarries in the United Kingdom in 1907 are given as follows [197]:—

Country	Numbers Employed in 1907
	Coal Mines	Iron Mines	Other Mines	Quarries	Total
England (excluding Monmouth) (c)	601,200	15,500	16,400	58,200	691,300

(a) Includes 600 in Isle of Man.

(b) Includes 100 in Isle of Man.

(c) Persons employed in Monmouth numbered 47,800.

Persons employed only occasionally at quarries are excluded from the above table.

Of the persons employed at coal mines, 81 per cent. (comprising 6000 males aged 13 to 14, 41,300 aged 14 to 16, and 697,900 above 16) worked under-ground, and 19 per cent. above-ground. The latter comprised 2700 males aged 12 to 14, 13,900 aged 14 to 16, and 157,700 above 16; and also 20 females aged 12 to 14, 740 aged 14 to 16, and 4840 above 16. The Yorkshire, Derbyshire, and Nottingham coalfield employed 214,600 persons; the South Wales coalfield, 190,300; and the Durham and Northumberland coalfield, 186,400. These three coalfields together employed, therefore, over 60 per cent. of the total persons employed at coal mines in the whole kingdom [197].

Of the persons employed at iron mines, 76.5 per cent., comprising 300 males aged 14 to 16, and 13,100 above 16, worked under-ground, and the remainder above-ground. The latter consisted of 400 males aged 12 to 16, and 3700 above 16 [197].

The workers in "other mines" consisted of 410 males aged 13 to 16, and 17,460 above 16, who worked under-ground; and 740 males and 20 females aged 12 to 16, and 10,760 males and 240 females above 16, who worked above-ground [197].

Of the workers at quarries, 900 males aged 12 to 16, and 55,000 aged above 16, worked inside the quarries; and 1500 males aged 12 to 16, and 30,400 above 16, worked outside. Only 25 females were employed [197].

There were, in 1907, 1279 deaths from 1195 fatal accidents at mines in the United Kingdom, 1216 of which occurred at coal mines. Most deaths (namely, 46 per cent. of the total) were occasioned by falls of ground. At quarries, there were, in 1907, 89 deaths resulting from 88 fatal accidents [197].

The average annual death-rate from accidents at mines per 1000 persons employed, during the period 1898 to 1907, was 1.4 for under-ground workers, 0.8 for above-ground workers, and 1.3 for all workers. The average death-rates at mines for the 50 years ended 1900 were 2.6 for under-ground workers, 0.9 for surface workers, and 2.25 for all workers. The averages for the period 1851-5 were 5.1, 1.0, and 4.3 respectively. The average annual death-rate at quarries during the period 1898 to 1907 was 1.5 per 1000 persons employed inside the quarries, 0.4 per 1000 employed outside, and 1.1 per 1000 of all persons employed [197].

In mining coal in 1907, 390 collieries used coal-cutting machines to the number of 1493, 643 of which were worked by electricity and 850 by compressed air. In 1906, the number of machines was 1136, used in 333 collieries. The mineral cut by these machines was 13,000,000 tons in 1907, and 10,000,000 in 1906 [197].

The values and quantities of the chief minerals produced in 1906 and 1907 are stated as follows [76]:—

Mineral	1906		1907
	Quantity	Value at Mines, &c.	Quantity	Value at Mines, &c.
	Tons	£	Tons	£
Clays and shale	15,291,000	1,768,000	14,828,000	1,850,000

Total value of all minerals	106,000,000	...	135,000,000

The total value of the metals obtainable by smelting from the mineral ores covered by the preceding table is given as about £19,000,000 in 1906, and £20,500,000 in 1907. Iron accounted for most of this total value, being valued at £17,600,000 for 5,040,000 tons in 1906, and at £19,000,000 for 5,127,000 tons in 1907. The tin obtainable was valued at £820,000 in 1906 for 4500 tons, and at £769,000 in 1907 for 4400 tons [76].

The total output of minerals from mines was about 287,000,000 tons in 1907, and 271,000,000 tons in 1906. The annual average output in the decade 1883 to 1892 was 187,000,000 tons; and in the decade 1893 to 1902 it was 219,000,000 tons [198]. The total output of minerals from mines in 1908 was about 279,000,000 tons, of which about 262,000,000 tons were coal [199].

The total output from quarries was about 47,000,000 tons in both 1906 and 1907. The average annual output during the period 1895-1904 was 41,000,000 tons [198].

The quantities and values of all minerals, and of coal separately, which were produced in 1907 in the several parts of the United Kingdom, are given as follows [76]:—

Country	Production in 1907
	All Mineral Produce		Coal
	Quantity	Value	Quantity	Value
	Tons	£	Tons	£
England (including Monmouth) (a)	239,684,000	89,710,600	187,386,500	79,227,100
Wales	45,017,900	25,341,500	40,252,200	23,525,500
Scotland	48,342,900	19,956,000	40,092,500	17,728,100
Ireland	1,350,500	215,700	99,700	46,700

Total	334,438,100	135,279,200	267,830,900	120,527,400

(a) The total production in Monmouth was 14,019,000 tons; and of coal alone 13,195,700 tons.

NORWAY

The total value of minerals produced from mines in Norway was £420,000 in 1905, £540,000 in 1906, and £595,000 in 1907. In 1905, iron pyrites accounted for £220,000 for 160,000 tons, and copper ore for £110,000 for 37,000 tons. In 1906, the production of iron pyrites was 195,000 tons, valued at £284,000, and of copper ore, 32,000 tons, valued at £127,000. In 1907, 232,000 tons of iron pyrites were produced, valued at £305,000, and 39,000 tons of copper ore valued at £126,000. Iron ore was produced to the value of £24,000 for 46,000 tons in 1905, of £57,000 for 108,000 tons in 1906, and £90,000 for 138,000 tons in 1907. £28,600 worth of silver in 1905, £27,500 worth in 1906, and £27,900 in 1907, were also produced [196], [281].

SWEDEN

The numbers of persons employed at mines and quarries in Sweden in 1907 are given as follows [281]:—

Kind of Mine, &c.	Numbers Employed in 1907
	Under-ground		Above-ground		Total
	Men	Young Persons Under 18	Men	Women and Young Persons Under 18
Coal mines	1,300	130	540	40	2,010
Iron mines	3,370	60	5,560	970	9,960
Other mines	870	2	900	280	2,050
Feldspar quarries	40	...	100	40	180
Total employed	5,580	190	7,100	1,330	14,200

The quantities and values of the chief minerals produced are stated as follows [281]:—

Mineral	Production in
	1906		1907
	Quantity	Value	Quantity	Value
	Tons	£	Tons	£
Iron ore	4,420,000	1,490,000	4,400,000	1,520,000

Total mineral production, including minerals not specified above	2,030,000	...	2,080,000

The iron ore deposits in Sweden are enormous. In the principal Norbotten and Central Swedish mines alone, the deposit of iron ore is estimated by Professor Törnebohm to be about 1200 million tons [196].

Certain quantities of copper ore are also obtained in Sweden, the output in 1906 amounting to 19,000 tons, and in 1907 to 21,600 tons [281]. The output of the chief mining products in 1896 is given for comparison thus [1] :—

	1896 Tons
Coal	222,000
Iron ore	2,000,000
Zinc ore	43,000
Copper ore	24,000

THE NETHERLANDS

There is not much mining in Holland. In 1905 there were 2030 persons (all males) employed at mines ; in 1906 the number was 2280 ; and in 1907, 4020. At mineral workings other than mines there were employed only 110 persons (males) in 1905 ; 103 in 1906 ; and 95 in 1907. The value of the production, consisting of building stone and coal, was £205,000 in 1905 ; £245,000 in 1906 ; and £410,000 in 1907 [196], [281].

There are in Holland immense peat bogs, which cover an area of nearly 140 square miles, the area dug annually being about 2 square miles [281].

BELGIUM

The number of persons employed at mines and quarries in 1907 was 180,600 ; 142,700 of these being at coal mines, 1000 at ore mines, and 36,900 at quarries. The persons employed at coal mines comprised 2190 males aged 12 to 14, 4520 aged 14 to 16, and 98,010 aged above 16, as well as 17 females aged above 21 years, all employed under-ground. Employed above-ground there were 1700 males aged 12 to 14, 1720 aged 14 to 16, and 26,570 aged above 16 ; and also 3050 females aged 12 to 16, 3550 aged 16 to 21, and 1370 above 21 [281]. The number of quarries was 1648 in 1905, and 1680 in 1906. The number of coal mines worked was 121 in 1905, and 122 in 1906 [14].

The total value of the mineral production in 1906 was about £16,700,000, and in 1907 about £18,700,000. The greater part of these amounts was made up of the value of coal produced. In 1906 this value was £14,100,000 for 23,200,000 tons, and in 1907, £16,000,000 for 23,300,000 tons. Building and other stone, &c., accounted for £1,700,000 in 1906, and £1,800,000 in 1907 [281]. The coal produced in 1908 was about 23,100,000 tons, valued at £16,200,000 [1].

Comparative statistics for 1895 and 1900 are given as follows [14] :—

	1895	1900

There were also employed at wells producing brine or other mineral solutions, in 1907, 10,990 men and 84 women, a total of about 11,070 persons [281].

The total number of persons employed in and about quarries at any one time in the year 1907 was 477,000. The number employed full time, however, reckoning 300 days' work per year per person, was only 174,400 [281].

The numbers employed in 1907 in Prussia alone were as follows [281]:—

Kind of Mine	Below-ground	Total
Brown coal	15,400	53,990
Coal	377,900	503,230

Saxony produced in 1907 2,440,000 tons of brown coal, valued at £340,000, and 4,800,000 tons of coal, valued at £3,133,000. The total value of all minerals produced in Saxony in 1907 was £3,560,000. The number of persons employed at mines was 31,460, including 370 females. Of these, 24,880, including 250 females, were employed at coal mines [281].

Alsace-Lorraine contributed 13,870,000 tons of the empire's production of iron ore in 1907, valued at £2,205,000 [281].

The empire's production of coal in 1908 was about 145,100,000 tons, valued at £76,090,000; lignite, 66,400,000 tons, valued at £9,050,000; and iron ore, 24,000,000 tons, valued at £4,980,000 [1].

Comparative statistics for the empire in 1897 are given as follows [12]:—

Most of the copper ore and cupreous pyrites are from the province of Huelva. The Rio Tinto mines alone produced 1,890,000 tons in 1906 [196]. The total production from the whole province in 1907 was 2,995,000 tons [281].

The amount of quicksilver contained in the ore produced in 1906 was 1505 tons; and in 1907, 1323 tons. The principal mine is the Almaden mine, in the province of Ciudad Real [196], [281]. It is estimated that the Almaden mines contain 1,200,000 tons of mineral, equivalent to about 3,000,000 flasks of mercury [281].

Comparative statistics for 1896 are given as follows [1]:—

BOSNIA AND HERZEGOVINA

The number of persons employed at mines and salt works in these two states in 1906 was 2874 (of whom 1685 were employed at coal mines), and in 1907, 3240 (of whom 2129 were employed at coal mines). The value of the mineral production in 1906 was £168,000, chiefly made up of 585,000 tons of brown coal, valued at £110,400, and 134,000 tons of iron ore, valued at £31,200; and in 1907, £187,800, comprising mainly 610,000 tons of brown coal, valued at £125,600, and 148,000 tons of iron ore, valued at £39,300 [281].

RUSSIA

The numbers of persons employed at mines and other mineral workings in Russia in 1906 were [281]:—

Coal mines	145,390
Gold mines	70,700
Iron ore mines	32,830
Naphtha wells	29,330
Salt mines, &c.	16,240
Stone quarries	34,880
Others	30,930
Total	360,300

The chief mineral products of Russia are iron, coal (including anthracite and lignite), petroleum, gold, copper, zinc, salt, and platinum. The quantities produced in 1902 and 1907 are given as follows [196], [281]:—

Minerals or Metals	Quantities Produced

(a) Production of Baku wells only.

The most productive coal region is the Donetz Basin, which covers an area of 16,000 square miles, and has seams varying in thickness from 1 to 7 feet. The output of this region in 1907 was 16,400,000 tons of coal. The Polish coal region is next in importance, yielding in 1907 about 5,500,000 tons of coal (including brown coal). Of the petroleum produced in 1907, over 7,600,000 tons came from the wells near Baku [196], [281]. The platinum comes from alluvial deposit in the Urals, which, in fact, supply the bulk of the world's production of this metal.

The total value of the mineral production of Russia is given as £26,600,000 in 1902, and £40,500,000 in 1906. The pig iron produced in 1902 was valued at £9,000,000; coal at £5,800,000; petroleum at £4,900,000; gold at £4,200,000; salt at £800,000; copper at £750,000; and platinum at £500,000 [196]; while in 1906 the values were: coal, £11,100,000; petroleum, £12,500,000; gold, £5,000,000; salt, £900,000; copper, £980,000; and platinum, £900,000 [281].

GREECE

In 1906 there were 11,000 persons employed at mines in Greece, and in 1907 the number was 11,700. The value of minerals produced rose from £840,000 in 1906 to £950,000 in 1907, the chief minerals being lead (argentiferous pig lead), of which 12,000 tons, valued at £285,000, were produced in 1906, and 13,600 tons, valued at £313,500, in 1907; iron ore, of which 670,000 tons, valued at £196,000, were produced in 1906, and 756,000 tons, valued at £229,000, in 1907; and zinc ore, the production of which in 1906 was 26,000 tons, valued at £108,000, and in 1907, 30,000 tons, valued at £120,000 [281].

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA

The quantities and values of the chief minerals and metals produced in the United States in 1902 and 1907 are stated as follows [3], [281]:—

(a) Values are those at New York City.

(b) Coining value.

(c) Commercial value. Other values are those at the place of production.

(d) Including brown coal and lignite, and anthracite other than that mined in Pennsylvania.

The quantity of copper produced in 1908 was 420,000 tons, valued at £26,100,000; pig iron, 15,500,000 tons, valued at £55,200,000; lead, 285,000 tons, valued at £5,500,000; zinc, 188,000 tons, valued at £4,100,000; anthracite coal, 72,000,000 tons, valued at £32,800,000; bituminous coal, 300,000,000 tons, valued at £79,900,000; and 7757 million gallons of petroleum, valued at £28,100,000 [1].

The United States are the greatest producers in the world of copper, coal, and iron. The output of copper in 1907 was equal to about half of the world's total production. There are three great copper states: Montana, which produced 26 per cent. of the whole United States copper production in 1907; Arizona, which produced 30 per cent. of the total; and Michigan, which produced 25 per cent. of the total [281].

The chief coal-mining states and their output, with the average number of persons employed at the coal mines in 1907, are given as follows [281]:—

State	Average Number of Persons Employed at Coal Mines	Output of Coal, 1907	Tons of Coal Raised per Person Employed
Pennsylvania—		Tons	Tons
Anthracite	167,230	76,800,000	450
Bituminous	163,300	133,400,000	810
West Virginia	59,030	42,900,000	720
Illinois	65,580	45,800,000	700
Ohio	46,830	28,700,000	610

The average number of persons employed at coal mines in 1907 in the whole union was 680,490, and the average number of tons of coal raised per person was 630 [281].

The bituminous coal-fields of the States cover an area of about 335,000 square miles [196]. Including lignite, the coal area is nearly 500,000 square miles [281]. The anthracite deposits cover an area of about 484 square miles, and are almost wholly confined to Pennsylvania [196]. There were 11,144 coal-cutting machines in use in 1907 [281], compared with 3125 in 1899 [196]. Of the total output of coal in 1907 about 32 per cent. was machine-mined [281].

The chief states in which iron ores were produced in 1907 are shown as follows [281]:—

State	Production in 1907
	Red Hematite	Total of all Ores
	Tons	Tons
Minnesota	28,950,000	28,950,000
Michigan	11,800,000	11,800,000

Other states	2,100,000	6,880,000
Total production	46,000,000	51,670,000

The chief gold-producing states are: Colorado, which produced 1,010,900 oz. in 1907; California, which produced 815,300 oz.; Nevada, 745,500 oz.; and Utah, 247,800 oz. The production in Alaska territory amounted to 894,400 oz. [281].

Of the total production of petroleum in 1907, the Californian field furnished 24 per cent.; the Appalachian field, 15 per cent.; the Lima-Indiana field, 8 per cent.; the Mid-Continent field, 28 per cent.; and the Gulf field, 10 per cent. [281].

Of the total production of silver in 1907, Montana supplied about 20 per cent.; Colorado, about 20 per cent.; Utah, about 20 per cent.; Idaho, about 14 per cent.; Nevada, about 15 per cent.; Arizona, about 5 per cent.; and California, nearly 3 per cent. [281].

CANADA

The mining production of Canada in 1906 and 1907 is shown as follows [281]:—

The total value of production in British Columbia in 1906 was £5,300,000, comprising 2,200,000 tons of coal, valued at about £1,600,000; 18,200 tons of copper, valued at £1,680,000; 21,300 tons of lead, valued at about £500,000; 238,000 oz. of gold, valued at £1,000,000; and 2,745,000 oz. of silver, valued at £350,000. Over 6,000,000 tons of coal were produced in Nova Scotia. Most of the silver is mined in Ontario, the production in 1907 being 10,028,000 oz., valued at £1,265,000. Ontario also produced building materials to the value of £1,500,000, and 9800 tons of nickel, valued at £470,000 [281].

NEWFOUNDLAND

The mining production of Newfoundland was valued at £300,000 in 1906 and £274,000 in 1907. The principal product was iron ore, 885,000 tons, valued at £199,000, being produced in 1906, and 864,000 tons, valued at £195,000, in 1907 [281].

MEXICO

The persons employed at mines in Mexico in 1905 numbered as follows [281]:—

Men	91,920
Women	630
Boys	4,740
Total	97,290

Mexico is the greatest silver-producing country in the world, nearly 40 per cent. of the total output of 1907 being obtained in that country. The quantities and values of the principal minerals exported in 1906 and 1907 are given as follows [281]:—

Mineral	Exports in

PERU

The number of persons employed at mines and mineral workings in Peru is estimated to have been about 13,000

CHILI

The numbers of persons employed at mines and mineral workings in Chili in 1905 were as follows [281]:—

Coal mines	6,500
Metalliferous mines	15,500
Nitrate of soda	30,600
Other mineral workings	1,000
Total	53,600

in 1905, 14,000 in 1906, and 16,900 in 1907 [196], [281].

The quantities and values of the chief minerals produced in 1906 and 1907 are given as follows [281]:—

BOLIVIA

The total value of minerals produced and exported through the ports of Antofagasta and Mollendo in 1906 is given as £3,700,000, and in 1907 £3,200,000. These amounts were chiefly made up of 29,000 tons of tin ingots and ore in 1906, estimated to contain 50 to 60 per cent. of metal, and valued at £2,940,000; and 27,000 tons in 1907, estimated to contain 60 per cent. of metal, and valued at £2,390,000. The remainder for the most part consisted of silver ingots, ore, and sulphide, valued in 1906 at £400,000, and in 1907 at £520,000; copper ingots, precipitate matte, and ore, valued in 1906 at £280,000, and in 1907 at £205,000; and bismuth, valued in 1906 at £96,000, and in 1907 at £75,000 [281].

The value of the minerals and metals produced in 1907 was £21,600,000, largely made up as follows [281]:—

Nitrate of soda	1,850,000 tons, valued at	£17,320,000
Copper (fine)	28,400 "	2,100,000
Coal	820,000 "	1,060,000

In 1906 the persons employed numbered 30,000, and the total value of the minerals produced, £7,660,000, of which diamonds accounted for £6,992,800 for 2,742,870 carats; copper ore for £497,000 for 85,400 tons; and coal for £118,000 for 127,600 tons [196].

NATAL (including Zululand)

The number of persons employed in mining on December 31, 1907, comprised 381 whites and 7058 coloured persons, making a total of 7439. In 1906 the number employed was about 7000. Coal is the most important mineral worked, the coal mines employing, in 1907, 340 whites and 6880 coloured persons. The production of coal in 1906 was 1,239,000 tons, valued at £524,300; and in 1907 1,530,000 tons, valued at £690,400. The total value of all minerals produced was £524,700 in 1906, and £694,200 in 1907 [29], [196].

(a) Includes 51,517 Chinese.

The total value of mineral production in 1906 is given as £27,400,000. This includes £24,606,000 for 5,792,800 ounces of fine gold, £1,563,000 for 1,069,400 carats of diamonds, and £832,000 for 2,583,000 tons of coal. The average number of persons at work at mines in 1906 is given as 170,500, inclusive of 46,700 Chinese [281].

It is seen that gold-mining is by far the most important of the mining industries of the Transvaal. The production of gold in each year from 1895 is given as follows [281]:—

Year	Annual Production of Gold
	Quantity	Value
	Fine Ozs.	£
1895	2,017,440	8,569,560
1896	2,025,510	8,603,820

1906	5,792,820	24,606,340
1907	6,450,740	27,400,990

The production of gold in 1908 was valued at about £30,000,000, and in 1909 at about £31,000,000 [295].

ORANGE RIVER COLONY

On December 31, 1907, 1210 whites and 8919 coloured persons were engaged in mining. Of these, 914 whites and 6550 coloured persons were employed at diamond mines, and 72 whites and 1428 coloured persons at coal mines [29].

The production in 1907 was as follows [281]:—

Diamonds	528,072 carats, valued at	£1,407,100
Coal	498,300 tons	153,700
Salt (1907-8)	19,100 "	32,300

The total value of the mineral production of the colony was £1,600,000 [281].

The total value of production in 1906 was £1,160,000, of which diamonds accounted for £1,040,000 for 324,000 carats, and coal for £110,000 for 339,000 tons [196].

RHODESIA

The numbers of persons employed in mining on December 31, 1907, and the production of minerals during 1907, are given as follows [29]:—

Kind of Mine	Numbers Employed December 31, 1907			Production in 1907

(a) These figures represent sales of coal.

The total value of production in 1906 was £2,080,000, largely made up of gold, of which 467,000 fine ounces were produced, valued at £1,990,000 [196].

AUSTRALIA AND NEW ZEALAND

The numbers of persons employed at all mines in 1906 and 1907 (including persons employed at alluvial gold workings) in the various Australasian States are given as follows [281]:—

States	Persons Employed at Mines		States	Persons Employed at Mines
	1906	1907		1906	1907

INDIA

The approximate numbers of persons employed at mines and quarries in India in 1907 were [281]:—

	Under-ground	Above-ground	Total
Males	72,150	39,800	111,950
Females	35,380	19,850	55,230
Total	107,530	59,650	167,180

The greatest numbers were in coal mines (112,500), manganese ore mines (20,960), and mica mines (17,980). Persons in Mysore gold mines are not included in the table.

The values and quantities of the chief minerals produced in 1898 and 1907 are given as follows [5]:—

(a) Year 1906.

The total value of mineral production in India in 1907 is given as about £7,400,000 [281].

CEYLON

The total value of mineral production in Ceylon in 1906 was £1,000,000, including £700,000 for 36,000 tons of plumbago, £148,000 for precious stones and pearls, and £108,000 for 25,600 tons of salt [196]. In 1907 the total value of production fell to £800,000, including £600,000 for 32,500 tons of plumbago, only £9200 for precious stones and pearls, and £120,000 for 29,400 tons of salt [281].

The numbers of persons employed at mines and mineral workings in 1907 were [281]:—

	Under-ground	Above-ground	Total
Males . . .	18,260	61,910	80,170
Females . . .	30	7,770	7,800
Total . . .	18,290	69,680	87,970

FEDERATED MALAY STATES

The total value of minerals produced in the four states of Negri Sembilan, Pahang, Perak, and Selangor in 1906 was £8,580,000, and in 1907, £8,160,000, comprising, in 1906, £8,540,000 for 48,600 tons of tin and £46,000 for 11,600 ozs. of fine gold, and in 1907, £8,100,000 for 48,400 tons of tin and £61,400 for 15,350 ozs. of fine gold. In 1906 Perak was credited with £4,560,000 on account of tin, and Selangor with £2,810,000, the quantities being 25,950 tons and 15,990 tons respectively; and in 1907 Perak produced 25,700 tons of tin, valued at £4,290,000, and Selangor 16,300 tons, valued at £2,730,000 [281].

The production of tin here spoken of includes the metal obtained by smelting on the spot, and also the estimated metal equivalent of the ore exported.

The numbers of persons employed at mines in 1907 were [281]:—

Negri Sembilan	21,970
Pahang	14,390
Perak	118,860
Selangor	76,140
Total	231,360

JAPAN

The numbers of persons employed at mines and mineral workings in Japan in 1906 and 1907 are given as follows [281]:—

Kind of Mine, &c.	Numbers Employed
	1906	1907
Coal mines	106,590	128,770
Metal mines	73,750	76,720

(a) Excluding the output of Formosa.

(b) Excludes value of salt produced, which was £1,000,000 in 1905, but not stated in 1906 or 1907 [196]. [281].

CHINA

China is rich in coal. 300 million tons are estimated to be contained in the Ping-hsiang coal-field (Tsu-chuan) alone. The total output of coal in 1906 has been estimated at 8,890,000 tons, of which only 1,830,000 tons were from mines worked by improved methods [281].

The total output of fine gold in 1907 was estimated at about 220,000 ounces, valued at £924,000 [281].

In 1907, 3700 tons of tin were exported, valued at £549,000; 7600 tons of zinc ore, valued at £14,300; 3190 tons of lead ore, valued at £11,000; 105,500 tons of iron ore, valued at £38,300; and 33,300 tons of pig iron, valued at £151,400 [281].

(a) Average of two years only.

Peru is similar to Great Britain; and Belgium, Bulgaria, Crete, Greece, Italy, Roumania, Servia, Spain, and Switzerland have legal provisions similar to those of France.

During the 35 years from 1873 to 1907 the world's coinage of gold has amounted to 371,251,000 fine ounces, valued at £1,598,000,000. The coinage of silver in the same period totalled 3,854,041,000 fine ounces, of a coinage value of £1,038,000,000 [49].

The quantities and values coined since 1900 are given as follows [49]:—

(Dollar taken as 4s. 2d.)

The value of British gold coin imported during 1904-8 averaged £8,140,000 per year, and the value exported averaged £15,110,000 per year. The imports of British silver coin during the same period averaged £270,000 per year, and the exports £760,000 per year [22].

The profit of the Royal Mint in London on account of coinage in the year 1908 was £561,000; in 1907 it was £848,000; in 1906, £499,000; in 1905, £8200. In 1904 a loss of £19,600 was incurred, the previous occasion on which expenses exceeded receipts being in 1882, when the deficiency was £46,000. The net average annual profit between 1872 and 1908 was £250,000 [182].

From 1892 to 1908 the amount of gold coin withdrawn from circulation was £60,162,800, including £1,362,800 received by the Mint as bullion; the amount issued was £152,054,400, being a net addition to the gold currency of £91,891,600 (exclusive of importations from the Australian mints) [182].

The total value of the deficiency in weight of the gold coins withdrawn (1892 to 1908) was £794,900, equal, on the average, to a deficiency of 2.42 pence per sovereign and 2.193 pence per half-sovereign. The total value of the deficiency in standard fineness was £18,900 [182].

The amount of silver coin withdrawn from circulation in the United Kingdom from 1892 to 1908 was £6,440,000, and the amount of new coin issued was £10,260,000 [182].

The mean age of sovereigns withdrawn from circulation fell from 27.3 years during 1899 to 1903 to 24.4 years during 1904-8, and the mean annual loss per sovereign increased slightly from 0.0801d. to 0.0841d. The mean age of half-sovereigns during the same period fell from 16.24 years to 15.355, and the mean annual loss increased from 0.0981d. to 0.1029d. [182].

The gold currency in banks and in circulation at the end of 1907 was estimated at £116,000,000, and the silver currency at £24,000,000 (nominal value). Bank notes in circulation in the whole kingdom amounted to about £44,800,000 in December 1907, of which some £24,100,000 were uncovered by gold and silver, although securities were held by the Bank of England to the amount of £18,450,000 [49].

- (a) Including nickel coin to the value of £800,000.
- (b) Practically all nickel coin.
- (c) Including nickel coin to the value of £59,000.

The stock of treasure in or belonging to the national treasury at the end of 1907 was as follows [54]:—

Gold coin and bars	£12,130,000
Silver coin and bars	2,870,000
Nickel	100,000
Bronze	100,000
Total	£15,200,000

The amount of government notes in circulation in Italy at the end of 1907 was £17,500,000, of which an amount of £12,800,000 was uncovered [49].

The bank notes circulating on December 31, 1907, amounted to £74,000,000, of which an amount of £20,400,000 was uncovered [49].

The total amount of notes in circulation was therefore £91,500,000, of which an amount of £33,200,000 was uncovered [49].

AUSTRIA-HUNGARY

The amount of coinage in Austria-Hungary since 1881 has been as follows [1], [182], [183]:—

Years	Coinage of

The stock of money in the United States on June 30, 1908, was [49]:—

Gold bullion	£16,700,000	Silver coin	£149,000,000
Silver bullion	1,700,000	Notes	188,400,000
Gold coin	320,000,000	Total	£675,800,000

The stock of coin and bullion in the States has increased as follows [49]:—

Year	Stock of Coin and Bullion			Amount per Capita
	Gold	Silver	Total	Gold	Silver	Total
	£	£	£	£	£	£
1878	44,400,000	18,300,000	62,700,000	0.9	0.4	1.3

MEXICO

The coinage of gold and silver in 1905, 1906, and 1907 was as follows [49]:—

Year	Gold	Silver	Total
1905	150,000	1,530,000	1,680,000
1906	5,460,000	2,350,000	7,810,000
1907	2,210,000	2,010,000	4,220,000

BRAZIL

The currency in circulation was valued at £46,736,000 in 1906 [79].

The present gold coinage consists of the following pieces [79]:—

- 20,000 reis weighing 17.929 grammes; $\frac{1}{2}$ fine; value £2, 4s. 10.7d.
- 10,000 reis weighing 8.965 grammes; $\frac{1}{2}$ fine; value £1, 2s. 5.35d.
- 5,000 reis weighing 4.482 grammes; $\frac{1}{2}$ fine; value £0, 11s. 2.7d.

As regards gold, the mint par of 1000 reis (= 1 milreis) is therefore 26.9d.

Notes, silver, nickel, and copper pieces are convertible at 15d. per milreis (1000 reis), equivalent to 16,000 reis to the pound sterling.

The gold milreis being 27d., and the paper milreis only 15d., gold is at a premium over paper of 80 per cent.

The coinage of gold and silver in Brazil in recent years has been as follows [49], [182]:—

Year	Coinage of
	Gold	Silver	Total
	£	£	£
1903	1,960	20	1,980
1904	1,600	...	1,600
1905
1906	820	124,000	124,820
1907	8,440	894,000	902,440
1908	14,100	454,000	468,100

In 1908, £30,700 worth of bronze was coined [182].

The above coinages constitute practically the total metal circulation of Brazil. The values given for the silver are nominal values. The actual gold value of the silver currency given above is only about £580,000. The amount of inconvertible paper money in circulation in February 1908 was about £72,000,000 face value, or about £40,000,000 gold value [49].

AUSTRALIA

For the value of the coinage at the mints in Sydney, Melbourne, and Perth, see under the United Kingdom (p. 417).

The stock of money in Australia in 1906 has been estimated to have been [15]:—

In circulation—
Sovereigns	£2,500,000
Half-sovereigns	500,000
Silver and bronze	1,200,000
Coin in banks (June quarter 1907)	22,400,000

During the quarter ended June 30, 1907, there were also in banks £770,000 Queensland treasury notes, and in circulation £720,000 Queensland treasury notes, and £3,560,000 other notes [15].

INDIA

The value of money coined at the Calcutta and Bombay mints in recent years is given as follows [5], [182]:—

(Rupee taken as 1s. 4d.)

Years	Coinage of
	Silver	Copper	Total
1896-7	£ 1,310,000	£ 120,000	£ 1,430,000

(a) Including bronze coinage to the value of £120,000.
 (b) Including £155,000 worth of nickel coinage.

The value of government currency notes in circulation on March 31 in each year since 1897, and the amount of reserve of the paper currency department, are given as follows [5]:—

March 31	Government Currency Notes in Circulation	Reserve
		Gold	Silver	Government Securities
1897	£ 15,840,000	£ ...	£ 9,170,000	£ 6,670,000

1907	31,300,000	3,660,000	9,140,000	6,670,000

The gold standard reserve increased from £3,030,000 on March 31, 1901, to £16,840,000 on March 31, 1907. This latter amount consisted of £20,000 in gold in India, £300,000 due from treasury balances, £4,000,000 in coined rupees in India, and £12,520,000 in British funds [5].

The cash balances at the treasuries and agencies of the Indian government on March 31 in recent years were as follows [5]:—

Year	In India	In England	Total
March 31, 1897	£ 9,250,000	£ 2,830,000	£ 12,080,000

JAPAN

In 1897 Japan finally adopted a gold standard as the basis of its currency, after experiencing during the preceding twenty-five years first a gold monometallic system, then a gold and silver bimetallic system, and lastly a silver monometallic system. The fineness of the coins is now as follows [55]:—

- Gold coins . . . nine-tenths pure gold, one-tenth copper.
- Silver coins . . . eight-tenths pure silver, two-tenths "
- Nickel coins . . . one-quarter nickel, three-quarters "
- Bronze coins . . . 95 hundredths copper, 4 tin, and 1 zinc.

(The 10-yen silver piece is, however, 72 hundredths pure silver and 28 copper.)

The weights of the gold coins are as follows [55]:—

- 20-yen pieces 16.6665 grammes.
- 10-yen " 8.3333 "
- 3-yen " 4.1666 "

The weights of the other coins are as follows [55]:—

- 50-sen silver pieces 10.125 grammes.
- 20-sen " 4.05 "
- 10-sen " 2.25 "
- Nickel pieces 4.6654 "
- 1-sen bronze piece 7.128 "
- 5-rin 3.564 "

(The yen = 100 sen = 24.582d.)

The total amount of gold coins minted in 1907 was £1,840,000, and of silver coins, £1,770,000. The amount of money in circulation and in banks, &c., in 1907 was £55,090,000. Of this amount, £5,450,000 was in gold coin, £9,850,000 in silver, £1,870,000 in nickel and bronze, and £37,920,000 in convertible bank notes. The total amount in circulation was £52,110,000. Bank notes are allowed to be issued in Japan by the Bank of Japan. Notes may be issued up to an amount of £12,295,000 against a reserve of government and other reliable securities or commercial bills. The reserve against the issue of all notes over this amount must be gold and silver coin and bullion to an amount equal to this extra issue of the notes. But silver coin and bullion must not exceed one-fourth of the whole reserve. In times of stress or necessity the issue of notes against securities may be increased with the consent of the Minister of Finance. The denominations of the notes are one, five, ten, twenty, fifty, one hundred, and two hundred yen (that is, 2s. 0½d.; 10s. 3d.; £1, 0s. 6d.; £2, 1s.; £5, 2s. 5d.; £10, 4s. 10d.; and £20, 9s. 8d.) [55].

The amount of bank notes issued by the Bank of Japan, and the proportions of specie and securities held as reserve, since 1898, are given as follows, it being understood that the total reserve equals the total issue of notes [55]:—

Year	Amount of Bank Notes Issued	Percentage of Total Reserve held in
		Specie	Securities
1898	£ 20,230,000	45.4	54.6
1899	25,680,000	44.0	56.0
1900	23,430,000	29.5	70.5

(a) Excluding vessels condemned and to be removed from the list.

(b) Including four projected.

(c) Including twenty-four not commenced.

The following table shows the total number of war vessels included in the above table as built which were completed for service in and since the year 1900 [201].

Country	Number of War-Vessels completed in and between 1900 and March 1909

(b) Incomplete totals.

The total numbers of big guns of 4-inch calibre and upwards, included in the armament of battleships and cruisers completed on March 31, 1909, are given approximately as follows [201]:—

Country	Numbers of Guns on Completed Vessels, March 31, 1909
	Battleships		Armoured Cruisers		Other Cruisers

The latest completed modern battleships in the several navies at March 31, 1909, compare as follows [201]:—

Navy	Latest Completed Battleships at March 31, 1909 (a)
	Name	Displacement (Tons)	Horse-power	Armament
British	Bellerophon	18,600	23,000 (Turbine Machinery)	10 12-inch 16 4-inch 5 machine guns 3 torpedo tubes
French	Vérité	14,633	20,433	4 12-inch 10 7.6-inch 25 smaller guns 2 torpedo tubes
Russian	Slava	13,516	16,000	4 12-inch 12 6-inch 52 smaller guns 2 torpedo tubes
German	Schleswig-Holstein	13,040	17,900	4 11-inch 14 6.7-inch 28 smaller guns 6 torpedo tubes
Italian	Roma	12,425	19,000	2 12-inch 12 8-inch 30 smaller guns 2 torpedo tubes
United States	New Hampshire	16,000	17,267	4 12-inch 8 8-inch 12 7-inch 30 smaller guns 4 torpedo tubes
Japanese	Kashima	16,400	17,280	4 12-inch 4 10-inch 12 6-inch 21 smaller guns 5 torpedo tubes

(a) The ships in this table are not necessarily the largest completed at March 31, 1909. The Bellerophon was, however, the largest and latest British battleship completed. The Vérité was the latest completed French battleship. It is one of a class of six, one of which, the Liberté, has an indicated horse-power of 20,565. The Slava was Russia's latest and largest battleship. Germany's Schleswig-Holstein is one of a class of five, and was the largest. One other, the Pommern, has an indicated horse-power of 18,697. The Italian Roma is one of a class of four. It is not the largest battleship. This is a vessel of an older type, namely, the Regina Margherita, which has a displacement of 13,207 tons and an indicated horse-power of 20,660. The United States' New Hampshire is one of a class of six, one of which, the Louisiana, has an indicated horse-power of 21,350. Two smaller battleships were actually completed later than the New Hampshire, but they were launched earlier. The Japanese Kashima was the largest and latest vessel. She has a sister ship, the Katori, of 15,975 tons and 17,400 indicated horse-power [201].

In all cases the battleships in course of construction in the several countries at March 31, 1909, were larger than those given above.

The total naval expenditure of the principal naval powers in the years 1900, 1906, 1907, and 1908 (or 1900-1, 1906-7, 1907-8, and 1908-9), is shown as follows [202]:—

Power	Total Expenditure in Financial Year
	1900	1906	1907	1908
	£	£	£	£
Great Britain (a)	30,000,000	31,500,000	31,100,000	32,200,000

(a) Years 1900-1, 1906-7, &c.

(b) Gross amount.

(c) Amount voted.

The amounts expended by the several countries, as given in this table, are not strictly comparable with one another, as certain kinds of expenditure included in the naval expenditure of one country may not be included in that of other countries. The deduction of such items accordingly leaves a better basis of comparison between one country and another. The following table has therefore been prepared to show the total naval expenditure after elimination of items not common to the several naval estimates [202]:—

Power	Expenditure in Financial Year for Services common to all
	1900	1906	1907	1908
	£	£	£	£
Great Britain	26,900,000	28,000,000	27,800,000 (a)	28,600,000 (a)

(b) Gross amount.

(c) Amount voted.

The amounts voted for new construction and for armaments in the same years were as follows [202]:—

Country	Amounts Voted for New Construction and Armaments
	1900	1906	1907	1908
	£	£	£	£
Great Britain	9,800,000	10,900,000	9,200,000 (a)	8,700,000 (a)

Japan	...	800,000	3,200,000	3,000,000

(a) Estimated.

(b) The amounts given for Russia in the three preceding tables are exclusive of certain special credits voted for naval services. These, as far as known, were as follows:—

1897-8 . . . Special vote of £11,500,000 spread over the years 1897-1901.

1904-7 . . . Voluntary war contribution of £1,800,000.

Both these amounts were expended on New Construction and Armaments [202].

The tonnage of the (completed) vessels launched during the several financial years was as follows [202]:—

Country	Tonnage Launched during
	1900	1906	1907
	Tons	Tons	Tons
Great Britain	137,800	83,300	119,600

(a) Mean of five years nearest 1907 for which information was available.

(b) Year 1905.

The production of oats in most European countries is inadequate to meet the total requirement. During the five years 1901 to 1905, the United Kingdom produced only 75 per cent. of its total supply. Germany produced nearly 95 per cent.; Austria, 88 per cent.; France, 95 per cent.; Sweden, 94 per cent.; Norway, 89 per cent.; Belgium, 93 per cent.; the Netherlands, 86 per cent.; Italy, 88 per cent.; and Denmark, 95 per cent. [16].

During the same period Russia exported nearly 10 per cent. of its total production; Hungary, 17 per cent.; Roumania, 54 per cent.; and Bulgaria, 23 per cent. [16].

(a) Includes those engaged in transport.

(b) In the columns showing numbers engaged in the different groups of occupations, each person is counted once for every occupation he or she followed, as recorded at the census. For example, a person engaged partly in agriculture and partly in fishing is counted twice—once under each occupation.

(c) Including food caterers, &c.

Strict comparisons should not be drawn between the numbers in this table, since the classification of occupations is not exactly the same in all countries.

The numbers of persons engaged in textile, mining, and other important industries in several countries in or about the year 1901 were as follows [83]:—

Country	Textile Industries				Mining	Iron and Steel and Manufactures thereof	Leather Trades (including Saddlery, Boot, Shoe, and Glove Making)	Brick, Tile, and Pottery Industries	Chemical Trades

(a) The figures for mining in the United Kingdom relate to the year 1903.

(b) The number engaged in mining in Russia in 1900 was 377,000.

(c) The number engaged in mining in Germany in 1902 was 609,000; in Belgium was 136,000; in France was 182,000.

The figures in the above table should be taken as approximate only, while comparisons between one country and another are hardly possible. In most instances the numbers given include both workpeople and employers. In the case of Russia and Sweden, the figures relate to "factory" workers. Some of the figures, e.g., those for the United Kingdom, are deduced from the censuses of population. The figures for Germany, on the other hand, represent the average number employed during the year, or during the season, where the industry is a seasonal one. Further, certain persons may be classed by one country under a particular industry who in another country may not be distinguished at all except by some generic term. For example, in the census of 1900 in Austria, 98,800 persons were described as engaged in "spinning and weaving," but it was not specified whether they were occupied in spinning and weaving cotton, or wool, or silk, or any particular textile. These 98,800 persons cannot, therefore, be assigned to any one textile industry. In view of these diversities of classification and practice as between the several countries, exact comparisons cannot be made.

The proportions of the total population of the United Kingdom, Germany, and the United States engaged in the main classes of industry in those countries at three successive censuses were as follows [83]:—

(a) Proportions in 1882.

All three countries show a marked decline in the proportions engaged in agriculture; and the United Kingdom and Germany also show a decline under the principal textile industries. In all other cases increases are shown.

UNITED KINGDOM

The numbers of persons of 10 years of age and upwards who were occupied at the time of the last census (1901), and their proportion per cent. of the total number of persons aged 10 and upwards, were as follows [147]:—

(a) The figures for Ireland include occupied children under 10 years of age, but their numbers were so small that their influence on the above figures may be disregarded.

(b) The figures for agriculture include domestic gardeners, but exclude female relatives of farmers and graziers assisting on the farm.

The numbers of females employed in factories, workshops, and laundries under factory regulations in 1904 are given as follows, "children" being half-timers under 14 years of age, and "young persons" full-timers under 18 [8]:—

Next to the textile industries, which employed in factories and workshops 654,782 women and girls (and 386,688 men and boys), the clothing trades accounted for the largest number of females, namely, in factories, 197,320, and in workshops, 281,189, a total of 478,509 (as against 187,766 men and boys). Bookbinding, printing, &c., came next with 99,168 women and girls (as against 166,150 men and boys) [8].

Details for England and Wales, Scotland, and Ireland separately are given in the following tables.

ENGLAND AND WALES.

The proportions of males and females at certain ages who were engaged in occupations in England and Wales at the time of the census of 1901 are given as follows, together with the proportions based on the census of 1891 [147]:—

(a) That is, of the total number of males aged 10-15 enumerated at the census of 1891, 26.0 per cent. were returned as occupied. Similarly for other percentages.

The percentages of women occupied, including those engaged in domestic indoor service, for 1891 are not given, since a class of women (namely, daughters and female relatives living with the head of a family) was in that year included in the category of domestic servants, but not in 1901. The numbers in this class in 1891 are not known, and it is therefore not possible to make the correction for 1891 necessary to allow of comparison with 1901. The census reports of 1891 give 12.1 per cent. of females aged 10 and upwards as engaged in domestic indoor service; the percentage in 1901 is given as 10.1, showing an apparent decrease of 2 per cent., while the actual decrease, if any decrease at all, is not known. From the above table it is seen that the proportions of occupied males between ages 15 and 55 increased slightly, but outside those age limits the proportions occupied diminished appreciably. The percentages of women occupied otherwise than in domestic indoor service increased in the age-groups 15-20 and 20-25, but diminished in all other age-groups. Among unmarried women the greatest percentage occupied is found in the age-group 20-25; among married and widowed women the greatest percentage occurs in the age-group 55-65; taking married and single women together, the group aged 15-20 shows the highest percentage occupied. Among men, the maximum percentage is found in the age-group 25-35, though the percentages in the preceding group and the two succeeding groups do not differ much from it.

The percentages of persons occupied in 1901, according to age-groups, differ in rural districts from those found to prevail in urban districts. This is shown in the following table [147]:—

Ages	Percentages Occupied in Urban Districts				Percentages Occupied in Rural Districts
	Males	Females			Males	Females

All ages above 10 }	84.1	33.6	55.0	14.1	82.5	24.8	42.3	9.9

(a) That is, of the total number of males aged 10-15 in urban districts, 21.5 per cent. were occupied. Similarly for the other percentages in the table.

For ages from 20 to 55 the percentages of males occupied are highest in the urban districts; for other ages they are highest in the rural districts, the differences being considerable at ages above 65. Among women the percentages occupied are greatest in the urban districts for all age-groups except 75 and upwards. The excess in each age-group in urban districts over the percentage in the rural districts is important except in the age-group 65-75, when the proportions in the two kinds of districts approximate to equality.

In the following tables are shown, under general headings, the chief occupations in which the people were engaged in 1901, and the proportion engaged in each per 10,000 males or females, as the case may be, aged 10 years and upwards [147]:—

Among the occupations of males, agriculture is noteworthy as occupying 30 per cent. of all males above 10 years of age in the rural districts. (It should be remarked that the distinction between urban and rural districts is somewhat technical, and that a "rural" district may include a small town, and an "urban" district may in some parts be rural in character.) The occupations marked with an asterisk (*) between them give employment to over 50 per cent. of the males aged 10 and upwards. As regards females, the occupation claiming the highest percentage is domestic service. One-half of the total unmarried females (excluding girls under 10) appears as "occupied," and one-seventh to one-eighth of the married and widowed. Domestic indoor service has the highest percentage of the former, while the highest percentage of the latter is found among "workers in dress."

In the next table is shown the number of women in each 1000 persons (of both sexes) engaged in each of the occupations named, as recorded at the last five censuses [147]:—

The line in the above table marks off those occupations in which the females engaged have increased relatively to males from those occupations in which females have relatively lost. The figures do not of course indicate whether the particular industries have grown or declined in the period taken. The most remarkable increase in the proportion of women per 1000 persons occupied occurs among commercial and business clerks. In 1861, of 1000 such clerks only 5 were females; in 1901 there were 153. In the telegraph and telephone services the proportion of females has increased fivefold in the same period.

The proportion of children under 15 occupied has diminished considerably, although irregularly, in the last fifty years. Of all boys living aged 5 to 10 years, 2 per cent. were returned as occupied at the censuses of 1851 and 1861, and about the same percentage of girls at the same ages. By 1871 the proportion of both sexes occupied at these ages had fallen below 1 per cent. In recent censuses the numbers have been so small as to be neglected in statistics of occupations. The following table gives the percentage of boys aged 10 to 15, and of girls of the same ages, who were returned as occupied at each census since 1851 [147]:—

Census	Percentage of each Sex Aged 10-15 Returned as Occupied		Census	Percentage of each Sex Aged 10-15 Returned as Occupied
	Males	Females		Males	Females
1851	36.6	19.9	1881 (a)	22.9	15.1
1861	36.9	20.2	1891	26.0	16.3
1871	32.1	20.4	1901	21.9	12.0

(a) The 1881 figures include occupied children under 10 years of age, but the numbers are so small that their inclusion may be disregarded.

It may be of interest in connection with the above table to state that in the year 1890-91 there were 173,000 half-time scholars in England and Wales, and that this number diminished during the next ten years, until in 1900-1 there were few more than 74,000 [147].

The chief occupations in which children were engaged are shown in the following table, together with the number and proportions occupied at the time of the two censuses of 1891 and 1901 [147]:—

(a) Including farmers' relatives recorded as assisting in the work of the farm.

(δ) The great decline in the numbers, both absolute and relative, of females engaged in domestic indoor service, which the above figures appear to exhibit, is not to be accepted as really representing the facts, since certain classes of females (daughters and relatives) were included in the 1891 census with those engaged in domestic service, but were excluded in 1901. The real decline in this occupation is therefore less than the figures show.

It will be noticed that over 2 per cent. of boys and over 1 per cent. of girls aged between 10 and 13 were reported at the census as following some occupation. Of those aged 13 to 14, the percentages were 34 and 17 respectively. The largest number of both boys and girls in the youngest age-group who were occupied were found in the textile industries. In the next two age-groups, the largest number of boys is classed among messengers and porters, and the largest number of girls is found under domestic indoor service.

SCOTLAND

The proportions of males and females engaged in the chief occupations, per 10,000 total males or females, as the case may be, aged 10 years and upwards, at the censuses of 1891 and 1901, are given as follows [147]:—

Chief Occupations	Males Occupied per 10,000 Males Aged 10 and Upwards		Females Occupied per 10,000 Females Aged 10 and Upwards

The changes in the proportions of persons engaged in different occupations, as represented in this table, are relative and not absolute. Agriculture, domestic indoor service, fishing, and the textile trades show a marked decline in the relative numbers of persons occupied in them. Under most of the industries and professions an increase is shown. Agriculture accounts for one-eighth of the occupied males, and the "conveyance of men, goods, and messages" for one-ninth. Domestic indoor service accounts for one-quarter of the occupied females, the next largest proportion being found under "workers and dealers in dress, &c."

IRELAND

In the following table are given the chief occupations of the people, and the proportions of males or females engaged therein per 10,000 males or females, as the case may be, aged 10 years and upwards, at the time of the last two censuses [147]:—

Chief Occupations	Males Occupied per 10,000 Total Males Aged 10 and Upwards		Females Occupied per 10,000 Total Females Aged 10 and Upwards

Total	10,000	10,000	10,000	10,000

The above table shows a decline between the two censuses in the proportion of males engaged in defence. Under domestic indoor service a decline is noticeable for both sexes. Agriculture, too, shows a decline, and also the flax and linen industry. It must be borne in mind that these and other changes exhibited in this table are relative and not necessarily absolute. Agriculture is seen to occupy almost half of the total male population aged 10 and upwards, and more than half of the occupied males. Domestic indoor service accounts for about one-third of the occupied females.

THE NETHERLANDS

The classification of the population of Holland by occupations, according to the census at the end of 1899, was as follows [35]:—

BELGIUM

The distribution of the population of Belgium according to occupations, as given at the censuses of 1890 and 1900, is shown as follows. In these results each person is counted once for each occupation in which he or she was engaged, so that the totals somewhat exaggerate the actual numbers of distinct persons engaged [14].

The total agricultural population of Belgium, including members of the families of workers, increased from 1,080,000 in 1846 to 1,200,000 in 1880, and to 1,205,000 in 1895. The total population of the country grew faster than this, however, so that the agricultural part of the community fell from 25 per cent. of the whole in 1846 to 22 per cent. in 1880, and to 19 per cent. in 1895 [14].

FRANCE

The distribution of the active population in France according to industries and professions, as given by the census of 1901, is stated as follows [9]:—

Group of Industries or Professions	Active Population
	Males	Females	Total

GERMANY

The German census of occupations classifies the population into (a) persons engaged in occupations on which depends their social position, and from which they obtain the whole or the greater part of their earnings and maintenance; (b) persons without occupations; and (c) dependents on both these classes, even if these dependents engage in occupations, so long as their earnings therein do not form the principal source of their maintenance.

In the following tables, by "actual workers," or bread-winners, is to be understood class (a) above, and by "dependents," class (c).

The distribution of the population of Germany according to groups of occupations was given as follows by the census of 1907 [204]:—

Group of Occupations	Numbers at Census of June 12, 1907
	Actual Workers (or Bread-winners) (a)			Total Dependent on Occupation (including Workers)
	Men	Women	Total	Males	Females	Total

Total	100	100	100	100	100	100

The striking feature of this table is the increasing proportion of females engaged in occupations. These proportions do not include females engaged in domestic service and living in the household of their employers. The percentages of these were 5.6, 5.0, and 4.0 respectively, which are included in the percentages of dependents.

The percentages of persons engaged in the chief groups of occupations at the same dates were as follows [158]:—

Group of Occupations	Actual Workers			Total Dependent on Occupations
	1882	1895	1907	1882	1895	1907
	Per Cent.	Per Cent.	Per Cent.	Per Cent.	Per Cent.	Per Cent.

Others, including independent	9.2	11.3	12.8	7.1	8.2	9.6
Total	100	100	100	100	100	100

This table shows that whereas in 1882, 43.4 per cent. of the total number of occupied persons were engaged in agriculture, forestry, and fishing, the proportion in 1907 had fallen to 32.7 per cent. The total number of persons dependent on agriculture for a living had fallen from 42.5 per cent. of the total population to 28.7 per cent.

SWITZERLAND

The numbers of persons dependent on certain occupations, and the numbers actually engaged in those occupations, according to the census of December 1, 1900, are given as follows [205]:—

Total	12,541,810	12,844,700	25,386,510

The total population of Italy of all ages at the census of 1901 was 32,475,250, comprising 16,155,130 males and 16,320,120 females [54].

The number of proprietors in Italy, according to the census of 1901, included 1,045,110 owners of land, 823,440 owners of buildings, and 2,241,580 owners of both land and buildings, making a total of 4,110,130 proprietors, of whom 1,512,580 were females [54].

AUSTRIA

The numbers of bread-winners and of dependents enumerated at the Austrian occupation censuses of 1890 and 1900 were [206]:—

	1890	1900
Bread-winners	13,570,000	14,110,000
Dependents—
Family members	9,870,000	11,560,000
Domestic servants	460,000	480,000
Total	23,900,000	26,150,000

The numbers of bread-winners in the main groups of occupations were [206]:—

Occupations	1890	1900
Agriculture	8,470,000	8,200,000
Manufactures	2,880,000	3,140,000
Trade and commerce	850,000	1,040,000
Official and professional service	1,370,000	1,730,000
Total	13,570,000	14,110,000

The number of female bread-winners remained almost stationary, having been 5,820,000 in 1890, and 5,850,000 in 1900. In the former year 74 per cent., and in the latter 71 per cent., of the women were engaged in agricultural occupations, as against 54 and 50 per cent. respectively of the male bread-winners [206].

HUNGARY

At the census of 1900 there were in the Hungarian Kingdom 19.2 million persons, of whom 3,800,000 were bread-winners, and the remaining 10,400,000 were dependents. The first group contained 2,600,000 women, and the second 7,000,000 women [26].

The bread-winners were occupied as follows [26]:—

Occupations	Number	Per Cent. of Total
Agriculture, forestry, &c.	6,000,000	69
Mining and industry	1,200,000	13
Commerce and traffic	360,000	4
Domestic servants	390,000	4.5
Labourers	300,000	3
Professions	200,000	2.5
Army	130,000	1.5
Others	220,000	2.5
Total	8,800,000	100

The agricultural population comprised 4,200,000 men and 1,800,000 women as bread-winners, and about 7,000,000 persons dependent on them. About 13 million persons, therefore, or 68.4 per cent. of the total Hungarian population, were engaged in the cultivation of the soil [26].

RUSSIAN EMPIRE

The numbers of wage-earners in Russia engaged in industries, including agriculture and domestic service, are given as follows on the basis of the general population census of 1897. The geographical distribution of the wage-earners is given thus [207]:—

	Males	Females	Total		Males	Females	Total
European Russia	4,608,500	2,199,300	6,807,800	Siberia . . .	311,600	91,300	402,900

Grand total	6,331,980	2,819,690	9,151,670

Among these wage-earners there were 601,320 children under 15 years of age, namely, 336,010 boys and 265,310 girls. The boys were mainly employed in [207]:—

Cattle raising	92,520
Agriculture	71,220
Clothing industry	40,540
Commerce	18,180
Metal-working	14,480

The girls were mainly employed in [207]:—

Domestic service	154,620
Agriculture	36,710
Cattle raising	30,760
Clothing	17,610

124,000 boys and 113,000 girls (included above) were under 12 years of age. Most of these boys (77,000) were in agricultural industries, and most of the girls (69,000) were servants.

384,000 males and 260,000 females were aged 15 to 16 years, and 735,000 males and 447,000 females were aged 17 to 19.

341,000 males and 147,000 females were aged 60 or over.

Reduced to percentages these numbers become:—

	Males	Females	Total

In the whole of continental United States, 26 per cent. of the total number of boys aged 10 to 15 were bread-winners in 1900, two-thirds of these being engaged in agricultural occupations. Of the total number of girls aged 10 to 15, 10 per cent. were bread-winners, somewhat less than half of whom were found in agricultural occupations [3].

These young persons may be further classified according to their race or nativity as follows [3]:—

Race and Nativity	Males			Females
	Total Aged 10 to 15	Bread-winners		Total Aged 10 to 15	Bread-winners
		In Agricultural Pursuits	In All Occupations		In Agricultural Pursuits	In All Occupations
Native white, both parents native	2,805,300	510,500	682,800	2,727,200	54,000	154,700
Native white, one or both parents foreign-born	1,182,900	72,600	200,400	1,177,300	3,600	92,800

Total United States	4,852,400	854,700	1,264,400	4,760,800	207,300	485,800

It is seen that about 50 per cent. of the coloured male children and 30 per cent. of the coloured female children aged 10 to 15 were returned as bread-winners. Among native white children the percentages were 22 for males and 6 for females, and among foreign-born children 29 per cent. and 20 per cent. respectively.

PARLIAMENT

In a large number of states members of the parliament or legislature receive payment, and in addition are also accorded privileges in respect to railway travelling, or are paid allowances for travelling expenses.

Payment of members is generally subject to the fulfilment of certain conditions, actual attendance in the legislative chambers being usually required.

The following table shows the rates of payment of members of parliament in European countries and in the United States. The information was collected in the year 1906 [210]:—

State	Rate of Payment of Members of Parliament (a)	State	Rate of Payment of Members of Parliament (a)
Austria (Lower House)	16s. 8d. per day	Greece	£72 per ordinary session.
Hungary (Chamber of Deputies)	£200 per annum and £66 for house rent	Netherlands (Second Chamber)	£166 per annum
Bavaria (Lower House)	10s. per day	(First Chamber) (b)	16s. 8d. per day
Württemberg (Lower House; and Upper House on application)	About 9s. 6d. per day	Norway (Storting)	13s. per day
Belgium (Lower House)	£160 per annum	Roumania (both Chambers)	16s. per day
Bulgaria	16s. per day	Russia (Duma)	21s. per day
	11s. per day for six months of session, and then 6s. 8d. per additional day	(Upper House)	52s. 9d. per day
Denmark	£360 per annum	Servia (Skuptchina)	12s. per day
France (both Houses)	£150 per annum		£66 per ordinary session, and 11s. per day during extraordinary session
Germany (Reichstag)	£150 per annum	Sweden (Second Chamber)	16s. per day
Prussia (Lower House)	15s. per day	Switzerland (National Council)	16s. per day
		United States (both Houses)	£1000 per annum

(a) Rates stated as "per day" are generally payable only during the parliamentary sessions.

(b) Excepting the members of the First Chamber resident in The Hague.

Members of the legislature receive no payment in the United Kingdom, Italy, or Spain. In Portugal payment is made only to deputies from colonial constituencies, who receive £20 per month while the chamber is sitting, and £10 per month when it is not sitting.

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA

The numbers of patents applied for and issued, and the number of trade marks, &c., issued in the United States in recent years, are given as follows [3]:—

Year	Patents		Trade Marks Registered	Labels and Prints Registered	Year	Patents		Trade Marks Registered	Labels and Prints Registered
	Applied for	Issued (a)				Applied for	Issued (a)
1897	47,905	23,794	1,671	30	1903	50,213	31,699	2,186	1,260
1898	35,842	22,267	1,238	235	1904	52,143	30,934	2,158	1,411
1899	41,443	25,527	1,649	611	1905	54,971	30,399	4,490	1,189

1902	49,641	27,886	2,006	925

(a) Includes designs and reissues. The designs averaged 1813 per year during 1897 to 1901, and 572 per year during 1902 to 1907. The reissues averaged 76 per year during the former period and 129 per year during the latter.

JAPAN

The numbers of applications for, and registrations of, patents, trade marks, and designs in Japan in recent years are given as follows [55]:—

Year	Patents		Trade Marks		Designs
	Applied for	Letters Patent Granted	Applied for	Registered	Applied for	Registered
1901	2,397	606	2,608	1,418	514	141
1902	3,095	871	3,529	1,883	931	252
1903	3,253	1,024	3,743	2,116	1,181	362
1904	2,618	1,253	3,105	1,865	1,378	562
1905	2,897	1,654	3,815	2,492	1,562	765
1906	4,105	1,594	5,467	3,128	1,407	614
1907	4,731	1,989	5,957	3,508	1,502	751

The term of exclusive use of a design is ten years ; of a trade mark, the term is twenty years ; and of a patent, fifteen years [55].

In 1905 a law came into force permitting the registration of "utility models" respecting the form, structure, or fitting of any industrial article. In 1905 there were 2011 applications, and 985 registrations of such models ; in 1906, 7018 applications and 3157 registrations ; and in 1907, 10,715 applications and 3577 registrations. The term of exclusive use is three years [55].

PAUPERISM

UNITED KINGDOM

The total numbers of paupers, excluding casual paupers, relieved in the United Kingdom on one day in summer and one day in winter in recent years were as follows [22]:—

Year	Number of Paupers Relieved (excluding Casual Paupers)
	England and Wales		Scotland		Ireland		United Kingdom

(a) The expenditure given for England and Wales is for the years ended Lady Day. For the year 1900-1 and subsequent years, expenditure by the managers of the Metropolitan Asylums District on their fever and small-pox hospitals and ambulance service is not included in the amounts given in this table.

(b) The expenditure given for Scotland is in respect of years ended May 15. It includes expenditure on buildings, election expenses paid to county and burgh authorities under Poor Law Acts, and also interest and repayment of loans.

(c) The expenditure given for Ireland is for the years ended Lady Day, and covers the amount expended in relief and management of the poor, and expenditure under the Medical Charities, Vaccination, Dispensary, and Superannuation Acts.

(d) The total expenditure for the United Kingdom is given only in millions sterling, since the amounts given under England and Wales, Scotland, and Ireland relate to slightly different years, and do not all include the same things.

Detailed statistics for England and Wales, Scotland, and Ireland separately are given in the following tables.

ENGLAND AND WALES

The numbers of paupers relieved in England and Wales on January 1 and July 1 in recent years were as follows [212], [246]:—

Year	Paupers (excluding Insane and Casual Paupers)				Casual Paupers (a)		Total Net Number (including Insane) (b)
	Indoor		Outdoor		January 1	July 1	January 1	July 1
	January 1	July 1	January 1	July 1
1898	200,910	180,620	532,080	561,380	13,560	9,360	836,910	842,780

1903	217,320	195,560	514,210	499,090	14,480	8,630	847,480	806,230
1904	226,480	206,120	523,340	515,170	15,630	10,840	869,130	836,460
1905	238,320	214,880	570,610	532,780	17,520	14,920	932,270	869,780
1906	244,560	215,710	557,500	527,800	16,820	13,020	926,740	865,790
1907	248,950	222,480	547,100	523,880	14,960	11,410	920,840	868,280
1908	252,620	230,670	547,020	528,810	17,080	10,110	928,670	882,010

(a) These numbers are the total numbers of casual paupers returned as relieved on the dates given. They therefore include duplicate entries of paupers who were relieved in more than one union in one day. The total number relieved on the night of January 1, 1908, was 10,440, and on the night of July 1, 1908, 6850, which are probably nearer the true numbers relieved than the numbers 17,080 and 10,110 respectively, given above.

(b) These numbers exclude double entries of persons who received both indoor and outdoor relief on the same day.

The mean numbers of persons relieved, in cycles of years, are shown as follows [72]:—

Cycle	Mean Number of Persons Relieved	Mean Annual Rate per 1000 of Estimated Population
1871-2 to 1879-80 (9 years)	747,940	31.2
1880-1 to 1887-8 (8 ,,)	711,630	26.6
1888-9 to 1895-6 (8 ,,)	694,090	23.8
1896-7 to 1905-6 (10 ,,)	718,440	22.2
Year 1906-7	769,160	22.3
Year 1907-8	772,350	22.1

The mean annual rates of expenditure per pauper during the same periods were as follows [72]:—

Period	£	s.	d.
1871-2 to 1879-80	9	11	8½
1880-1 to 1887-8	10	12	0½
1888-9 to 1895-6	11	14	4½
1896-7 to 1905-6	14	13	10½

The mean annual expenditure per pauper in the last period is seen to have been about 50 per cent. greater than in the first period.

The mean of the numbers of ordinarily able-bodied adult paupers, excluding casual paupers, relieved on the 1st July and the 1st of the following January, was as follows in recent years [212]:—

Year ended Lady Day	Mean Numbers (a) of Ordinarily Able-bodied Paupers (excluding Casuals)			Rate per 1000 of Estimated Population
	Indoor	Outdoor	Total
1898	35,880	64,560	100,440	3.2
1899	35,600	71,740	107,340	3.4
1900	34,390	59,270	93,660	3.0
1901	33,580	57,550	91,130	2.8
1902	35,100	59,590	94,690	2.9
1903	37,560	61,390	98,950	3.0
1904	39,990	62,510	102,500	3.1
1905	43,990	72,380	116,370	3.4
1906	46,550	70,040	116,590	3.4
1907	45,380	66,120	111,500	3.2
1908	46,140	65,040	111,180	3.2

(a) See sentence preceding table for definition of mean number.

The numbers of casual paupers relieved in London are given as follows [212]:—

Year	Total Number of Admissions to London Casual Wards during the Year	Average Number of Casual Paupers Relieved in London Wards on each Friday Night of the Year
1897	181,730	1,045
1898	183,140	1,064
1899	174,360	1,009
1900	159,240	916
1901	165,340	969
1902	171,150	985
1903	183,350	1,089
1904	189,000	1,133
1905	189,430	1,168
1906	196,460	1,190
1907	196,470	1,122

The daily fluctuation of casual paupers is shown in the next table, which gives the number of casual paupers admitted in the casual wards of London in certain weeks in 1907 [212]:—

Day of Week	Casual Paupers Admitted in London Wards
	In the Week ended				Total for Four Weeks
	March 30, 1907	June 29, 1907	September 28, 1907	December 7, 1907

Total	3,788	3,260	4,067	4,061	15,176

A special investigation in 1906-7 showed that the total number of persons (excluding lunatics in county and borough asylums, registered hospitals, and licensed houses, and also casual paupers) who directly or indirectly received poor relief in England and Wales during the year ended September 30, 1907, was 1,709,436, or 4.9 per cent. of the estimated population in the middle of the year 1907. This number is classified as follows [213]:—

Classes	Numbers Relieved during Year ended September 30, 1907
	Men	Women	Children Under 16	Total
				Number	Per Cent.
Families—
Heads of families	214,009	91,649	...	305,658	17.9
Dependents	...	174,357	515,979	690,336	40.4
Persons relieved singly	312,440	352,667	48,335	713,442	41.7
Total	526,449	618,673	564,314	1,709,436	100.0
Per cent.	31	36	33	100	...

In arriving at the numbers in this table, the following rules were adopted [213]:—

- (a) Where outdoor relief was given to the head of a family, the wife (if any) and any dependent children were counted as paupers, along with the person relieved.
- (b) In the case of indoor relief to heads of families, only the persons actually receiving such relief were counted as paupers.
- (c) In the case where indoor or outdoor relief was "given to, or specially for, a member of a family other than the head of the family, the head of the family and the wife or child directly relieved were alone to be included" as paupers.

A classification according to the civic character of the poor law unions is given in the following table [213]:—

Groups of Unions	Families Relieved		Persons Relieved Singly	Total
	Heads of Families	Dependents		Number	Per Cent. of Estimated Population, 1907
Unions in London	62,548	134,858	141,850	339,256	7

Grand total	305,658	690,336	713,442	1,709,436	5

The numbers who received different kinds of relief were as follows [213]:—

Groups of Unions	Indoor Relief Only	Outdoor Relief Only		Indoor and Outdoor at Different Times	Total
		Medical Relief Only	Total
Unions in London	149,635	41,146	166,333	23,288	339,256

Per cent.	30	13	66	4	100

The following table shows the number of times the persons received separate grants of relief, and the aggregate length of the periods of relief. A mere change in the method of relief, e.g. from outdoor to indoor, or a continuation of relief originally granted for a certain period, was not counted as a separate grant of relief unless there was a distinct break in the continuity of the recipient's chargeability [213]:—

Aggregate Length of Periods of Relief	Number of Persons Granted Relief
	Once	Twice	Three Times	Four Times	More than Four Times	Total
						Number	Per Cent.
Not exceeding 1 week	198,009	5,025	663	155	57	203,909	11.9
Over 1 but not exceeding 4 weeks	268,660	45,100	9,564	2,413	790	326,527	19.1
" 4 " " 13 "	185,429	54,989	20,666	8,653	8,027	277,764	16.3
" 13 " " 26 "	108,837	25,800	10,705	5,406	7,357	158,105	9.2
" 26 but less than the year	137,535	39,664	12,523	5,415	9,314	204,451	12.0

Total	1,434,829	171,641	54,424	22,363	26,179	1,709,436	100
Per cent.	83.9	10.0	3.2	1.3	1.6	100	...

From this table it is seen that about 44 per cent. of the persons relieved were chargeable for an aggregate period of six months and upwards; 9 per cent. for an aggregate period of from three to six months; 16 per cent. for an aggregate period of from one to three months; and 31 per cent. for a period of one month or less.

A classification according to the character of the poor law unions is shown as follows [213]:—

Aggregate Length of Periods of Relief	Persons Relieved during 1906-7 in
	Unions in London	Unions Outside London			Total All Unions
		Urban	Rural	Mixed
Not exceeding 1 week	47,397	65,729	4,889	85,894	203,909

Total	339,256	445,586	67,282	857,312	1,709,436

Persons whose aggregate period of relief was over six months made up 33 per cent. of the total number relieved in London unions; 37 per cent. of those in wholly urban unions; 55 per cent. of those in wholly rural unions; and 50 per cent. of those in mixed urban and rural unions.

Of the total number relieved in London, 76 per cent. received separate grants of relief once, and 13 per cent. twice, during the year. In urban unions, 81 per cent. received separate grants once, and 12 per cent. twice; in rural unions, 90 per cent. received grants once, and 7 per cent. twice [213].

A census of the paupers relieved on March 31, 1906, showed their age-distribution to be as follows [72]:—

Age-group	Persons Relieved (excluding Lunatics in Asylums, &c., and Casuals), March 31, 1906		Per 1000 of Estimated Population at same Ages
	Number	Per Cent. of Total

After age 15 there is an increase in the numbers relieved in each age-group down to the age-group 65-75, with the exception of age-group 45-55. In this group the decrease was found to be wholly amongst women, and chiefly amongst able-bodied widows, who, it would seem, then again became self-supporting after a period of public assistance.

The principal items of poor law expenditure in England and Wales in the three years ended Lady Day 1887, 1897, and 1907, were as follows [6]:—

Items of Poor Law Expenditure	1886-7		1896-7		1906-7

1907	3,754,300	10,202,900	13,957,200

(a) The expenditure shown for 1900-1 and later years is exclusive of the expenditure of the managers of the Metropolitan Asylum District exclusively for their fever and small-pox hospitals and ambulance service.

The average annual cost of poor relief per head of population, and per £ of rateable value, has varied as follows [118]:—

Cycle	Average Annual Cost
	Per Head of Population	Per £ of Rateable Value
1870-9	s. d. 6 5½	s. d. 1 3½
1880-9	6 0½	1 1½
1890-9	6 3½	1 2
1900-7	7 9	1 4

The amount of outstanding loans raised for poor relief purposes was, at Lady Day 1907, £5,400,000 in London, and £7,900,000 in the rest of England and Wales, giving a total of £13,300,000 [212].

SCOTLAND

The total number of persons (excluding lunatics) who directly or indirectly received poor relief in Scotland during the year ended May 15, 1907, was 147,660, equal to about 311 per 10,000 of the total population of the country. These may be classified as follows [214]:—

FRANCE

The numbers of Bureaux de Bienfaisance in France, their main function to-day being the distribution of outdoor relief and collection of funds for this purpose, have increased as follows [73]:—

Year	Number of Bureaux	Number per 100,000 of Population
1833 . . .	6,275	19
1853 . . .	11,409	33
1871 . . .	12,867	36
1892 . . .	15,227	37
1906 . . .	16,451	42

The numbers of persons relieved, and amount of relief afforded, are shown as follows [73]:—

Year	Number Relieved	Total Amount of Relief	Amount per Head
1833 . . .	700,870	£ 290,000	s. d. 8 3
1853 . . .	1,020,710	490,000	9 8

1900-5	660,000	590,000	580,000	1,830,000	1,610,000

Since 1893 medical relief has been given free to poor persons in sickness. The mean annual numbers receiving such medical assistance, and the average annual expenditure, were [9], [73]:—

Period	Annual Averages
	Persons Assisted	Expenses
1897-9	735,140	£ 570,000
1900-2	850,210	730,000
1903-5	921,920	780,000
1906	925,540	840,000

The receipts and expenses in 1906 were as follows [73]:—

Receipts—
From Communes	£ 380,000
„ Departments	160,000
„ State	80,000
„ Hospitals, &c.	70,000
„ Bureaux de Bienfaisance	90,000
Other receipts	60,000
Total	£ 840,000
Expenses—
For home relief	£ 420,000
„ hospital treatment	360,000
Other expenses	60,000
Total	£ 840,000

Poor or destitute children are also publicly assisted in France. At the end of 1900 there were 153,700 children receiving assistance, and at the end of 1906 there were 204,900 children. The expenditure in 1900 was £1,130,000; and in 1906, £1,430,000. Of those receiving assistance in 1906, 2700 were in hospitals, &c.; 120,860 were maintained in the country or towns; and 81,360 assisted at home [9].

Besides the institutions considered above, there are institutions for the old and incurable, for beggars, crèches for infants, &c. The numbers of the institutions, and of the persons assisted or confined in them in 1900 and 1906, are shown as follows [9]:—

	1900	1906
Number of institutions—
Public	186	173
Private	610	628
Persons assisted or confined in them	278,900	664,000

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA

The numbers of paupers enumerated in almshouses in the United States in June 1890 and December 1903 are given as follows [3]:—

Division	Paupers Enumerated in Almshouses		Number per 100,000 of Population
	June 1890	December 1903	1890	1903
North Atlantic	31,140	33,280	179	149

Western	3,140	5,990	104	135
Total	73,050	81,770	117	101

New York State had 10,270 paupers in almshouses in 1890 and 10,790 in 1903; Pennsylvania, 8650 and 9050 respectively; Ohio, 7400 and 8170 respectively; Illinois, 5400 and 5640 respectively; Massachusetts, 4730 and 5930 respectively; and California, 2600 and 4140 respectively [3].

The numbers of inmates of charitable institutions of all kinds, except institutions for the insane, in 1908, are given as follows [107]:—

Division	Inmates of Charitable (other than Insane) Institutions			Total
	Foreign-born Inmates		Native-born Inmates
	Aliens	Naturalised
North Atlantic	13,500	18,750	98,750	131,000

Western	1,560	3,370	9,450	14,380
Total	19,530	40,440	228,330	288,300

New York State contained 58,560 of the persons shown in this table; Pennsylvania, 39,580; Ohio, 25,260; Illinois, 18,080; Massachusetts, 11,340; Indiana, 11,020; and California, 8050 [107].

An investigation into the work of the associated charities in Washington, D.C., during the year 1905, showed the "immediate" causes of applications for assistance to be as follows [216]:—

Immediate Causes of Application for Help	Families who Received Aid in 1905
	Whites	Negroes	Total	Per Cent. of Total
				Whites	Negroes	Both Races
Sickness	170	355	525	37.6	48.6	44.4

Total	452	731	1,183	100	100	100
Persons in families	1,860	2,505	4,365

In the case of 854 of these families, comprising 3254 persons, contributing causes of distress were ascertained, namely [216]:—

Causes of Distress	Families			Per Cent. of Total
	White	Negro	Total
Sickness	90	146	236	27.7
Old age	36	76	112	13.1
Desertion	26	61	87	10.2

Lack of employment	12	29	41	4.8
Others	38	87	125	14.7
Total	326	528	854	100

In the case of 768 families, comprising 3014 persons, persistent causes of distress were discovered, the principal being sickness (147 cases), sickness and other causes (38 cases), old age (101 cases), shiftlessness (82 cases), desertion (63 cases), intemperance (55 cases), lack of employment (50 cases), lack of employment and sickness (46 cases), and insufficient wages (49 cases).

As direct causes of distress, shiftlessness, intemperance, desertion, and licentiousness accounted for about 5 per cent. of the cases; as contributory causes, about 25 per cent.; and as underlying causes of prolonged distress, about 30 per cent. [216].

PAWNBROKERS

FRANCE

Statistics of the monts-de-piété of France are given as follows [73]:—

	Annual Averages
	1871-80	1901-5
Number of articles pledged	2,983,990	2,649,190
Amount advanced	£2,030,000	£2,820,000
Amount paid on release of articles	£1,850,000	£2,540,000
Number of forfeited articles sold	256,810	279,070
Receipts from sales	£230,000	£320,000

In 1906 the amount advanced to borrowers was £2,920,000 on 2,452,480 articles. The redemptions amounted to £2,620,000, and renewals to £1,630,000 [9].

The following table shows the average percentage of articles pledged, pledges redeemed, and pledges renewed during each month of the year [73]:—

Month	Monthly Percentages (Average of 1901-5)
	Articles Pledged	Pledges Redeemed	Pledges Renewed
	Per Cent.	Per Cent.	Per Cent.
January	9.0	8.4	8.8
February	7.5	7.9	8.1
March	7.9	8.3	8.4

October	9.1	8.5	8.6
November	7.6	8.2	8.3
December	7.8	9.5	8.2
Total	100	100	100

The maximum percentages of pledges at three-monthly intervals, namely, January, April, July, and October, are noteworthy.

BELGIUM

The number of articles pledged at monts-de-piété, the amounts advanced thereon, and the pledges redeemed in 1890, 1900, and 1906, are shown approximately as follows [14]:—

	1890	1900	1906
Articles pledged or re- newed	950,000	890,000	820,000
Amount advanced on articles	£450,000	£480,000	£520,000
Articles redeemed	910,000	840,000	780,000
Amount repaid	£450,000	£480,000	£520,000

The number and amount of pledges in 1906 were distributed thus [14]:—

Amount of Pledge	Number of Articles
Less than 4s.	348,400
From 4s. to 8s.	210,500
„ 8s. „ £2	209,200

PENSIONS

UNITED KINGDOM

By an Act of Parliament passed in August 1908 (The Old Age Pensions Act, 1908), old age pensions were established in the United Kingdom for persons fulfilling the following conditions [217]:—

- (1) The applicant must not be less than 70 years of age.
- (2) He or she must have been a British subject for twenty years immediately preceding receipt of pension, and have resided in the United Kingdom during that period, subject to certain conditions as to temporary residence abroad.
- (3) The applicant's means must not exceed £31, 10s. per year.

Certain disqualifications were imposed, connected with poor relief, lunacy, conviction for offences, habitual laziness, &c.

The rates of pension payable were fixed as follows [217]:—

Where yearly means of pensioner—	Weekly Rate of Pension	Weekly Rate of Pension
Do not exceed £21	5s.	Exceed £23, 12s. 6d. but not £26, 5s. 3s.
Exceed £21 but not £23, 12s. 6d.	4s.	„ £26, 5s. but not £28, 17s. 6d. 2s.
		„ £28, 17s. 6d. but not £31, 10s. 1s.

The numbers of pensions granted up to the end of December 1908, and falling payable on January 1, at which date the Act came into force, were as follows [219]:—

Rate of Pension	Number of Pensions Granted up to December 31, 1908

The total cost of the pension scheme is estimated to be about £9,000,000 per annum [219].

The number of pensions granted up to the end of January 1909, and the number of claims under consideration on January 31, were [218]:—

Country	Pensions Granted	Claims Under Consideration
England and Wales	370,660	29,280
Scotland	66,120	4,930
Ireland	177,180	31,550
United Kingdom	613,960	65,760

The numbers of pensioners, under different authorities, in the United Kingdom, with the amounts paid in pensions in or about the year 1906, are given as follows [220]:—

Authority Granting Pensions	Number of Pensioners	Approximate Annual Amount of Pensions	Average Annual Pension
Army	103,540	£ 3,489,000	£ 34
Navy	45,820	2,297,600	50

(a) Exclusive of teachers pensioned by School Boards out of local rates.

Many civil servants do not begin to receive pensions until after their sixtieth birthday. The London police retire at an average age of 46 or 47, and enjoy their pensions on the average for about 17 years. Of pensioned poor law officers in England and Wales in 1906, somewhat more than half were aged 65 and upwards; in Ireland, the average age was 59. Among trade union members, it is probable that superannuation does not take place in most cases until after the sixtieth birthday. The majority of the pensions under local charities are probably awarded to persons well over 60 years of age [220].

The following table gives further details respecting pensions or superannuation allowances granted by various local authorities in England and Wales during the year ended March 31, 1906 [220]:—

Class of Local Authority	Number of Persons in Receipt of Pensions	Amount Expended in respect of Pensions in the Year 1905-6	Average Amount of Pension
County Councils (65) (a)	6,798	£ 355,784	£ 52

(a) The numbers in brackets in the above table, after the names of the authorities, are the numbers of such authorities which paid pensions or superannuation allowances during the year 1905-6.

The following table exhibits, for a number of trade unions, the age at which members qualify for superannuation, and the pensions payable [220] :—

Name of Trade Union	Qualifying Age and other Conditions for Superannuation Benefit	Number of Years' Membership necessary to qualify	Pension per Week Payable

The Steam-engine Makers' Society, the Society of Operative Stonemasons, and the Amalgamated Society of Engineers, do not permit their members to engage in any branch of their respective trades while in receipt of pensions [220].

FRANCE

The number and amount of civil and military pensions, including pensions to widows and orphans, charged to the Treasury in France in certain years, are given as follows [9] :—

On January 1	Number of Pensioners	Pensions
1851	79,860	£1,540,000
1861	130,310	3,170,000
1871	130,100	3,330,000

1901	231,660	8,440,000
1908	259,700	9,970,000

The allocation of the pensions in 1908 was as follows [9] :—

	Number	Amount
Civil pensions—		£
Public instruction	30,120	1,130,000
Finance	34,700	1,400,000
Post and telegraphs	20,100	560,000
Other civil services	17,950	720,000
Total civil pensions	102,870	3,810,000

War	114,040	4,510,000
Marine	42,790	1,650,000
Grand total	259,700	9,970,000

Included in these figures are 83,900 pensions to widows and orphans amounting to £1,920,000 [9].

In the following table are given statistics relating to seamen's old age insurance in France. Most of the revenue of this insurance is obtained from—

- (a) Deductions from the wages of seamen, generally at the rate of about 3 per cent., and amounting in the total to about £76,000 per year;
 (b) Dividends on investments belonging to the insurance fund; and
 (c) An annual subvention from the Government, amounting to about £440,000 a year [10].

GERMANY

Old Age and Infirmity Insurance

Germany is the only country in which this insurance covers all classes of workers above 16 years of age, including domestic servants, and also commercial clerks, teachers, and tutors, whose salaries do not exceed £100 a year. Voluntary insurance under the same scheme is also allowed to certain other persons with salaries of less than £150 a year, and subject to an age limit of 40 years. In other countries special classes of workers are alone dealt with. In Germany the infirmity benefits fall due when the insured worker is rendered unable to earn a livelihood (which is taken as one-third the wages of a local able-bodied workman in the insured person's trade), providing he has paid into the fund for 200 weeks. The pension for incapacity usually starts after 26 weeks on sick pay. The old age pensions become payable on completion of 70 years of age, providing the applicant has paid his contribution for 1200 weeks [10], [169], [170], [221]. The workers are divided into five classes, according to wages, namely [221]:—

- Class I. Wages up to £17, 10s.
 Class II. Wages from £17, 10s. to £27, 10s.
 Class III. Wages from £27, 10s. to £42, 10s.
 Class IV. Wages from £42, 10s. to £57, 10s.
 Class V. Wages over £57, 10s.

The premiums are paid for every week of employment, and vary in amount with the class. In Class I. the weekly premium paid by the employee is 0.84d.; in Class II., 1.2d.; in Class III., 1.44d.; in Class IV., 1.8d.; and in Class V., 2.16d. The employers pay a share equal to these premiums of the workers [221].

The minimum and maximum pensions payable are as follows [10]:—

Class	Infirmity Pensions (a)		Old Age Pensions (a)
	Minimum	Maximum	Minimum
I.	£ s. d. 3 0 0	£ s. d. 9 5 0	£ s. d. 3 0 0
II.	3 10 0	13 10 0	4 10 0

IV.	4 10 0	19 10 0	7 10 0
V.	5 0 0	22 10 0	9 0 0

(a) To all of these pensions the State adds a sum of £2, 10s.

The numbers of persons on the pension lists at the beginning of certain years are shown as follows [7], [11], [221]:—

Beginning of Year	Number of Persons on Pension Lists
	Invalidity (Permanent)	Sickness (Provisional Invalidity)	Old Age	Total

1908 [7]	841,992	20,079	116,887	978,958

(a) The old age pension scheme came into force on January 1, 1891, and the numbers given above for this year are the numbers of persons who received pensions during the course of the year.

During the period 1891 to 1906, the aggregate numbers of persons who received pensions were as follows [12]:—

Invalidity pensions	1,403,800
Sickness "	67,000
Old age "	448,580
Total	1,919,380

During that period the aggregate numbers of contributions to the insurance fund that were returned were [12]:—

On account of marriage	1,510,070
" accident	4,270
" death	328,170
Total	1,842,510

The number of persons insured under the old age and invalidity scheme was estimated to be, in 1906, about 14,143,000, comprising 9,362,000 men and 4,781,000 women [12]. In 1895 the number of insured persons was 11,813,000 [11].

The ordinary income and expenditure of, and amount of property belonging to, the old age and invalidity insurance funds were as follows in the years stated [11], [12]:—

(Mark taken as 11.8d.)

Value of property at end of year	4,010,000	24,550,000	45,680,000	64,830,000

In 1907 the receipts of the insurance offices amounted to £11,000,000, exclusive of the state grant of £2,400,000. Employers' and workpeople's contributions amounted to £4,300,000 for each class. The total expenditure was £6,800,000 (that on pensions being £4,800,000), excluding the state grant. The cost of administration was £800,000. The accumulated funds at the end of the year amounted to £68,000,000 [7].

The average amount of pension granted to persons has increased steadily as follows [12]:—

Year	Average Amount of Pension Granted per Person

NEW ZEALAND

New Zealand passed an "Old Age Pensions Act" in 1898. Several amendments have since been made to it. At present the maximum pension is £26 a year (= 10s. a week), and the qualifying age is 65. For every pound sterling of income over £34 per annum, or for every £10 (net) worth of property, which an applicant for pension may already possess, £1 is deducted from the maximum amount of pension, except that £150 worth of property is allowed without reduction in pension if the applicant permanently resides on any part of his property. No single person is eligible for a pension whose income exceeds £60 a year, nor a married couple if their joint income exceeds £90 a year. Apart from this restriction, no difference is made between married and single persons. There are other conditions respecting character and good conduct, and length of residence in the colony, which must be fulfilled before a pension can be secured. Each pension is granted for twelve months only, and a fresh application is necessary for renewal [221].

The liability of the State for pensions on March 31 in each year since the Act came into force, and the number of pensioners, are given as follows [221], [222] :—

At March 31	Liability of State for Pensions	Number of Pensioners	Average Annual Amount of Pension
	£		£ s. d.
1899	127,319	7,443	17 2 0
1900	193,718	11,285	17 3 0
1901	211,965	12,405	17 2 0
1902	217,192	12,776	17 0 0
1903	211,594	12,481	16 19 0
1904	200,915	11,926	16 17 0
1905	199,081	11,770	16 18 0
1906 (a)	313,018	12,582	24 17 0
1907	326,084	13,257	24 12 0
1908[222]	333,340	13,569	24 11 0

(a) The large increase in the liability for pensions, and in the average amount of pension in 1906, is due to an Amendment Act passed in 1905. Under the original Act the maximum pension obtainable was £18 a year; the amending Act of 1905 raised this maximum to £26, and in 1906 maximum pensions of £18 were payable for five months and of £26 for the remaining seven months.

The following table shows the European population at the end of each year since the passing of the Old Age Pensions Act, and the total cost and cost per head on account of pensions and of outdoor poor relief [222] :—

Year ended March 31	Estimated European Population at End of Year	Old Age Pensions		Outdoor Poor Relief
		Gross Payments	Cost per Head of Population	Annual Cost	Cost per Head of Population
		£	s. d.	£	s. d.
1899 (3 months only)	746,680	3,124	0 1	50,850	1 4 1/2
1900	758,620	157,342	4 1	41,790	1 1 1/2
1901	772,720	197,292	5 1	42,181	1 1
1902	789,990	207,468	5 3	38,934	0 11 1/2
1903	814,840	210,140	5 2	43,421	1 0 1/2
1904	838,950	203,164	4 10	42,618	1 0 1/2
1905	864,970	195,475	4 6	40,799	0 11 1/2
1906 (a)	889,970	254,367	5 8	39,547	0 10 1/2
1907	913,870	314,184	6 10	36,532	0 9 1/2
1908	937,590	325,199	6 11	34,698	0 8 1/2

(a) Previous to 1906, and for five months in 1906, the maximum pension payable was £18; for seven months in 1906, and afterwards, the maximum pension was £26.

The numbers of the European population eligible for pensions by age and residence, and the numbers and proportions of actual pensioners in each year from 1902, are given as follows [222] :—

At March 31	European Population Eligible by Age and Residence	European Pensioners
		Number	Percentage of Number Eligible
1902 (estimated)	27,990	11,721	41
1903	29,380	11,589	39
1904	30,890	11,197	36
1905	32,010	11,138	35
1906 (census year)	37,370	11,915	31
1907 (estimated)	38,610	12,597	32
1908	39,340	12,912	32

From this table it is seen that although the numbers of pensioners have increased absolutely, they have not increased relatively to the population eligible for pensions so far as regards the age and residence qualifications.

The average amount of property held by each pensioner in 1908, after deducting mortgages, was £34, 13s., and the average amount of income earned per pensioner was £8 [222].

AUSTRALIA

Old age pension schemes have been in force since 1901 in Victoria (January 1901) and New South Wales (August 1901) [15].

In VICTORIA, persons who may claim pensions must be (with certain exceptions) 65 years of age; must be resident in the state, and have resided there for twenty years prior to application for pension; and must be of good character. The maximum rate of pension in Victoria is 8s. per week, and diminishes by 1s. per week for every shilling earned over 2s. per week, and by 6d. per week for every £10 of property (excluding furniture and personal effects up to £25 in value). The maximum income a pensioner may have is therefore, including his pension, £26 per annum, or 10s. per week. The maximum amount of property he may possess is £159 [15].

In NEW SOUTH WALES, the age limit, with exceptions, is also 65. Residence in the state is required for 25 years previous to application for pension, and the applicant must be of good moral character. The maximum pension payable is 10s. per week, or if husband and wife are living together, 7s. 6d. This pension diminishes by £1 per year for every £1 of income above £26 (or above £19, 10s. in the case of husband and wife living together), and by £1 for every £15 of property. The maximum income, including pension, that a pensioner may receive is therefore £52 per annum, or £1 per week, and the maximum amount of property £389 [15].

The number of persons in receipt of old age pensions at the end of the year, and the amount paid in pensions during the year, are given as follows [15]:—

Year	Victoria		New South Wales
	Pensioners at End of Year	Amount Paid in Pensions during Year	Pensioners at End of Year	Amount Paid in Pensions during Year
		£		£
1900-1	16,275	129,340
1901-2	14,570	292,430	13,957	436,180
1902-3	12,417	215,970	22,182	524,970
1903-4	11,609	205,180	20,905	508,130
1904-5	11,209	200,460	20,438	496,300
1905-6	10,990	189,130	21,402	489,100
1906-7	10,832	187,730	21,465	494,230

During 1906-7, the average pension paid amounted to £23, 1s. 2d., or 8s. 10½d. per week, in New South Wales; and to £17, 6s. 7d., or 6s. 8d. per week, in Victoria [15].

The cost of administration of the schemes has averaged about £20,000 per annum in New South Wales, and about £1900 per annum in Victoria [15].

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA

The annual expenditure of the United States federal government on pensions has increased as follows [3]:—

Year ended June 30	Number of Pensioners	Amount of Pension

An estimate of the population of the great divisions of the world, together with the density per square mile, is given as follows [9]:—

Division	Area in Sq. Miles	Population	Persons per Sq. Mile
Europe	3,800,000	420,000,000	110
Asia	16,100,000	850,000,000	53

New Zealand [148]	April 29, 1906	888,580 (c)	8.5

(a) No census has yet been taken in Japan. The population quoted for 1903 is taken from the Civil Registers.

(b) Exclusive of Aborigines.

(c) Exclusive of Maoris, who numbered 47,731.

The above figures cannot of course be compared with one another except in a few cases, since the dates of the several censuses do not synchronise. Where two dates are given for the census, the upper is to be understood as the date according to the old style of reckoning, and the lower as the date according to the new style.

The density of the population is seen to be greatest in Saxony and Egypt, and lowest in Scandinavia, Finland, Russia, American countries, Australia, and New Zealand. Little stress, however, can be laid on these figures for comparative purposes, in view of the great diversity that prevails from country to country in physical, economic, and other conditions.

The following table gives the estimated number of inhabitants in the principal countries in the year 1907, and so enables a comparison of population to be made [1], [28]:—

Country	Estimated Population 1907	Country	Estimated Population 1907
Argentine Republic	5,500,000	Netherlands	5,700,000
Austria	28,000,000	New Zealand	950,000

(a) The proportion in New Zealand in 1906 was 887.

(b) Census of 1904. The proportion for whites only at this census was 820 [29].

In about half of the states given above the ratio of females to males diminished between the two censuses. The Balkan States are the only states in Europe showing a less number of females than males in the population, although this relation in the numbers of the sexes is common in the new countries outside Europe, and in the Asiatic countries of India, Ceylon, and Japan.

The distribution of the population by ages, according to the censuses of the several states taken in or about the year 1901, is given as follows [58]:—

Servia and Bulgaria have the largest percentage of children aged 14 or less, each having over 40 per cent. in the total population. Russia comes next with 38 per cent. children. The lowest percentage of children, namely, 26 per cent., is found in France; and the next lowest in Ireland (30 per cent.). At the other end of life, France contains the highest percentage of persons over 55 years of age, namely, 17 per cent.; Sweden comes next with 16 per cent.; while Ireland ranks third with 14 per cent. along with Denmark, Norway, and Italy. As regards what may be considered the working population—that is, those included in the age-group 15 to 54—New Zealand has the highest proportion, namely, 59 per cent.; England and France have the next highest proportion, namely, 57 per cent.; followed by Scotland, Ireland, and Switzerland with 56 per cent. The lowest percentage of persons within these age-limits is found in Bulgaria, Servia, and Norway.

From the above tables the ratios of females to males at various ages may be deduced. In the following table these ratios are given in the form of the number of females of certain ages to every 1000 males at those ages [58]:—

This table discloses the greatest variety in the ratio of females to males at certain ages. In most states the males exceed the females in each group up to age 14. The exceptions to this are England and Wales, Russia, Austria, Bavaria, where there is a slight preponderance of females between ages 1 and 14, and France, where the preponderance of females is in the age-group 1 to 4. In Bulgaria and Serbia alone of the European states is there a smaller number of females than males in all age-groups. Generally speaking, the ratio of females to males increases from the first to the second age-groups, falls off slightly in the third group as compared with the second, and then grows steadily to the end of life. There are, of course, exceptions to this rule.

The numbers of married and marriageable women aged 15 to 49 (practical limits of age for child-bearing) in several countries at the censuses taken in or about 1901, and the proportion of married women per 1000 of all women aged 15 to 49, were as follows [58]:—

Country	Date of Census	Married Women Aged 15-49	Unmarried Women (including Widowed and Divorced) Aged 15-49	Proportion of Married Women Aged 15-49 to 1000 of all Women Aged 15-49

(a) Exclusive of 802 women aged 15 to 49 who did not state their conjugal condition.

The total number and proportion of women of fertile ages, taken as practically from age 15 to age 49, in the total population of several states at the censuses taken in or about the year 1901, were as follows [58]:—

State	Total Population	Number of Females Aged 15-49	Proportion of Females Aged 15-49 per 1000 of Total Population
England and Wales	32,528,000	8,934,000	275

(a) The limits of age for Hungary are 16 and 50.

(b) The limits of age for New Zealand, Japan, and India are 15 to 50.

(c) Exclusive of Maoris.

The highest ratio in the above table is found in England and Wales; the lowest in Bulgaria. The range is therefore from 218 to 275 per 1000, the simple average being about 249. About 75 per cent. of the states given have a proportion falling within 10 of the average.

The percentage distribution of the population of certain states according to civil condition was as follows at the time of the censuses taken in or about the year 1901. The figures for males are given as percentages of the total number of males, and similarly for females [58]:—

State	Males				Females
	Number in Total Population	Percentage of Total Males			Number in Total Population	Percentage of Total Females
		Bachelors	Husbands	Widowed and Divorced		Spinsters	Wives	Widowed and Divorced

(a) The bachelors and spinsters include the widowed and divorced.

Apart from the unique position of India, the most striking fact in this table is the position of France in relation to the other states. Next to India, it shows the lowest percentage of bachelors and spinsters; and the highest percentage of husbands, and widowed and divorced persons, and also, Servia and India excepted, of wives. Servia has percentages not differing much from the French percentages, except with regard to widowed and divorced women. But Servia has one of the highest birth-rates in Europe, and France one of the lowest.

BRITISH EMPIRE

The population of the several parts of the British Empire at the date of the three censuses of 1881, 1891, and 1901, was as follows [224] :—

State	1881	1891	1901

(e) Population of town of Lagos and of Ebente Metta only. The population of the whole Colony and Protectorate at census of 1901 was estimated at 1,389,000.

UNITED KINGDOM

The population of the United Kingdom, as enumerated at the censuses, has increased as follows [147] :—

Census Year	England and Wales	Scotland	Ireland	United Kingdom	Isle of Man	Channel Islands
1821	12,000,000	2,092,000	6,802,000	20,894,000	40,100	49,400

1901	32,528,000	4,472,000	4,459,000	41,459,000	54,800	95,600

The birthplaces of the total enumerated population of the United Kingdom in 1901 were as follows [147]:—

Birthplace	Number	Per Cent. of Total	Birthplace	Number	Per Cent. of Total
England and Wales	31,480,000	75.93	British Colonies and India	160,000	0.39
Scotland	4,433,000	10.69	Ships at sea	4,500	0.01
Ireland	4,959,000	11.96	Foreign countries	386,000	0.93
Islands in the British Seas	37,000	0.09	Total	41,459,000	100.00

The number of natives of the United Kingdom resident in foreign countries at or about the date of the census of 1901 was 2,929,000. Of these the United States contained 2,791,000; France, 35,000; Argentina, 27,000; Germany, 17,000; Italy, 9000; and Spain, 8000. In British colonies and dependencies, &c., there were about 1,700,000 natives of the United Kingdom, mainly in Australia (679,000), Canada (390,000), South Africa (217,000), New Zealand (205,000), and India (97,000) [147].

Further census details are given in the following tables for England and Wales, Scotland, and Ireland separately.

ENGLAND AND WALES

The distribution of the urban population at the census of 1901 is given as follows [147]:—

Limits of Populations of Urban Districts	Number of Urban Districts	Total Population in 1901	Total Population of same Areas in 1891	Percentage Increase 1891-1901	Persons per Square Mile in 1901
Over 700,000 (viz. London)	1	4,536,540	4,228,320	7.3	38,795
250,000 and under 700,000	8	3,436,860	3,064,690	12.1	18,435
100,000 " 250,000	24	3,516,790	2,987,840	17.7	13,524
50,000 " 100,000	42	3,016,660	2,449,480	23.2	9,138
20,000 " 50,000	141	4,434,920	3,685,840	20.3	5,570
10,000 " 20,000	220	3,018,220	2,548,710	18.4	2,336
5,000 " 10,000	260	1,843,720	1,611,560	14.4	1,479
3,000 " 5,000	211	839,840	773,320	8.6	869
Under 3,000	215	414,800	395,520	4.9	506
Total urban population	1,122	25,058,350	21,745,280	15.2	4,167

This table shows that the urban districts with populations in 1901 of between 50,000 and 100,000 experienced the greatest percentage increase in aggregate population between 1891 and 1901, while the rate of growth progressively diminishes as the districts are more populous or less populous than this. The rate of growth was only 7.3 per cent. in London, which had the greatest population of any urban district, a rate less than that experienced by the urban districts with populations between 3000 and 5000. In this table the administrative county of London is referred to.

The numbers of the rural parts of the population in 1891 and 1901, according as urban districts with populations (a) less than 10,000 and (b) less than 5000 are classed with rural districts, and (c) according to the technical division of the country into urban and rural districts, are given as follows [147]:—

Rural Districts	Total Population in 1901	Total Population of same Areas in 1891	Percentage Increase 1891-1901
Including urban districts with—
Less than 10,000 inhabitants in 1901	10,567,840	10,037,640	5.3
" " 5,000 " " " "	8,724,130	8,426,080	3.5
Rural districts as technically defined	7,469,490	7,257,240	2.9

While this table shows no actual decrease in the rural population of the country as a whole, the rate of growth since 1891 is much less than in the case of the urban population.

The rural population declined, however, in many counties. This is shown in the following table, which gives the numbers of counties in which the rural population decreased or increased between 1891 and 1901, according to the percentage of increase or diminution [147]:—

Rural Districts	Number of Counties (a) in which the Rural Population
	Decreased		Increased
	Not more than 5 per Cent.	5 to 8 per Cent.	Not more than 5 per Cent.	5 to 10 per Cent.	10 to 20 per Cent.
Including urban districts with—
Less than 10,000 inhabitants in 1901	21	2	6	15	10
" 5,000 " " " " " " "	21	4	10	12	7
Rural districts as technically defined	19	8	12	8	7

(a) Each Riding of Yorkshire is counted as one county, making 54 counties in all.

It is seen that in about half the counties of England and Wales the rural population diminished between 1891 and 1901. In only two counties did the urban population decrease, namely, in Huntingdonshire and Montgomeryshire, in each case by less than 2 per cent.

SCOTLAND

The urban and rural parts of the population, at the censuses of 1891 and 1901, are given as follows [225]:—

Groups	Total Population		Percentage Increase or Decrease 1891-1901	Percentage of Population in each Group to Total Population
	1891	1901		1891	1901
Towns (with 2000 inhabitants and upwards)	2,631,298	3,120,241	+ 18.6	65.4	69.8
Villages (300 to 2000 inhabitants)	465,836	466,053	+ 0.05	11.6	10.4
Rural districts	928,513	885,809	- 4.6	23.0	19.8
Total population	4,025,647	4,472,103	+ 11.1	100.0	100.0

Out of a total population in 1901 of 4,472,000, 28,100, or 0.6 per cent., aged 3 years and upwards, spoke Gaelic only, and 202,700, or 4.5 per cent., spoke both Gaelic and English [225].

IRELAND

At the time of the census of 1901 there were enumerated 20,950 persons who could speak Irish only, and 620,190 who could speak both Irish and English. In 1891 the numbers were 38,190 and 642,050 respectively [150].

The civic or urban and the rural population of Ireland at the time of the last three censuses is given as follows [150]:—

Census Year	Population		Density of Population per Acre of
	Civic (a)	Rural	Civic Area (a)	Rural Area
1881	1,245,500	3,929,300	10.4	0.20
1891	1,244,100	3,460,600	10.0	0.17
1901	1,384,900	3,073,800	11.0	0.15

(a) The civic portion of Ireland consists of all towns of not less than 2000 inhabitants at the date of the respective censuses.

The distribution of the civic population, according to the size of the towns and cities, is given as follows [150], [226]:—

Size of City or Town	Total Civic Population at Census of
	1881	1891	1901

DENMARK

The distribution of the population according to urban and rural districts in 1906 is shown as follows [157]:—

Copenhagen and Frederiksberg	516,400	Of 2,000 to 4,000 inhabitants	62,280
Provincial towns—		„ less than 2,000 „	25,150
Of more than 20,000 inhabitants	170,800	Total in provincial towns	511,000
„ 10,000 to 20,000 „	85,500	Total in rural districts	1,571,000
„ 7,000 „ 10,000 „	100,280
„ 4,000 „ 7,000 „	66,990	Total population	2,598,400

In 1897 the capital (Copenhagen and Frederiksberg) contained 436,000 inhabitants; the provincial towns, 438,000; and the rural districts, 1,463,000; giving a total population in 1897 of 2,337,000 [157]. Hence between 1897 and 1906 the urban population increased nearly 18 per cent. and the rural population 7 per cent.

THE NETHERLANDS

The population in communes of 20,000 inhabitants and upwards increased 166 per cent. between 1830 and 1900, while the increase in all other communes was only 70 per cent. The increase in the whole country was 95 per cent. [35].

Of the total population in 1899, 31,900, or 0.6 per cent., were Germans; 14,900, or 0.3 per cent., were Belgians; and 6000, or 0.1 per cent., were of other nationalities [35].

GERMANY

The distribution of the population in broad age-groups at the census of 1905 is given as follows [227]:—

State	Numbers at Census of 1905 of given Ages (000 omitted)

The Indian population on Indian reservations numbered about 270,000 in 1900, of whom 86,265 were in the Indian Territory and 40,190 in Arizona. These numbers are included in the above table under the several states. In 1907 the Indian population on reservations was approximately 298,000 [3].

The distribution of the population at the census of 1900 by sex, nativity, and race is given as follows, the numbers relating to the whole Union, including Alaska and Hawaii [3]:—

Race	Numbers at 1900 Census
	Males	Females	Total
Native whites	28,803,200	27,937,600	56,740,800

The foreign-born part of the population at the census of 1900 numbered 10,341,000 in the United States proper, or about 14 per cent. of the whole population. Of these, 2,783,000 were born in the United Kingdom (1,615,000 in Ireland, 934,000 in England and Wales, and 234,000 in Scotland); 2,663,000 in Germany; 1,180,000 in Canada and Newfoundland (785,000 English and 395,000 French); 572,000 in Sweden; 484,000 in Italy; 424,000 in Russia; 383,000 in Poland; 336,000 in Norway; 276,000 in Austria; and 146,000 in Hungary. The remainder were born in Bohemia (157,000), China (82,000), Denmark (154,000), France (104,000), Holland (105,000), Mexico (103,000), Switzerland (116,000), and other countries (273,000) [3].

The percentages of native and foreign-born in the chief divisions of the United States at the last two censuses are given as follows [3]:—

Division, &c.	1890		1900
	Per Cent. of Population		Per Cent. of Population
	Native	Foreign-born	Native	Foreign-born
North Atlantic	77.7	22.3	77.4	22.6

Hawaii	53.5	46.5	41.1	58.9
Total U.S.A.	85.2	14.8	86.3	13.7

The foreign-born element of the population of New York city (including Brooklyn, &c.) in 1900 amounted to 37 per cent.; that of Chicago to 35 per cent.; that of Philadelphia to 23 per cent.; that of St. Louis to 19 per cent.; and that of Boston to 35 per cent. [3].

Defining as urban population all persons living in towns and incorporated places of 8000 inhabitants and upwards, the ratio of the urban to the total population of the United States has increased as follows [244]:—

Census Year	Total Population	Number of Towns, &c., of 8000 Inhabitants or more at each Census	Urban Population	Urban expressed as Percentage of Total Population
1790	3,930,000	6	130,000	3.4

1900	76,000,000	545	25,000,000	33.1

Taking the population in places of 4000 inhabitants or more as urban population, the censuses of 1890 and 1900 showed as follows [244]:—

	1890	1900
Number of places containing 4000 inhabitants and upwards	899	1,158
Population of such places	20,770,000	28,410,000

In Quebec the French race preponderates, in 1901 there being 1,322,100 persons of French origin, and only 290,200 of British. The religion of the people, too, is predominantly Roman Catholic, 1,429,260 persons returning themselves in 1901 as belonging to that denomination. Only 3200 persons, however, were born in France, 1,560,200 being natives of Canada [31].

A census of the North-West Provinces (Manitoba and The Territories) taken in 1906 gave the population as follows [31]:—

Province	Number of Families	Numbers 1906
		Males	Females	Total
Manitoba	69,380	205,180	160,500	365,680

The European or white population forms but 18 per cent. of the total population. In Cape Colony the whites form 24 per cent. of the total population; in the Transvaal they form 23 per cent.; in the Orange River Colony, 37 per cent.; and in Natal only 9 per cent.

The total population of the above colonies, &c., was estimated at 6,724,200 in 1907, comprising 1,205,600 whites or Europeans, and 5,518,600 of other races. A census of Southern Rhodesia in September 1907 recorded 14,000 European or white persons, and 910 Asiatics; the native population being estimated at about 660,000 [29].

The population of Cape Colony was made up as follows at the time of the census of April 1904 [27]:—

Race	Number of
	Males	Females	Both Sexes
European or white	318,540	261,200	579,740

The index numbers of wholesale prices compiled by the British Board of Trade from the prices of forty-five articles, each article being given a weight proportionate to its estimated consumption, are given for all years from 1871 in the following table. The prices in 1900 have been taken as the basis [2]:—

The index number of wholesale prices in 1908 was 102.8 [7].

The constituents of the groups included in the above table are as follows [2]:—

Coal and Metals—Coal, pig iron, copper (ore and regulus), crude zinc, block tin, and lead.

Textiles—Raw cotton, British wool, foreign wool, raw jute, raw flax, and raw silk.

Food and Drink—British wheat, barley, and oats; foreign wheat, barley, and oats; maize, hops, rice, and potatoes; beef, mutton, bacon, milk, eggs, herrings; sugar, tea, coffee, cocoa, rum, wine, and tobacco.

Miscellaneous—Cotton seed, linseed, olive oil, palm oil, paraffin, petroleum, bricks, hewn fir, caoutchouc, and hides.

Index numbers of retail prices of foodstuffs in London are also published by the Board of Trade, and are as follows for recent years [2]:—

The index number for retail prices in London in 1908 was 108.4 [7].

The index number given in the preceding table for the general level of retail prices makes allowance for the importance of the separate items entering into its construction, in so far as such importance is measured by the extent to which the articles are estimated to be consumed [2].

The Economist newspaper has constructed a series of index numbers designed to show the course of wholesale prices in England over a long series of years. It is based on the wholesale prices of the articles enumerated in the table below. In the case of each article the average price during the six years 1845-50 is taken as the basis of the index number, and is accordingly represented by 100. The total index number is formed by adding together the index numbers of the separate articles. No regard is therefore paid to the relative importance of the several articles, indigo, for example, having as much influence on the total index number as wheat.

The table which follows gives the index numbers for January 1 in recent years [51]:—

Sauerbeck's series of index numbers, based on the prices of forty-five commodities (in some cases two kinds or descriptions of one article being counted as two commodities), are given as follows for recent years. The average prices of the eleven years 1867-77 are taken as the basis of comparison [229].

A series of index numbers of retail prices since 1850 has been calculated by Mr. George H. Wood, and published in the Journal of the Royal Statistical Society (March 1909). This series is given as follows in quinquennial averages [230]:—

Period	Index Number	Period	Index Number
1850	100	1880-84	104
1850-54	104	1885-89	91
1855-59	117	1890-94	90

1875-79	110

(a) Continued by the present writer on the basis of the Board of Trade series of index numbers of retail prices given above.

The various series of index numbers of prices given above may be compared with one another, as in the following table. In the case of each series, average prices in 1900 are represented by 100.

(a) The numbers in brackets are the numbers of articles included in the several groups.

The next table shows the course of retail prices of 30 articles of food, including those in the last table, in each geographical division of the United States, the index numbers of the separate articles being averaged to obtain the index numbers of the whole 30 articles [232]:—

Division	Relative Retail Prices of Food
	Average 1890-9	1897	1898	1899	1900	1901	1902	1903	1904	1905	1906	1907
North Atlantic	100	97	98	99	101	104	110	110	111	112	115	119
South Atlantic	100	98	99	101	102	107	111	110	110	111	110	120
North Central	100	95	98	99	102	107	112	112	113	114	118	122
South Central	100	97	100	101	103	108	114	114	115	116	119	125
Western	100	94	97	100	100	102	107	108	109	110	114	119
United States	100	96	98.5	100	101.5	105.5	111	111	112	112.5	116	121

Retail prices of food appear from this table to have risen slightly more in the South Central States, and slightly less in the Western States, than in the other divisions. Both in this and in the preceding table there is seen to have been considerable rises in the prices of most of the commodities since the end of last century.

An interesting comparison is made in the following table, which gives the relative wholesale prices of over 50 articles of food, and the relative retail prices of 30 articles of food, in 1890 and subsequent years [232]:—

Year	Relative Wholesale Prices of Food	Relative Retail Prices of Food	Year	Relative Wholesale Prices of Food	Relative Retail Prices of Food
Average of 1890-1899	100	100	1899	98	100
1890	112	102	1900	104	101.5
1891	116	103	1901	106	105.5
1892	104	102	1902	111	111
1893	110	104	1903	107	111
1894	100	100	1904	107	112
1895	95	98	1905	109	112.5
1896	84	96	1906	113	116
1897	88	96	1907	118	121
1898	94	98.5

An inspection of the above table reveals that wholesale and retail prices move in sympathy with each other, but that the variations of the latter are much less in extent than those of the former. There is an exception to this rule, however, at the end of the period, where relative retail prices remained above wholesale prices.

(b) Besides the mileage in working in China at the end of 1906, there were under construction about 1200 miles, while about another 4200 miles were projected [235].

In the next table are given the total length of line in certain countries, and the length owned or worked by the State, in the years 1895 and 1906. The year in which the first railway was opened in the several countries is also shown [1], [5], [97], [236]:—

(a) Year 1902.

(b) Year 1905.

(c) Year 1900.

(d) Exclusive of about 1240 miles of narrow-gauge lines.

(e) Year 1897.

(f) The Ottoman Government owns the Hejaz Railway in Turkish Asia. The length open in 1906 was about 630 miles [237].

The date in each year on which the above lengths of line existed is in most cases December 31, but in some instances the returns relate to other months. This in itself does not seriously affect the comparability of the figures. When drawing conclusions from the table it should, however, be remembered that simply the length of track is given, a mile of single line being counted as equal to a mile of double or even quadruple line. The figures therefore do not give any clue to the relative working capacity of the railways in the several countries.

It is seen that in some of the countries the State is the largest railway owner, while in nearly all countries some railways are State property.

The present proportion of company-owned and State-owned railways in the world is given approximately as follows by Mr. Edwin A. Pratt [236]:—

Company-owned railways	389,000 miles
State-owned railways	161,000 „
Total	550,000 „

The company-owned railways are therefore in the proportion of 2.4 to 1 to State-owned lines.

These figures leave a few thousand miles of the world's railways unaccounted for.

The rolling stock of railways in 1905 is given approximately as follows [44], [238]:—

It should be understood in connection with the preceding table that the cost of construction given per mile covers single and multiple track indiscriminately. It would naturally be expected that the British railways, for example, with their double, treble, and quadruple tracks, would cost more per mile than the railways of, say, America, which are largely single track. Further, the physical nature of the country through which the railway runs will obviously affect considerably the cost of construction.

The average annual receipts and expenses per mile in recent years are shown for certain countries in the following table [1]:—

UNITED KINGDOM

The length of railways open for traffic in the United Kingdom on the 31st December 1898 and 1908 was as follows [22], [239]:—

Country	Mileage Open for Traffic on December 31
	1898			1908
	Single Track	Double or More	Total	Single Track	Double or More	Total

United Kingdom	9,767	11,892	21,659	10,279	12,926	23,205

The length of track at the end of 1907 was approximately 39,000 miles, and of sidings (reduced to single track) 14,200 miles, a total of about 53,200 miles [239]. The length of line at the end of 1909 was 23,280 miles (10,284 single, and 12,996 double or more) [296].

The numbers of rolling stock in 1898 and 1909 were as follows [239], [296]:—

Country	Numbers in 1909

The miles travelled by all trains in 1909 in the United Kingdom totalled 419,250,000. The total number of passengers carried (excluding season-ticket holders) was 1,265,000,000, or about 6 millions more than in 1907. The season-ticket holders numbered 730,000. The quantity of goods carried reached 499,900,000 tons, a falling off of 16 million tons compared with 1907 [296].

The authorised capital of railway companies in the United Kingdom at December 31, 1909, was £1,403,200,000, of which £1,314,400,000 had been paid up. At the end of 1898, the amounts were

£1,242,800,000 and £1,134,500,000 respectively. The amounts paid up in the several parts of the Kingdom were [239], [296]:—

Country	1898	1909
England and Wales	936,100,000	1,083,900,000
Scotland	159,000,000	185,300,000
Ireland	39,400,000	45,200,000
United Kingdom	1,134,500,000	1,314,400,000

The receipts and expenditure of the railways in 1898 and 1907 are given as follows [239]:—

Items	United Kingdom		Amounts in 1907
	1898	1907	England and Wales	Scotland	Ireland
Receipts from passenger traffic—	£	£	£	£	£

Net receipts	40,300,000	44,940,000	37,730,000	5,500,000	1,710,000

Receipts in 1909 from passenger traffic were £51,210,000, and from goods traffic £59,480,000. The total gross receipts were £120,170,000, and working expenses £75,040,000, making net receipts £45,130,000 [296].

The proportions of working expenditure to total receipts were as follows [22], [239], [296]:—

Country	1898	1907	1909
	Per Cent.	Per Cent.	Per Cent.
England and Wales	59	64	63
Scotland	53	58	57
Ireland	58	61	62
United Kingdom	58	63	62

The proportion of total net earnings to capital has averaged as follows for the whole Kingdom [239], [296]:—

	Per Cent.
Average of 1871-75	4.6
" 1876-80	4.3
" 1881-85	4.2
" 1886-90	4.1
" 1891-95	3.8
" 1896-1900	3.6
" 1901-5	3.4
" 1906-9	3.4

The decline shown in these figures is partly attributable to nominal additions to capital arising on the conversion of stocks.

The receipts and expenses per mile of line open and per train mile worked out as follows [239]:—

(a) Excluding expenditure on steamboats, docks, harbours, and canals.

(b) Excluding receipts from traffic conveyed by mixed trains.

The receipts per mile in 1909 from passenger traffic were £2199, and from goods traffic £2555. The working expenditure per mile was £3048. The corresponding amounts per train mile were 46.6d., 92.8d., and 40.6d. respectively [296].

The amount of rates and taxes paid by railway companies in the United Kingdom increased from £3,425,000 in 1898 to £5,010,000 in 1909 [239], [296].

The expenditure on coal and coke increased from £3,500,000 in 1898 to £5,500,000 in 1909 [239], [296].

At the end of the year 1909 there were 205 miles of railway (in equivalent of single track) worked solely by electricity, and 230 miles (also in equivalent of single track) worked partly by electricity. There were 89 electric locomotives, 861 electric cars, and 1347 other cars. 22,920,000 train miles were run by electric trains, and 86,050,000 car miles by electric cars. The consumption of electricity was 253,295,000 Board of Trade units [296].

NORWAY

Most of the railways in Norway are in the hands of the State, private companies owning some 240 miles and the State about 1350 miles (1907). In 1897, companies owned 90 miles and the State 1120 miles [1].

The total cost of construction of the lines open on March 31, 1907, amounted to about £12,500,000 [1].

Further particulars of the Norwegian railways are shown in the following table for the years 1902-3 and 1906-7 [1]:—

Items	1902-3	1906-7
Average length of line open Miles	1,367	1,608

SWEDEN

The Swedish railways are owned partly by the State and partly by companies. Their respective lengths of railways at the end of 1897 and 1907 were [1]:—

Railways	1897	1907
State	Miles 2,280	Miles 2,700
Companies	4,070	5,540
Total	6,350	8,240

The total cost of construction of the railways existing at the end of 1905 (7830 miles) was £51,440,000, equal to an average of £6570 per mile [1].

Other particulars for the years 1901 and 1905 are given as follows [1]:—

BELGIUM

The average length of line open in Belgium during the year 1907 comprised 2540 miles worked by the State, and 330 miles worked by companies, or a total of 2870 miles [1].

The total cost of construction of the State railways down to the end of 1906 was about £90,000,000, averaging about £35,700 per mile [14].

The rolling stock in 1906 was as follows [14]:—

Rolling Stock	State Railways	Companies' Railways
Locomotives and motor carriages	3,450	307
Passenger carriages	6,850	480
Luggage and goods cars	75,430	7,490

The distances travelled, and passengers and goods carried in 1902 and 1906, were as follows [1]:—

Items	1902	1906
Distance travelled by—
Passenger trains . . . Miles	23,300,000	27,600,000

DENMARK

Railways in Denmark are divided in ownership between the State and private companies. The shares at the end of 1897 and 1907 are shown as follows [1]:—

Railways	1897	1907
	Miles	Miles
State	1,087	1,189
Companies	444	908
Total	1,531	2,097

Thus while companies' railways have more than doubled in length during the period given, the State lines increased in length only about 9 per cent.

The number of passengers and tonnage of goods carried on the State railways during the years ended 31st March 1903 and 1907 were as follows [1]:—

	1902-3	1906-7
Passengers carried	19,376,300	20,511,700
Goods carried Tons	3,780,000	4,620,000

The receipts and expenses of the State lines (including steamers plying between Korsor and Kiel) during the same years were as follows [1]:—

Receipts and Expenses	1902-3	1906-7
	£	£
Receipts from passengers	735,000	1,010,000
Receipts from goods	772,000	1,027,000

Gross receipts of railways per mile	1,451	1,852
Gross expenses of railways per mile	1,300	1,471
Net receipts of railways per mile	151	381

Expenses amounted to 89.6 per cent. of gross receipts in 1902-3, and to 79.4 in 1906-7 [1].

Receipts in 1907-8 were £2,275,000, and expenses £1,923,000 [1].

The average annual numbers of accidents (including suicides) on the Danish Government railways during the period 1902-3 to 1905-6 are given as follows [1]:—

Class of Person	Average Annual Number
	Killed	Injured
Passengers	1	1.5
Others	22	26
Total	23	27.5

FRANCE

The State owns but a small proportion of the railways in France. The lengths of line owned by the State and by companies respectively in 1897, 1902, and 1907 were as follows [1]:—

Railways	1897	1902	1907
	Miles	Miles	Miles
Companies	24,160	26,150	27,940
State	1,650	1,730	1,760
Total	25,810	27,880	29,700

Statistics of mileage, and passengers and goods carried in 1902 and 1906, are given as follows (local lines are not included) [1]:—

Items	1902	1906
Average length of line open (a) } Miles	23,940	24,700

(a) Exclusive of local lines.

The cost of construction at the end of 1902 amounted (exclusive of local lines) to £633,000,000, equivalent to £28,200 per mile, and at the end of 1906 to £707,000,000, equivalent to £28,600 per mile [1].

The receipts and expenses (exclusive of local lines) are shown as follows [1]:—

Items	Amounts in
	1902	1906
Receipts from passengers	25,900,000	29,300,000

Gross receipts per mile	2,464	2,669
Gross expenses per mile	1,349	1,411
Net receipts per mile	1,115	1,258

Receipts in 1907 were £68,100,000, and expenses £38,200,000 [1].

Total expenses were nearly 55 per cent. of the gross receipts in 1902, and nearly 53 per cent. in 1906. The net receipts were 3.9 per cent. of cost of construction in 1902, and rose to 4.4 per cent. in 1906.

The receipts and expenses per train mile run were [1]:—

Receipts and Expenses	1902	1906
	d.	d.
Receipts per train mile	66.8	72.0
Expenses per train mile	36.6	38.2
Net receipts per train mile	30.2	33.8

The average annual numbers of accidents during the year 1903-6 were as follows (excluding local lines) [1]:—

Class of Person	Killed	Injured
Employees	247	539
Passengers (a)	10	292
Others (b)	286	194
Total	543	1,025

(a) In accidents to trains only.

(b) Exclusive of suicides, but inclusive of passengers not killed or injured in accidents to trains.

GERMAN EMPIRE

The total length of railways in Germany in 1906-7 was 34,480 miles, exclusive of narrow-gauge lines. Of this mileage, 31,860 belonged to the State and 2620 to private companies. The State, however, worked about 88 miles of the companies' railways. The mileage averaged about 165 miles per 1000 square miles of area, and 5.6 miles per 10,000 inhabitants [12].

The cost of construction amounted in 1906 to £739,500,000, equal on the average to about £21,400 per mile [12].

The length of narrow-gauge line in 1906-7 was about 1280 miles, of which the State owned some 580 miles. The cost of construction down to 1906-7 was, as far as known, about £7,650,000, equal on the average to nearly £6000 per mile [12].

The total average railway staff was 645,400 during 1906-7, exclusive of 5700 on the narrow-gauge railways [12].

The rolling stock is given as follows [12]:—

Year	Mileage	Numbers at End of Year
		Locomotive Engines	Passenger Cars	Luggage and Goods Cars
Wide-gauge lines—	Miles
1897-98	29,200	16,880	33,660	361,960
1901-2	31,650	19,720	39,920	420,490
1906-7	34,500	22,860	47,060	479,590

1897-98	860	300	780	6,860
1901-2	1,170	410	1,110	8,590
1906-7	1,280	450	1,200	10,040

The cost of construction, maintenance, and renewal of the rolling stock on wide-gauge lines is given for 1906-7 as follows [12]:—

Locomotives and tenders	£5,914,000
Passenger carriages	2,233,000
Luggage and goods cars	4,068,000

The passenger and freight traffic on the railways was as follows [12]:—

Kind of Traffic, &c.	Wide-gauge Lines		Narrow-gauge Lines
	1902-3	1906-7	1902-3	1906-7
Number of passengers	883,000,000	1,200,000,000	23,000,000	25,600,000

Average haul per ton Miles	62	63	7.6	7.7

On the wide-gauge lines during 1906-7, the distance travelled by locomotives was 416,600,000 miles; by passenger trains, 196,000,000 miles; by goods trains, 154,500,000 miles; and by mixed trains, 38,600,000 miles [12].

The receipts and expenses in 1902-3 and 1906-7 for wide-gauge lines were as follows [1]:—

Receipts and Expenses	1902-3	1906-7
	£	£
Receipts from passengers	28,390,000	36,210,000
Receipts from goods	63,830,000	83,840,000

Total receipts	99,730,000	129,470,000
Total expenses	64,630,000	83,620,000
Net receipts	35,100,000	45,850,000

Total receipts in 1907-8 were £135,210,000, and expenses £93,350,000 [1].

The expenses represented 64.8 per cent. of the total receipts in 1902-3, and 64.6 per cent. in 1906-7.

The receipts and expenses per mile were as follows [1]:—

Finances per Mile	1902-3	1906-7
Gross receipts per mile	3,190	3,750
Gross expenses per mile	1,970	2,380

Receipts per train mile	72.2	74.3
Expenses per train mile	46.0	47.1
Net receipts per train mile	26.2	27.2

The total receipts and expenses of the narrow-gauge lines were [12]:—

Receipts and Expenses	1902-3	1906-7
	£	£
Receipts	508,800	628,100
Expenses	425,700	469,100
Net receipts	83,100	159,000

It has been stated that during the twenty years 1887 to 1906 a sum of £293,000,000 clear profit on railways has been available for national purposes [39].

The average annual numbers of accidents on both wide and narrow gauge railways during the period 1902-3 to 1906-7 were as follows [12]:—

Class of Person	Killed	Injured
Passengers	95	483
Employees	566	1,388
Others	338	347
Total	999	2,218

Suicides are excluded from these figures.

SWITZERLAND

The Swiss railways are owned partly by the State and partly by companies. In 1907 their shares were [1]:—

State	Miles	1,525
Companies		1,216
Total		2,741

Some 410 miles only were double track, the rest being single line [1].

The total cost of construction amounted in 1901 to £50,490,000, or £21,440 per mile; and in 1907 to £62,890,000, or £23,440 per mile [1].

The rolling stock in 1900 and 1905 was as follows [23]:—

Rolling Stock	1900	1905
Locomotives	1,146	1,360
Passenger carriages	2,890	3,580
Goods waggons	13,800	15,120

The distances travelled, and passengers and goods carried in 1901 and 1906, were as follows [1]:—

Items	1901	1906

ROUMANIA

The railways in Roumania are owned by the state, the mileage in 1902 and 1907 being 1970 and 1979 respectively [1].

During the year ended March 31, 1907, the distances travelled by [1]—

Locomotives was 13,000,000 miles
 Passenger trains was 4,000,000 miles
 Goods trains was 9,000,000 miles

7,600,000 passengers and 6,000,000 tons of goods were carried during the same year; the numbers in 1902-3 being 5,300,000 and 4,600,000 respectively [1].

The cost of construction amounted in 1906-7 to £35,700,000, averaging £18,060 per mile [1].

Receipts and expenses were as follows [1]:—

Receipts and Expenses	1902-3	1906-7
Receipts from passengers	£ 710,000	£ 1,010,000
Receipts from goods	1,420,000	1,960,000

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA

The total length of railways owned in the United States was 224,363 miles on June 30, 1906, equivalent on the average to 7.55 miles of line per 100 square miles of area, and 26.8 miles per 10,000 inhabitants. These figures exclude railways in Alaska (80 miles on June 30, 1906) and Hawaii [3]. In 1900 corresponding statistics were [3]: 193,346 miles of railway, equivalent on the average to 6.5 miles of line per 100 square miles of area, and 25.4 miles per 10,000 inhabitants. At the end of 1907 the mileage was 227,455 miles [1].

The mileage of railroads in operation in 1906, and the rolling stock, are given as follows for the principal geographical divisions of the Union [3]:—

Net surplus	19,760,000	23,410,000	99	105

The percentage of operating expenses to operating income was 65 in 1902 and 66 in 1906.

The revenue per 100 miles per passenger was 8s. 3¼d. in 1902 and 8s. 4d. in 1906; and per ton of freight was 3s. 1¾d. in 1902 and 3s. 1½d. in 1906. The revenue per train mile was as follows [3]:—

Revenue	1902	1906
	s. d.	s. d.
Passenger trains	4 6¼	5 0
Freight trains	9 5½	10 10½
All trains	7 7	8 7¾

The average cost of running a train one mile increased from 4s. 11d. in 1902 to 5s. 8½d. in 1906 [3].

The mileage of street and elevated railways in the United States was 36,930 miles in 1906, of which 36,210 miles were electrified. In 1896 the total mileage was 14,470 miles, of which 12,130 miles were electrified [3].

The mileage, number of cars, capital, and debt of these railways in the chief divisions of the Union in 1906 were as follows [3]:—

Division	Street and Elevated Railways in 1906
	Track Mileage		Number of Cars	Capital	Funded Debt

The average numbers of railway accidents during the period 1902-1906 were as follows [3]:—

Class of Person	Average of 1902-6
	Killed	Injured
Employees	3,499	64,321
Passengers	407	9,049
Other persons	5,852	8,446
Total	9,758	81,816

The numbers of employees to every one killed averaged 384, and to every one injured, 21. The numbers of trainmen for one killed averaged 127, and for one injured, 9. The numbers of passengers for one killed averaged 1,812,390, and for one injured, 80,995 [3].

CANADA

The mileage of railways in operation in Canada was 23,267 miles at the end of the year 1906-7, of which 815 miles were electric railway, and 22,452 were steam railway.

Only 1067 miles of the steam railways were double track. The number of miles under construction during the year was estimated at 3000. The Canadian Government railways had, at June 30, 1907, a mileage of 1719 miles. Of the remaining railroads, the Canadian Pacific had 8883 miles [32].

The mileage of steam railways in the several provinces was as follows [32]:—

Ontario	7,638 miles
Quebec	3,516 "
Manitoba	3,074 "
Saskatchewan	2,025 "

EGYPT

The length of the Egyptian State railways was 1447 miles in 1902, and 1441 miles in 1907 [1].

The distance travelled on these lines by locomotives was 9,900,000 miles in 1902, and 12,700,000 in 1907; and by trains, 7,100,000 and 9,700,000 miles respectively [1].

12,900,000 passengers and 2,900,000 tons of goods were carried in the earlier year, and 26,100,000 passengers and 4,200,000 tons of goods in the later year [1].

Receipts and expenses were as follows [1]:—

Receipt and Expenses	1902	1906
Receipts from passengers	£ 890,000	£ 1,530,000
Receipts from goods	1,410,000	1,790,000

NEW ZEALAND

Nearly the whole of the New Zealand railways are in the possession of the State, the total length of State lines open for traffic on March 31, 1908, being 2474 miles. The estimated total cost of construction, including equipment, to that date was £24,365,600, averaging £9850 per mile. £2,369,500 had also been spent on lines not open at that date [33].

The rolling stock comprised 410 locomotives, 1002 passenger cars, and 15,475 goods and live-stock trucks [33].

Statistics of train mileage, and passengers and goods carried on the State railways in the years 1902-3 and 1907-8, are shown as follows [33]:—

Items	1902-3	1907-8
Length of line open Miles	2,291	2,474
Train mileage	5,443,300	7,051,300
Number of passengers carried	7,575,400	9,756,700
Season tickets issued	118,430	185,170
Goods and live stock carried Tons	3,918,300	5,070,200

The receipts and expenses of the State railways in the same years were as follows [33]:—

Finances	1902-3	1907-8
Receipts—	£	£
Passenger fares	625,700	913,000
Goods and live stock	1,189,100	1,582,300
Other receipts	159,200	266,600
Total receipts	1,974,000	2,761,900
Expenditure	1,343,400	1,949,800
Net revenue	630,600	812,100
Average receipts per mile open	861	1,115
Average expenditure per mile open	586	787
Average net receipts per mile open	275	328

The average receipts per train mile were 7s. 3d. in 1902-3 and 7s. 10d. in 1907-8; the average expenditure 4s. 11d. and 5s. 6d. respectively; and the net receipts 2s. 4d. and 2s. 4d. respectively [33].

The expenditure amounted to 68 per cent. of the gross revenue in 1902-3, and 70.6 per cent. in 1907-8.

Besides the State railways, there were, on March 31, 1908, 113 miles of private railways open for traffic. Of

The numbers of passengers carried on the Indian railways in 1898 and 1907, and the average rate charged per passenger per mile, were as follows [5]:—

	Number of Passengers		Average Rate Charged per Passenger per Mile
	1898	1907	1898	1907
Number of passengers—			d.	d.
First class	611,000	732,000	1.03	1.09
Second class	2,253,000	3,303,000	0.41	0.48
Intermediate class	5,073,000	9,873,000	0.26	0.25
Third class	131,512,000	271,249,000	0.19	0.19
Season and vendors' ticket holders	12,117,000	20,733,000	0.12	0.12
Total	151,566,000	305,890,000	0.19	0.19

The weight of goods carried was 35,642,000 tons in 1898, at an average charge of ½d. per ton per mile, and 62,098,000 tons in 1907, at an average rate of charge of 0.43d. per ton per mile [5].

The receipts and expenses are given as follows [5]:—

Finances	1898	1907
Gross earnings	£18,275,000	£31,512,000
Working expenses	8,661,000	16,190,000
Net earnings	9,614,000	15,322,000
Net earnings per mile open	447	511
Net earnings per train mile	0.13	0.12

these, 84 miles of line, the cost of construction of which amounted to £828,400, or £9860 per mile, were to be taken over by the State at the end of 1908 [33].

INDIA

The mileage of railways in India open for traffic at the end of 1898 and 1907 was as follows [5]:—

Items	1898	1907
	Miles	Miles
State lines (a)	17,310	22,355
Guaranteed company	840	905
Assisted companies	1,710	3,120
Unassisted companies	40	40
Native State lines (b)	2,060	3,520
Foreign lines (worked by companies)	70	70
Total	22,030	30,010

(a) All except about 5500 miles in 1898 and 6200 miles in 1907 were worked by companies.

(b) Of the Native State lines, about 900 miles in 1898, and 1560 miles in 1907, were worked by companies.

The mileage open at the end of 1909 was 31,490 miles [298].

The capital outlay on the mileage open for traffic amounted to £194,700,000 at the end of 1898, and to £265,600,000 by the end of 1907 [5].

The percentage of net earnings on capital outlay was 4.9 in 1898 and 5.8 in 1907, while the percentage of working expenses to gross earnings was 47.4 in 1898 and 51.4 in 1907 [5].

Gross earnings in 1909 were £31,376,000, and working expenses £17,590,000 [298].

The average annual number of accidents on the Indian railways during the period 1903-7 was as follows [5]:—

Class of Person	Average Annual Number
	Killed	Injured
Passengers	147	504
Employees	342	559
Suicides and others	921	274
Total	1,450	1,337

The railway staff at three dates was as follows [5]:—

Staff	1898	1903	1907
Europeans	4,970	6,020	7,180
Eurasians	6,940	8,660	9,980
Natives	296,700	387,570	499,590
Total	308,610	402,250	516,750

JAPAN

The total length of railways in Japan on March 31, 1908, was 5159 miles, of which 4713 miles were State railways, and 446 miles were companies' railways. The length of track, as distinguished from length of route, was 6735 miles, of which 6193 miles belonged to the State. 1038 miles were (including 796 belonging to the State) under construction [115].

In 1902, the length of line was 4115 miles, and of track, 5274 miles [4].

The rolling stock at 31st March 1902 and 1908 was as follows [4], [115]:—

Railways	Loco-motives	Passenger Carriages	Goods Cars
State	1,556	4,544	30,484
Companies	111	677	1,367
Total 1908	1,667	5,221	31,851
Total 1902	1,290	4,455	18,012

The distance travelled, and passengers and goods carried during 1907-8, were as follows [115]:—

	State Railways	Companies' Railways	Total
Distance travelled by trains Miles	37,480,000	6,750,000	44,230,000
Number of passengers carried	103,370,000	39,890,000	143,260,000
Goods carried Tons	18,900,000	5,200,000	24,100,000

In 1901-2, 111,664,000 passengers and 14,561,000 tons of goods were carried by all the railways [4]. Several companies' railways have been purchased by the State during recent years.

The cost of construction of railways in Japan has averaged about £9000 per mile [115].

The receipts and expenses of the Japanese railways in 1907-8 and 1901-2 were as follows [4], [115]:—

(Yen taken as 2s. 0½d.)

Finances	State Railways 1907-8	Companies' Railways 1907-8	Total
			1907-8	1901-2
Receipts—	£	£	£	£

(a) The totals are given to the nearest hundred thousand, and include Christians not separately specified. For countries outside Europe, Roman Catholics are not separately specified, but are included under the heading "Others." It is estimated that there are about 89 million Roman Catholics outside Europe, thus making a total in the world of about 268 millions, as against 177 million Protestants. Greek Catholics numbered as follows [44]:—

Austria-Hungary	4,200,000	Montenegro	270,000
Russia and Finland	84,200,000	Crete	270,000
Roumania	5,700,000	Asiatic Russia	12,400,000

Greece	2,500,000
		Total	119,300,000

The number of Buddhists and Brahminists is given as about 550 millions [44].

The sect of Christian Scientists is represented at the present time by over 1100 churches or societies, of which nearly 40 are in the United Kingdom, while most are in America. The "healers" number over 4000, some 160 of whom are in the United Kingdom [234].

The membership of the Christian Science churches in America is about 60,000 persons [234].

The mother church at Boston, U.S.A., cost £400,000 [234].

IRELAND

The numbers of persons classified according to their religious profession, as enumerated at the last four censuses in Ireland, are given as follows [150]:—

Denomination	Numbers at Census of
	1871	1881	1891	1901
Roman Catholics	4,150,900	3,960,900	3,547,300	3,308,700

Ulster contains fewer Roman Catholics and more members of the other denominations, in proportion to its population, than any of the other provinces of Ireland. In 1901 only 44 per cent. of the population of Ulster were Roman Catholics; but the percentage of Roman Catholics in the total population of Leinster was 85; of Munster, 04; and of Connaught, 96. Episcopalians comprised 12 per cent. of the population of Leinster, and 23 per cent. of that of Ulster. Presbyterians made up 27 per cent. of the population of Ulster [150].

GERMANY

The distribution of the population according to religious denominations at the census of 1905 was as follows [227]:—

State	Numbers at 1905 Census

RENT

UNITED KINGDOM

A Board of Trade inquiry into the cost of living of the working classes in the principal industrial towns of the United Kingdom gave the following amounts as the rents usually paid for certain types of tenements in various towns. The rents stated are those which prevailed in October 1905 [84]:—

Town	Prevalent Weekly Rents Paid by Working Classes for Tenements of										Level of Rents in Relation to London Rents
	Two Rooms		Three Rooms		Four Rooms		Five Rooms		Six Rooms
	s.	d.	s.	d.	s.	d.	s.	d.	s.	d.

Dublin	3	0	4	6	4	0	6	0	6	0	8	0	10	0	71

Blanks in the above table indicate that the particular type of tenement under which they occur was not largely occupied by the working classes in the towns against which the blanks are placed.

The average weekly rents per room of the new working-class dwellings provided in London and neighbourhood by the London County Council during the period 1902-6 were as follows [113]:—

	North of Thames		South of Thames
	s.	d.	s.	d.
Central London	3	4 $\frac{1}{2}$	2	10 $\frac{3}{4}$
Rest of London	2	11 $\frac{1}{2}$	2	5
Extra-London	2	1 $\frac{1}{4}$	2	0 $\frac{1}{2}$
Whole area	2	3 $\frac{3}{4}$	2	3 $\frac{3}{4}$

The change in the level of rents (including rates) of working-class houses in Great Britain and Ireland is shown approximately by the British Board of Trade as follows, rents in 1900 being expressed as 100 [83]:—

Year	Change in Level of Working-class Rents
	London (Houses under £50 Gross Annual Value)	Twenty Large Provincial Towns in Great Britain (Houses under £20 Gross Annual Value)	Mean of Two Preceding Columns	Dublin (Working-class Houses)
1880	87.9	85.2	86.6	82.2
1885	92.3	87.8	90.1	84.0
1890	91.0	88.7	89.9	84.2
1895	97.5	95.0	96.3	90.3
1900	100.0	100.0	100.0	100.0

FRANCE

The rents most usually paid by the French working classes were found by an investigation by the British Board of Trade to be as follows in the towns stated. The figures relate to October 1905 [86]:—

Town	Rent Usually Paid by Working Classes for Tenements of								Level of Rents in Relation to Paris Rents
	One Room		Two Rooms		Three Rooms		Four Rooms
	s.	d.	s.	d.	s.	d.	s.	d.

Blanks against any town indicate that the working classes in that town did not largely occupy the type of tenement under which the blanks occur.

GERMANY

An inquiry by the British Board of Trade into the cost of living of the working classes in German towns gave the following range of weekly rents as most usually paid by the working classes for tenements of two, three, and four rooms in the towns named. The figures were collected for the month of October 1905 [88]:—

Blanks against any town indicate that the working classes in that town did not largely occupy the type of tenement under which the blanks occur.

CAPE COLONY

The rent of a "town lodging, suitable for a mechanic's family," is given for 1907 as 50s. per month in Cape Town, 65s. per month in Port Elizabeth, and 100s. per month in Kimberley. In the colony as a whole a labourer's cottage with garden was rented on the average at 31s. 10d., and a "town lodging" at 57s. 3d. per month. The course of average rentals in the colony proper from the year 1903 has been as follows [29]:—

Year	Average Rent per Month		Year	Average Rent per Month

(a) Estimated average production.

The above figures are in most cases more or less rough estimates, while the production of many countries is altogether omitted, because no estimates are available. The totals should not therefore be regarded as complete.

The principal countries exporting rice, and the quantities exported in recent years, are given as follows [18] [297]:—

Exporting Country	Quantities Exported (in Millions of Pounds)
	1902	1903	1904	1905	1906
British India	5,311	5,029	5,529	4,802	4,317

Germany	228	228	181	223	300
Netherlands	247	257	298	283	296

The principal rice-importing countries, and the quantity of their imports (as far as possible, imports for home consumption), are given as follows [18] [297]:—

Importing Country	Quantities Imported (in Millions of Pounds)
	1902	1903	1904	1905	1906
Singapore	1,040	849	901	816	810

ROADS

The approximate expenditure in 1905-6 on the maintenance and repair of the public roads by the various local authorities in England and Wales, and the mileage of such roads, are given as follows [212]:—

	Mileage of Roads	Gross Expenditure on Maintenance and Repairs	Average Expenditure per Mile for Maintenance and Repairs
	Miles	£	£
Main roads repaired by, or on behalf of, county councils	27,610	2,407,900 (a)	87
Roads (other than main roads) repaired by councils of non-county boroughs, urban and rural districts	111,110	3,442,200	31
Roads and streets repaired by councils of county and metropolitan boroughs	10,900	2,046,100	188
Total	149,620	7,896,200	53

(a) Amounts expended by county councils on improvements are included in this total.

The total length of public roads and streets in the administrative county of London in 1905-6 was 2134 miles, or 18.3 miles per square mile of area. The cost of maintenance and repair per mile of street was on the average £454 including, or £330 excluding, loan charges; while the cost of lighting per mile of street was on the average £197 including, or £187 excluding, loan charges [113].

124 miles of roadway were laid with tramway lines—56.5 miles north of the Thames, and 67.5 miles south of the river [113].

RUBBER

The area under rubber plantation in the East in 1908 is estimated by The Economist as nearly 500,000 acres, more than double what it was in 1906, as shown thus [51]:—

Country	1906	1908
	Acres	Acres
Ceylon	100,000	180,000
Malaya, Malacca, &c.	90,000	185,000
Borneo and New Guinea	8,000	10,000
Dutch East Indies	25,000	90,000
India and Burmah	30,000
Total	223,000	495,000

The world's supply of rubber was estimated at 65,000 tons in 1906, 69,000 tons in 1907, and 65,000 tons in 1908 [51].

The world's total consumption was estimated at about 67,500 tons [51].

The principal exporting countries, and the quantities exported in recent years, are given as follows [18], [297]:—

Exporting Country	Quantities Exported (in Millions of Pounds)
	1902	1903	1904	1905	1906

(a) Mean of the five years nearest 1907 for which information was available.
 (b) Year 1905 [1]. (c) Year 1906 [18].

Most European countries have to import rye to make up their total requirements. The production of the United Kingdom during the period 1901-5 amounted to only 46 per cent. of its total supply. The production of Germany was 96 per cent. of its total requirement; Netherlands, 56 per cent.; Norway, only 7 per cent.; Sweden, 83 per cent.; Austria, 89 per cent.; Denmark, 75 per cent.; Belgium, 93 per cent.; Switzerland, 87 per cent.; Italy, 92 per cent.; France, 99.5 per cent.; and Portugal, 99 per cent. [16].

France, Portugal, and Spain practically just met their own requirements [16].

Russia, during the same period, exported 7 per cent. of its total production; Hungary, 20 per cent.; Roumania, 72 per cent.; Bulgaria, 26 per cent.; and Serbia, 14 per cent. [16].

(a) Year 1904 for other than Postal savings banks.

(b) Inclusive of all savings institutions. In savings banks proper there were in 1905, 1,022,000 depositors, while the amount of deposits was £34,400,000.

(c) Exclusive of owners of savings deposits in commercial banks and savings associations, who numbered 499,000 in 1905, while the amount of deposits was £33,600,000.

(d) Exclusive of depositors in "Società ordinaria di credito" and "Società co-operative di credito," whose numbers are not stated. Their deposits amounted to £28,400,000 at the end of 1906 [54].

(e) Exclusive of depositors in "special savings banks" and owners of deposits in chartered banks. The deposits amounted to £5,500,000 in the "special savings banks" at the end of June 1906, and to £82,000,000 in the chartered banks at the end of December 1906.

(f) Includes Illinois State banks having savings departments.

(g) Excludes the South African Constabulary Savings Bank.

Comparisons of savings banks deposits between one country and another cannot properly be made, owing partly to the different conditions that prevail as to the maximum amounts of savings that may be deposited, and partly also to the varying rates of interest.

The number of depositors and amounts of deposits in Post Office savings banks alone, in or about the year 1906, are given approximately for certain countries as follows [3]:—

(a) Average of 1862-4. The totals make allowance for this short period.

(b) Exclusive of amounts of Government stock standing to depositors' accounts. Such stock amounted at the end of 1908 to £20,600,000 belonging to depositors in Post Office savings banks, and to £2,450,000 belonging to depositors in Trustee savings banks.

The above table shows clearly the rapid progress made by Post Office savings banks in comparison with Trustee savings banks.

The position of savings banks in the several parts of the kingdom in 1897, 1902, and 1907 is shown as follows [22]:—

(a) The Post Office savings bank figures are for December 31; the Trustee savings bank figures are for November 20.
 (b) The amounts due to depositors are exclusive of Government stock.

The accounts open in Post Office savings banks at the end of 1909 were: England and Wales, 10,291,300 (deposits, £146,200,000); Scotland, 536,800 (deposits, £7,000,000); Ireland, 576,500 (deposits, £11,400,000); United Kingdom, 11,404,600 (deposits, £164,600,000). In Trustee savings banks the figures were: England, 1,163,700 (deposits, £30,300,000); Wales, 15,600 (deposits, £550,000); Scotland, 570,400 (deposits, £18,800,000); Ireland, 55,200 (deposits, £2,500,000); United Kingdom, 1,804,900 (deposits, £52,200,000) [22].

Included in the figures for Trustee savings banks are accounts of penny banks, charitable institutions, and friendly societies. The position of these in 1907 was as follows [22]:—

Country	Number of Accounts	Amount Due to Depositors
England	25,270	£1,882,000
Wales	480	45,000
Scotland	10,670	463,000
Ireland	760	63,000
United Kingdom	37,180	2,453,000

The average amount due to each depositor in the savings banks has varied as follows [22]:—

A comparison of the position of Trustee savings banks in the United Kingdom in the years ended 20th November 1860 and 1907, is given by A. H. Gibson in the Bankers' Magazine for February 1909, as follows [241]:—

Year ended November 20	Number of Banks	Number of Accounts	Amount Due to Depositors
ENGLAND AND WALES
1860	531	1,360,355	£ 36,252,160

1860	638	1,585,778	41,259,140
1907	222	1,780,214	52,153,590

Of the existing 222 Trustee savings banks in the whole kingdom (1907), 127 were started during the period 1815 to 1824 [241].

The minimum deposit in the Post Office savings bank is one shilling, and the maximum £50 in one year, or £200 in all [83].

RUSSIA

The amount of deposits in savings banks in the Russian Empire (excluding Finland) has increased as follows [83]:—

1880	£900,000
1885	2,700,000
1890	14,700,000
1895	39,100,000
1900	79,400,000
1905	(estimate) 105,000,000
1908 [47]	114,900,000

The maximum deposit is (1904) £106 for individuals and £318 for companies and establishments [83].

NORWAY

The growth of deposits in savings banks in Norway is shown as follows [83]:—

	Total Amount Due to Depositors
1880	£7,700,000
1885	9,400,000
1890	10,800,000
1895	12,500,000
1900	17,000,000
1905 [3]	20,700,000

The number of depositors was 671,000 in 1900 and 790,000 in 1905. The average amount due to depositors was therefore £25.3 in the former year and £26.2 in the latter [3], [83].

The maximum deposit may be as high as £5500 [83].

SWEDEN

The amount of deposits in savings banks in Sweden in different years is shown as follows [83]:—

Year	Total Amount Due to Depositors
	In Ordinary Savings Banks	In Post Office Savings Banks	Total
1880	£ 8,200,000	£ ...	£ 8,200,000
1885	12,140,000	80,000	12,220,000
1890	15,280,000	720,000	16,000,000
1895	18,850,000	2,140,000	20,990,000
1900	24,300,000	3,140,000	27,440,000
1905 [3]	32,300,000	3,000,000	35,300,000

The number of depositors in 1905 was 1,942,000, of whom 567,000 were depositors in the Post Office savings banks. The average amount due to depositors in 1905 was £5.3 in the case of the Postal savings banks, and £23.5 in the case of ordinary savings banks [3].

In ordinary savings banks the maximum deposit may be as high in some cases as £2780. In Post Office banks the maximum is £111 [83].

DENMARK

Savings banks in Denmark are private undertakings.

The amount due to depositors in them in different years has grown as follows [83]:—

	Total Amount Due to Depositors
1885	£20,900,000
1890	27,800,000
1895	33,100,000
1900	37,100,000
1905 [3]	43,900,000

The number of depositors was 1,150,000 in 1900 and 1,320,000 in 1905, and the average amount due to depositors, £32.3 in the former year and £33.3 in the latter [3], [83].

THE NETHERLANDS

The numbers of depositors and amounts of deposits in savings banks in Holland have increased as follows [35]:—

At End of Year	Number of Depositors in Savings Banks			Amount Due to Depositors
	Post Office	Other	Total	Post Office Banks	Other Savings Banks	Total
1890	281,900	301,900	583,800	£ 1,770,000	£ 5,130,000	£ 6,900,000
1900	829,100	359,700	1,188,800	7,060,000	6,660,000	13,720,000
1905	1,184,300	399,300	1,583,600	10,830,000	7,680,000	18,510,000
1906	1,259,700	399,800	1,659,500	11,640,000	7,760,000	19,400,000

In the Post Office savings banks at the end of 1907 there were 1,336,800 depositors, and the amount due to them was £12,120,000 [35].

The average amount due to each depositor was as follows [35]:—

Year	Average Amount Due to each Depositor
	Post Office Savings Banks	Other Savings Banks	All Savings Banks
1890	£ 6.3	£ 17	£ 11.8
1900	8.5	18.5	11.5
1905	9.2	19.2	11.7
1906	9.2	19.4	11.7

Besides these savings banks, there are other savings banks controlled by municipalities (Alost, Nivelles, and Tournai). The Malines Savings Bank went into liquidation in 1905. The number of depositors and amounts of deposits in these banks have varied as follows [14]:—

Year	Number of Depositors (Communal Savings Banks)	Amount of Deposits
		Total	Average per Depositor
1870 (4 towns)	9,700	£ 290,000	£ 30
1880 (")	14,980	430,000	29
1890 (")	14,240	370,000	26
1900 (")	16,450	380,000	23
1906 (3 towns)	16,220	380,000	23

BELGIUM

The number of depositors and amount of deposits in Belgium in savings banks (including Post Office savings banks) under the guarantee of the State have increased as follows [14]:—

Year	Number of Depositors (State Savings Banks)	Amount of Deposits
		Total	Average per Depositor
1870	52,300	£ 780,000	£ 15
1880	200,600	5,000,000	25
1890	731,100	13,020,000	18
1900	1,757,900	26,460,000	15
1906	2,419,700	32,480,000	13.5

* Private savings banks in 1906 had 26,580 depositors, and held deposits amounting to £1,640,000, averaging £62 per depositor. In 1880 there were 27,920 depositors in these banks, while the deposits amounted to £810,000, or £29 per head [14].

The deposits in school children's branches of savings banks amounted at the end of 1905 to £460,000, due to 431,900 school children. In 1890, 206,600 school children possessed in these branches £160,000 [14].

FRANCE

The number of private savings banks in France increased from 544 in 1896 to 550 in 1906. The number of accounts and amount of deposits at the end of 1896, 1901, and 1906 were as follows [9]:—

	1896	1901	1906
Number of accounts in private savings banks	6,633,000	7,246,000	7,668,000
Amount due to depositors	£ 135,300,000	£ 134,000,000	£ 137,400,000
Average amount per depositor	20.4	18.5	17.9

At the end of 1908 the number of accounts was about 7,900,000, and the amount due to depositors about £148,000,000, or £18.7 per depositor [177].

Statistics of the national savings bank are given as follows [9]:—

	1896	1901	1906
Number of post offices connected with the bank	7,369	7,772	7,912
Number of accounts open at the end of the year	2,653,000	3,806,000	4,795,000
	£	£	£
Amount due to depositors at end of year	31,400,000	43,200,000	53,500,000
Average amount per account	11.7	11.4	11.2

At the end of 1907 the number of accounts was about 5,030,000, and the amount of deposits £57,000,000 [177].

Taking national and private savings banks together, the number of accounts open at the end of the year per 1000 of the population, and the average amount due per account, have varied as follows [9]:—

Year	Number of Accounts per 1000 Population	Average Amount Outstanding per Account	Year	Number of Accounts per 1000 Population	Average Amount Outstanding per Account

1906-7	1.12	1.69	1.38

(a) The Post Office bank year ends March 31, while the year for other savings banks ends December 31.

The depositors in 1901-2 and 1906-7 are classified by kind of occupation as follows [4]:—

Kind of Occupation	Number of Depositors in
	Post Office Savings Banks		Other Savings Banks
	1901-2	1906-7	1901	1906
Agricultural	653,700	1,853,500	817,500	1,361,200

Total	2,402,400	7,414,400 (a)	4,104,400	6,464,300

(a) Including unclassified depositors in special Post Office savings banks.

Post Office savings banks were started in Japan in 1875, and have made great progress, especially during the last decade. Under the system as existing at present the minimum deposit is 10 sen (2½d.), and the maximum 1000 yen (£102), except as regards public corporations and other special cases [55].

SHIPBUILDING

The number and tonnage of vessels of 100 tons gross and upwards, exclusive of warships, launched in various countries in recent years, are given in Lloyd's Register as follows [242]:—

Country	Vessels of 100 Tons Gross and Upwards (excluding Warships) Launched

Total	148	142	127	363,000	321,200	309,700

In the United Kingdom in 1908, ten vessels of 10,000 tons gross and upwards were launched, including one of over 24,000 tons. Germany launched the largest steamer during the year, namely, the George Washington, of about 25,500 tons [242].

During 1908, the total tonnage lost, broken up, &c., was 794,000 tons (of which 557,000 tons were steam vessels) [242].

UNITED KINGDOM

The tonnage of vessels built in the United Kingdom in each year from 1897 is given as follows [68], [69]:—

Year	Net Tonnage of Vessels Built in United Kingdom
	For Home and the Colonies			Total (including Vessels Built for Foreigners)
	Sailing	Steam	Total	Sailing	Steam	Total

1908 [22]	26,620	386,430	413,050	37,390	564,310	601,700

The total net tonnage built in 1909 was 631,535 tons (steam, 597,620). The tonnage built for home and colonies only was 510,890 (steam, 484,290) [299].

Vessels for the British Royal Navy are not included in these figures, but steam vessels built for foreigners for war purposes are included. The number and net tonnage of these latter vessels were as follows [22], [68], [69]:—

Year	Number	Tons
1896	27	13,310
1897	15	9,430
1898	17	6,730
1899	26	18,460

1905	12	10,580
1906	14	8,210
1907	7	410
1908	11	8,490

The number in 1909 was 15 of 10,940 net tons [299].

The gross tonnage of vessels built and launched in the United Kingdom in recent years is given as follows [7]:—

Year	Mercantile and other Vessels (not War Vessels) Launched	War Ships Launched
	Gross Tonnage	Tons (Displacement)
1896	1,159,750	163,960
1897	952,490	95,470

(a) In addition to the tonnage shown for the United Kingdom in 1900, the tonnage of British vessels employed by the Government for the transport of troops to South Africa, that entered and cleared at ports in the United Kingdom, was 1,570,000.

(b) Year 1905.

(c) Figures include the tonnage of vessels calling at several ports in the course of the same voyage, the tonnage being accounted for at each port of call.

(d) The figures for 1905 are not comparable with those for earlier years owing to a change in the methods of recording the shipping statistics.

(e) Years ended 30th June. The Lake trade between the United States and Canada is excluded.

(f) Years ended 30th June.

(g) Year 1904.

(h) The figures for 1902 and later years are not comparable with those for earlier years, owing to changes in the methods of recording the shipping statistics.

(i) Vessels of foreign type only.

(k) The figures for Cape Colony and Natal in 1906 are exclusive of inter-state shipping, and are therefore not comparable with the earlier figures. The figures for Australia in both years are exclusive of inter-state shipping.

The tonnage of sailing and steam vessels entered and cleared with cargoes only is shown as follows (see remarks preceding the previous table as to figures that are net, &c.) [1]:—

(a) Exclusive in 1900 of 1,570,000 tons, being tonnage employed for the conveyance of troops, stores, &c., from and to South Africa.

(b) The method of measuring net tonnage in Belgium differs from that followed in the United Kingdom, and gives higher net tonnage figures.

(c) Figures include tonnage of vessels calling at several ports, the tonnage being accounted for at each port of call.

(d) Figures for 1906 are not comparable with those for 1900.

(e) Years ended 30th June. The Lake trade between Canada and the United States is excluded.

(f) Years ended 30th June.

(g) The figures for 1906 show (1) direct entries and clearances in the foreign trade; (2) the tonnage of vessels calling at several ports, the tonnage being shown once for each port of call; (3) coasting trade. The figures are therefore not comparable with those for 1900.

(h) The figures for 1900 include tonnage of transports carrying stores (but not troops). The 1906 figures exclude vessels trading with Natal, which are included in 1900. The tonnage shown is gross tonnage.

(i) Figures for 1900 exclude tonnage of transports.

(k) Figures exclude inter-state trade. Including inter-state trade the tonnage of steam and sailing vessels in 1900 was 23,700,000 tons [69]. The figures given in the table are for the years 1904 and 1906 [15].

The entrances and clearances of vessels in the foreign trade, with cargoes and in ballast, at particular ports in 1906, were as follows [69]:—

(a) The tonnage shown for Antwerp is measured according to the Belgian system, which gives higher net tonnages than the British system.

(b) The figures for Victoria (Hong Kong) exclude Chinese junks engaged in the foreign trade. The tonnage of these vessels entered in 1906 was 1,110,000 tons, and cleared, 1,100,000 tons.

(c) Figures for Singapore and Penang exclude warships, yachts, transports, native craft, and vessels under 50 tons, but include vessels engaged in trade between the Straits Settlements.

(d) The figures for Colombo exclude vessels that called only for coaling and for orders.

(e) Steam vessels entered and cleared at Shanghai are not given separately, but they made up practically all the vessels.

(f) The Aden figures exclude native craft.

(g) The figures for steamers are gross tonnage. Shipping with Natal is excluded.

(h) Trade between Austria and Hungary is excluded from the figures for Trieste.

(i) The Bombay and Calcutta figures exclude native craft, and also vessels engaged in trade with Indian ports belonging to foreigners.

(k) Ocean trade only.

Of the sailing and steam vessels entered and cleared with cargoes and in ballast in the foreign trade of the principal maritime countries, the proportions which flew the national, British, and other flags are shown as follows [69]:—

UNITED KINGDOM

The growth in the tonnage of vessels entered and cleared in the foreign trade at ports in the United Kingdom is shown as follows [69]:—

Year	Tonnage of Vessels in Foreign Trade Entered and Cleared
	With Cargoes and in Ballast		With Cargoes Only
	Total	Steam Vessels Only	Total	Steam Vessels Only
1860	24,690,000	4,970,000	20,840,000	4,710,000
1870	36,640,000	15,070,000	31,620,000	13,380,000
1880	58,740,000	37,210,000	49,680,000	32,120,000
1890	74,280,000	61,690,000	62,840,000	52,460,000
1900 (a)	98,520,000	90,300,000	79,860,000	73,280,000
1907 (b)	133,270,000	128,470,000	99,250,000	95,400,000
1908 [22]	131,450,000	127,080,000	96,800,000	93,200,000

(a) The 1900 figures exclude 1,570,000 tons, being the tonnage of vessels employed in carrying troops, stores, &c., from and to South Africa.

(b) The 1907 and later figures are not strictly comparable with earlier years owing to changes in the methods of recording shipping.

The entrances and clearances in 1900 totalled: With cargoes and in ballast, 133,270,000 (129,300,000 steam only); with cargoes only, 97,510,000 (94,400,000 steam only) [22].

The tonnage since 1860 is seen to have increased over five-fold in the case of all vessels with cargoes and in ballast, and nearly five-fold in the case of vessels with cargoes only. Considering only steam vessels, the tonnage increased nearly twenty-six-fold in the case of vessels with cargoes and in ballast, and twenty-fold in the case of vessels with cargoes only.

The proportion of British tonnage to the total tonnage has varied as follows [69]:—

Year	Proportion of British Tonnage to Total Tonnage
	Vessels Entered and Cleared with Cargoes and in Ballast		Vessels Entered and Cleared with Cargoes Only
	Total	Steam Vessels Only	Total	Steam Vessels Only
	Per Cent.	Per Cent.	Per Cent.	Per Cent.

1908	59	60	65	68

The proportion of foreign ships entered and cleared at ports in the United Kingdom with cargoes and in ballast is shown as follows [22], [69]:—

(a) The increase at Southampton is largely due to the inclusion (for the first time in 1907) of vessels "calling off" the port to land and embark passengers or baggage.

Very strict comparisons should not be made between the tonnage at any port in 1898 and that in 1908, since the entrances and clearances fluctuate from year to year, although in all cases in the above table the general tendency is towards increase.

The total entrances from, and clearances to, various countries in 1898 and 1907, are given as follows [69]:—

The total net tonnage of vessels entered and cleared coastwise at ports in the United Kingdom (exclusive of Channel Islands and Isle of Man) in 1896, 1901, 1907, and 1908, is given as follows [22]:—

Year	Net Tonnage of Vessels Entered and Cleared Coastwise
	Entered		Cleared
	Total	Steam Vessels Only	Total	Steam Vessels Only

(a) The tonnage of vessels cleared coastwise in ballast from London is not included in years prior to 1898.

The entrances coastwise with cargoes and in ballast in 1909 totalled 60,570,000 tons (56,060,000 steam only), and the clearances 60,060,000 (55,580,000 steam only). With cargoes only, the entrances were 31,380,000 (28,340,000 steam only), and the clearances 30,900,000 (27,970,000 steam only) [22].

The proportions of British vessels in this trade are shown as follows [22]:—

	Proportion of British Tonnage to Total Tonnage in Coastwise Trade
	1896	1901	1907	1908
Entered with cargoes and in ballast	97	94	93	93
Cleared with cargoes and in ballast	98	94.5	93	93
Entered with cargoes only	99.6	99.2	98.9	99.3
Cleared with cargoes only	100	99.4	98.9	99.3

The numbers of persons (including masters) employed in registered vessels belonging to the United Kingdom, Isle of Man, and Channel Islands, engaged in the home, fishing, and foreign trades (but excluding vessels engaged on rivers and in inland navigation), have increased as follows during the last twenty years [69]:—

Year	Persons Employed on Registered Vessels of the United Kingdom Engaged in Home and Foreign Trade, &c.
	British	Lascars and Asiatics	Other Foreign Persons	Total
1888	179,970	18,430	25,280	223,680
1892	185,440	25,400	30,900	241,740
1896	178,990	30,000	33,050	242,040
1900	174,530	36,020	36,890	247,440
1904	176,980	42,680	39,830	259,490
1907	194,850	44,600	37,690	277,140
1908 [22]	196,830	44,150	34,740	275,720

The total number employed in 1909 was 274,310 (including 198,470 British, and 43,960 Lascars and Asiatics) [22].

The percentages of British, Lascars, &c., are given as follows [69]:—

Year	Percentages of Total Employed			Year	Percentages of Total Employed
	British	Lascars and Asiatics	Other Foreign Persons		British	Lascars and Asiatics	Other Foreign Persons
	Per Cent.	Per Cent.	Per Cent.		Per Cent.	Per Cent.	Per Cent.
1888	80	9	11	1904	68	16.5	15.5
1892	77	10	13	1907	70	16	14
1896	74	12	14	1908	71	16	13
1900	71	14	15	1909 [22]	72	16	12

In the home trade (including fishing), in the most recent years, there were employed per 100 tons of shipping, 6.2 persons on sailing vessels and 8.3 on steam vessels, giving an average of about 7.6 persons per 100 tons of both steam and sailing vessels. On vessels engaged partly in the home and partly in the foreign trade the proportions of men per 100 tons were about 4 on sailing vessels, 2.2 on steam, and 2.3 on both together. On vessels employed in the foreign trade the proportions were about 1.6, 2.1, and 2 respectively. Taking all trade (excluding only river traffic and inland navigation), the numbers of persons per 100 tons averaged nearly 2.6 on sailing vessels, 2.5 on steam vessels, and about 2.5 on both classes together [69].

GERMANY

The entrances to, and clearances from, German ports have increased as follows [12]:—

1906	38,647	19,171,040	23,432	12,688,040

The tonnage entered and cleared with cargoes and in ballast in 1907 was 44,760,240 tons, and in 1908, 43,626,320 [300].

The shipping engaged in the coastwise trade is shown as follows [12]:—

Year	Vessels Entered at Ports in Coastwise Trade
	With Cargoes and in Ballast		With Cargoes Only
	Number	Tonnage	Number	Tonnage
1873	22,384	1,017,560	16,059	659,100

The vessels shown above do not include canal boats and barges, the numbers and tonnage of which were [68], [69]:—

Year	Number	Tons
1900	3,009	622,200
1906	3,785	801,040

The merchant marine of the United States, on June 30, 1908, comprised altogether 25,425 vessels of a total gross tonnage of 7,365,400 tons. These consisted of [243]:—

	Tons
10,300 sailing vessels of a gross tonnage of	1,761,070
10,926 steam vessels of a gross tonnage of	4,711,170
746 wood canal boats of a gross tonnage of	82,470
3,453 barges of a gross tonnage of	810,730
25,425	7,365,440

The distribution of this tonnage was as follows [243]:—

	Number	Gross Tons
Atlantic and Gulf Coasts (including Porto Rico)	17,313	3,506,550
Pacific Coast (including Hawaii)	3,240	962,310
Northern lakes	3,172	2,729,170
Western rivers	1,700	167,410
Total	25,425	7,365,440

The amount of coal consumed by a steamship increases much faster than the rate of increase of speed. This is shown in the following table, which applies to a "typical vessel" of 10,000 gross tons [144]:—

(Dollar taken as equal to 4s. 1½d.)

Knots per Hour	Tons of Coal Consumed per Day	Number of Firemen Required	Mileage per Year	Cost of Coal and Handling per Year
10	44	15	42,000	£ 6,840
11	53	18	46,200	8,290
12	65	22	50,400	10,200
13	79	26	54,600	12,390
14	96	32	58,800	15,040
15	117	39	63,000	18,320
16	144	48	67,200	22,450
17	173	58	71,400	27,100
18	209	70	75,600	32,590
19	254	85	79,800	39,670
20	305	102	84,000	47,580
21	371	127	88,200	57,970

The expenses of a vessel on account of coal alone are thus seen to grow rapidly with increase of speed.

SHIPWRECKS

The average annual number and tonnage of sailing and steam vessels belonging to the chief maritime countries, which were removed from the register on account of wreck in the period 1903 to 1905 and in 1906, were as follows [68], [69]:—

Country	Wrecks of Registered Vessels
	Annual Average 1903 to 1905		1906

(a) Exclusive of wrecks in rivers, harbours, and inland waters.

(b) Exclusive of small coasting vessels and fishing boats.

(c) Inclusive of wrecks in the coasting and lake trade. The United States figures are for years ended 30th June.

The wrecks of vessels belonging to the United Kingdom, including unregistered vessels, averaged 356 vessels of 137,340 tons during 1903-5. In 1906, 357 vessels of 148,210 tons, in 1907, 306 vessels of 131,880 tons, and in 1908, 364 vessels of 147,140 tons, were wrecked [22].

The number of lives lost by wrecks of vessels belonging to the United Kingdom, France, Germany, Italy, and the United States averaged as follows:—

Country	Average Annual Numbers
	1897-1901	1902-6
United Kingdom (a) [22]	1,030	810
France (a) [9]	895	706

SLATE

UNITED KINGDOM

The average annual value and output of slate and slate slabs in the United Kingdom in certain periods has been as follows [76]:—

Period	Average Annual Production
	Quantity	Value
Average of 1875-7	Tons 161,000	£ (Not given)
Average of 1885-7	463,000	1,130,000

1906-7	7,112,730	574,943	276,055	7,963,728
1907-8	7,059,645	574,794	296,146	7,930,585

The total receipt from stamp duties in 1908-9 was £7,827,386, and in 1909-10, £8,877,547 [22].

The principal heads under which stamp duties were received are given as follows [37]:—

Class	Annual Net Receipt of Stamp Duties
	Average of 1897-8 to 1901-2	Average of 1902-3 to 1906-7	1907-8
Deeds and other instruments	£ 3,973,230	£ 3,539,780	£ 3,147,450
Including—Conveyances (a)	1,414,750	1,071,600	941,820
Mortgages (a)	280,790	237,370	214,200
Leases (a)	165,940	157,000	151,530
Transfers of stocks and shares (a)	1,459,750	1,394,400	1,123,000
Receipts, drafts, cheques, &c. (b)	1,417,930	1,586,660	1,721,540
Bills of exchange and promissory notes (b)	685,210	738,080	866,560
Companies' share capital duty	515,370	490,880	482,710
Medicine stamp duty	283,980	327,900	334,140
Marine insurance policies	176,060	228,410	273,500
Marketable securities transferable by delivery and share warrants (c)	258,230	372,180	521,580

(a) Amounts are gross receipts.

(b) The receipt from the fixed 1d. duty on bills of exchange payable on demand or at sight is included with "receipts, drafts, cheques, &c.," prior to 1905-6, but in and after that year it is included with "bills of exchange."

(c) Prior to 1899-1900 this heading did not include foreign and colonial securities, share certificates, and share warrants to bearer.

The stamp duty on solicitors' and conveyancers' certificates amounted in 1897-8 to £134,588 on 20,119 certificates, and to £145,600 in 1907-8 on 21,779 certificates [37].

In 1897-8, £102 stamp duty was received on 13 licences for inebriates' retreats, and in 1907-8, £65 on 12 licences. The average annual duty for the period 1897-8 to 1907-8 was £85, on an average of 10 licences [37].

Besides the revenue from the stamp duties given above, a certain amount is received each year from fees, &c., collected by means of stamps. The net receipt in recent years is given as follows [37]:—

Stamps	Annual Net Receipts
	Average of 1897-8 to 1901-2	Average of 1902-3 to 1906-7	1907-8
Fee stamps	£ 725,160	£ 734,820	£ 733,870
Patents, designs, and trade marks	217,300	250,850	286,890
Total	942,460	985,670	1,020,760

The average annual number of strikes in the period 1902-6 was as follows in the countries named [12], [252]:—

Country	Average Annual Numbers 1902-6
	Strikes	Strikers
United Kingdom (a)	406	98,450
Germany (b)	2,007	186,670
France	849	244,620
Belgium (average of 1901-5)	95	30,000
Austria (c)	554	80,240
Russia (average of 1900-4)	206 (d)	42,000
Italy (1900-4) (a)	928	245,360
United States (1901-5)	2,901	461,090

(a) The United Kingdom and Italian figures are for strikes and lock-outs, and for strikers and employees locked-out.

(b) There were also, on the average, 158 lock-outs and 53,000 employees locked-out per year during 1902-6.

(c) There were also, on the average, 18 lock-outs per year in the period 1902-6, in which, on the average, 21,000 employees were locked-out.

(d) Average number of establishments subject to factory inspection in which strikes took place.

The numbers of strikers do not cover all the persons thrown out of work in consequence of the strikes. This total number is probably not ascertainable, and at best only approximations to it are practicable. In the United Kingdom, for example, besides the strikers given in the above table, an annual average of 56,000 other employees is given as thrown out of work through the strikes.

The percentage of total strikes which succeeded in attaining their object, and the percentage which partly succeeded, are shown as follows [12]:—

Country	1902	1903	1904	1905	1906
	Percentage of Strikes which Succeeded
United Kingdom (a)	24.4	23.3	17.5	19.6	31.5
Germany	21.5	21.8	24.0	22.0	18.4
France	21.7	21.5	28.9	22.2	21.2
Belgium	12.3	14.3	19.8	26.3	...
Austria	19.7	17.3	24.4	21.9	22.3
Russia (b) [252]	30.1	26.9	41.2
United States (b)	47.3	40.9	35.3	40.2	...
Percentage of Strikes which Partly Succeeded
United Kingdom (a)	28.3	28.7	31.5	33.2	30.9
Germany	22.2	32.3	36.8	40.4	45.0
France	35.9	39.2	38.4	43.5	41.2
Belgium	13.7	11.4	12.3	16.5	...
Austria	39.0	43.5	44.4	51.2	47.4
Russia (b) [252]	13.0	19.8	11.8
United States (b)	22.9	23.4	15.3	11.4	...

(a) Percentages are for strikes and lock-outs.

(b) Percentages are based on the number of establishments in which strikes took place.

Except for the United States (the percentages for which are based on the number of establishments in which strikes occurred), the above figures show a general tendency for strikes to achieve more and more their objects, either wholly or in part. More particularly, strikes which partly succeed, that is, end in a compromise, appear to be gaining ground at the expense of those which fail altogether.

The average annual number of strikes in the building, textile, and certain other industries, and the proportion succeeding, or failing, &c., are shown as follows [12]:—

Trades	United Kingdom (1902-6)	Germany (1902-6)	France (1902-6)	Belgium (1901-5)	Austria (1902-6)
	Average Annual Number of Strikes
Building	34	735	121	3	102
Textiles	76	86	190	31	60
Metal-working, machines, &c.	86	287	123	11	79

UNITED KINGDOM

The numbers of strikes and lock-outs in the United Kingdom, and the numbers of persons involved, and days lost, in recent years, are given as follows [2]:—

Year	Numbers of Strikes and Lock-outs	Numbers of Workpeople Involved			Number of Working Days Lost
		On Strike or Locked-out	Others Thrown Out of Work	Total
1897	864	167,450	62,820	230,270	10,345,500
1898	711	200,770	53,140	253,910	15,289,500
1899	719	138,060	42,160	180,220	2,516,400
1900	648	135,150	53,390	188,540	3,152,700
1901	642	111,440	68,110	179,550	4,142,300
1902	442	116,820	139,850	256,670	3,479,300
1903	387	93,520	23,380	116,900	2,338,700
1904	355	56,380	30,830	87,210	1,484,200
1905	358	67,650	25,850	93,500	2,470,200
1906	486	157,870	59,900	217,770	3,028,800
1907	601	100,730	46,770	147,500	2,162,200

The number of strikes and lock-outs in 1908 was 399, involving 295,510 workpeople. 10,834,000 working days were lost. Disputes in the engineering, shipbuilding, and cotton industries involved 166,000 workpeople, and caused a loss of 8½ million days [7]. In 1909, the number of disputes was 436, involving 300,820 workpeople, and the loss of 2,774,000 working days [286].

The principal trades affected by disputes are shown as follows [2]:—

Trades	Average Annual Numbers (1898-1907)
	Disputes	Total Workpeople Involved
Mining and quarrying	131	91,080
Metal, engineering, and shipbuilding	107	21,960
Textile	95	30,470
Building	81	10,320
Clothing	38	4,290
Transport (dock labourers, railwaymen, &c.)	24	6,000
Others	61	8,040
Total	537	172,160

During the period 1898-1907, 1.8 per cent. of the working population in all trades (except agricultural labourers and seamen) were involved in disputes,

The principal causes of strikes and lock-outs in recent years are given as follows [252]:—

Cause	Average Annual Numbers (1902-6)
	Strikes and Lock-outs	Strikers and Employees Locked-out
Wages	260	53,150
Hours	16	3,870
Employment of particular persons	52	7,290
Working arrangements	51	10,630
Trade unionism	24	22,230
Other causes	3	1,280
Total	406	98,450

The results of strikes and lock-outs are given as follows [2]:—

BELGIUM

The number of strikes in Belgium, establishments affected, and strikers, in the years 1901-5, are given as follows [252]:—

Year	Number of Strikes	Establishments Affected	Number of Strikers
			Males	Females	Total
1901	117	214	42,480	1,335	43,815
1902	73	116	9,890	580	10,470
1903	70	121	6,980	670	7,650
1904	81	280	11,740	640	12,380
1905	133	550	69,620	6,050	75,670
Average 1901-5	95	256	28,140	1,855	29,995

In 1909, there were 128 labour disputes (124 strikes and 4 lock-outs). 18,580 workpeople took part, and a further 3990 were thrown out of work [286].

The principal industries affected are shown as follows [252] :—

Industry	Average Annual Numbers (1901-1905)		Industry	Average Annual Numbers (1901-1905)
	Strikes	Strikers		Strikes	Strikers
Textiles	31	2,810	Wearing apparel	2.6	163
Mining	20	18,520	Wood-working	2.4	161
Quarrying	5	500	Printing	1.6	50

Leather and hides	3.6	135
Glass	3.4	1,275
Building	3	178	Total	95	29,995

The small number of strikes reported in the building trades is noteworthy in comparison with the number that took place in, for example, Germany, France, and Austria.

The causes and results of the strikes during the same period are shown as follows [252] :—

FRANCE

The numbers of strikes in France, establishments affected, strikers, and working days lost, in recent years, are given as follows [252], [253].

Year	Number of Strikes	Number of Establishments Affected	Number of Strikers	Working Days Lost by all Employees Thrown Out of Work
1897	356	2,568	68,880	780,940
1898	368	1,967	82,070	1,216,310
1899	739	4,288	176,770	3,550,730
1900	902	10,253	222,710	3,760,580
1901	523	6,970	111,410	1,862,050
1902	512	1,820	212,700	4,675,080
1903	567	3,246	123,150	2,441,940
1904	1,026	17,250	271,100	3,934,880
1905	830	5,302	177,670	2,746,680
1906	1,309	19,637	438,470	9,438,590
1907 [253]	1,275	8,365	197,960	3,562,220

The principal groups of trades affected by all disputes during 1902-6 are shown as follows [10], [252]:—

Trades, &c.	Average Annual Numbers (1902-6)
	Disputes	Strikers, &c.
Textiles	191	54,300
Metal trades	123	31,200
Building trades	121	30,000
Transport	101	25,800
Mining and quarrying	36	46,000
Agriculture, forestry, and fishing }	50	14,800
Others	230	42,900
Total	852	245,000

Besides the actual strikers, the following numbers of persons were thrown out of work [12], [253]:—

1902	9,460
1903	11,270
1904	37,940
1905	18,150
1906	29,340
1907 [253]	30,680

The principal causes of strikes in 1906 and 1907 were as follows [252], [253]:—

Cause	Strikes		Strikers
	1906	1907	1906	1907
For increase of wages	797	808	301,100	124,500
Against reduction of wages	37	34	2,600	3,800
For reduction of hours	383	135	220,400	35,300
Time, method, &c., of wage payments	203	156	117,700	32,000
Employment of certain persons	298	304	70,900	33,200

The results of strikes in recent years have been as follows [252]:—

Period	Average Annual Percentages
	Strikes that			Strikers in Strikes that
	Succeeded	Partly Succeeded	Failed	Succeeded	Partly Succeeded	Failed
	Per Cent.	Per Cent.	Per Cent.	Per Cent.	Per Cent.	Per Cent.
1894-6	24	29	47	22	42	36
1897-9	22	36	42	16	57	27
1900-2	22	38	40	10	63	27
1903-6	24	40	36	12	63	25
1907 [253]	21	38	41	12	66	22

It will be noticed that the percentage of strikes ending in compromise tends to increase, while the percentage ending in failure tends to decrease.

GERMANY

The numbers of strikes and lock-outs in Germany in recent years, and the numbers of persons affected, are given as follows [11], [158], [252]:—

Year	Strikes			Lock-outs
	Number Ended	Establishments Affected	Number of Strikers	Number Ended	Establishments Affected	Numbers Locked-out
1899	1,288	7,121	99,340	23	427	5,300
1900	1,433	7,740	122,800	35	607	9,090
1901	1,056	4,561	55,260	35	238	5,410

1907	2,266	13,092	192,430	246	5,287	81,170
1908	1,347	4,774	68,392	177	1,758	43,718

In 1909, the number of disputes ended was 1652 (1537 strikes and 115 lock-outs). 119,850 workpeople were directly affected, and a further 11,030 were thrown out of work [286].

The principal trades affected by strikes in 1905, 1906, 1907, and 1908 are shown as follows [11], [12], [158], [252]:—

Trades, &c.	Strikes (Number Ended)				Strikers

Total: All trades	2,403	3,328	2,266	1,347	408,150	272,220	192,430	68,390

The lock-outs in 1905 and 1908 were chiefly in the following trades, &c. [11], [12]:—

Trades	Lock-outs		Numbers Locked-out
	1905	1908	1905	1908
Building	89	76	18,880	8,830
Textiles	38	21	24,190	11,050
Foods and tobacco	37	5	1,160	200
Wood-working, &c.	21	17	5,420	2,080
Clothing and cleaning	20	4	4,550	260
Engineering, &c.	19	22	54,200	18,240
Metal-working	11	7	7,400	1,000

Besides the actual strikers, other employees were prevented from working. The numbers of those due to strikes and lock-outs are given as follows [11], [158], [252]:—

Year	Strikes	Lock-outs
1899	10,120	1,730
1900	9,010	230
1901	7,420	100
1902	6,270	210
1903	13,810	840
1904	6,790	1,450
1905	12,020	3,740
1906	24,430	2,660
1907	10,590	1,830
1908	7,410	270

The numbers of strikes due to disputes as to wages and hours and other causes are shown as follows [12]:—

Causes	Number of Strikes Due to Causes in Column 1
	1902	1903	1904	1905	1906	1907
Demands connected with wages	796	1,247	1,779	2,451	3,386	2,238
Demands connected with hours
Other causes	222	372	614	849	1,284	776
	564	925	1,359	1,744	2,201	1,084

In the above table, a strike due to two or more causes is counted once under each cause.

The results of strikes and lock-outs during the ten years 1899 to 1908 are shown as follows [158], [252]:—

Result	Average Annual Percentages
	Strikes			Lock-outs
	1899-1901	1902-4	1905-8	1899-1901	1902-4	1905-8
Succeeded	21	22	18	36	51	41
Partly succeeded	32	31	40	37	21	49
Failed	47	47	42	27	28	10
Total	100	100	100	100	100	100

The large percentage of strikes which failed altogether will be noted, and contrasted with the large percentage of lock-outs that attained their end. There appears to be a tendency, though not definitely established, for both strikes and lock-outs to result more and more in a compromise, or partial success.

ITALY

The numbers of strikes and strikers and of working days lost by strikers in Italy in recent years are given as follows [10], [54]:—

Year	All Trades, including Agriculture		Agriculture Only		Total Number of Working Days Lost by Strikers
	Strikes	Strikers	Strikes	Strikers
1898	292	44,200	36	8,500	322,100
1899	268	45,090	9	1,900	239,100

1907	2,278	452,910	224	181,240	...

The chief trades and industries affected by strikes are stated as follows [54]:—

Trades, &c.	Average Annual Numbers
	1900-4		1905-7
	Strikes	Strikers	Strikes
Agriculture	226	99,930	155

AUSTRIA

The numbers of strikes and strikers in Austria, and the number of days lost, in recent years, are shown as follows [252]:—

Year	Number of Strikes	Number of Establishments Affected	Number of Strikers	Number of Working Days Lost
1897	246	851	38,470	368,010
1898	255	885	39,660	323,620
1899	311	1,330	54,760	1,029,940
1900	303	1,003	105,130	3,483,960
1901	270	709	24,870	157,740

1906	1,083	6,049	153,690	2,191,820

The results of strikes are shown as follows [252]:—

Period	Average Annual Percentages
	Strikes that			Strikers in Strikes that
	Succeeded	Partly Succeeded	Failed	Succeeded	Partly Succeeded	Failed
1894-6	24	30	46	9	54	37

1900-2	20	40	40	13	62	25
1903-6	21	47	32	14	62	24

During the period 1899 to 1906 there were 107 lock-outs, involving 3064 establishments, and 113,000 employees locked-out [252]. In 1909 there were 29 lock-outs, and 18,165 workpeople locked-out [286].

RUSSIA

The following statistics of strikes are for factories and mills subject to factory inspection and under the supervision of the Ministry of Finance.

During the ten years 1895 to 1904, strikes took place in 1765 establishments. The total number of strikers was 821,000, which was 52.5 per cent. of all the employees in the establishments affected. The number of working days lost by the strikers totalled 2,080,000. The average annual number of strikers was therefore 82,100, and the average annual number of working days lost was 208,000 [252].

Strikes, strikers, and working days lost were, in 1907, 1,085, 176,789, and 2,087,523 respectively; in 1908, 721, 78,562, and 1,011,036 respectively; and in 1909, 580, 61,978, and 729,309 respectively [286].

The chief trades affected in Austria during a period of thirteen years from 1894 to 1906 were as follows [252]:—

Trade, &c.	Average Annual Number (1894-1906)
	Strikes	Strikers
Building trades	58	11,320
Textiles	48	9,670
Wood-working, caoutchouc, carved materials, &c.	42	3,270
Quarrying, glass, &c.	36	4,730
Metal-working	36	3,810
Mining and metallurgical	34	19,120
Machinery, instruments, &c.	21	1,970
Other	98	9,650
Total	373	63,540

The principal causes of strikes are shown as follows, strikes due to two or more causes being counted once under each cause [252]:—

Causes of Strikes	Average Annual Number of Strikes (1894-1906)
Wages—
For increase	194
Against reduction	25
Other wage causes	6
Total wage causes	225
Hours—
For reduction	82
For discharge of certain persons	28
Against discharge	59
Against obnoxious rules	18

It was found that 53 per cent. of the strikes (involving 46 per cent. of the strikers) occurred during the months of May, June, and July, and only 24.4 per cent. of the strikes (involving 37 per cent. of the strikers) took place during the months October to March [252].

The industries affected were as follows [252]:—

Industry	Total Number during 1895 to 1904
	Establishments in which Strikes Occurred	Strikers	Working Days Lost
Metal-working	336	116,970	541,960
Cotton	253	185,100	945,690
Wool	225	20,170	155,840
Other textiles	114	31,540	121,510
Animal products	186	10,750	79,830
Food products	177	23,480	71,650
Paper and printing	136	9,150	33,880
Stone, earthen, glass, and china ware	129	15,790	60,580
Chemical products	120	11,260	43,610
Wood-working	89	7,040	24,860
Total	1,765	431,250	2,079,410

The principal causes of the strikes and the results are shown as follows [252]:—

Cause or Object	Percentages Affected by Causes in Column 1 (1895-1904)		Percentage of Strikes which
	Establishments	Strikers	Succeeded	Partly Succeeded	Failed
Wages—
For increase	42.7	22.9	18.2	31.4	50.4
Against reduction	7.3	14.2	46.9	23.4	29.7
Methods of payment	10.7	11.3	61.4	12.2	26.4

Others	17.5	21.6	20.4	5.8	73.8
Total	100	100	28.2	21.8	50.0

It will be noted that a large percentage of the strikes failed, namely, about 50 per cent. Average annual percentages of results are shown as follows [252]:—

Result of Strike	Average Annual Percentages
	Strikes			Strikers
	1895-7	1898-1900	1901-4	1895-7	1898-1900	1901-4

Failed	47	46	46	45	50	62
Result unknown	3	1	3	...	1	2
Total	100	100	100	100	100	100

67 per cent. of the strikes lasted less than six days, and only 7 per cent. lasted 30 days or more [252].

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA

The numbers of strikes and lock-outs, and of persons and establishments involved, in the United States in recent years, are given as follows [3]:—

Year	Strikes				Lock-outs
	Number	Establishments Involved	Number of Strikers	Total Number of Employees Thrown Out of Work	Number	Establishments Involved	Number Locked-out	Total Number of Employees Thrown Out of Work
1896	1,026	5,462	183,810	241,170	40	51	3,680	7,670

The average annual numbers of strikes and lock-outs in the trades principally affected during the period 1881 to 1905 are given as follows [3]:—

Industries	Average Annual Numbers for Strikes				Average Annual Numbers for Lock-outs
	Strikes	Establishments	Strikers	Total Employees Thrown Out of Work	Lock-outs	Establishments	Locked-out	Employees Thrown Out of Work
Building trades	383	2,800	36,720	43,350	10	406	8,840	9,830

The classification of strikes and lock-outs by their causes is given in the next table [3]:—

Principal Causes	Strikes				Lock-outs
	Total Establishments Involved (1881-1905)	Per Cent. of Establishments in which Strike		Total Establishments Involved (1881-1905)	Per Cent. of Establishments in which Lock-out

Overtime	4,180	59	20	50	8	2
Other causes	29,970	43	15	6,420	49	10

- (a) Object of lock-outs was to oppose demand for increase of wages by employees.
- (b) Object of lock-outs was to enforce reduction of wages.
- (c) Object of lock-outs was to oppose demand for reduction of hours.
- (d) Object of lock-outs was to enforce increase of hours.

The average percentages of the total establishments involved, in which strikes and lock-outs succeeded, partly succeeded, or failed, are shown in the following table for a series of years [3]:—

Period	Strikes			Lock-outs
	Per Cent. of Establishments in which Strike			Per Cent. of Establishments in which Lock-out
	Succeeded	Partly Succeeded	Failed	Succeeded	Partly Succeeded	Failed
1881-85	55	9	36	55	3	42
1886-90	46	12	42	47	10	43
1891-95	44	10	46	40	12	48
1896-1900	60	15	25	64	1	35
1901-5	42	18	40	57	21	22
1881-1905	48	15	37	57	11	32

From the above table it can be seen that there is a marked tendency for strikes and lock-outs to end more and more in a compromise, or partial success. This tendency is also apparent in other countries, for example, Germany, France, Austria.

During the period 1881-5, 52 per cent. of the strikes that occurred, involving 79 per cent. of the establishments affected by all strikes and 67 per cent. of the total strikers, were ordered to take place by labour organisations. During the period 1901-5, the percentage of strikes ordered by these organisations had risen to 78, involving 94 per cent. of the establishments and 86 per cent. of the strikers affected by all strikes, however arising [3].

The results of strikes ordered or not ordered by labour organisations are given as follows [1]:—

Period	Per Cent. of Establishments in which the Strikes Ordered by Labour Organisations			Per Cent. of Establishments in which the Strikes not Ordered by Labour Organisations
	Succeeded	Partly Succeeded	Failed	Succeeded	Partly Succeeded	Failed
1881-85	61	10	29	36	5	59
1886-90	48	13	39	37	8	55
1891-95	46	10	44	35	10	55
1896-1900	63	16	21	32	12	56
1901-5	44	18	38	27	13	60
1881-1905	49	16	35	34	10	56

The table shows clearly that strikes ordered by labour organisations succeeded completely, or partly, much more often than strikes not so ordered.

The geographical distribution of strikes and lock-outs during the period 1881 to 1905 was as follows [3]:—

	North Atlantic States	South Atlantic States	North Central States	South Central States	Western States
Average annual number of—
Strikes	817	73	443	72	65
Establishments involved	3,920	266	2,416	285	369

CANADA

From 1901 to 1906 there were in Canada 715 trade disputes, the number in each year being 104, 123, 160, 103, 87, and 138 respectively. 310 disputes, or an average of 52 per annum, were caused by questions affecting wages and hours of labour. In the case of 244 disputes, the results were in favour of the employers; in the case of 214 disputes, in favour of the employees; and 166 disputes were compromised. The results of the remainder are not given [251].

The 138 disputes that occurred in 1906 affected 21,600 workers directly and 4400 indirectly, and caused a loss of time of approximately 490,000 working days [251].

SUGAR

The production of sugar in recent years is given in the United States Agricultural Year Book as follows. The totals are not complete, since some less important sugar-producing countries are not included in the table for want of data [18]:—

The above table discloses almost a continuous and universal increase in the number of suicides. For comparative purposes, however, relative and not absolute numbers are required. The following table accordingly shows the mean annual number of deaths by suicide per million inhabitants in the same periods as given in the preceding table [58]:—

Country	Mean Annual Number per Million Inhabitants				Country	Mean Annual Number per Million Inhabitants
	1886-90	1891-5	1896-1900	1901-5		1886-90	1891-5	1896-1900	1901-5

(a) See notes to previous table.

The proportion of deaths by suicide is seen to be an increasing one in most of the countries for which statistics are given. It also varies considerably from country to country, being lowest in Ireland and Spain, and highest in Saxony.

ENGLAND AND WALES

The numbers of suicides which were the subject of coroners' inquests in England and Wales have varied as follows [102]:—

Year	Number of Suicides	Proportion per 100,000 of Population	Year	Number of Suicides	Proportion per 100,000 of Population
1857	1,349	7.01	1887	2,227	8.00

TEA

The principal countries exporting tea, and the quantities exported in recent years, are given as follows [18]:—

Exporting Country	Quantities Exported (in Millions of Pounds)
	1902	1903	1904	1905	1906
British India	184.0	209.6	215.7	217.2	236.7
Ceylon	150.8	149.2	157.9	170.2	162.2
China	202.6	223.7	193.5	182.6	187.2
Japan	43.3	47.9	47.1	38.6	39.7
Formosa	21.9	23.9	21.7	23.8	21.2
Dutch East Indies	15.6	21.3	25.0	26.1	26.5

The principal importing countries were as follows, the imports being stated, as far as possible, as imports for home consumption [18]:—

Importing Country	Quantities Imported for Home Consumption (in Millions of Pounds)
	1902	1903	1904	1905	1906
United Kingdom [22]	254.4	255.3	256.5	258.8	269.5
Russia	135.6	132.7	121.6	117.5	135.8
United States	108.6	112.9	102.7	93.6	86.4
Australia	24.8	24.7	28.7	28.4	29.5
Canada	24.0	31.4	26.3	25.6	26.5
Netherlands	8.0	7.9	8.8	9.1	9.6
Germany	7.5	6.8	7.2	6.9	8.7
Persia	6.4	6.9	5.8	7.0	...
New Zealand	5.1	5.2	5.2	5.9	6.1

The consumption of tea in the countries enumerated in the second table is practically equivalent to the imports, since they are not tea-producing countries. The consumption per head of population during 1902 to 1906 averaged per year approximately as follows:—

United Kingdom [28]	lbs. 6.05	Canada [28]	lbs. 4.49
Russian Empire	0.9	Netherlands	1.58
United States [3]	1.18	Germany	0.12
Australia [28]	6.50	New Zealand [28]	6.65

The production of tea in British India increased from about 155 million pounds in 1897 to nearly 250 million pounds in 1907. The production in Ceylon increased during the same period from about 116 million pounds to 180 million pounds [28].

The number of exchange subscribers and trunk calls in connection with the Post Office telephone system in the United Kingdom, and the annual receipts, including royalties, are given as follows [22]:—

	1897-8	1902-3	1907-8
Exchange subscribers	1,305	3,944	57,906
Trunk calls	5,888,000	11,574,000	21,993,000
Receipts, including royalties	£222,000	£500,000	£1,378,000

In 1905 the total length of telephone lines, including companies' lines, was about 16,100 miles, and the length of wire over 1 million miles. The number of messages was about 550 millions [12].

FRANCE

Statistics of the French telephones are given as follows [9]:—

	1897	1902	1906
Length of lines Miles	12,400	19,800	30,000
Number of subscribers	36,800	76,300	121,700
Number of messages	105,700,000	186,400,000	244,300,000
Total receipts	£440,000	£770,000	£980,000

The length of wire was 280,000 miles in 1902, and 310,000 miles in 1906 [1].

GERMANY

Statistics of German telephones are given as follows [1]:—

	1901	1906
Length of line Miles	59,500	91,300
Length of wire	731,200	2,058,800
Number of messages	766,200,000	1,352,500,000

The receipts are given as £2,200,000 in 1901, and £4,500,000 in 1906 [9].

THE NETHERLANDS

Statistics of inter-communal and international telephones in Holland are given as follows [35]:—

	1898	1902	1907
Length of line Miles	510	1,240	1,740
Number of messages	350,000	1,060,000	2,750,000
Receipts	£11,200	£32,600	£79,400

The length of wire was 10,400 miles in 1902, and 22,800 in 1906 [1].

BELGIUM

On the Belgian State telephones the number of messages increased from 39 millions in 1902 to 84.5 millions in 1906, and the receipts from £200,000 to £310,000. The length of wire was 60,000 miles in 1902, and 96,000 in 1906. The length of line is not given [1].

SWITZERLAND

Statistics of the Swiss telephones are given as follows [1]:—

	1901	1906
Length of line Miles	9,200	10,500
Length of wire	116,100	169,600
Number of messages, including telegrams transmitted by telephone	27,000,000	40,000,000
Receipts	£260,000	£350,000
Expenses	£300,000	£350,000 (a)

(a) Including sinking fund.

AUSTRIA

In Austria the length of telephone wire increased from 113,400 miles in 1901 to 182,800 miles in 1906. The number of messages, including telegrams sent by telephone, was 104,850,000 in 1901, and 187,560,000 in 1906. Receipts increased from £250,000 to £430,000 in the same period [1].

HUNGARY

Statistics of telephones in Hungary in 1901 and 1906 are given as follows [1]:—

	1901	1906
Length of line Miles	8,980	13,730
Length of wire	63,260	132,620
Number of messages, including telegrams sent by tele- phone	42,940,000	104,020,000

Receipts are given as £130,000 in 1901, and £260,000 in 1906 [9].

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA

Statistics of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company, which practically controls the telephone services of the United States, are given as follows [3]:—

	1902	1907
Number of exchanges and branch offices	3,375	5,108
Miles of wire	2,443,800	6,946,500
Number of subscribers	1,278,000	3,035,500
Average daily number of exchange connections	9,323,000	18,131,000
Average daily calls per subscriber	7.3	6.0
Gross earnings	£2,720,000	£6,300,000
Net earnings	£1,620,000	£3,350,000

OTHER COUNTRIES

The length of line, wire, and number of messages in other countries in 1905 are given as follows [12]:—

Country	Length of Line	Length of Wire	Number of Messages
	Miles	Miles
Russia	6,200	58,100	157,000,000
Italy	7,100	67,000	110,000,000

TOUCH

The power of the human skin in localising pressure varies widely from one part of the body to another. It may be represented "by the least distance which must separate two objects (as the blunted points of a pair of compasses) in order that they may be felt as two." Some of these distances have been observed and measured, and are given as follows [271]:—

Part of Body	Millimetres = Inches
Tongue-tip	1.1 = 0.04
Palm side of last phalanx of finger	2.2 = 0.08
Red part of lips	4.4 = 0.16
Tip of nose	6.6 = 0.24
Back of second phalanx of finger	11.0 = 0.44
Heel	22.0 = 0.88
Back of hand	30.8 = 1.23
Forearm	39.6 = 1.58
Sternum	44.0 = 1.76
Back of neck	52.8 = 2.11
Middle of back	66.0 = 2.64

(Martin's "Human Body," quoted by Prof. James.)

TRADE MARKS

See article on Patents, Designs, and Trade Marks (supra).

The income, expenditure, and funds of trade unions in certain countries in 1906 are given approximately as follows [12]:—

Country	Membership of Unions for which Particulars are Given	Annual Income (1906)	Annual Expenditure (1906)				Funds
			Total	Including
				Unemployed and Travelling Benefits	Sick, Superannuation, and other Social Benefits	Dispute Benefits

TRADE UNIONS

The numbers of organised workers, or trade unionists, in several countries in or about 1906, are given approximately as follows [12]:—

Country	Numbers of Organised Workers
	Males	Females	Total
Germany	2,080,000	140,000	2,220,000
United Kingdom	1,960,000	150,000	2,110,000

Finland	20,000
Servia	4,800	600	5,400
Bulgaria	5,000	...	5,000

(a) Besides the industrial unionists given here, there were in France 720,000 organised agriculturists [9].

The average income, expenditure, and funds per member work out as follows:—

Country	Average Amount per Member in 1907
	Income		Expenditure		Funds at End of Year
	£	s. d.	£	s. d.	£	s. d.
England and Wales	1	9 8	1	4 0	3	5 0

(a) The unions are the same throughout the period.

The income, expenditure, and funds per member, on the basis of the membership of the 100 unions at the end of the year, are given as follows [181]:—

Year	Average Amount per Member (Based on Membership at End of Year)			Year	Average Amount per Member (Based on Membership at End of Year)
	Income	Expenditure	Accumulated Funds		Income	Expenditure	Accumulated Funds

1907	133,360	465,670	431,550	327,690	104,580	111,480	479,830

The average annual expenditure under the above heads, during the period 1898-1907, was as follows [181]:—

	Average Annual Expenditure (1898-1907)
	Amount	Per Cent. of Total
Dispute benefit	£ 182,100	10
Unemployed benefit	401,800	23
Other benefits	781,800	44
Working and other expenses	401,800	23
Total	1,767,500	100

The dispute and unemployed benefits have varied considerably, as shown as follows [181]:—

Year	Per Cent. of Total Expenditure
	Dispute Benefit	Unemployed Benefit
1898	22.1	15.9
1899	9.6	14.8
1900	10.6	17.9
1901	12.8	19.8
1902	12.1	23.9
1903	9.0	26.9
1904	6.1	31.9
1905	10.2	25.4
1906	7.8	21.6
1907	6.5	22.7

The expenditure on unemployed benefit by the 100 unions classified by groups of trades, averaged as follows during 1898-1907 [181]:—

	Average Annual Expenditure on Unemployed Benefit
Metal, engineering, and shipbuilding trades	£ 172,900
Building trades	83,600
Textile trades	50,500
Printing, paper, &c., trades	36,700
Mining and quarrying	21,400
Other trades	36,700
Total	£ 401,800

At the end of 1907 there were 106 federations of trade unions, with a gross membership of 2,800,000 (many trade union members are counted more than once, since some unions are affiliated to more than one federation) [7].

In 1897 there were 115 federations, with a gross membership of 1,084,000 [2].

The membership of three of the principal federations is given as follows [2], [7]:—

Year	Membership of
	General Federation of Trade Unions	Miners' Federation of Great Britain	Federation of Engineering and Shipbuilding Trades of the U.K.
1897	...	149,000	178,000
1898	...	159,000	197,000
1899	373,000	238,000	206,000
1900	387,000	303,000	223,000
1901	421,000	344,000	228,000
1902	414,000	343,000	238,000
1903	403,000	340,000	240,000
1904	396,000	327,000	344,000
1905	478,000	324,000	271,000
1906	623,000	333,000	283,000
1907	601,000	460,000	320,000

Trades councils increased from 169 in number with a membership of 714,000 in 1897, to 194 in number and membership of 810,000 in 1902, and to 250 in number with a membership of 980,000 in 1907 [2], [181].

The number of trade unionists represented at Trade Union Congresses in the United Kingdom increased, with fluctuations, from 110,000 in 1866 to 515,000 in 1886, to 1,480,000 in 1906, and to 1,710,000 in 1908 [181]. The number in 1910 was 1,640,000 [286].

FRANCE

The number of trade unions in France, with their membership on the 1st January in each year since 1898, was as follows [6], [7]:—

	At January 1	Number of Trade Unions	Membership
1898		2,324	437,793
1899		2,361	419,761
1900		2,685	491,647
1901		3,287	588,832
1902		3,679	614,173
1903		3,934	643,757
1904		4,227	715,576
1905		4,625	781,344
1906		4,857	836,134
1907		5,322	896,012
1908		5,524	957,102

The principal trades in which trade unions existed at the beginning of 1908 were as follows [7]:—

Group of Trades	Number of Trade Unions	Members
Transport and commercial	907	270,020
Building	826	87,420
Metal trades	591	93,770
Agriculture, forestry, fishing	527	55,410

Chemical trades	126	37,720
Mining and quarrying	163	81,000
Others	426	69,810
Total	5,524	957,100

There are also industrial associations of employers and also mixed associations. Their position on the 1st January 1898, 1902, and 1907 is given as follows [9]:—

	1898	1902	1907
Employers' unions—
Number	1,894	2,609	3,612
Membership	189,510	185,200	315,270
Mixed unions—
Number	184	155	154
Membership	34,960	34,450	39,700

The numbers and membership of federations of unions are given thus [9]:—

	1898	1902	1907
Federations of unions—
Employers' unions	46	72	110
Workmen's unions	94	121	187

Workmen's	327,640	674,150	752,360
Mixed	3,150	1,840	4,770

(a) Some organisations are affiliated to more than one federation.

GERMANY

The growth in the membership of German trade unions in recent years is shown as follows [10], [250]:—

Trade Unions	Membership in
	1899	1903	1907
Social Democratic—
Central Federations	580,500	887,700	1,873,100
Local unions	15,900	17,600	20,500
Total	596,400	905,300	1,893,600
Hirsch-Duncker	86,800	110,200	108,900
Christian: Affiliated to Central Federation	112,200	91,400	274,300
Christian: Independent		101,200	80,400
Other independent unions	69,000	68,700	96,700
Total	864,400	1,276,800	2,453,900

The total membership of all unions in 1909 was 3,597,300 [286].

The income, expenditure, and funds of the Social Democratic unions in recent years are given as follows [11], [12]:—

(Mark converted at 11.8d.)

Year	Income for Trade Union Objects	Expenditure	Funds
1903	£ 810,000	£ 675,000	£ 620,000
1904	990,000	870,000	790,000

1906	2,050,000	1,820,000	1,240,000
1907	2,530,000	2,120,000	1,640,000

Expenditure on the particular services or benefits averaged per year as follows during the five years 1903-7 [11], [12]:—

Strikes	£460,000
Unemployed benefit	140,000
Travelling benefit	35,000
Sick benefit	110,000
Superannuation benefit	14,000
Propaganda	68,000
Publication of Journal	68,000

The unemployment and strike benefits each year were as follows [11], [12]:—

Year	Unemployment Benefit	Strike Benefit
1903	£ 62,000	£ 220,000
1904	79,000	290,000
1905	99,000	480,000
1906	130,000	680,000
1907	320,000	650,000

The income of the Hirsch-Duncker Unions increased from £31,500 in 1900 [10] to £66,000 in 1906 [12], and the expenditure from £32,500 [10] to £64,000 [12].

The total income of the affiliated Christian Unions in 1907 was about £210,000, and of the Independent Christian Unions £10,000. The total expenditure was £150,000 and £8000 respectively [12].

AUSTRIA

The number of trade unions affiliated to the Central Committee of Austrian Trade Unions at Vienna was 5466 in 1908. Their aggregate membership at the end of the year was 482,280. The receipts of these unions in 1908 amounted to £388,710, of which £331,520 consisted of the ordinary contributions of members. The expenditure was £348,125, including [7]:—

Unemployment and travelling benefit	£74,990
Sick and infirmity benefit	47,790
Funeral and special distress benefits	30,100
Administration	61,560
Journal	48,310
Propaganda, &c.	33,710

This expenditure is exclusive of amounts collected and distributed in support of strikers or persons locked-out. No formal provision is made by the unions for this service, but in 1908 £170,975 was voluntarily subscribed and £60,605 distributed under this head [7].

At the end of 1908 the funds of the unions amounted to £415,765, apart from a special fund for strike purposes, held by the Central Committee, and amounting to £110,370 [7].

The total number of trade unionists proper in Austria has increased as follows [9]:—

1892	46,000
1896	98,000
1901	119,000
1906	448,000
1907	501,000

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA

The total number of trade unionists in the United States in 1909 was estimated at about 2,500,000 [286]. The membership (average number of members paying subscriptions) of the American Federation of Labour in recent years is given as follows [10], [12]:—

1897	265,000
1898	278,000
1899	349,000
1900	548,000
1901	788,000
1902	1,024,000
1903	1,466,000
1904	1,675,000
1905	1,494,000
1906	1,444,000

TRAFFIC

LONDON

The number of passengers carried by local railways, by tramways, and by omnibuses in London in several years is given as follows [261]:—

Year	Number of Passengers Carried by				Estimated Population of Greater London	Number of Journeys per Head
	Railways (Local Companies)	Tramways	Omnibuses (two Principal Companies)	Total

1907	363.8	585.7	331.4 (a)	1,280.9	7.2	178

(a) Numbers carried by three principal companies.

These numbers do not include the whole of the omnibus traffic, or the cab traffic, or the suburban traffic of the trunk railways. Including these, it is estimated that 200 journeys per head were made in 1901, and 300 in 1907 [261].

In 1903, the licences issued by the Chief Commissioner of Police in respect of public carriages in London, included 11,400 for hackney carriages (of which 1 was for a motor carriage), 3640 for omnibuses (13 mechanical), and 1720 for tramway cars (576 mechanical), a total of 16,760 vehicles. In 1907, the corresponding numbers were 10,540 for hackney carriages (723 mechanical), 3760 for omnibuses (1205 mechanical), and 2170 for tramway cars (1768 mechanical), a total of 16,470 vehicles [261].

The number of workmen carried on the London County Council's tramways in recent years is given as follows [261]:—

1904-5	9,898,000	1906-7	19,529,000
1905-6	13,011,000	1907-8	27,977,000

A record of the number of persons who entered London by railway from the suburban districts during the month of October 1907, gave the following results as to the number arriving from zones within certain distances from Charing Cross [261]:—

Distance of Zone from Charing Cross	Area of Zone Square Miles	Number of Passengers		Passengers per Square Mile of Zone
		Using Workmen's Tickets	Total
4 to 6 miles	63	389,230	2,232,200	35,584
6 " 8 "	88	1,054,460	3,406,590	38,729
8 " 10 "	113	512,860	2,433,000	21,512

20 " 25 "	707	670	151,030	213
25 " 30 "	864	820	107,610	124

Over 80 per cent. of the passengers came from districts within 10 miles of Charing Cross.

BERLIN

The numbers of persons conveyed by railways, &c., in Berlin and its suburbs in 1905 are given as follows [261]:—

Railways	161,640,000
Tramways	417,060,000
Omnibuses	111,460,000
Total	690,160,000

The population of Greater Berlin in December 1905 was 2,993,400 persons.

(a) Figures for year 1879.

In 1907-8, local public authorities in the United Kingdom possessed 177 tramway undertakings, with a length of route open for traffic of 1620 miles, of which 1114 miles were double track. The total expenditure on capital account amounted to £44,920,000, of which £32,980,000 represented capital expenditure on lines and works open for traffic [262].

There were also 128 undertakings belonging to companies and private individuals, with a total length of route of 844 miles, of which 406 miles were double track. The capital expenditure on the lines and works amounted to some £18,600,000, while the total capital expenditure was about £23,300,000, including the cost of buildings and equipment incurred in respect of the lines of certain local authorities which were worked in conjunction with other lines [262].

Particulars for the several parts of the United Kingdom are given for the year 1907-8 as follows [262]:—

Net receipts	£2,725,800	985,200	486,900	221,500	74,000	153,600	4,647,000

(a) Of the total of 1620 miles of line owned by local authorities, 1461 miles were worked by those authorities, and 159 miles were leased to companies.

Out of the total net receipts, an amount of £1,890,000 was appropriated to interest or dividend, £932,000 to repayment of debt or sinking fund, and £320,000 to the relief of rates.

THE NETHERLANDS

Statistics of the principal tramways in Holland for the years 1897, 1901, and 1906, are given as follows [35]:—

	1897	1901	1906
Length of line open at December 31 Miles	810	980	1,300
Rolling stock—
Locomotives	275	321	487
Passenger cars	1,290	1,480	2,080
Goods cars	820	1,230	1,790
Number of passengers carried	48,670,000	65,930,000	116,730,000
Goods carried Tons	460,000	660,000	890,000
Receipts—
From passengers	£600,000	750,000	1,180,000
From goods	60,000	100,000	150,000
Other receipts	70,000	30,000	40,000
Total receipts	£730,000	880,000	1,370,000

A few of the tramways are electrified. Many of them have steam traction. Of 61 undertakings in 1897, 36 used steam traction; of 66 in 1901, 38 used steam; and of 81 in 1906, 48 used steam [35].

Most of the lines are single track. The lengths of single and double track were [35]:—

Year	Single Track	Double Track
	Miles	Miles
1897	750	60
1901	905	75
1906	1,160	140

FRANCE

The length of tramways worked in France has increased as follows [9]:—

	Miles
1861	15
1871	15
1881	330
1891	860
1901	3,050
1906	4,440

GERMANY

The mileage of tramways in Germany in working is given as follows [11], [12]:—

	Miles
1900	1,800
1903	1,970
1906	2,240

SWITZERLAND

At the end of 1905 Switzerland had about 230 miles of tramways. The rolling stock consisted of 9 locomotive engines, 611 electric-motor carriages, 179 non-electric carriages, and 94 goods cars. There were only 2 horses, which were employed on very short tramways. During the year 1905, 80,900,000 passengers were carried, and 121,000 tons of goods [23].

The receipts in 1905 amounted to £413,000, the expenses to £308,000, leaving the net receipts equal to £105,000 [23].

The total cost of construction amounted at the end of 1905 to £2,100,000, averaging about £9100 per mile [23].

ITALY

The length of tramways in Italy worked mechanically during 1904 was about 2450 miles, of which about 470 miles were electrified. In 1900 there were in working about 2170 miles of tramways, of which about 270 miles were electrified [54].

The rolling stock at the end of 1900 and 1904 was as follows [54]:—

Rolling Stock	1900	1904
Steam traction—
Locomotives	577	572
Carriages, &c.	4,720	5,130
Electric traction—
Locomotives	4
Motor carriages	1,040	1,490
Other carriages	369	714

The staff in Italy numbered 11,000 persons in 1900, and 14,740 in 1904 [54].

The average annual numbers of accidents during 1900-4 were [54]:—

Class of Person	Killed	Injured
Passengers	17	514
Employees	9	217
Others	79	480
Total	105	1,211

HUNGARY

The length of tram-lines in towns in Hungary in 1906 was about 176 miles. The rolling stock included 1146 passenger and 107 goods cars. 8,000,000 journeys were performed during the year, and 115,000,000 passengers and 648,000 tons of goods were carried. The capital invested amounted at the close of 1906 to £4,600,000. The receipts during the year were £830,000, and the expenses £500,000, leaving a net receipt of about £330,000 [26].

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA

Statistics of the street and elevated railways of the United States in 1896 and 1906 are given as follows [3]:—

Items	1896	1906
Number of roads	916	1,164
Track mileage—
Electric Miles	12,130	36,210
All other "	2,340	720

AUSTRALIA

The tramway mileage open for traffic at the end of 1907 was as follows:—

State	Mileage Open at End of 1907				Mileage Electrified
	Government	Municipal	Private	Total
	Miles	Miles	Miles	Miles	Miles
New South Wales	129	...	7	136	88

NEW SOUTH WALES [15]

The cost of the Government tramways of New South Wales amounted in 1907 to £3,670,000, averaging £28,500 per mile. The gross revenue in 1906-7 was £908,700, and the working expenses £727,900. The profit, after paying interest, amounted to £49,000.

The Sydney electric tramways, 87 miles in length (1907), carried, during 1907, 144,000,000 passengers. The gross revenue was £830,000, the working expenses £629,000, and the net revenue £201,000. The cost of construction amounted to £3,248,000. 727 cars were in use, and 4040 persons were employed during the year. The tram mileage was 15,630,000 miles.

VICTORIA [15]

The electric tramways of Victoria, 33 miles in length (1907), carried, during 1906, 7,000,000 passengers. The tram mileage was 1,790,000 miles.

QUEENSLAND [15]

The Brisbane electric tramways, 31 miles in length (1906), carried, during 1906, 22,000,000 passengers. The tram mileage was 3,320,000 miles. Gross revenue was £141,400, and working expenses £78,500.

The municipal tramways of Queensland, 165 miles in length in 1906, cost £369,200. The assets in that year amounted to £383,200, and the liabilities to £369,600. Receipts were £39,300 (exclusive of grants, endowments, or loans), and the expenditure £41,700.

WESTERN AUSTRALIA [15]

The electric tramways of Western Australia, 54 miles in length in 1906, carried 13,600,000 passengers in 1906. The tram mileage was 2,330,000 miles. Gross revenue was £152,700, and working expenses £92,400.

TASMANIA [15]

The Hobart electric tramways, 9 miles in length (1906), carried, in 1906, 2,200,000 passengers. The tram mileage was 341,600 miles. Gross revenue was £20,300, and working expenses £11,000.

JAPAN

At December 31, 1907, there were in Japan 45 tramway companies, with a total capital of £5,350,000. In 1901, there were only 18 companies, with a total capital of £560,000 [4], [115].

The length of line increased from 123 miles in 1901 to 406 miles in 1907, the total length of track being 186 and 584 miles respectively [4], [115].

The electrification of the lines is proceeding, the number of horses having diminished from 2508 at the end of 1901 to 730 at the end of 1907, while the cars increased in number from 707 to 2185. Over 53,000,000 passengers were carried in 1901, and nearly 193,000,000 in 1907. The number of passengers has, however, fluctuated considerably, the average annual number carried during 1901-7 being about 81,000,000 [4], [115].

The receipts and expenses in recent years were as follows [4], [115]:—

(Yen taken as 2s. 0½d.)

Year	Gross Receipts	Expenses	Net Receipts	Year	Gross Receipts	Expenses	Net Receipts
	£	£	£		£	£	£

UNITED KINGDOM

Returns from trade unions in the United Kingdom, having some 600,000 members (chiefly in the building, coal-mining, engineering, shipbuilding, textiles, printing and bookbinding, woodworking, and furnishing trades), showed the following average percentage of members as unemployed in each year from 1898 [7]:—

Year	Mean Percentage Unemployed	Year	Mean Percentage Unemployed
1898	2.8	1905	5.0
1899	2.0	1906	3.6
1900	2.5	1907	3.7
1901	3.3	1908	7.8
1902	4.0	1909 [286]	7.7
1903	4.7	1910 [324]	4.7
1904	6.0

The high average percentage unemployed in 1908 was largely due to prolonged disputes in the engineering, shipbuilding, and cotton trades.

Since these figures refer only to the members of certain trade unions, they cannot be regarded as an accurate statement of the amount of unemployment among the total number of workers of all kinds. They may, however, be accepted as roughly indicative of the course of employment generally.

There is observable a rise and fall in the amount of unemployment over a series of years. It is to be expected that each year would likewise experience a fluctuation, since employment is likely on the whole to be worse in the late autumn and winter months than in the summer or late spring. Such a seasonal fluctuation is shown to exist by the following table, which gives the average percentage of trade union members unemployed in each month of the year [7]:—

Month	Average Percentage Unemployed 1905-7
January	4.8
February	4.4
March	3.9
April	3.7
May	3.6
June	3.7
July	3.7
August	3.9
September	4.1
October	4.2
November	4.3
December	4.8

The above table shows a continuous fall from January to May and June, and then a continuous rise to the end of the year. The figures for 1908 are not included in the averages, because they were largely affected by disputes in the engineering and other trades. Their inclusion, however, would only slightly mask and not destroy the fact of a seasonal fluctuation.

The percentages of trade unionists unemployed in particular trades are shown as follows [2], [7]:—

Year	Percentage of Trade Union Members Unemployed
	Building Trades (Carpenters and Plumbers Only)	Engineering Trades	Shipbuilding Trades	Printing Trades	Furnishing Trades
	Per Cent.	Per Cent.	Per Cent.	Per Cent.	Per Cent.
1898	1.3	3.8	4.7	3.7	2.2
1899	1.5	2.5	2.3	3.9	2.2
1900	2.5	2.8	2.5	4.3	3.6
1901	3.7	3.8	3.7	4.6	4.0
1902	4.3	5.1	8.2	4.7	4.1
1903	4.9	4.9	12.0	4.4	5.0
1904	7.7	7.0	14.0	4.6	8.7
1905	8.3	5.1	11.9	4.9	7.3
1906	7.2	3.0	7.6	4.6	6.2
1907	6.7	3.8	9.2	4.3	6.0
1908	11.0	10.0 (a)	23.1 (a)	5.3	11.0

(a) As already stated above, there were prolonged disputes in the engineering and shipbuilding trades in 1908. The figures given do not include trade unionists on strike.

The state of employment in the coal-mining, iron-mining, iron and steel, and tinplate trades in recent years is shown as follows (so far as reported to the Board of Trade) [2], [6]:—

Year	Average Number of Days per Week on which		Average Number of Shifts Worked per Week at Iron and Steel Works	Average Number of Mills Working at End of Month in Tinplate and Steel Sheet Trades
	Coal was Hewn and Drawn at Collieries	Iron Ore was Got and Worked at Mines and Open Works

1907	5.51	5.81	5.58	444
1908	5.22	5.69	5.35	440

The average annual number of applicants to Distress Committees in England and Wales during the three years ended March 31, 1908, was [118]:—

Greater London	48,540
Rest of England and Wales	47,420
Total	95,960

In Scotland, the average annual number during the three years ended May 15, 1908, was 10,960 [118].

The percentage of applicants to the occupied population worked out on the average to 1.9 in Greater London, 1.1 in the rest of England and Wales, and 1.3 in Scotland [118].

The course of unemployment and employment over a period of nearly 50 years is shown in the following table. It is based on returns from trade unions, and gives (1) the computed average percentage of members of trade unions returned as out of work at the end of each month (in some cases the percentage out of work is partly estimated from expenditure on unemployed benefit); and (2) the mean percentage not returned as unemployed. This latter quantity is also expressed as a series of index numbers, in which the percentage not returned as unemployed in 1900 is represented by 100 [2], [83]:—

Year	Computed Average Percentage of Trade Unionists Returned as Out of Work	Trade Unionists NOT Returned as Out of Work

1906	4.10	95.90	98.7
1907	4.20	95.80	98.5

(a) The unemployment percentages in this table, from 1898 onwards, differ slightly from those given in an earlier table (supra). In the earlier table the percentages are corrected in the light of later and fuller information than that on which the above table was based.

The index numbers given above, representing the average level of employment, may be summarised by periods as follows, where each period contains only one maximum index number [83], [2]:—

Period	Average Level of Employment (1900=100)
1860-64	99.2
1865-71	98.7
1872-81	98.9
1882-88	96.8
1889-98	98.3
1899-1907	98.4

It should be noted that these figures do not include any allowance for loss of time through sickness, holidays, strikes, or unpunctuality. An inquiry by the Board of Trade among firms and trade unions in the engineering trades as to the average time lost by a workman from all causes, gave the following results. The data related mainly to the year 1895, which was selected as a year of average employment [83]:—

	Deductions from Full Time. Per Cent.
On account of—
Unemployment	4
Sickness	2½
Trade disputes (say)	1
"Lost time"	1½
Holidays	3
Total deduction	12
Add for overtime	3½
Net deduction	8¼

In a good year the net deduction may be only 4 per cent. of full time, and in a bad year it may be as high as 15 per cent. or more.

GERMANY

On November 17, 1908, the unemployed men and women in Berlin were invited to report themselves as such. The results showed that the total number who reported themselves unemployed in Greater Berlin was 40,212, comprising 38,581 males and 1631 females. 62.5 per cent. of these were described as skilled workpeople. 13,664, or 33.4 per cent. of the total number, were in the building trades; 8389, or 20.9 per cent., were in the engineering and metal-working trades; and 3771, or 9.4 per cent., were in the wood-working trades [7].

The number reported as unemployed in Berlin proper was 28,006, of whom 26,868 were males. 63.6 per cent. were skilled workers. Of the males, 10.8 per cent. were between 16 and 20 years of age; 36.8 per cent. between 20 and 30; 22.7 per cent. between 30 and 40; 15.7 per cent. between 40 and 50; 9.6 per cent. between 50 and 60; and about 3 per cent. above 60 years. 12 per cent. of the men in Berlin proper had been unemployed for not longer than 1 week; 12 per cent. between 1 and 2 weeks; 11 per cent. between 2 and 3 weeks; 8 per cent. between 3 and 4 weeks; 8 per cent. between 4 and 5 weeks; 6.6 per cent. between 5 and 6 weeks; and 6.5 per cent. between 6 and 7 weeks [7].

INSURANCE AGAINST UNEMPLOYMENT

The insurance of working men against unemployment has been most largely tried in Switzerland. An insurance scheme was first started in Bern in 1892 by the League of Manual Labourers. Municipal aid, however, was very soon asked for, and in 1893 the scheme passed under the control of a municipal bureau. Insurance in this bureau is voluntary, and is open to all able-bodied Swiss citizens, not over 60 years of age, living in Bern. The monthly premium payable by those insured is about 7d. If insured for eight months, and all premiums paid, and if in employment for at least six months in the year, insurers may claim, during the winter months, a daily allowance of about 1s. 2d. if single, and 1s. 7d. if married. The allowance continues for a maximum period of 10 weeks. Incapacity to work gives no claim to the benefit. The following table gives statistics of this insurance bureau [194], [195]:—

(a) This amount is not as great as the previous year's balance, but it is the amount given in the original report.

It will be noted that the Bern scheme is not self-supporting.

A compulsory insurance scheme was started in St. Gall in 1895, but, through lack of support and other reasons, was abandoned in 1897.

In 1901 the Basel Labour Federation started an insurance scheme and set up a bureau. Under this scheme insurance was open to all working men in Basel. Municipal employees were compelled to be insured. The monthly premiums or dues payable in 1906-7 were:—

- 4½d. by those earning less than 3s. 2d. per day ;
- 5½d. by those earning from 3s. 2d. to 4s. per day ; and
- 6½d. by those earning over 4s. per day [263].

Up to 1906 the premiums were 1d. per month less than these amounts.

If a member had paid his dues for at least six months, he might claim out-of-work benefit from the fund fifteen days after he had reported himself without employment, provided he was not offered work in the meantime. For every two days' temporary work during these fifteen days, one day's out-of-work benefit was withheld [194].

Statistics of the scheme are given as follows [194]—

BASEL INSURANCE SCHEME FOR UNEMPLOYMENT

In 1906-7 there were 457 members, of whom 179 became unemployed. The unemployed benefit received by these persons amounted to £291, while the premiums received from the insured amounted to only £84. The scheme has proved a failure, and is stated to have been abandoned [263].

Germany has also one or two examples of insurance schemes against unemployment. That of Cologne is the most important. The bureau in that city was established in 1896 for the benefit of male workers in Cologne and neighbourhood. Membership of the bureau is open to working men (at least 18 years of age), employers, and other contributors. Employers or "patrons" make one payment of about £15; honorary members contribute at least 5s. annually; and the working men pay 4½d. per week if unskilled labourers, and 5½d. per week if mechanics. The benefit is payable in the winter (December 10 to March 10), and consists of 2s. a day for 20 days, and then 1s. a day for another 28 days. Residence in the Cologne district for one year is necessary to render a worker eligible for membership (reduced to six months for soldiers honourably discharged), and then only working men with a regular trade are admitted.

Statistics of this fund are given as follows [194]:—

COLOGNE UNEMPLOYMENT INSURANCE SCHEME

Years	Number Insured at End of Year	Number Unemployed during Year	Contributions from Insured	Allowances to Unemployed
1896-7	132	96	£ 50	£ 117

1907-8 [263]	1,382	1,103	1,040.	2,433

Like the Swiss funds, this one of Cologne is seen not to be self-supporting. The subsidy from the city in 1907-8 amounted to £1000 [263].

A bureau was opened at Leipzig in 1903. Membership is voluntary, and is confined to men from 16 to 60 years of age who have resided at least one year in Leipzig. The dues vary with the risks of unemployment in the several trades. The lowest premium is 3½d. per week, and the highest 7½d. The benefit is about 1s. 2½d. a day for a maximum period of 42 days, beginning with the fourth day of unemployment [194].

In several towns and provinces of Belgium systems of insurance against unemployment have been in force during recent years. The best known scheme is that of Ghent. In this city, following on the report of a special commission on the question of unemployment, an unemployment fund was established at the end of 1900, and began operations in 1901. This fund is used to supplement out-of-work benefits which trade unions pay to their members, or to supplement any provision made by individual workers against unemployment. Trade unionists have their out-of-work benefits subsidised in proportion to the amount of those benefits. The subsidy may be equal to, but not greater than, the amount of the benefits paid by the trade unions, and is in any case limited to a maximum of about 9½d. per day, payable for a maximum period of 60 days in any one year [263], in respect of any one member. Non-unionists may take advantage of the scheme by depositing in a Special Thrift Fund a maximum of £2, to be drawn upon only in the event of unemployment. The depositor in that case receives a subsidy corresponding in amount to that paid to trade unionists. The total amount of withdrawals by the depositor, including the subsidies he may receive, must not exceed £2 in any one year. The part of the scheme providing for non-unionists by means of the Special Thrift Fund has proved a failure. But so far as the scheme works in conjunction with the trade unions it has been highly successful [194].

The sums paid out by the Ghent municipality in subsidies to trade union out-of-work benefits are given as follows [194]:—

Year	Paid Out	Number of Unemployed
1901 (5 months)	£ 250	2,089
1902	647	3,250
1903	681	2,711
1904	826	3,010
1905	641	...

The Ghent system was copied in Antwerp in 1902, and has since spread to many other towns and to other countries.

In Antwerp, the disbursements from the unemployment fund, and from the funds of affiliated trade unions, are given as follows [194]:—

Year	Subsidies Paid Out of Municipal Fund	Unemployment Benefits Paid by Trade Unions
1902	£ 211	£ 351
1903	351	762
1904	569	1,120

In 1906 there were 32 unemployed insurance funds in Belgium, with a credit of £3306 [194].

In France, in 1905, a somewhat similar scheme to that of Ghent was adopted by the State, although previous to that date many local authorities had been making subsidies to funds paying unemployed benefits [263]. In 1905 and each later year the State voted a sum of £4400 out of which grants were to be paid direct to the trade unions or associations having unemployment funds and fulfilling the necessary conditions [263]. The maximum subsidy was to be about 1s. 7d. per day per unemployed member, payable for a period not longer than 60 days in any one year; the minimum subsidy was to be about 8s. half-yearly, payable to the association, provided it had been in existence during the half-year, and had paid at least £1. 4s. in half-yearly unemployment benefits. The statistics of the French unemployment funds in 1906 are given as follows [194]:—

Number of funds receiving state subsidies	64
Average membership of funds	39,050
Number of unemployed	10,320
Number of days the unemployed were aided	107,670
Benefits paid out by the funds	£8,780
Amount of state subsidies actually paid	£1,700

1907	510,150	484,490	18,110	52.4

The total number of children born in 1905 who were successfully vaccinated was returned by vaccination officers as 705,040. Certificates of conscientious objection to vaccination were received in respect of 44,370 of the children [212].

During the calendar year 1906, 709,660 certificates of successful primary vaccination at all ages were received [212].

In 1907, 74,575 applications for vaccine lymph were complied with by the Local Government Board, enough lymph being distributed for 548,500 vaccinations [212].

(b) Excess of deaths over births.

The high excess of births over deaths in many of the German towns will be noted, and also the excess of deaths over births in many of the French towns.

(a) Exclusive of still-births.

(It should be noted that this table shows the numbers of persons married, which are of course twice the numbers of marriages.)

GERMANY

The average annual number of births, deaths, and marriages, during the period 1902-6, are given as follows [11], [12]:—

State	Average Annual Numbers (1902-6)
	Marriages	Births (a)	Deaths (a)	Excess of Births over Deaths
Germany	476,600	2,071,600	1,215,600	856,000
Prussia	294,300	1,293,000	737,100	555,900
Bavaria	48,700	234,800	151,200	83,600
Saxony	36,800	153,500	90,400	63,100
Wurtemberg	18,000	78,400	48,300	30,100
Baden	15,800	67,800	41,100	26,700
Hesse	9,900	38,800	21,900	16,900
Mecklenberg-Schwerin	4,900	17,600	11,300	6,300

(a) Including still-births.

The average annual proportions per 1000 of population are given in the following table [11], [12]:—

State	Average Annual Proportion per 1000 of Population
	Marriages	Births (a)	Deaths (a)	Excess of Births over Deaths
Germany	8.0	34.9	20.5	14.4
Prussia	8.1	35.5	20.2	15.3
Bavaria	7.5	36.5	23.5	13.0
Saxony	8.3	34.5	20.3	14.2
Wurtemberg	8.0	34.7	21.4	13.3
Baden	8.0	34.4	20.9	13.5
Hesse	8.4	32.8	18.5	14.3
Mecklenberg-Schwerin	7.8	28.4	18.3	10.1

(a) Including still-births.

Among the births in the whole of Germany, in the period 1902-6, 8.4 per cent. were illegitimate. The still-births (legitimate and illegitimate) averaged 3 per cent. of the total births [12].

CAPE OF GOOD HOPE

The average annual numbers of births, deaths, and marriages, during 1902-6, in the colony proper and Bechuanaland, were as follows. The births exclude refugees, and the deaths exclude war cases and refugees [27]:—

	Average Annual Numbers (1902-6)
	Marriages (a)	Births Registered (b)	Deaths Registered (b)	Excess of Births over Deaths
Colony	Not distinguished	45,118	30,116	15,002
Bechuanaland (c)		1,547	1,022	525
Total	11,603	46,665	31,138	15,527

(a) Including native territories.

(b) Excluding native territories.

(c) The returns of births and deaths for Bechuanaland are incomplete.

AUSTRALASIA

The average annual numbers of births, deaths, and marriages, during the five years 1902-6, were as follows [15]:—

State	Average Annual Numbers (1902-6)
	Births	Marriages	Deaths	Excess of Births over Deaths
New South Wales	38,583	10,638	15,691	22,892
Victoria	30,149	8,399	15,215	14,934
Queensland	13,713	3,203	5,680	8,033
South Australia	8,880	2,494	3,956	4,924
Western Australia	7,098	2,112	2,844	4,254
Tasmania	5,209	1,354	1,972	3,237
Total Commonwealth	103,632	28,200	45,358	58,274
New Zealand	22,637	6,983	8,278	14,359

The average annual ratios per 1000 of the population are given as follows [15]:—

State	Average Annual Number per 1000 Inhabitants
	Births	Marriages	Deaths	Excess of Births over Deaths
New South Wales	26.7	7.4	10.9	15.8
Victoria	24.9	6.9	12.5	12.4

It should be noted that these names may not mean exactly the same to-day as in the eighteenth century. Detailed comparisons with wages and hours to-day should not therefore be made. A similar caution applies to comparisons between different countries.

The standard rates of wages and hours of labour recognised at October 1, 1908, in certain trades, at London, Birmingham, Cardiff, Liverpool, Manchester, Newcastle, Sheffield, Belfast, and Glasgow, are given as follows [2]:—

Trades	London	Birming- ham	Cardiff	Liverpool	Man- chester	Newcastle- on-Tyne	Sheffield	Glasgow	Belfast

(a) Shillings per week. (b) Pence per hour. (c) Rates for marine shops. The rates for engineers in other towns are for workers in engine and general shops. (d) Dublin Metropolitan Police. (e) The London City Police get 27s. to 42s. 6d. per week. The rates in the table are for the Metropolitan Police.

The cash wages per week of ordinary agricultural labourers employed on 128 farms in England and Wales in 1907 averaged 15s. The wages on 22 farms in Ireland averaged 10s. 3½d. These wages are exclusive of extra payments for piecework, hay and corn harvests, overtime, and of the value of allowances in kind [2]. Weekly cash wages, and average weekly earnings, including the value of allowances in kind, of ordinary agricultural labourers in England in 1902, ranged as follows [2]:—

County	Weekly Cash Wages	Average Weekly Earnings	County	Weekly Cash Wages	Average Weekly Earnings
Lancashire	s. d. 18 10	s. d. 20 7	Kent	s. d. 16 4	s. d. 19 7
Shropshire	14 8	18 0	Dorsetshire	11 11	15 6
Lincolnshire	15 6	18 8	Cornwall	14 6	17 4
Norfolk	12 4	15 3

The number and amount of changes in wages in recent years are shown as follows [2]:—

Year	Number of Changes	Number of Separate Persons Affected			Amount of Change in Weekly Wages
		By Increase	By Decrease	Total (a)	Increase	Decrease	Net
1898	1,403	1,000,200	11,900	1,012,100	£ 81,500	£ 787	+ 80,713

1906	794	1,098,000	5,100	1,115,200	58,409	512	+ 57,897
1907	825	1,243,500	2,900	1,246,500	201,152	240	+ 200,912

(a) Includes persons whose wages were changed during any year, but at the end of the year stood at the same level as at the beginning.

The net effect of changes in wages reported in 1910 was a weekly increase of £13,900 in the wages of about 534,000 workpeople. In 1909 there was a net decrease of £69,100 per week, and in 1908 a net decrease of £61,700 [324].

Changes in hours of labour are similarly shown as follows [2]:—

Year	Number of Changes	Total Number of Workpeople Affected			Net Amount of Decrease per Week
		By Increases	By Decreases	All Changes
1898	202	1,277	37,772	39,049	Hours 81,917
1899	209	2,600	33,349	35,949	127,142
1900	158	869	56,857	57,726	238,043
1901	117	586	28,690	29,276	58,728

1907	87	841	35,366	36,207	78,975

These two tables do not include changes in the wages or hours of agricultural labourers, seamen, and railway servants.

A census of wages, hours of labour, &c., of men employed on the railways of the United Kingdom was taken in 1907 under the auspices of the Amalgamated Society of Railway Servants. The following table shows the distribution according to standard weekly earnings of the 259,280 men and boys of whose wages details were collected. Overtime pay, and, generally, Sunday duty pay, are not included in these standard earnings. Further, "boys" cannot be accurately distinguished from men, and their wages tabulated separately [264].

Average wage	13s. 5d.	22s. 4d.	18s. 7d.	23s. 2d.

The average wage was highest for drivers, namely, 38s. 10d. a week, next for goods foremen (27s. 7d.), goods guards (26s. 10d.), and passenger guards (26s. 1d.). The lowest average was for engine cleaners (14s. 8d.), then passenger porters (17s. 5d.), carriage cleaners (18s. 5d.), platelayers (19s. 4d.), and goods porters (19s. 6d.) [264].

The percentage distribution of the railway workers, according to the hours per day at which they are rated, is given as follows [264]:—

Daily Hours at which Workers are Rated	Percentages of Total Workers in England & Wales	Scotland	Ireland	United Kingdom
8 or under	7.4	6.2	1.2	6.1
9	9.1	2.2	0.2	8.1
10	58.5	36.1	44.1	55.9
11	4.2	2.8	3.5	4.1
12	15.3	48.9	35.9	20.1

	100	100	100	100
Actual number of workers to which percentages relate	221,690	28,700	8,890	259,280

40 per cent. of shunters, and 36 per cent. of signalmen, are rated at not more than 8 hours per day. In the table no account is taken of overtime or extra time of any sort.

The weekly earnings in the first week of December 1907 of the workpeople (excluding clerical and salaried staff, and persons casually employed for less than three days during the week) employed by twenty-seven railway companies in the United Kingdom were as follows [265]:—

	Earnings per Head s. d.
England and Wales	26 5
Scotland	23 6
Ireland	19 8
United Kingdom	25 10

These figures are based on the wages of 478,690 persons, and represent, not rates of wages, but cash earnings in the week in question.

An inquiry by the Board of Trade into the earnings of operatives in the textile trades in 1906 gave the following results [156]:—

The total wages bill for a full week, and for a full year of 52 weeks, is estimated as follows [156]:—

Industry	Full Week	Full Year
Cotton	£ 512,000	£ 26,600,000
Woollen and worsted, &c.	210,000	10,900,000
Bleaching, printing, &c.	116,000	6,000,000
Linen	58,000	3,000,000
Hosiery	33,000	1,700,000
Lace	30,000	1,600,000
Jute	29,000	1,500,000
Silk	20,000	1,000,000
Total	1,008,000	52,300,000

Taking all the textile trades together, 18.4 per cent. of the men operatives earned under 20s. in the last pay-week of September 1906; 46.3 per cent. earned 20s. and under 30s.; 21.3 per cent. 30s. and under 40s.; 9.6 per cent. 40s. and under 50s.; 3 per cent. 50s. and under 60s.; and 1.4 per cent. 60s. and upwards. Of the women operatives, 13.3 per cent. earned less than 10s.; 38.8 per cent. 10s. and under 15s.; 26.9 per cent. 15s. and under 20s.; 15.8 per cent. 20s. and under 25s.; 4.6 per cent. 25s. and under 30s.; and only 0.6 per cent. earned 30s. and above [156].

The numbers of workpeople covered by the above investigation were [156]:—

Industry—
Cotton	212,800
Woollen and worsted, &c.	122,400
Linen	44,500
Jute	17,400
Silk	9,700

(a) The wages and hours in the building trades are stated for a full week in summer.

(b) Average weekly earnings in 1905.

(c) Less intervals for meals, &c.

(d) Excluding hodmen in Berlin, Hamburg, and Dresden. Their wages were, in Berlin, 36s. 5d. for 53½ hours; in Hamburg, 40s. 2d. for 53½ hours; and in Dresden, 29s. 7d. for 58 hours.

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA

At the census of manufactures in the United States in 1905, were ascertained the actual earnings of wage-earners generally in that week in which the largest number was employed. The week chosen was not the same for all industries, since the busiest week in one industry would probably not coincide with that in another. The results are of course useless for determining the annual earnings of the workers, as the week in which the greatest number was employed would not be a normal or representative week. The results may serve to show, however, the grading of the workers with respect to their wages. The actual number of wage-earners under consideration was 3,297,819, and of establishments 123,703, equal to 63 per cent. of the total number of establishments reporting wage-earners at the time of the census. Piece-workers were included, and "all branches of employment in the manufacturing industries of the country, exclusive of the office force," were covered [260].

The following table shows the results of the census [269]:—

Average per wage-earner	46/6	25/8	14/5	42/-

The average number of all wage-earners employed during the year, according to the 1905 census, was 5,470,300, composed of 4,244,500 men aged 16 and over; 1,065,900 women aged 16 and over; and 159,900 children under 16 years. The greatest number reported as employed in all establishments at any one time during the year was 7,017,100, the wages returns for many of whom were, however, defective [269].

The following table is based on data relating to 4034 establishments in the principal manufacturing and mechanical industries of the United States. It shows by means of index numbers the changes during the period 1890 to 1906 in the numbers of employees in those establishments, in the hours of work per week, in the wages per hour, in the full-time weekly earnings per employee, and in the purchasing power of these two last items. The average number of employees, average hours worked per week, average wages, &c., throughout the ten years 1890 to 1899, are taken as the base of the index numbers, and are represented by 100 in each case [3], [268]:—

The industries on which the above table is based number about forty, and include agricultural implement making; bread baking; blacksmithing; boots and shoes manufacture; brickmaking; building trades; carpet making; clothing; cotton; dyeing, finishing, and printing textiles; furniture; gas; glass; hosiery; iron and steel; leather; lumber; pottery; printing; shipbuilding; woollen and worsted goods; and others. The list is a fairly extensive one so far as manufacturing industries are concerned, and the number of establishments furnishing data fairly large, and distributed over a wide area, although some particular industries are not represented by many establishments. On the whole, the index numbers given in the table may be used as roughly applicable to the United States manufacturing industries generally. Each column in the table shows fluctuations, but the general trend is easily discernible. Numbers of employees, wages per hour, and weekly earnings have all increased in the period considered, while hours of labour have fallen. The purchasing power of wages has also risen, though in a less degree than wages themselves. This is due to rises in the retail prices of food, which on the average were 15 per cent. higher in 1906 than the average prices for 1890-99.

The gross amount paid in wages and salaries in 1906 was estimated at [33]:—

Males	£21,500,000
Females	2,700,000
Total	£24,200,000

The change in the general level of wages since 1895 is shown by the following series of index numbers, the average wages in 1906 being taken as 100 [33]:—

Year	Level of Wages
1895	84.8

If the average of wages generally in October 1900 be taken as 100, by the end of 1906 it had risen to 121. It continued to rise during 1907, and reached the level of 138 by the end of the year [55].

WATER

The water supply of certain town areas in England and Wales in a recent year is shown as follows [272]:—

Water-supply Authorities	Total Annual Supply	Daily Supply per Capita
	Mill. Gals.	Gals.
London (1906)	82,125	32.84
Liverpool (1906)	10,801	32.63
Manchester (1908)	14,615	32.03
Birmingham (1907)	7,810	26.74

Mr. W. R. Baldwin-Wiseman has estimated the average daily consumption of water per head for various purposes to be [272]:—

Domestic	18 gallons
Municipal	3 ..
Trade	7 ..

The domestic supply has been further estimated to consist of [272]:—

	Gallons per Head per Day
Cooking	0.7 to 1.5
Refreshment	0.3 .. 0.5
Ablutions	3.0 .. 7.0
Scouring	3.0 .. 5.0
W.C.	3.0 .. 6.0

The total area authorised to be supplied with water by the Metropolitan Water Board is about 537 square miles, of a rateable value in 1907 of about £56,000,000. This area includes the administrative county of London, which has an area of 117 square miles, and a rateable value in 1907 of £43,900,000 [113].

The estimated population supplied by the Board at March 31, 1907, was 4,750,000 in London, and 2,140,000 outside London, making a total of 6,890,000. The average daily supply of water during 1906-7 was 225,000,000 gallons. The total volume supplied was 82,125,000,000 gallons, of which 47,028,000,000 gallons came from the Thames, and 16,115,000,000 from the Lea [113].

The storage capacity for unfiltered water existing at the end of March 1907 was 8,914,000,000 gallons, equal to about 40 days' supply. A further storage capacity of 6,000,000,000 gallons was authorised, and when completed the total storage capacity will be 14,914,000,000 gallons, equal to about 66 days' supply. There was in addition a storage capacity on March 31, 1907, for filtered water (in the case of Kent, well water only) of 243,000,000 gallons, or a little more than one day's supply [113].

The cost of supply of water in 1906-7 was £2,732,000, including £1,486,000 for debt charges, and £407,000 for rates and taxes. The total income of the Water Board in the same year was £2,759,000. The expenditure per 1000 gallons supplied was 8d. [113].

The length of water mains at the end of March 1907 was 60.41 miles [113].

WEALTH

The wealth of the British Empire about the year 1903 was estimated by Sir Robert Giffen approximately as follows [270]:—

	Aggregate Income	Capital or Wealth
	£	£
United Kingdom	1,750,000,000	15,000,000,000
Canada	270,000,000	1,350,000,000
Australasia	210,000,000	1,100,000,000
India	600,000,000	3,000,000,000
South Africa	100,000,000	600,000,000
Remainder of Empire	200,000,000	1,200,000,000
Total	3,130,000,000	22,250,000,000

The income of the United States of America was put approximately at £3,000,000,000, and the total wealth or capital at £18,000,000,000 [270].

The aggregate expenditure of the United Kingdom in 1902 was estimated by Sir Robert Giffen as follows [270]:—

Food and drink—
Bread	60,000,000
Meat	130,000,000
Butter, cheese, and milk	71,000,000
Sugar	16,000,000 (a)
Tea, coffee, and cocoa	12,000,000 (a)
Beer, spirits, and wine	85,000,000 (a)

Education	30,000,000
Cost of distribution	200,000,000
Other items	213,000,000
Total	1,386,000,000

(a) Excluding taxation.

The difference between the estimated total expenditure shown above (£1,386,000,000) and the estimated total national income (£1,750,000,000) was made up of investments, £264,000,000, and professional and domestic services, £100,000,000 [270].

Mr. L. G. Chiozza Money's estimate of the total wealth of the United Kingdom about the year 1905 was £11,400,000,000, and of the national income in 1904, £1,710,000,000. The distribution of the income was given by Mr. Money as follows [275]:—

Class of Persons	Number	Aggregate Income
Persons with incomes of £700 per year and upwards, together with their families	1,250,000	585,000,000
Persons with incomes between £160 and £700 per year, and their families	3,750,000	245,000,000
Persons with incomes less than £160 per year, and their families	38,000,000	880,000,000
Totals	43,000,000	1,710,000,000

Various estimates of the annual income of the United Kingdom at different dates are [72]:—

FRANCE

The total private wealth (as distinguished from public wealth) of France has been estimated recently to be as follows [87]:—

	£
Landed property	4,500,000,000
Floating capital	2,900,000,000
Furniture	400,000,000
Cash	200,000,000
Other property	1,000,000,000
Total	9,000,000,000

The distribution of this wealth was estimated as follows [87]:—

Size of Fortune	Number Possessing Amounts in Column 1	Aggregate Amount
		£
Less than £80	8,719,500	315,000,000
£80 to £400	4,066,500	909,000,000
£400 to £2000	1,653,000	1,575,000,000
£2000 to £4000	276,000	846,000,000
£4000 to £10,000	175,500	1,206,000,000
£10,000 to £20,000	61,500	945,000,000
£20,000 to £40,000	28,500	873,000,000
£40,000 to £200,000	18,000	1,422,000,000
Over £200,000	1,500	909,000,000
Total	15,000,000	9,000,000,000

The annual income has been estimated (c. 1907) at from £900,000,000 to £1,100,000,000, of which about £500,000,000 is attributed to labour, £350,000,000 to capital, and £250,000,000 to capital and labour combined. The distribution of this income was as follows [87]:—

Size of Income	Number	Aggregate Revenue
		£
Under £100	9,509,800	493,000,000
£100 to £400	1,303,000	218,000,000
£400 to £4000	183,800	166,000,000
Over £4000	3,400	23,000,000
Total	11,000,000	900,000,000

DENMARK

The total wealth of Denmark in 1900 was estimated at about 400 million pounds sterling [177].

GERMANY

Prof. Schmoller estimated the wealth of Germany in 1902 to be about 10,000 million pounds sterling, and the annual income at about 1250 million pounds [177].

In 1908, Steinmann Bucher estimated the total wealth at 16,000 millions, and the annual income at 1750 millions. Ballod arrived at a more moderate estimate, namely [177]:—

	Million £
Fixed property	7,600
Urban land	1,000
Rural land	1,250
Mines (private)	250
Foreign investments	1,250
State railways	950
Forests, domains, &c.	250
Total	12,550

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA

The wealth of the United States in 1900 and 1904, as estimated by the census authorities, is given as follows [3]:—

(1 dollar taken as 4s. 2d.)

Form of Wealth	1900	1904
Real property	£ 10,950,000,000	£ 12,990,000,000

On the above basis, the wealth per head of the population amounted to £240 in 1900, and to £270 in 1904.

CAPE OF GOOD HOPE

The value of fixed property in the colony in or about the year 1907, as assessed for divisional council purposes, is given as £50,768,000 within municipalities; £1,758,000 within village board areas; and £39,725,000 elsewhere; being a total valuation of £92,251,000 within the whole colony [29].

The municipalities themselves assessed the fixed property within their limits at £59,254,000 for municipal purposes [29].

AUSTRALIA

The value of private property in Australia in 1903 has been estimated by Mr. T. A. Coghlan as £982,000,000, distributed as follows [71]:—

Land (unimproved value)	£ 373,700,000
Houses and permanent improvements	310,300,000
Live stock	96,900,000
Furniture, &c.	30,900,000

Machinery and plant	65,600,000
Shipping	6,400,000
Merchandise and produce on hand	59,600,000
Coin and bullion	26,100,000
Total	982,000,000

The income derived by persons in Australia from private sources in 1903 is given by Mr. Coghlan as about £180,000,000 [71].

NEW ZEALAND

On the basis of the net amount of wealth left by deceased persons during the five years 1901–5, the aggregate amount of private wealth in New Zealand at the end of 1905 was estimated to have been about £260,000,000, or £293 per head of the estimated population [114]. The public property was estimated to be worth £62,000,000, as follows [114]:—

Crown lands	£ 19,000,000
Local authorities' lands	6,000,000
Educational lands	4,500,000
Church and other lands	3,500,000
Government railways, March 31, 1906	24,000,000
Other public works (telegraphs, light-houses, harbours, &c.)	5,000,000
Total	62,000,000

Native lands, with their improvements, excluding the interests of lessees, were estimated at about £10,000,000, making a grand total of about £330,000,000 as the wealth of New Zealand. Against this is set the State debt of £53,500,000, and the debt of £5,500,000 of the local authorities, or a total debt of £59,000,000. The net wealth of the colony in 1906 is thus made to appear as about £270,000,000 [114].

The total amount of private wealth was estimated to be about [33]:—

£146,000,000 in 1891 and
£170,000,000 in 1896.

Exceptionally valuable estates, certified for probate during 1906, caused the private wealth at December 31, 1906, to be estimated at £304,700,000, or £335 per head of population, a large, but abnormal, increase over the figures given above for 1905 [33].

(a) The free ports are not included prior to March 1, 1906.

All the exporting countries also export wheat-flour to greater or lesser extent, the average exports during 1902 to 1906 being stated, in barrels of 196 lbs., as follows [18]:—

	Barrels
Argentina	1,100,000
Australia	950,000
British India	500,000
Bulgaria	200,000
Canada	1,400,000
Roumania	300,000
Russia	1,000,000
United States	15,000,000
All countries	24,000,000

The average annual imports of wheat-flour into the chief importing countries during 1902-6 were as follows [18]:—

	Barrels
United Kingdom	9,000,000
Belgium	60,000
Netherlands	2,000,000
France	210,000
Germany	290,000
Brazil	1,460,000
Japan	1,100,000
China	750,000
Cuba	600,000

The United Kingdom, during the period 1901-5, produced on the average only 21 per cent. of its total requirement of wheat and wheat-flour; Germany produced 6.4 per cent.; Austria, 50 per cent. (Hungary exported 32 per cent. of her production); Italy, 82 per cent.; and France, 97 per cent. [16].

Russia exported, on the average, about 24 per cent. of her production [16].

(a) Including spindles and looms reported as standing.

(b) Excluding shoddy factories (cotton waste) in Lancashire and Cheshire.

In making comparisons, it must be noted that the efficiency of machinery has increased. The speed at which spindles and looms are worked has in many cases become greater. Broad looms, too, have largely replaced narrow looms, so that the quantity of material produced per loom has increased.

In 1904, England and Wales had 2,125,400 of the spinning spindles in woollen and shoddy factories (of which 1,194,000 were in the West Riding of Yorkshire), 151,900 of the doubling spindles (94,000 in the West Riding), and 43,300 of the looms (25,500 in the West Riding). Scotland had 493,800, 52,600, and 7300 respectively; and Ireland 68,400, 9400, and 1200 respectively. As regards worsted factories, England and Wales claimed 2,884,400 (West Riding, 1,396,700) of the spinning spindles; 819,700 (West Riding, 399,400) of the doubling spindles; and 51,500 (West Riding, 21,600) of the looms. Scotland had the remainder, with the exception of 12 looms in Ireland [155].

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA

The average annual production, importation, and consumption of wool in the United States in recent years has been as follows [3]:—

Years ended June 30	Million Pounds

The yield of the harvests in ARGENTINA in recent years is given as follows [303]:—

Year	Wheat	Linseed	Oats
	Tons	Tons	Tons
1907-8	5,155,000	1,083,000	485,000
1908-9	4,182,000	1,032,000	457,000
1909-10	3,508,000	705,000	521,000

The acreage under wheat in Argentina in 1910 is estimated at 15,450,000 acres, compared with 14,420,000 in 1909. The acreage under oats is estimated at 1,980,000 acres, compared with 1,420,000 in 1909 [303].

The acreage under wheat in CHILE in 1909-10 is given as about 1,430,000 acres, and the production 630,000 tons. The acreage under wheat in NEW ZEALAND in 1909-10 is given as about 310,000 acres, and the production as about 230,000 tons [303].

CLEARING-HOUSES

Bankers' clearing returns for 1909 and 1910 in certain towns in the United Kingdom are given as follows (from The Economist) [323]:—

ELECTORS

The result of the general election in the United Kingdom in December 1910 was as follows [314]:—

Liberals	272
Labour members	42
Irish Nationalists	76
Irish Independent Nationalists	8
Unionists	398
Ministerial majority	126

The total votes actually cast in Great Britain in contested elections, without adjustment for two-member constituencies, are given approximately as follows [314]:—

Party	England	Wales	Scotland
	Thousands	Thousands	Thousands
Liberal	1,883	83	301
Labour	287	37	18.5
Socialist	11.6
Nationalist	2.5
Unionist	2,053	60	245

Adjustments being made for two-member constituencies, Ministerialists polled 2,007,000 votes in England; 108,000 in Wales; and 311,000 in Scotland. Unionists polled 1,928,000, 65,000, and 240,000 respectively [314].

FINANCE

The revenue, expenditure, and debt of certain countries in 1909 (unless otherwise stated) are given as follows [320]:—

(a) Internal debt, £27,700,000; external debt, £62,000,000.

(b) Estimated, 1910.

(c) This is the Austrian special debt. There is also a general debt of about the same amount, to the annual charge of which Hungary contributes £2,526,000.

(d) Estimated.

(e) Year 1908.

(f) Internal debt, 1908, 553,350,000 dollars; external debt, £69,820,000.

(g) Year 1908-9.

(h) July 31, 1910.

(i) Gold debt. There is also an additional interior paper debt, amounting to about £6,500,000 at the end of 1909.

(k) 1909-10.

(l) Debt, 1910-11. Revenue and expenditure are budget estimates for 1910-11, and include extraordinary revenue (£4,870,000) and expenditure (£11,950,000).

(m) Estimated, 1909-10.

(n) Estimated, 1911. Includes extraordinary.

(o) Estimated, 1911.

(p) Year 1910. Expended in the construction of railways.

(r) Estimated, 1910-11.

(s) Gross debt on October 1, 1910. Cash and reserve in Treasury amounted to £338,400,000, and the net debt to £221,000,000.

(t) March 31, 1910.

(u) The United Kingdom revenue in 1909-10 was abnormally low, owing to the non-collection of a portion of the revenue (estimated at about £30,046,000), in consequence of the Finance Act for 1909-10 not being passed into law until 1910-11. The estimated revenue for 1910-11 is £199,791,000 (including the £30,046,000 arrears of 1909-10), and the estimated expenditure £199,482,000 (including £908,000 arrears and £26,248,000 realised deficit of 1909-10) [320].

(w) Net debt, March 31, 1910. The gross debt is about £30,000,000 more.

(x) Foreign debt, £3,140,000. Internal debt, £3,130,000 [321].

GOLD

The world's production in 1909 is estimated at over £92,000,000, and is estimated to be greater in 1910. "Of the world's output of about £92,000,000, the arts are estimated to absorb one-fourth, say £23,000,000; India, £10,000,000; the United States of America, £750,000; Australia, £8,000,000; Egypt, £10,000,000; Argentina, £4,000,000; Brazil, £2,000,000; Japan, £7,500,000; leaving about £26,750,000 for other countries and for increased circulation amongst the inhabitants of the world" (Pixley & Abell's Annual Circular) [309].

HOPS

The production of hops in 1909 and 1910 has been estimated by Mr. C. J. Hoffer, hop estimator to the Bohemian Agricultural Council, as follows [303]:—

Country	1909	1910	Country	1909	1910
	Cwt.	Cwt.		Cwt.	Cwt.
Austria-Hungary	160,000	287,000	England	197,000	295,000
Germany	127,000	302,000	United States	305,000	364,000
Holland and Belgium	29,000	51,000	Australia	12,000	15,000
France	24,000	44,000
Russia	49,000	43,000	Total	903,000	1,401,000

The acreage in 1910 was estimated to be 235,000 acres. The world's consumption in 1910 was estimated at 1,535,000 cwt. The stocks in the hands of brewers were estimated to be between 150,000 and 200,000 cwt. [303].

INDUSTRIES AND MANUFACTURES

UNITED KINGDOM

The first census of production in the United Kingdom was taken in 1908, and covered the year 1907 or 1907-8. The following table summarises the results which have been published concerning output, cost of materials used, amounts paid to other firms for work given out to them, and the numbers of persons employed. The "output" 2 S shown is "the gross output of each trade, i.e. where goods pass through the hands of several manufacturers at different stages, their value has been registered at each stage. The value of this gross output is, therefore, much greater as a whole than the value of the goods ready for export or consumption manufactured by each trade considered as a unit." By deducting from the gross output of any one industry, or group of factories, the total cost of materials used and the amount paid to other firms for work given out, a figure is obtained which is called the "net output" of the industry or group of factories. This figure of "net output" "expresses completely and without duplication the total amount by which the value of the products of the industry or group taken as a unit exceeded the value of the materials purchased from outside, i.e. it represents the value added to the raw materials in the course of manufacture. This sum constitutes for any industry the fund from which wages, salaries, rents, rates, taxes, depreciation, and all other similar charges as well as profits have to be defrayed." The results shown are for the United Kingdom as a whole [302].

(a) The output of private undertakings is calculated on a profit basis, while that for railways and government undertakings is calculated on the cost of production. The figures for the latter are therefore not strictly comparable with those for the former as regards gross and net output.

These numbers of outworkers do not necessarily represent as many individual persons, many outworkers being on the books of more than one firm. Further, the persons actually working for a firm may include members of outworkers' families in addition to the outworkers on the firm's books. The outworkers have not been taken into account in calculating the net output per person employed, but in making comparisons an allowance should be made for them.

(t) Includes customs duty, which amounted to £2,053,000 in 1907.

(u) Includes beer duty, which amounted to £13,117,000 in 1907-8.

(b) Provisional figures.

(c) Exports.

The iron-ore resources of the world, existing in deposits which have been more or less developed, have been estimated at about 22,408 million tons, representing 10,192 million tons of iron. The actual resources in the principal countries are estimated to be [305]:—

Country	Ore	Equivalent in Metallic Iron
	Million Tons	Million Tons
United States	4,258	2,305
Germany	3,877	1,360
United Kingdom	1,300	455
France	3,300	1,140
Spain	711	349

The potential resources of the world not yet developed are estimated to be in addition 123,377 million tons of ore representing 53,136 million tons of iron, the principal deposits being in Russia, the United Kingdom, and the United States [305].

MINING

The principal mineral produce of the UNITED KINGDOM in 1909 is given as follows [301]:—

Mineral	Quantity	Value
	Tons	£
Chalk	4,437,000	175,000
Clay and shale	14,068,000	1,718,000
Coal	263,774,000	106,275,000
Gravel and sand	2,165,000	159,000
Igneous rocks	6,283,000	1,235,000
Iron ore	14,980,000	3,690,000
Lead ore	30,000	259,000
Limestone (other than chalk)	11,811,000	1,227,000
Oil shale	2,967,000	816,000
Salt	1,823,000	549,000
Sandstone	4,600,000	1,339,000
Slate	402,000	1,007,000
Tin ore (dressed)	8,300	617,000

The total value of all minerals in 1909 is given as £119,394,000; and in 1908, £130,004,000 [301].

The metals obtainable by smelting from the ores produced in the United Kingdom in 1909 are given as follows [301]:—

Metal	Quantity	Value at Average Market Price
	Tons	£
Copper	435	27,200
Iron	4,802,200	15,559,300
Lead	22,500	298,900
Tin	5,200	695,500
Zinc	3,800	87,100

The total value of all metals obtainable in 1909 was £16,686,500, compared with £16,504,100 in 1908 [301].

NAVY

The total estimated naval expenditure of certain countries in 1909 and 1910, or 1909-10 and 1910-11, is given as follows [307]:—

Country	1909 or 1909-10	1910 or 1910-11
	Million £	Million £
Great Britain (a)	35.83	40.60
France	13.35	15.02
Russia	9.65	9.72
Germany	19.70	21.24
Italy	6.54	7.35
United States	28.99	27.47
Japan	7.20	7.59

(a) Exclusive of expenditure under Naval Works Acts, 1895-1905.

These amounts are not strictly comparable with one another. See p. 426 supra.

The amounts voted for new construction, including armament, in 1910 or 1910-11 (included above), were: Great Britain, £14,960,000; France, £4,980,000; Russia, £1,420,000; Germany, £11,390,000; Italy, £2,180,000; United States, £6,890,000; and Japan, £2,690,000 [307].

PENSIONS

The old-age pensions in force in the UNITED KINGDOM on March 31, 1910, were [322]:—

Scale	England	Wales	Scotland	Ireland	Total
	At 5/-	370,117	24,826	72,675	170,529

POTATOES

The production of potatoes in certain countries in 1908 is given approximately as follows [297]:—

	Million Tons
United States	7.5
Canada	2.0
Austria-Hungary	17.8
Belgium	2.2

The production of European beet in 1910-11 has been estimated at about 8,100,000 tons. Adding North American beet sugar and cane sugar (excluding British India), the total production in 1909-10 is given as about 12,800,000 tons, and the probable production in 1910-11 as about 14,900,000 tons [310].

TEA

The tea crop of India in the 1910 season is estimated at 270,000,000 lbs., against 262,800,000 lbs. in 1909. The crop of Ceylon in 1910 is estimated at 184,000,000 lbs., against 192,000,000 lbs. in 1909 [318]. Messrs. Brooke, Bond, & Co., estimate the world's production of tea at about 1,200,000,000 lbs. annually. About one-half of this is credited to China, and rather more than three eighths to India and Ceylon [295]. Of the 600,000,000 lbs. estimated to be produced in China, about 400,000,000 lbs. are consumed in that country, and the remainder exported. Production in Japan is estimated at about 63,000,000 lbs. a year, of which more than one-half is exported [295].
